IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. A Routine Through Which All Visitors Must Pass.

Police-men at Every Hand—Admitted By the Speaker's Order—Pounced Upon if You Loiter—Absolute Order in the Galleries.

LONDON, June 27.—When an American wishes to visit his servants, the members of Congress, at their work, he finds no obstruction in his progress beyond an exceeding number of stone steps, which are apt to exhaust his wind, unless he knows where to find the elevators.

But we will suppose this person on his travels and bringing up at night before the gates of the house of parliament. There is a rush of cabs all about him, streams of people are going every way, and a great glare of light is shed on the splendid structure and the Gothic beauty of Westminster Abbey opposite.

At the proper time he makes his appearance at a door. A group of policemen and two or three overbearing doorknockers in full dress defend it, but armed with his credentials, he boldly makes known his errand and is motioned in.

At the proper time he makes his appearance at a door. A group of policemen and two or three overbearing doorknockers in full dress defend it, but armed with his credentials, he boldly makes known his errand and is motioned in.

Nothing surprises an American visitor in the house of commons more than the small size of the chamber and its limited accommodations for both members and the public. Architecturally it is a superb hall, and its acoustic effects are fine, but to American notions it is entirely inadequate in dimensions.

Imagine the visitor satisfied with his experience and once more at the turn of the stairs. Again he passes under the sharp eyes of the very grave man and the police, and now begins a series of exhibitions more extraordinary than those he endured when approaching the hall, for while the visitor passed four sets of guards when going in he passed no less than seven before he reaches the liberty of the street.

NEW SLEEPING CARS. An Improvement Which Avoids Using the Beds as Seats by Day.

Springfield Republican. The two new parlor sleeping cars that are to be put on the Connecticut River railroad next week, to run between this city and Quebec, are constructed on a new and novel plan, and by day present a parlor car, with no indication about them that they are sleeping cars, and by night they are complete sleeping cars, with more convenient arrangements for sleeping than the exclusive sleeping cars have.

Each car contains twenty chairs, covered with the finest of damask and revolving after the manner of parlor-chairs. The berths and bedding by day are placed in perpendicular cabinets, that are folded back against the sides of the car between the window, giving the effect of elaborate finish. At night the chairs are taken apart and folded down near the floor and are not used at all in arranging the berths, and one advantage that will occur to everybody is that the same upholstery does not do service both by day and night, as is the case in sleeping cars.

The lower berths in sleeping cars, as the height is not determined by the height of the seat, and the upper berths are also lower and easier to get into. Each berth in each of the ten sections has a light from a window and is furnished with bevel-edged mirrors, and the beds are hair mattresses upon steel springs. Each car has a large wash room, smoking room, closed buffet, and the ventilation is believed to be as near perfect as it can be.

One morning recently a hungry pilgrim went into Pat Conlon's restaurant and ordered some toast, boiled potatoes, poached eggs, a rare steak and some hot cakes. The waiter, "Professor" Harris, went to the kitchen and roared out to the Chinaman: "Gimme a graveyard stew, potatoes in the dark, two men a-horse-back, a moonlight on the lake and a flambeau."

Another border came in and the professor roared out with the voice of a senator. "Gimme a saddle bags and a springer, spuds on the side, ten-penny nalls and a single to come a-runnin'." Then the reporter followed in the wake of the Missourian.

There is more drunkenness in New York at present than was ever known there. Sick headache.—Thousands who have suffered intensely with sick headache say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured them. One gentleman thus related, writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold."

Chinamen on the Columbia river put up salmon at 42 cents a case. If you suffer from looseness of the bowels, Angurita Bitters will surely cure you. Beware of counterfeits and ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, prepared by Dr. J. G. B. Sizer & Sons.

Three tons of sardines were caught in one haul of a seine at Santa Barbara, Cal., recently. Young and old, the strong and weak, are promptly cured by Red Star Cough Cure. Hawkers of cheap literature in country neighborhoods are selling a small biography of Gen. Grant for the new autobiography finished during his distressing illness.

POLICE COURT. A Big Batch of Monday Morning Business. In consequence of the repairs which are being made in the regular police court room, Judge Stenberg held session yesterday morning in the council chamber. A heavy business was disposed of.

John Doe, he of legal fame, paid a fine of $5 and costs for drunkenness. Mattie Smith was fined a similar sum for endeavoring to carminate the town. Charles Whitney, accused of drunkenness, was discharged, as were also John Maloney and John Dutchy. Henry Holmes, a great negro brute who had most severely beaten his mistress, Mattie Forrest, a white woman, was fined $10 and sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

Thomas and John Davis and Dennis Brown, who had been implicated in the fifth street row Sunday night, were released, as they agreed to settle all differences between themselves without resorting to blows.

Joseph Loftus and Charles Crawford, two worthless vags, were ordered to leave town at once. Thomas Harris paid a fine of $5 and costs for refusing to obey a police officer when ordered to stand aside at the racus Saturday.

Wesley Fritsch and Frank Freeman, who had been acting "in a manner quite fresh, you know," in talking with the police, were discharged. The unfortunate Gus Schultz and his wife were once more arraigned on a charge of disturbing the peace. Schultz was fined $20 and costs, while his wife was released. Two peace disturbers, Jack Jerrall and Green Wiley, were released upon clearing out the old jail and the old police court room. Judge Stenberg evidently believes in making the prisoners useful as well as ornamental. John Stevenson and Joseph Guinan, guilty of intoxication, were released after they had promised to leave town.

A BEAUTIFUL TOWN. ELEGANTLY LOCATED.

Large Lots at Reasonable Prices. A Good Investment. South Omaha.

Since the completion of the new packing and slaughter houses, South Omaha is making a wonderful and rapid growth. Besides the large pork and beef house erected for Hammond & Co., other dealers have commenced the erection of similar institutions and still others are contemplated for the near future. Several dwellings have been built and twenty or thirty are now building. Employment is now furnished to about one hundred and fifty families, and conservative estimates place the figure at eight hundred to one thousand families that will find employment there a year hence. This offers great inducements to laboring men to secure homes now while they are cheap. Speculators will also find it to their advantage to buy at present prices. The company have made no change from the original prices, but some parties who first purchased lots have resold them at splendid profits, in some cases at double the purchase price. If in so short a time handsome profits are made, what will be the result when everything is fully developed? In the few other cities that are favored with a first class cattle market, fortunes have been made by investors in real estate, and the same is certain to follow in South Omaha. While the whole city of Omaha will be greatly benefited by the growth and development of the cattle interest, South Omaha lots will enhance in value more rapidly than any other by reason of the proximity to the works.

MANUFACTURERS. BUSINESS MEN.

Will find it profitable to select property now, as a year or two hence with a population of 5000 to 10,000 people, this will become a desirable place for all kinds of business, and lots bought now, can be had at very reasonable prices which will double in price many times in the next two years.

EVERYBODY. Rich or poor, will find it profitable to make investments in this property. Free conveyance at all times will be furnished by us to parties wishing to see this wonderful new town and learn of its advantages. We have entire charge of, and are the exclusive agents for the sale of all this property from G streets south. Splendid lots from $225 upwards. BEDFORD & SOUER. 213 S. 14th STREET. We have desirable business and residence property for sale in all parts of Omaha and do a general real estate business. We solicit buyers and sellers to call on us. We will give them all possible information free, and keep conveyance free to show property in any part of the city. Bedford & Souer, Agent, Denver Junction Colo.
