MANY MISFORTUNES.

Iowa Detective essociation, living near Little Sloux, Iowa, started out to look for a villian, one Baggs, who had seduced his daughter, a little girl fifteen years of age. This man Baggs, had a farm in Council Bluffs which he had mortgsged for $800 and then fled the country. The infuriated father, as soon as he discovered his daughter's deli-cate condition, started out to hunt Baggs, determined, as he told a reporter, to kill him on sight. He traced him to Council Bluffs and thences to Omaha where he lost sight of him. pot Wednesday morning, look-ing for the man, whom, above all others he wanted to meet, Bays met a man named Geo. Meyers. He asked this man to direct him to some place of popular amusement where he would be apt to meet a large crowd of people. Meyers at once took him up to the Tivoll garden, where they sat down to drink. Meyers had no money, and Bays did all the treating. They drank there for several hours, until Bays be-thought himself that it was time to look for hotel accommodations. About this time, too, he began to suspect Meyers, and thought possibly he might have evil intentions. Accordingly he went to the propulate of the grandan and turned and turned and thought possibly he might have evil intentions. His Return to Omaha-A Satisfactory Explanation.

A male child weighing 191 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. R Hall, Cohoes, on Thurs-day. This is phenomenal weight, and yester-day a large number of people called to see the bouncing little fellow.-[Albany Argus, There appeared in the BEE of June 9th an article concerning Col. J. H. Woods, of the Dime Museum and Theatre, in which it was charged that he had swindled a man by the name of Middleton out of $500, that he had beaten the billposter out of some money, and had anddenly disappeared, leaving other debts unpaid. The article in question was of some considerable length and of a renzational character, the details of the various transactions being very circumstantially given. It was not the invention of the reporter, but the reproduction of statements made to him by parties whom he had every reason to believe were giving him facts, and not fiction. It now appears that the reporter must have been imposed upon, or else his informants either were mistaken or had some motive in giving Col. Wood such an unenviable send off. Col. Woods has returned to Omaha and now speaks for himself. He came to Omaha last spring and during his stay made friends whore confidence he hopes to retain. His absence from Omaha since the 6th of June is accounted for by the fact that he went to New York to purchase some animals and other attractions for a zoological garden, which he intends to open at an early day in Omaha. As to the museum contract he states that his sale of his interest to his partner, Driesbach, and Middleton, was a rquare business transaction, the pur-chasers assuming all liabilities. We have been shown the papers to confirm this statement. Col. Woods has come to Omaha to make this city his home, and it is so hoped that this statement will set him right and relieve him from the stigma that has been cast upon his fair fame

Good Investment South Omaha_

Since the completion of the new packing and slaughter houses, South Omaha is making a wonderful ane rapid growth. Besides the large pork and beef house erected for Hammond & Co., other dealers have commenced the erection of similar institutions and still others are contemplated for the near future. Several dwellings have been bult and twenty or thirty are now building. Employment is now furnished to about one hundred and fifty families, and conservative estimates place the figure at eight hundred to one thousand families that will find employment there a year hence. This offers great inducements to laboring men to secure homes now while they are cheap. Speculators will also find it to their advantage to buy at present prices. The company have made no change from the original prices, but some parties who first purchased lots have resold them at splendid profits, in some cases at double the purchase price. This affair, now almost forgotten, ex-cept by those immediately interested has been renewed, and brought once more been renewed, and brought once more prominently into notice, in another phase. yeaterdaymorning Charles Gruenig the father of the young girl, appeared in police court and swore out a complaint for the arrest of Mr. Littlefield, on the ground of his carry-ing concealed weapons. A reporter for the BEE met Mr. L. shortly after his ap-pearance in police court and gained from him the story of his troubles. "In the first place," said he, "I don't think that I have been tightly used in this matter. I love the girl(there is no use to deny that) and it is common talk that there is mutual tender feeling existing between us. In the second place, her age has been mis-stated; she is 14 years old, and well advanced for her years.
