

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

WILLIAM'S DEATH PRAYED FOR AND DISCOURAGED IN ENGLAND.

Demise Anxiously Looked For in High Official Circles.

On the Ties of Kin for a National Alliance with the Empire of Victoria.

DISCOUNTING DEATH.

THE BUILDING AND WORKS ON THE PROSPECTIVE DEATH OF KAISER WILLIAM.

YORK, June 30.—The death of the Emperor of Germany is the next great event in Europe.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent sending any news revealing the real condition, but letters are not subject to official censorship.

The news of his death is daily expected. In official circles in England the Emperor is looked upon as an event of the very near future.

The next intelligence Mrs. Gottermann had was the news of her death, which she received in July, 1884.

Then she thought she would see what was in the package. When she opened them she was surprised.

In the box was $7,000 worth of United States bonds and about $2,500 worth of jewelry.

The package contained two boxes of jewelry which brought the total value of the treasure to about $25,000.

Mrs. Gottermann did not know of the existence of Mr. Richards, who was then in charge.

She had a lawyer, Peter B. Vermilyea, who looked up the dead woman's heirs.

Last December, 31, he found Richards at Jacksonville, Illinois, and informed him of his wife's death and personal property she had left.

Richards said he would settle up the estate upon the basis that should be realized $20,000.

He had $2,000 in cash and $2,000 in expenses. Richards did not come to New York until last February, when he had an understanding with Vermilyea.

He found his wife had left a few hundred dollars of property in New Jersey, so he went there and took out letters of administration.

These did not help him in New York, so he came to Chicago and was assigned to his claim to H. S. Church, of Troy, who was to bring the formal suit necessary to obtain money from Mrs. Gottermann and then he was assigned to Richard's lawyer.

When Mrs. Gottermann's counsel. At the close of the suit she said she received $1,700 for her services and said she would not sue.

Richard's lawyer, however, was not satisfied with the result. A few days ago Richards brought suit against Vermilyea, alleging he never received more than a few hundred dollars out of his wife's estate.

Vermilyea claims he received all that was due him up to the present time. Judge Andrews appointed a receiver for the $25,000.

By Mrs. Richards was the result of many years hoarding, and not one of her friends or relatives was aware of his good fortune.

With the money he had in California got up subscriptions to help her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

A MISER'S SAVINGS.

NEW YORK LAWYERS TAKE THE PLUM AND DIVIDE IT AMONG THEMSELVES.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The World says: Emma Strassberger was quite a well known actress in France five years ago.

She had been on the stage there about ten years, and in early life married a man named Cook, from whom she obtained a divorce.

Four years ago she married a young man named Williams, who she thought was a very rich man.

She had a very good time with him, and when Mrs. Richards came to New York in the summer of 1883 she was alone.

She had joined a theatrical company that was going to Cuba. She had but few acquaintances in this city, and among them was Mrs. Gottermann, whose husband is a dealer in vanilla beans and druggists sundries.

On Broadway in August, 1883, Mrs. Richards brought a small box and asked her to take care of them until she returned from Cuba.

She was expected to be back in three months. Mrs. Gottermann says she said nothing to her about the contents of the box.

The next intelligence Mrs. Gottermann had was the news of her death, which she received in July, 1884.

Then she thought she would see what was in the package. When she opened them she was surprised.

In the box was $7,000 worth of United States bonds and about $2,500 worth of jewelry.

The package contained two boxes of jewelry which brought the total value of the treasure to about $25,000.

Mrs. Gottermann did not know of the existence of Mr. Richards, who was then in charge.

She had a lawyer, Peter B. Vermilyea, who looked up the dead woman's heirs.

Last December, 31, he found Richards at Jacksonville, Illinois, and informed him of his wife's death and personal property she had left.

Richards said he would settle up the estate upon the basis that should be realized $20,000.

He had $2,000 in cash and $2,000 in expenses. Richards did not come to New York until last February, when he had an understanding with Vermilyea.

He found his wife had left a few hundred dollars of property in New Jersey, so he went there and took out letters of administration.

These did not help him in New York, so he came to Chicago and was assigned to his claim to H. S. Church, of Troy, who was to bring the formal suit necessary to obtain money from Mrs. Gottermann and then he was assigned to Richard's lawyer.

When Mrs. Gottermann's counsel. At the close of the suit she said she received $1,700 for her services and said she would not sue.

Richard's lawyer, however, was not satisfied with the result. A few days ago Richards brought suit against Vermilyea, alleging he never received more than a few hundred dollars out of his wife's estate.

Vermilyea claims he received all that was due him up to the present time. Judge Andrews appointed a receiver for the $25,000.

By Mrs. Richards was the result of many years hoarding, and not one of her friends or relatives was aware of his good fortune.

With the money he had in California got up subscriptions to help her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

She had a large number of subscribers in California while she was living here with her husband, working making artificial flowers for $3 per dozen.

SMITH STILL SAILING.

The Absconding Prince Heard From In Windsor, Canada.

Said to Be Well, Happy, and Having a Good Time.

Attachments Placed on the Stock—Wrangle Among the Creditors and Appraisers.

THE FRIY FINANCIER.

HIS CREDITORS MOURN AND GRIEVE.

L. L. Smith's runaway is still the most favored topic of conversation in all circles of business and society.

Probably will be for several days to come. The first wave of excitement, however, had died almost out yesterday.

The affair was discussed in more philosophic tones. Much sympathy is expressed for those who got "done up" by him, but it is noticeable that none suffer who could not afford to lose without suffering.

The banks who were made victims of Smith's cool villainy admit that they have nobody to blame but themselves.

On his own word and promises he induced them to let him have what money he wanted without security.

Hardly any other man in Omaha could get so much trust. It was reported last evening that a telegram had been received here from Smith saying that he is in Windsor, Canada, well, hearty and happy.

The following additional attachments were placed on the stock of goods yesterday.

Boyd, White & Company, Chicago, $3 738.60; Boyd, White & Company, Chicago, 1 729.24; Milton H. Wilson & Company, Chicago, 1 862.53; Conless Brothers & Company, Chicago, 325.00; O'Neil & Pincus, Chicago, 4 635.00; Ely & Walker, Chicago, 484.00; E. H. Mason & Company, Chicago, 396.47; Jordan, Marsh & Company, Boston, 650.00; La Baran, Holt & Company, Chicago, 6 470.54; Shonover, Moore & Company, New York, 1 240.00; William H. Ball & Company, New York, 514.00; Yorkville Shipping Agency, New York, 1 228.00; Wilson Brothers, Chicago, 303.63; Coleman, Meade & Company, Chicago, 422.00; Charles Technor, Chicago, 835.00.

Leo Wolff, a well known nursery man of Ohio, has been authorized by the commissioner of agriculture to procure and plant seeds of timber trees, hardy ornamental trees, plants and fruit trees as in his opinion may be acclimated and made to live in the exposed regions of the northwestern states and territories.

Cherries, plums, apples and other fruits of excellent quality and in many varieties, and many kinds of woods, flourishing upon the banks of the river, are being prepared for export.

Deputy Sheriff Ed. Gorman had charge of the store last night. The appraisers, Messrs. Wilcox, Brown and Watson, were at work all of yesterday "taking stock." When the employees reported for duty yesterday they were dismissed, to await until called.

It will probably require nearly all of this week to complete the appraisement. And it may not be completed this week. The creditors and the present committee of the firm are waiting for the report of the appraisers. It is probably the result of bringing in a new committee in the morning. The creditors complain that the present committee is not marking the goods at a high enough figure.

Mr. Lowy, one of the new proprietors, was asked last night by a Bee reporter when he expected to be ready to open for business, and he replied: "Don't know. I want three fellows to take all the time they desire."

"Will you replenish the stock?" "Well I should smile."

"And then sue for damages?" "That's about the size of it."

FOLLOWING UP THE FUGITIVE.

"No," said Ben Woods of the Merchants National bank, to-day with a faint but plainly discernible smile on his face. "No, we haven't any intelligence yet of Smith's capture. A friend he's not caught yet. However, you can read that."

He said he had been actively prosecuted while the trail lay yet hot.

PEJORATIVE OF THE THROUGHGRIEVERS.

In connection with the sudden departure of Loyal L. Smith, Fred Fuller and F. C. Moler, it might be of interest to the readers of the Bee to give a brief pedigree of the trio.

Of course interest centers in Smith and his history will be given first. The son of wealthy parents, he always had every advantage of a good education, and was to labor and has lived a life of luxury and ease.

As a boy he was regarded as a true type of "Young America" and nothing was too rich for him. At the age of twenty-one he came into possession of $22,000, left him by his deceased father.

With this snug little fortune he started out upon the ocean of life. His sails were trimmed, the sea was calm and with a buoyant heart he seized the helm of his little bark of fortune and set sail. He at once began to speculate and was quite successful, so much so in fact, that he became infatuated with the life of a gambler, or (as more modest people call it) speculator.

He has often told the writer how he had got up little jobs in Boston to please people who thought they were sharper than anybody else and, taking him at his word, he must have been a loud one. A few years ago he embarked in the flour and grain business in Lowell, Mass., having for a partner a gentleman of considerable means and influence.

The writer manipulated the affairs of the firm until he got a leverage upon his partner, when he raised him so high in the air that it is doubtful if he has got down yet. After a few more minor deals in the east Smith came west to Chicago and there began to operate on the board of trade.

He was always regarded as a most reckless speculator and made some big deals. A few months before coming to Omaha Smith said to a friend that as soon as he had a few thousand dollars he would quit the mar-

SMITH STILL SAILING.

The Absconding Prince Heard From In Windsor, Canada.

Said to Be Well, Happy, and Having a Good Time.

Attachments Placed on the Stock—Wrangle Among the Creditors and Appraisers.

THE FRIY FINANCIER.

HIS CREDITORS MOURN AND GRIEVE.

L. L. Smith's runaway is still the most favored topic of conversation in all circles of business and society.

Probably will be for several days to come. The first wave of excitement, however, had died almost out yesterday.

The affair was discussed in more philosophic tones. Much sympathy is expressed for those who got "done up" by him, but it is noticeable that none suffer who could not afford to lose without suffering.

The banks who were made victims of Smith's cool villainy admit that they have nobody to blame but themselves.

On his own word and promises he induced them to let him have what money he wanted without security.

Hardly any other man in Omaha could get so much trust. It was reported last evening that a telegram had been received here from Smith saying that he is in Windsor, Canada, well, hearty and happy.

The following additional attachments were placed on the stock of goods yesterday.

Boyd, White & Company, Chicago, $3 738.60; Boyd, White & Company, Chicago, 1 729.24; Milton H. Wilson & Company, Chicago, 1 862.53; Conless Brothers & Company, Chicago, 325.00; O'Neil & Pincus, Chicago, 4 635.00; Ely & Walker, Chicago, 484.00; E. H. Mason & Company, Chicago, 396.47; Jordan, Marsh & Company, Boston, 650.00; La Baran, Holt & Company, Chicago, 6 470.54; Shonover, Moore & Company, New York, 1 240.00; William H. Ball & Company, New York, 514.00; Yorkville Shipping Agency, New York, 1 228.00; Wilson Brothers, Chicago, 303.63; Coleman, Meade & Company, Chicago, 422.00; Charles Technor, Chicago, 835.00.

Leo Wolff, a well known nursery man of Ohio, has been authorized by the commissioner of agriculture to procure and plant seeds of timber trees, hardy ornamental trees, plants and fruit trees as in his opinion may be acclimated and made to live in the exposed regions of the northwestern states and territories.

Cherries, plums, apples and other fruits of excellent quality and in many varieties, and many kinds of woods, flourishing upon the banks of the river, are being prepared for export.

Deputy Sheriff Ed. Gorman had charge of the store last night. The appraisers, Messrs. Wilcox, Brown and Watson, were at work all of yesterday "taking stock." When the employees reported for duty yesterday they were dismissed, to await until called.

It will probably require nearly all of this week to complete the appraisement. And it may not be completed this week. The creditors and the present committee of the firm are waiting for the report of the appraisers. It is probably the result of bringing in a new committee in the morning. The creditors complain that the present committee is not marking the goods at a high enough figure.

Mr. Lowy, one of the new proprietors, was asked last night by a Bee reporter when he expected to be ready to open for business, and he replied: "Don't know. I want three fellows to take all the time they desire."

"Will you replenish the stock?" "Well I should smile."

"And then sue for damages?" "That's about the size of it."

FOLLOWING UP THE FUGITIVE.

"No," said Ben Woods of the Merchants National bank, to-day with a faint but plainly discernible smile on his face. "No, we haven't any intelligence yet of Smith's capture. A friend he's not caught yet. However, you can read that."

He said he had been actively prosecuted while the trail lay yet hot.

PEJORATIVE OF THE THROUGHGRIEVERS.

In connection with the sudden departure of Loyal L. Smith, Fred Fuller and F. C. Moler, it might be of interest to the readers of the Bee to give a brief pedigree of the trio.

Of course interest centers in Smith and his history will be given first. The son of wealthy parents, he always had every advantage of a good education, and was to labor and has lived a life of luxury and ease.

As a boy he was regarded as a true type of "Young America" and nothing was too rich for him. At the age of twenty-one he came into possession of $22,000, left him by his deceased father.

With this snug little fortune he started out upon the ocean of life. His sails were trimmed, the sea was calm and with a buoyant heart he seized the helm of his little bark of fortune and set sail. He at once began to speculate and was quite successful, so much so in fact, that he became infatuated with the life of a gambler, or (as more modest people call it) speculator.

He has often told the writer how he had got up little jobs in Boston to please people who thought they were sharper than anybody else and, taking him at his word, he must have been a loud one. A few years ago he embarked in the flour and grain business in Lowell, Mass., having for a partner a gentleman of considerable means and influence.

The writer manipulated the affairs of the firm until he got a leverage upon his partner, when he raised him so high in the air that it is doubtful if he has got down yet. After a few more minor deals in the east Smith came west to Chicago and there began to operate on the board of trade.

He was always regarded as a most reckless speculator and made some big deals. A few months before coming to Omaha Smith said to a friend that as soon as he had a few thousand dollars he would quit the mar-

SMITH STILL SAILING.

The Absconding Prince Heard From In Windsor, Canada.

Said to Be Well, Happy, and Having a Good Time.

Attachments Placed on the Stock—Wrangle Among the Creditors and Appraisers.

THE FRIY FINANCIER.

HIS CREDITORS MOURN AND GRIEVE.

L. L. Smith's runaway is still the most favored topic of conversation in all circles of business and society.

Probably will be for several days to come. The first wave of excitement, however, had died almost out yesterday.

The affair was discussed in more philosophic tones.