THE DAILY BEE.

Monday Morning, June 15

LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Louis Rubin is the proudest man in Omaha. Cause, an eleven pound daughter.

—None of the telegraph wires, strange to say, were much affected by Friday night's storm.

—There will be a meeting of the Canadian-American society at their hall this evening.

—The two-year-old boy of William Nichols has recovered from the small pox, contrary to first expectation. The family will be discharged from the pest house this week.

—Arthur Huss, a former newspaper man here, has been heard from. He is in Chicago and has left the field of journalism, being employed by the Scranton Manufacturing company.

—The congregation of Free Methodists who have hitherto been worshipping in the new engine house in South Omaha, are erecting a small frame church on Eleventh and Center streets.

—W. H. Bates, the colored man charged of arson, by attempting to burn a house on Eleventh street several weeks ago, was released from jail Friday. No indictment was found against him by the grand jury.

—The local Turner Society will give an excursion to Fremont June 21. A grand contest of state societies will be held on that date in that city. Five prizes are to be offered for high jump, long jump, hop, skip and jump, hurdle race and putting the stone.

—The members of the West End Literary club on Thursday last went on an excursion to Horseshoe lake. The day about that resort was spent in the delightful pastime of pulling out fish and large numbers of the finny tribes were slain by these literary Samsons with the jawbone of a fish-hook.

—The officers of the various school districts throughout the county met at 1 p. m. Saturday in Superintendent Brunner's office to take such action as may be deemed best on the change of the text book on physiology required by an act passed last winter. The object of the change is to adopt some work that will treat on the hygienic effect of alcoholic stimulants, tobacco and other narcotics.

—The following marriage licenses have been issued by Judge McCulloch since last Sunday: Anders G. Wahlstrom to Emma Danielson, Carl A. Holtgren to Christina E. Danielson, Ellis L. Bierlow to Elizabeth Boyd, George B. E. Luter to Anna Riese, August Schroeder to Maria Rudolph, Albert E. T. Fleming to Maria Parisek, Oliver A. Nolan to Mrs. Carrie Tate.

—The Obeysons Son of the 10th says: Hon. John A. McShane, when in Obeyson on Tuesday, says that he would meet the governor of Nebraska at Lincoln to-day, and it was probable that cattle quarantine measures at the Missouri river would be determined upon. The conclusion of the state is being appointed, and then a competent veterinarian for the Omaha stock yards will be selected and stationed there. M. McShane further stated that Mr. Hammond, the dressed beef man in Omaha, is killing from 100 to 200 head daily. The first of this beef has reached Boston in splendid order, and the eastern papers are praising it highly. Mr. Hammond will take as many good grass cattle as this country will send him, and there is little doubt but that the stock growers of Wyoming will appreciate a market 500 miles nearer than ever before.

—Judge McCulloch listened Saturday morning to the arguments in a habeas corpus case brought by Elmira Williams to obtain possession of a young girl—her sister—Jennie Butler, who was stopping at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Williams. The plaintiff stated in her petition that the young girl was detained by the defendants, and she feared for immoral purposes. These latter assertions are denied by Mr. and Mrs. Williams. The girl has been released and is now with her sister.

—Some days ago it was noted about town that one of the members of a grocery firm on North Thirteenth street had fled from the city and that the condition of the firm's business was bad. So far as this latter statement is concerned, the story is entirely incorrect. It appears, however, that the young man referred to, who is inclined to be gay and glib, had been caught by an enraged brother under circumstances which reflected no credit upon the virtue of his sister. The said enraged brother has been gunning for the young grocer since that time, it is said, and the y. g. has taken a short trip east for his health.

—Aboard the stub from Omaha this morning, was a party of eight men from Glenwood, among them Sheriff Dan Farrell and Curt White, who had been inspecting Bellevue island up the river, searching for any possible clue to the gang of horse thieves that has been operating in southwestern Iowa. The party were upon the island all day yesterday and all night last night, but were unable to find anything of interest. They are of the opinion that the gang that once made that retired spot its headquarters, had sought some other rendezvous. The boys report having had quite a picnic killing cranes and other game. —Plattsmouth Journal, 12.

Smoke Seal of North Carolina Tobacco.
