Toten Lots in Denver Junction, Weld County, Colorado. Denver Junction is a new town of about 200 inhabitants, laid out in 1884, on the great trunk railway across the continent, at the junction of the Julesburg Branch, 197 miles from Denver. The town is on second bottom land of the Platte River, the finest location between Omaha and Denver, and is surrounded by the best-laying lands west of Kearney Junction, Neb. Climate healthy and bracing, altitude 5,800 feet. Denver Junction bids to become an important place, as the U. P. R. E. Co. are putting up many of their buildings here, while the B. & M. R. Co. are expected soon to connect at this place. The present chance for good investments in town lots will scarcely ever be equaled elsewhere. For sale by the lot or block by a good lawyer, by H. M. WOOLMAN, Agent, Denver Junction, Colo.

WHAT BOYD HAS TO SAY. The Mayor Tells of His Impressions of Cleveland and His Policy.

The Dispensation of Federal Patronage in Nebraska—Other Matters of Interest. Mayor James E. Boyd returned Wednesday night from the east, after twelve days' trip. About the first thing he did after eating a good square meal, was to fall into the fond embrace of a reporter for the Bee. He was pretty thoroughly squeezed.

Some of his utterances are reproduced below, as of interest to local readers, as also to democrats throughout the state who are concerned in the question of the dispensation of the federal patronage in the state of Nebraska. "I don't like to say much," said Mr. Boyd, in response to a leading inquiry. "I have been handled pretty thoroughly by the eastern members of your brotherhood. I have occasionally unobscured myself to newspaper men who were not introduced to me as such, and have had the misfortune of seeing my unguarded utterances in print the next day. However, I will say that I have had very pleasant and profitable trip east—was received and treated by President Cleveland just as cordially as any man could have been. Yes, I think I understand pretty thoroughly Mr. Cleveland's policy in reference to federal patronage. It will be different from any policy adopted by any former president, and will, I believe, establish a new and powerful precedent. He intends to treat the present office holders in accordance with the strict rules of civil service reform. No man will be employed by any federal office "without cause"—unless he be incompetent or unfaithful to his trust. President Cleveland has said in my presence that he thought that when a man gave up business interests to accept a position under the United States government, he should be allowed to retain that position unless, as I said before, he is incompetent or untrustworthy. This, I think, defines his position on that point."

"Don't you think that the present removals for cause—these suspensions which are daily taking place—are unjust as allowing the discharged office holders no opportunity to answer the charges which are made the basis of their removal?" "That is a question I don't care to express myself upon, fully. I believe that an office holder should be given an opportunity to defend himself from any serious charges which may be preferred against him. However, I will say that I have been misquoted on this point. A Chicago newspaper man reported me as having said: "I am opposed to this method of the secretary preferring charges against a man and then having him removed without giving him a chance to defend himself. An indictment should not be a conviction. It is unfair and unmanly." I did not express myself in this way. What I did say was that I did not think a man should be suspended on charges preferred by others to the secretary, but by the secretary. The secretary, you know prefers no charges."

"What about the dealing out of the Nebraska federal offices?" "The federal patronage of Nebraska will be dispensed in exactly the same manner as that of other states. Everything will be attended to when the proper time comes. There are now about one hundred positions in Nebraska which have vacancies caused by resignation, suspensions or otherwise. These will all be filled as soon as possible by the appointment of men whom Mr. Cleveland thinks competent and honest. As regards the fourth class postoffices in this state, I think Secretary Whitney's utterance to me on the point is pretty safe doctrine. He said that in these small towns the office holders did not give up other business interests in entering upon the discharge of their duties as postmasters, but rather used the office to build up their business. Hence, they ought to be made to give way to the hundred other men who are just as competent to fill the place."

"Did the president express himself on the point of the federal patronage existing among Nebraska democrats, or did he say that these would influence him in his policy of feeding the 'hungry hordes' of this state?" "Not at all. President Cleveland said nothing about the matter at all in the presence of Dr. Miller or myself. Neither did I say anything to him about the subject, and so far as I know Dr. Miller did not."

FIVE SHOTS.

A Small Sized Excitement Halted in the Middle of the Night. About half past 1 o'clock yesterday morning five pistol shots were fired in succession on Twelfth street, near Douglass, creating great excitement among those who heard them. The cause for such shooting was created by two young men, engaged in a fight, and when about to be arrested by officer Green, running away. Disobeying his commands to stop he fired once at them, and immediately down the street a block further some other person not known, fired the other four shots. Green chased the fighters a block on Farnam street where he finally captured them. By this time two or three other officers were there to assist him and the pair were taken to jail. They gave their names as A. Smith and J. Faison. After being locked up, Smith was very boisterous and abusive.

MAYOR OF MEMPHIS.

How Old John Dalley, "The Kerry Aigis" Held the Position for Forty-eight Hours. "You didn't know did you," said a city official to a reporter last night "that old man there was mayor of Memphis during the war for forty-eight hours?" "No, was he?" questioned the reporter, seeing a possible item, "how was it?" "Well the old man whose name is John Dalley, now working at the Union Pacific freight house, was living in Memphis during the days of the war, as a drayman. He was something of a politician and immensely popular among the lower classes, although of course, he was ignorant and uncultured. At the city election of 1863 a certain gentleman ran for the office of mayor, who, though thoroughly fitted to hold the office, was unpopular and fairly hated by the people. Some of his enemies among the lower classes, thinking to put him to the amputation of a crushing defeat, induced John Dalley to run against the unpopular candidate. Dalley's backers, of course, knew that his candidacy was all a farce, and chuckled with glee to think that the hated representative of upper tondom was to be beaten by a common laborer. "Dalley's friends were not mistaken. Their candidate was elected and took his seat, greatly to the chagrin of his political opponent. He held it about forty-eight hours, when, as he says, he stepped down and out in consideration of a gift of $800 and horse, dray and harness."

AFTER MANY MONTHS.

A "Fly" Chicago Traveling Man "Arrested" for Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses.

Yesterday a Chicago traveling man, named Max Friedlander, was arrested and lodged in jail on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, preferred by Mr. Julius Meyer. The history of the case is somewhat curious and complicated. In November, 1882, Mr. Meyer bought of Friedlander, who was a traveling salesman for the firm of Siegel Bros., of Chicago, a lady's cloak, paying him $55 for it, with the understanding that if the garment did not suit it could be returned in exchange for another. The cloak did not exactly give satisfaction, and accordingly it was returned to Siegel Bros., with the understanding that the $55 which had been paid by Mr. Meyer to Friedlander should be credited on a new cloak. Messrs. Siegel Bros happened, however, to have no cloak of the exact kind wanted, and accordingly some months afterward, it is said, wrote to Crulickshank here, telling him to allow Mr. Meyer the selection of a cloak and to charge it to the Siegel Bros' account. The letter, it appears, was afterwards destroyed.

The selection of a cloak was made, and the difference between its cost and the $55 was remitted to the Chicago firm. In the meantime, however, Friedlander had told his firm that he had not received a cent from Mr. Julius Meyer on account of the first cloak, and did not make any accounting of that money. Accordingly, Siegel Bros demanded of Mr. Meyer the full amount for the second cloak, refusing to allow any credit for the $55. This action was naturally resented by Mr. Meyer, and a suit is now pending in the district court to settle the matter. This is the first that Friedlander has been in Omaha since the date of the first transaction. As soon as Mr. Meyer became aware that the traveling man was in town, he at once procured a warrant, and pointed the man out to Officer Corrick, who arrested him. Friedlander tried to escape, but it was no go.

The young men who are disposed to pass on the other side of the street and in other unfeeling ways dodge ice-cream saloons when out walking with their dear girls should remember that all during the long winter the poor girl has been patiently and uncomplainingly furnished with fuel for their comfort, and the little cream, strawberries and similar necessities they are willing to accept are but an inadequate return, at the best, for their winter's favors.

THE NATIONAL BIRTHDAY.

Great Preparations For Its Celebration Here This Year. As announced yesterday in the Bee, preparations are afoot for a grand celebration of the "Glorious Fourth" this year. For some years past there has been a deplorable lack of patriotic enterprise in observing the anniversary of the national birthday, but this year it now looks as though Omaha would celebrate in a manner which will be in keeping with her size and importance. It is hoped to make the celebration of 1885 a grand success—an occasion of special magnificence—something which will draw the people from the "roora aciestra" into the metropolis, and impress them with an overawing sense of Omaha enterprise.

IN A SPORTING WAY.

The athletes have already outlined a plan for a great day of sport on the Fourth. The gentlemen who have in charge the Sherman avenue park are now closing arrangements for a great game of ball on that day. They are now negotiating with the Chicago Blues, the Atchison team, as well as the Hastings and Denver teams. It is probable that the Hastings team, the "peerless combination of loudmouthed boasting baseballists" will be given an opportunity of yielding the laurels to the Union Pacific team. The Denver boys, with characteristic modesty, only desire inducements of about $600 to bring them here.

In addition to the base ball features of the day's sport, the splendid new track will be occupied by the "bikemen," who are preparing for a number of races to be run. Purse of $25, $15, and $10 are offered for short distance dashes. A number of prominent outside wheelmen will be present, including Phil Hammill, of Chicago, champion of Illinois, and John Nickerson, amateur champion of Minnesota and ex-amateur champion of Ireland.

"Consumption" Cure

would be a truthful name to give Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the most efficacious medicine yet discovered for curing the early development of pulmonary diseases. But "consumption cure" would not sufficiently indicate the scope of its influence and usefulness. In all the many diseases which spring from a derangement of the liver and blood the "discovery" is a safe and sure specific. Of all druggists.

A BEAUTIFUL TOWN ELEGANTLY LOCATED.

Large Lots at Reasonable Prices.

A Good Investment South Omaha.

Since the completion of the new packing and slaughter houses, South Omaha is making a wonderful and rapid growth. Besides the large pork and beef house erected for Hammond & Co., other dealers have commenced the erection of similar institutions and still others are contemplated for the near future. Several dwellings have been built and twenty or thirty are now building. Employment is now furnished to about one hundred and fifty families, and conservative estimates place the figure at eight hundred to one thousand families that will find employment there a year hence. This offers great inducements to laboring men to secure homes now while they are cheap. Speculators will also find it to their advantage to buy at present prices. The company have made no change from the original prices, but some parties who first purchased lots have resold them at splendid profits, in some cases at double the purchase price. If in so short a time handsome profits are made, what will be the result when everything is fully developed? In the few other cities that are favored with a first class cattle market, fortunes have been made by investors in real estate, and the same is certain to follow in South Omaha. While the whole city of Omaha will be greatly benefitted by the growth and development of the cattle interest, South Omaha lots will enhance in value more rapidly than any other by reason of its proximity to the works.

MANUFACTURERS. BUSINESS MEN

Will find it profitable to select property now, as a year or two hence with a population of 5000 to 10,000 people, this will become a desirable place for all kinds of business, and lots bought now, can be had at very reasonable prices which will double in price many times in the next two years.

EVERYBODY.

Rich or poor, will find it profitable to make investments in this property. Free conveyance at all times will be furnished by us to parties wishing to see this wonderful new town and learn of its advantages. We have entire charge of, and are the exclusive agents for the sale of all this property from G streets south. Splendid lots from $225 upwards.

BEDFORD & SOUER. 213 S. 14th STREET. We have desirable business and residence property for sale in all parts of Omaha and do a general real estate business. We solicit buyers and sellers to call on us. We will give them all possible information free, and keep conveyance free to show property in any part of the city.
