Incidents of the Day at the Capitol of the State.

Sons of Veterans Hold Their Annual Meeting and Camp Fire.

Census Reports Coming in--Benefits of the Omaha Stock Yards--Personal and Otherwise.

THE DAY AT LINCOLN.

Reported by the BEE'S BUREAU. LINCOLN, Neb., The sons of veterans, Nebraska division, the third grand division of the United States met here last evening, Col. S. G. Cogswell, of Weeping Water, the commander presiding. The council resumed its session at the Arlington hotel this morning at 9 o'clock. Official reports showed that the order was materially improving.

The state encampment met at 11 o'clock, with Col. Cogswell presiding, at the temple of honor hall. The committee on credentials was appointed and the encampment adjourned until 2 p. m. The following were among the delegates: A. Haskins and J. W. Sperry, camp officers; Weeping Water; Howard Young, J. T. Smith, E. G. Jones, camp three, Dorchester; George R. Knowles, C. H. Foxworthy, camp nineteen, Lincoln; George H. Barton, camp twenty-three, Edgar; W. E. Smith, camp twenty-seven, Minden; R. S. Walker and A. B. Blaine, camp ten, Fremont; S. G. Cogswell, commander; H. G. Clark, assistant commander; George Fletcher, acting adjutant.

One hundred copies of the proceedings of this encampment together with the commander's report were ordered printed for distribution. A resolution was passed that the next annual encampment be held at the same time and place as the grand army of the republic at Red Cloud. The following officers were elected after a spirited contest: Commander, H. G. Clark; Rochester; lieutenant commander, Geo. M. Fletcher, Lincoln; vice lieutenant commander, G. H. Barber, Edgar; chaplain, W. H. Smith, Minden; quartermaster, Charles Foxworthy, Lincoln; sergeant, E. J. Jones, Garfield. The appointed officers will be announced in a general order. T. J. Parrott, of Lincoln, W. D. Dilworth, of Hastings, and W. D. Hart were elected a council of administration. J. W. Sperry was elected delegate to the commander in chief, which meets in Detroit the latter part of August. S. T. Cochran, of Lincoln, was elected delegate to the grand division encampment, to be held at Springfield, Illinois, in August. George M. Fletcher, of Lincoln, was elected delegate to the general encampment of the grand army of the republic, which meets at Portland, Maine, this month. The newly elected officers were duly initiated, whereupon the camp adjourned to the camp fire.

THE OMAHA STOCK YARDS. In an interview recently with Col. F. Savage, a commission merchant at the union stock yards at Omaha, he presented some very interesting facts and reasons why Nebraska feeders and shippers can make it profitable to ship to Omaha instead of going through to Chicago with their stock. Last week Messrs. Palmer & Hitchcock, of De Witt, shipped several cars of cattle to Chicago and ten cars to Omaha, and realized $90 a car more in the Omaha market than they could by sending to Chicago, without considering the difference in freight, time and risk. Col. Savage's firm sold last week over $38,000 worth of stock at the yards, and presuming that each of the other firms there did as much, it shows that there is a good demand and that it will well repay western feeders and shippers to see what they can do this side of the big muddy.

OFFICE OF GOVERNOR. The Hon. Lewis Barton, a strong democrat and ex-member of the legislature from Kearney county, passed through the city to-day en route to Omaha to interview some of the sons in regard to the Minden postoffice. He swears extradition to the democrats in the west if Dr. Miller interferes.

PERSONAL. Walt M. Seely is in the city reading proofs of the new manual, which will be issued about the first of July. C. W. Crooks, formerly with the Nebraska & Iowa Insurance company, arrived to-day, having accepted a position with the insurance company here. Gen. J. C. BeBride returned from the west to-day, and reports crops looking fine and immigration immense.

NOTES. About twenty of the enumerators' portfolios have been sent in and each day will bring several more until the entire work is completed. Superintendent Lane has secured all the additional clerks he can use. George A. Sparring, an enumerater in the Fifth ward of Omaha is the first to send in his portfolio from that city.

The land commissioner has prepared notices to advertise for special sections of public land at Beatrice, the double minded institute; one at Lincoln--home of the friendless; two family buildings and one workshop at Kearney for the reform school. Maj. Franklin, of the secretary of state's office, has just returned from a trip down through Kansas. Last winter the secretary of state who has for several years been adjutant-general of the state resigned his position, and yesterday Gov. Dawes appointed J. C. Bonnell as adjutant-general with J. Milton Hoffman, the governor's private secretary, as assistant.

To-day another enterprise opens up here. L. D. Fowler and O. E. Gardell have established a loan and real estate office. Mr. Gardell is recently from Kalamazoo, Mich., and is highly pleased with this thriving young city. L. D. Fowler is an old resident of the city, and at present is manager of the Bird wind mill in this state. Commentation day is over, the weather was not so bad as the usual humor of city life is occurring. Even the policemen wear a worried look. No crooks or plain drunks were reported yesterday morning, and only two vags were at the stone pile.

Now that the city council have reduced the show license to $50, it is likely the dear people will have an opportunity to pay fifty cents to see some man climb a pole or turn a somersault. Among the day's arrivals were Senator J. W. Dolan, Indianapolis; Fred Strauss, Crete; W. N. Carpenter, Syracuse; O. F. Davis, Omaha; W. F. Canada and D. W. Thompson, Nebraska City; A. Hardy, Beatrice; G. F. Maxwell and F.

H. Hill, Council Bluffs; D. J. Brown, Seward; Prof. C. E. Strasburg, Omaha; J. H. Howard, Denver, Col.

A NEW COMMANDRY.

The Knights of Pythias Enjoy a Social Evening--Banquet and Surprise.

Douglas Division No. 5 uniformed rank Knights of Pythias was installed last evening, after which they discussed and greatly enjoyed an elegant spread at Julius Fretschke's popular restaurant on the corner of Fourteenth and Howard streets. At the installation, Col. Thomas Burrell, S. K. C., of Myrtle Division No. 3, presided as master of ceremonies. In the fore part of the evening he conferred the degree of Sir Knight, on 27 members, after which they formed in line and with several visitors from Myrtle division, and marched to the banquet hall. After that pleasant little affair had been concluded the company reformed and marched back again to the hall, when the following officers of the new division were installed: H. H. Wagner--S. K. C. Henry Hornberg--S. K. Lt. O. August--S. K. H. Edward Stephens--S. K. R. Carl Schwab--S. K. T.

When all these ceremonies were over, a very pleasant and complete little surprise was given to Sir Knight Thomas Burrell, who had so faithfully and successfully performed the duties of installing officer. The two commandries were drawn into line, and addressing Mr. Burrell, Sir Knight Hornberger called his attention to a fine solid silver water service that was being carried into the room by Sir Knight Ed Crowell, and stated that as a token of their appreciation of his services, Douglas division desired him to accept the present. He was so completely abashed at the unexpected testimonial, having been kept utterly ignorant of it, that he could hardly speak a word for several seconds.

The present is an elegant one, consisting of a solid silver pitcher, tray and three goblets. On the tray is engraved these words:

"Presented to Thomas Burrell from Douglas division U. R. K. of F. On the pitcher, and on the goblets the initials of his name.

The following appointments were made by Commander Wagner for Douglas division: Julius Fretschke, S. K. guard. August Utzell, S. K. sentinel.

CUPIDS SHRINE.

Mr. James B. Southard and Miss Anna Southard Quietly Joined in Marriage.

At 9 o'clock last night, at the residence of Mr. Alfred Burley, 1623 Farnam street, Mr. Joseph B. Southard, the city clerk of Omaha, and Miss Anna E. Southard, were quietly joined in the holy bonds of wedlock. The Rev. J. W. Harsh, pastor of the Dodge street Presbyterian church pronounced the ceremony with the usual religious observances. The event was witnessed by Capt. and Mrs. Rustine, Miss Clara Rustine, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Burnes, Col. and Mrs. T. M. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConnell, Miss Lizzie Isaacs, Judge and Mrs. P. O. Hass, Misses Hattie and Lizzie Willard, Ida and Mattie Sharp, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Grattier, Mrs. J. P. Southard, Miss Clara Southard, Mrs. J. H. Withers, of Grand Island; Miss Mollie Allen, Mr. Bock, Mr. V. Musselman, Mrs. A. D. Jones, Mrs. Alvin Saunders, and Mr. E. D. Southard. After congratulations had been extended, an elegant wedding supper was served, and the new made couple repaired to the Millard hotel where they will remain until they move into their own residence at Twelfth and Spruce streets, which will be ready for them by tomorrow.

The well wishes of their friends were expressed in a large list of very handsome, costly and useful presents.

The groom, Mr. J. B. Southard, is native of the city of Omaha. He has been a resident of the town for twenty years and during that time faithfully performed the duties of several very important official and trustworthy positions. The bride has lived in Omaha ten years and is a lady of many charming graces. While she does not change her name, the two are of no blood relation.

CHEWED UP.

A Colored Steeping Car Porter and an Actor on the War Path.

Meatier's "We, Us & Co" dramatic company left Omaha Wednesday evening on the 8 o'clock overland train, for San Francisco, and among the number is an "actor" who travels under the name of Gus Bruno. While in Omaha he got so full of disagreeable jokes that from the sleeping car his actions were greatly annoying to the other passengers. Two or three times the colored porter tried to quiet him, but without good results. Finally the porter gave Mr. Bruno a sound thrashing, which had the effect of silencing the boisterous sentimentalist for several minutes, but he was broke out again. Bruno watched an opportunity, and when the porter's back was turned, jumped on him and commenced to chew his neck, ears and cheek. The porter was so badly chewed up that he had to stop off and return here yesterday for medical treatment.

From New Orleans. Ex-Governor Furnas, Nebraska's commissioner to the New Orleans Cotton Centennial exposition, returned here Wednesday. His expedition closed June 10, when he was asked by a reporter how it panned out he said, "a failure financially, but otherwise the show was an excellent one, and left a good impression on the southern country." The people of New Orleans say that they propose to open another exposition there about the last of next November, and it is their intention to make the institution an annual attraction. By this means they hope to attract the attention of more northern men with money to that section of the country.

The case of Camp vs Van Ness, an alleged shooting affair, was called up for trial before Judge Stenberg yesterday, but after hearing a part of the evidence he discharged the accused.

DECEIVED TO DETROIT.

A Young Nebraska Fugitive From Justice Finally Captured.

How Detectives Emery and Williams Followed on the Track of C. C. Beveridge, Deceived Him Over the River From Canada and Made His Arrest.

The young fugitive from Nebraska justice, Charles C. Beveridge, of Fremont, who has lately attracted no little notoriety, is now safely caged in the Douglas county jail, having been placed there last night by his captors, Detective C. J. Emery, of this city, and J. A. Williams, of Harper, Kansas. The immediate arrest of this man is told by the Detroit Free Press of Tuesday last, as follows: Detectives McDonald and Lally were in front of the Michigan Exchange about 9:30 o'clock last night, when a carriage drove up containing a man whom they were in search of. They smiled broadly as the accused alighted and without any ceremony took him into custody. The prisoner was much surprised over the treatment accorded him, but soon realized that he was the victim of misplaced confidence, as the narrative of the case will show. He was taken to the central station with him being given an opportunity to make his arrival known at the hotel and registered on a charge of embezzlement.

To Sergeant Martin, the prisoner who gave his name as Charles Beveridge, aged 25, said that he had made away with $5,000, but had not expended any of the amount aside from what he paid in traveling and hotel expenses. He gave his occupation as a stock raiser, and his home as Fremont, Neb. When searched he had $300.10 with him. His arrest was caused by Detective C. J. Emery, of the Detective agency of Emery & Showalter, of Omaha, Neb., and Detective A. J. Williams, of Harper, Kan.

A reporter for the BEE Detective Emery related last night in detail, how he and Williams followed on the track of Beveridge, and ascertained that he had gone to Port Stanley, Ont., and there located. The nature and extent of Beveridge's crime has been reported so often in these columns that they are already well known, and need not be gone over again. He formerly formed a part of the firm of Richards & Beveridge, well known stock men at Fremont, and by forging Richards' name to a check secured $1,000, about four weeks ago, of the Omaha Commercial National bank. Just previous to that transaction he had also obtained under false pretenses quite a large sum of money from the bank at Fremont, making in all about $5,000, that he got away with. Notwithstanding the fact that Beveridge already has a nice wife and one child, he became desperately infatuated with Miss Emma Evans, a handsome brunette school man from Bellevue, Michigan, who was teaching at Fremont. It appears that his affection for her was returned, and as the course of love ran along smoothly, they naturally became intimate. The girl's parents, however, made such an objection to Beveridge that she was finally taken down to Harper, Kansas, by her mother in the hope of separating them. Then it was that Beveridge commenced to follow his fair charmer to the end of the world if necessary. It was imperative that he should be supplied with money, and not having a great quantity of that article on hand, adopted the means of forgery to get what he wanted. It was not long after Miss Evans went to Harper until Beveridge put in an appearance there, but she had gone to her home in Michigan. What was imperative about the acquaintance of Detective Williams, not knowing that he was an officer, and Williams soon became his confidential friend. In fact he acted as the mediator between Beveridge and the young lady, and through this means learned the movements of Beveridge. About the time or just before Williams telegraphed here that he had captured Beveridge, he took the gentleman in his buggy across the country to the train which carried him east. In the mean time Detective Emery made arrangements with Williams for them to follow the fugitive and capture him. They started from Kansas City over the Wabash road, the same road that Beveridge went on, and at Hannibal learned that he had gone to London, Ont., and Port Stanley. Previously, however, Emery and Beveridge's corner in the depot baggage room at Kansas City, and found out from the clerk that it had been sent for by C. C. Carter from Port Stanley. After leaving Kansas, Beveridge changed his name to that of C. C. Carter. At Hannibal, Williams sent him a message saying:
