

THE DAILY BEE

Wednesday Morning, July 1.

Life's opportunity to procure a Jersey cow at half price. Solomon's auction sale at fair grounds, Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

Judge Selden has in his possession the marriage license of two persons, Stephen M. Reynolds to Mary Ellen Dorris. He was to have married them Sunday, but they have failed to show up. The judge is puzzled and disappointed.

Rev. T. H. Worley, a returned missionary, will lecture on China at the First M. E. church, on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, June 30th and July 1st. Admission, 10c; children, 5c. Berries and cream will be served after the lecture.

The paving on Cuming street has been delayed considerably because the board of public works was compelled to condemn a lot of stone which was of imperfect size and shape. It is expected that in a few days work will be actively resumed and pushed.

Commencing with Sunday morning the Red line street cars resumed trips as far as the barn, leaving a gap of three blocks for passengers to walk. The injunction case against the city, which will be decided to-day, has prevented any work on the street beyond.

About all there is now left standing of the old court house is the north, or back wall. Contrary to general expectation, the work of tearing down was completed without injury to any one. Old residents are awaiting with considerable interest the exhuming of the corner stone.

The Council Bluffs people have offered the Thurston team a chance to run for a fine silver trumpet on the 4th of July, in that city, besides volunteering to pay all their expenses. Unless the Thurston team have inducements to celebrate the "Glorious" in Omaha they will certainly go to Council Bluffs.

The game of Sunday morning between the Paxton & Gallagher nine and the Collins, Gordon & Kay nine resulted in a score of 22 to 8 in favor of the former. Instead of the Collins, Gordon & Kay nine as has been erroneously stated. The Paxton & Gallagher nine is composed of rusties and are capable of defeating their opponents with a "whoop-la."

Lou Weaver, a dippy blonde, was arrested last night charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from a sucker. "Sucker" told the same old story. Met pretty girl sucker made deep impression; persuaded sucker to take her out riding; got sucker's money; refused to give it up. Lou Weaver was released yesterday.

Mr. John E. McClure, the gentlemanly western passenger agent of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad called at the Bee office yesterday, and left samples of a "Patch" something new in the advertising line which he is giving away. Mr. McClure thinks that it is just the thing for a crazy quilt and says that he will be more than delighted to present every lady with one but they must call at his office 1403 Farnam street to get one. Thousands of ladies have written the passenger department of this company complimenting them on the good taste they have displayed in the Patch.

Smoke Seal of North Carolina Tobacco.

Sweet Eighteen. Miss Sarah McGavock entertained quite a number of friends at the residence of her parents corner Fifth and Pierce streets Monday evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her eighteenth birthday. The grounds surrounding the house were brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns, while the interior beheld a lot of happy faces whose owners were amusing themselves dancing. About 11 o'clock an elegant lunch was served after which the guests continued dancing, singing and having a general good time until a late hour. It was an evening of solid enjoyment and will not soon be forgotten by those who were so fortunate as to be present. They were all royally entertained by Miss Sarah and her estimable mother, and all her friends wish that she may have many happy returns of the day.

Seal of North Carolina Tobacco is the best. Rather Mysterious. Last week two young men, or rather boys arrived in this city, on route from Denver to Buffalo, New York. One of them was George Moore, a nephew of Col. Mason, formerly stationed here, but now at St. Paul, the other the son of a prominent business man of Denver, by name Charles Moore. Saturday after securing hotel accommodations, George Moore went out to the fort expecting to find his uncle. When he got back, his comrade Charles was missing together with $40 in money, which George had turned over for safe-keeping, and both valises. Up to noon yesterday the missing boy had not turned up. George is rather loth to believe that his comrade would willfully defraud him of his money, and believes that the missing lamb will yet return. The police have been notified.

A Funeral in St. Paul's. London Letter. A funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral is not only a rare event, but it is also an exceedingly costly honor. The fees paid by the corporation of London for burying the late lord mayor in the cathedral were about $5,000. When a royal funeral takes place at Windsor, the preliminary fees to the dean and chapter "for breaking the ground" is $1,000. This item is the more unreasonable inasmuch as the royal vault is not under St. George's chapel and no ground is broken, the only disturbance being the removal of a certain slab on the floor of the choir in order that the coffin may be lowered into the vault beneath, whence it is wheeled along a passage to the royal tomb-house underneath the Albert Memorial Chapel.

A New Train. Commencing Monday June 29th, the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railway will run a new train between West Point, Neb. and Omaha, also connecting with Blair. Following is the time for running: Will leave Omaha at 5:40 p. m., will leave Fremont at 8:00 p. m. Will arrive at West Point at 9:15 p. m., will leave West Point at 6:30 a. m., will arrive at Omaha at 11:00 a. m. O'ving all day in Omaha.

A WIFE'S WOE.

The Petition for Divorce Filed by Mrs. Mary France-Millet and the Story Thereof.

The raling sensation in Denver is one in which a young lady formerly well known in Omaha is one of the prominent figures. About a year ago Miss Mary France, a rather good looking attractive young lady, was working in the jewelry store of Max Meyer & Bro. A lawyer of Columbus, Neb., Byron Millet, by name for three years has been suing for her hand, with all the eagerness of genuine love. She at first refused him, but finally acting upon the advice of her friends and immediate associates, decided to accept him. They were engaged, and six or seven months ago were married. Mr. Millet, in the meantime had closed up his place of business in Columbus, removed to Denver, where he has since been engaged in the active prosecution of his business, as a lawyer. Apparently everything went smoothly and happily, despite the fact that Millet was a man of 35 or 40 years of age, while his wife was comparatively young. A few days ago, on last Friday, the quiet community of Denver was astounded with the scandalous sensation which was unfolded in the pages of a petition for a divorce and alimony which had been filed by Mrs. Millet in local tribunals. The divorce was sought because Mr. Millet, it alleged, had been guilty of grossly inhuman conduct in giving his wife some kind of medicine to produce abortion, under the pretense that it would cure her of some slight ailment with which she was troubled. It is alleged that after the drugs had been taken by Mrs. M., she discovered their true nature and effect. On these grounds she sued for divorce absolute, and alimony of $10,000.

The charge is a very serious one, and has produced a great sensation, not only in Denver circles, but among the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Millet in this city and state. It is but just to Mr. Millet to say that he denies the story of his wife in toto and certainly his friends hope that he may clear himself of the heinous charge.

Army Notes. Telegrams received at the department headquarters yesterday said by the retirement of C. J. Clitz, Lieut.-Col. Douglas becomes colonel of the Fourteenth Infantry. Maj. De Kussey, now at Fort Omaha, becomes lieutenant-colonel of the Fourteenth Infantry, at Portland, Oregon. Capt. Kent, major of the Fourteenth Infantry, comes from Dakota to Fort Omaha.

The Army and Navy Journal says with reference to the coming department rifle competition:

"The annual competition is looked forward to by the men with more interest than usual this year owing to the fact that the citizens of Omaha have offered prizes in money, medals, watches, cigars, clothes, etc., amounting to about $600, for each of the twelve men on the team, as well as the twelve best squireships. It was only necessary for Colonel Henry to suggest this matter when the citizens of Omaha responded with their usual generosity. Lieut. Morrill, one of the distinguished Army marksmen, has charge of the collections. The soldiers of the department of the Platte are to be congratulated on having such a city as Omaha to thus encourage them."

Colonel Guy V. Henry, Ninth Cavalry, was remembered on June 17 by Capt. Bourke, Third Cavalry, who sent him a beautiful bouquet of flowers. The 17th was the anniversary of the battle of the Rosebud in which both officers were engaged—one commanding a battalion of the Third Cavalry, the other as an aide-de-camp to Gen. Crook."

Smooth-faced Fire Boys. A good story is told of four or five of the boys of No. 3 engine house who entered into a compact last week to shave off their mustaches. It appears that all of them fulfilled the compact at once, with the exception of Jim O'Brien, the veteran driver and Go. Blake, who has totally failed to raise a pair of lip protectors and was rather jealous of O'Brien's long cavalier-like mustaches, watched for a good chance and finally caught Mr. O'Brien asleep. He procured a pair of shears and nipped off one end of the mustache, completely destroying of course its beauty of symmetry. When the unfortunate owner of the nipped mustache awoke, he realized the terrible truth and immediately hid him to the nearest barber shop and had a clean shave. No plan has yet been arranged to secure the amputation of Blake's mustache, but the rest of the fireboys say that it must go. It is also claimed by the boys that the mustaches of Chief Butler and Assistant Chief Galligan are doomed to destruction.

United States Cases. In the United States court yesterday a few criminal cases were taken up. George Harpster, charged with selling liquor without a license, plead guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs. In the case of Joseph Selley and David M. Strahl, who are accused of cutting down trees on government land, both defendants desired to enter a plea of nolo contendere. As a matter of convenience, Judge Dundy decided in these cases, the penalty being both fine and imprisonment, that the court would not sentence them unless brought into court.

Not So Green as He Seemed. Arkansaw Traveler. Col. Will Beasley who has just returned from the mountain districts of Arkansas, was determined not to be outdone by the squatters. "One day," said the colonel, "I stopped near a cabin and asked of an unconcerned-looking man who sat on a fence:

"How far is it from here to Jones' ferry?" "How far is what?" "The road." "What road?" "To Jones' ferry." "Do you want to go there?" "Yes, or I wouldn't ask how far it is." "Didn't know but you was out surveyin' the country."

"He leaned over, spit at something on the ground and, seemingly, dismissed the subject for this time." "Come, wake up," said I, but he paid no attention to me. Then I thought it would be a good idea to startle him. "My friend," said I, "did you know that Andrew Jackson was dead?" "He jumped off the fence and shouted: 'More, fetch my gun here, quick. Here's

A Blamed fellow 'leachnerin' again old Andy."

"Seeing that I had made a dangerous mistake, I put spurs to my horse and galloped away, but, sir, that confounded fellow followed me five miles. I thought it was the most capital piece of ignorance I had ever heard of, and after I had got out of danger I almost laughed myself into a fit, but I have since learned that the old man was an illicit distiller, and believing that I was a deputy marshal, wanted an excuse for killing me. It won't do to fool with those fellows."
