Together in carriages they visand viewed the proposed sites, and Mr. Adams was informed as to the en imates of cost for construction as reported by City Engineer Rosewater, viz: $55,000 to $65,000 for the Eleventh street vladuct and $70,000 to build one at Sixteenth street. No agreements were arrived at as to which one or how many of the streets should be improved with viaducts across the track. It is with viaducts across the track. It is understood that Mr. Adams said the U. These viaduct bridges contemplate a railroad way thirty feet wide, with a foot passage on each side from six to eight

It is expected that another meeting will be held to-day, when General Man-ager Callaway will be present and the matter put in such shape that all parties will know what to do.

About noon yesterday Frank Thompson a man from Pottowattame county, Iowa, and from intermediate stations at one who had come to Omaha to "see the elephant," came to police headquarters and from Omaha, tickets will be sold at $2.00 reported that he had fallen in with a each. gang of toughs and had been badly slugged. He was indeed in a deplorable state, his face being frescoed with startling black and blue effects.

It seems that he had been drinking pretty freely in saloons on lower Douglas street and fell into a hard crowd. He appeared to be pretty flush with his money, and was pounced upon by three of the "bays, you know" who invited him to take a hack ride. Thompson atoutly declined the invitation at first, as he suspected something wrong, but finally was pressed into the hack and driven down Sixteenth street. When out of town and in a secluded locality he was jumped upon by his com-paniors, who doubtless had the intention paniors, who doubtless had the intention of rebbing him.
