The small sum of ten cents admits you to the opera house next Tuesday evening to witness the rendition of the popular comedy of "Fanchon."

You can not enjoy an evening to any better advantage than to secure a seat to the Buchanan dramatic entertainment Tuesday evening, June 30.

The Rev. J. Fiek will preach to-morrow at 10:30 a. m., at the mission rooms, at the corner of Third and Fifth streets. Sunday school at 3 p. m.

Jones Woll's medical and surgical institute, 504 Broadway, will devote every Monday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. to the benefit of the poor. Consultation, examination and medicine free.

Hay For Sale—One hundred and fifty tons of blue-joint hay in stack for sale. Last Year's crop. A mile and three quarters south of the city; good road. Apply to Ben Marks, Council Bluffs.

By those who should know if any do it is asserted that the Council Bluffs post-office matter will be finally settled on Monday. There are several who will breathe more freely when the decision is announced.

Sandy Paint or Charlie Adams, who is in the jail for threatening to kill a young fellow who went to a dance with Sandy's girl is said to be nearly crazy because he is shut up there and cannot watch the girl to see that she does not go with some other fellow.

The opera house will be crowded Monday evening to witness the exercises of the graduating class from the high school. Those who desire to see and hear would do well to secure seats at Bushnell's. The program, as published in the Bee, will prove exceedingly interesting.

When the compositor was setting up the program of the commencement exercises of the Council Bluffs high school, to be held in the opera house next Monday evening, he thought he knew more than the writer. The essay, "Waiting," is to be read by Miss Roberta Hattenhauer instead of Robert Hattenhauer, as it was printed.

The Athletics of this city won the game played with the Avoca club by a score of 23 to 16. But the boys say that the Avoca club did not treat them very handsomely. When the Avoca club comes here next week our boys propose to teach them something of the courteous due to a visiting club.

Judge Aylesworth wants the Bee to call the attention of the boys and their parents that it is a violation of the city ordinance to fire fireworks on the street before the fourth of July. Many boys are, unknowingly perhaps, violating the ordinance, and making themselves liable to the penalty for the same.

Up at the city jail they have had confined in one of the cells for the past four days a poor blacksmith by the name of Owen Hart, who has been crazy with delirium tremens. He did not close his eyes in sleep for three days and four nights, but spent his time in walking around his cell, and trying to keep the snakes off him. At last the medicine had its effect, and yesterday afternoon he slept.

Charles Hood is in trouble again. He was arrested for being drunk and using abusive language. This makes twice in one week. Monday he was fined, and now he is up again. He has notified the police that he can't and won't stand it. He says he has lived here too long to be treated so. But it seems that the hardship falls on his poor wife more than on him. She is a hard-working woman, and when he is arrested and fined, instead of letting him go to jail, she pays the fine and lets him out.

The Wabash strikers are to be paid off to-day. The force of men now at the works is said to be large enough to do the absolutely necessary work, but not so large as would be convenient at this point. At some of the other points it has been announced that they have a full force of men, that the shops are running, and that therefore the strike is virtually ended. It requires a very thorough organization to make a strike successful, at a time of year when men can most easily be dispensed with.

O. R. Mitchell received his hay mare from Pacific Junction yesterday morning. It seems that before Marshal Guarnella reached there, Mitchell had fastened onto Mullens, the thief, and the horse; but having more than he could handle, the horse broke and ran. It was subsequently captured again by some boys who took it to a livery stable. When Mitchell went after it the proprietors refused to let him have it unless he paid the reward of $25 which he offered for it. The thing was finally settled by paying a part of the reward, and the mare is now back in the Bluffs.

The mother and goose party last night was a decided success. The crowd was large and everyone was delighted with the way in which the little folks sustained their part. The big shoe was made for the occasion at the store of L. N. Phillips.

That the entertainment was such a success was due almost entirely to the indefatigable efforts of the rector, the Rev. Mackay, who assumed the responsibility of the programme and drilled the children himself. It is too good a thing not to be repeated, so it will be given this afternoon at a matinee at 2 o'clock.

Children's day at opera house. Mother Goose. Children 10 cents.

The jury in the case of Henry Neville returned a verdict declaring the prisoner insane, yesterday. While some of the neighbors of the accused think the insanity of the old man was mostly assumed for the occasion, perhaps they are not the best judges in the matter, for they are certainly prejudiced against him. The impression seems to prevail among those who attended the trial, that the jury found a just verdict. The old man was examined before a commission of lunacy five years ago, but at that time it was not deemed necessary to send him to the insane asylum.

Yesterday morning as the Kansas City train was backing out of the transfer, the sleeping car attached was "kicked" down and was going at the rate of twelve to fifteen miles an hour, when it struck a freight train that was just backing down into the transfer freight yards and was across the Kansas City track. The engine of the freight train saw that if he kept his train moving his engine would be struck by the Pullman sleeping car, so he stopped his freight train and let the sleeper crash into his train. It smashed the sleeper badly and crushed in a car of wagons. No brakeman was on the sleeper at the time.

There is considerable complaint about the amount of dirt which covers the pavement on Broadway and Main street. While the people realize the fact that the city has no money to hire these streets cleaned, yet they do not think that when a man is arrested for being drunk, or for some other lesser misdemeanor, and when unable or unwilling to pay his fine, that instead of being released to skip out, and leave only a promise behind him, while the city has to pay for his arrest, imprisonment and trial, that he could be set at work on the streets. And that instead of being sent to pound stones they might more profitably be employed scraping dirt. The money collected from fines of those who would rather pay than work, who now skip out entirely would be sufficient to hire a man and team to haul the dirt away.

Important to the Public.

We have concluded to open a mammoth stock of farm and spring wagons, buggies, and carriages, to the retail trade of Council Bluffs and vicinity. Our stock is the largest opened by any concern on the Missouri river, comprising single and double carriages of all descriptions, phaetons, sidebars, and springs, road-carts, buckboards, etc., etc., too numerous to mention. It will pay you to examine our stock before purchasing.

Citizens' Meeting.

A meeting of the citizens of Council Bluffs will be held in Bayliss park Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock. The financial and other difficulties of the city will be discussed by able speakers. All are invited. By order of the committee.

The meeting will be under the auspices of the workmen's association. That hard-headed laborer, John Short, has been posting himself as to the actual condition of the treasury, and may be expected to electrify the citizens by a startling speech. That other horny-handed son of toil, the "Carter Harrison of the Missouri slope," is absent from the city, solidifying employment in the politics.

FOUND HANGING.

Mysterious Death of W. Hayes.

Jail Breakers Suspected of the Murder—Threats of Lynching.

From Neola, in this county, comes the horrible news of the mysterious disappearance and startling discovery of the dead body of William Hayes, a young lad sixteen years of age. He had always resided with his parents on a farm in the town of Perita. Tuesday morning he started to attend the confirmation exercises of the catholic church at Neola. This is the last ever seen of him alive.

Thursday morning, about 10 o'clock, his parents were surprised by the appearance of his horse, with the saddle and bridle still on, at the farm. Immediately organizing a party of neighbors, they started out to hunt for the lad, supposing that he had been thrown by his horse and hurt. They first went to Neola and made diligent inquiry there in hopes that the boy had arrived there and that the horse had broken away and returned home. Failing to find him there, they separated into small groups and searched all the country between his home and Neola. All day long and far into the night was the party out, and still no trace could be found after the first few miles. No one had seen him, no one had met him. Late at night the search was abandoned, only to be renewed this morning at daybreak.

This morning the body of the boy was found by his brother, hanging from the limb of a tree, ten or twelve feet from the ground. It was suspended by the bridle rein taken from the horse. A spot near by was found all trampled by the horse where it had been tied for some time, and a broken strap showed that it had pulled loose and started for home. The hands of the boy were tied behind him, and his feet fastened together. Death had resulted from strangulation, as his neck was not broken. These facts prove conclusively that the boy was hung, and that it was no suicide.

The spot where it was found was about nine miles north of Neola, in Harrison county, in a small thicket of underbrush, about ten or twelve rods from the wagon road, near the farm of John Honeywell.

The coroner of Harrison county held an inquest, but the jury returned a sealed verdict, which had not been made public up to last evening.

The theory is that the boy was murdered by four prisoners who escaped from the Harrison county jail last Monday.

Two of these same men had once before broken jail and been recaptured. They were followed by the 16 year old son of Sheriff Garrison, who learned of their whereabouts near Neola, reported them and secured their recapture. William Hayes, the murdered boy bore a striking resemblance to young Garrison, and it is supposed that the jail birds, seeing him, thought it was the sheriff's son tracking them again, and that they hung him to put him out of the way.

Public excitement is running very high, and it is threatened that if the men are caught they will be hung without judge or jury. The young man was much liked, being an industrious young man. It is said he never did anything in opposition to the wishes of his mother, and that he had accumulated his earnings and had purchased for himself a team of horses.

The following is a description of the men who broke jail:

Henry Lee, five feet eight inches, weight 140 pounds, black eyes, slender built, twenty-three years old.

William Wood, burglary, five feet five inches, dark curly hair, black mustache, twenty-five years old, weight 140 pounds.

George Johnson, burglary, six feet, stoop shouldered, pock-marked, fifty years old.

William Matlock, bigamy, dark complexion, very muscular, weight 225 pounds.

A liberal reward will be offered for the capture of one or any of John D. Garrison, Sheriff of Harrison County, Iowa.

THE MERRY MAIDEN.

The sea's kin, the sea's kin, that crest with pride she wore. Is now in campfire safely laid away, And from the city to the shore. With pleasure hastes the maiden fair and gay.

In lawn, lawn, or meadow or pique, And ribbon at her waist, a vision fair, Along the yellow sands the waveslets play. She passes slowly, with a pensive air, Creating havoc among the hearts of maidens there.
