INDIANS ON THE PATH AMONG THE KANSAS FRONTIER.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10.—A Kingman special views the Indian situation as follows:

Col. George B. Sanford, First cavalry, and his battalion, consisting of troops of the First, Third, Fourth and Sixth cavalry, arrived here at 10 o'clock this morning, from Fort Leavenworth.

The horses and mules were unloaded and camp established southeast of the city.

The town was still crowded with women and children who had fled from the country for protection from the supposed Indian raid.

Diligent inquiry was instituted by the correspondent to obtain bottom facts of the whole matter.

According to the stories told by the refugees gathered here, men mounted on feet animals had ridden through the country districts warning everybody to take care, they did not at once flee for their lives, as the Indians were on their way, killing and burning everything in their path.

This caused the greatest alarm and flight of the people to the cities.

The sheriff's office states that no Indian raid has been found within 125 miles of this country.

A posse under Marshal Fossitt has been scouring the country for a distance of over forty miles, informing everybody that no danger need be expected, the country being entirely free from Indians.

It is the general opinion here among the people that the scare is gotten up wholly in the interest of cattlemen.

During the past two years southwest Kansas has been so rapidly made a range of cattle that the stock raisers, and the people generally, have had no experience with the Indian.

What a few months ago was an unpopulated range of prairie, extending for hundreds of miles in all directions, affording the best pasture for hundreds of thousands of cattle, has, as if by magic, been transferred into fertile fields, fine farms and attractive homes.

The gradual encroachment of these industrious husbandmen upon the territory of the Indians has been led to believe would always be theirs, and finding that they would have to move off unless this wonderful emigration was checked, hunters went for some scheme to frighten the settlers.

The present condition of affairs in the territory furnished them an excellent pretext, and early in the winter of 1884 they began their country warning settlers of the approach of hostile Indians. The scare was successful.

The best of feeling has not therefore prevailed between the stock raisers and the stock owners, and this will certainly not improve their relations.

"Cattlemen must go" is the general opinion of the people here. This naturally means that the stock raisers are responsible for this excitement.

An evidence of the groundlessness of the general alarm a letter was received here this morning from Brownsville, Texas, in which it was stated that the Indians had been seen or heard of in that vicinity.

The story that Saratoga in Pratt county had been destroyed, is contradicted by the following note to the editor of the Kingman Courier:

To the Editor of the Courier: SARATOGA, Kan., July 8.—The Indian scare is known to be entirely groundless. Every story told in connection with it is shown to be false. Please telegraph the Associated press we do not want false reports to go abroad.

Other columns of the same issue, it is confidently asserted that there is not a hostile Indian anywhere in Kansas at this time.

Colonel Sanford and his cavalry, started out this afternoon with his troops in a southeasterly direction, to scout the country and inform the settlers of the entire safety from Indian raids. It is his intention to co-operate with the troops from Caldwell, a portion of which are expected to come this way for the same purpose.

Col. Compton's camp will be about fifty miles south of here, and he will proceed to Fort Supply. He will send scouts toward Col. Sanford's command along the Indian frontier. The latter has been directed to send scouts east and west.

Marshal Fossitt of this place, who has had much experience in frontier life and understands the habits and ways of Indians, will accompany Col. Sanford's command.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A telegram received at the war department today indicated that Indian difficulties had occurred in a new place. The dispatch was from Gen. Terry, and read: "The situation in the department of Montana, has received information from the Canadian authorities that twenty-five lodges of insurrectionary Indians under Sombler are being moved to the Crow Indian reservation in Montana." They would be a disturbing element if suffered to join our Indians who are now on the reserve. No action was taken on the dispatch.

The Indian troubles as looked upon from Washington are becoming more serious. Gen. Sheridan left here tonight for Fort Union, Indian territory. The general has decided to be at the scene of conflict. A telegram has been sent to the officer in command which states that the outbreak is suppressed even if the Cheyennes are wiped out of existence. Gen. Mills is expected to arrive in the Indian territory not later than the first of next week. The hope is expressed that he may be able to quiet the disturbance without bloodshed. It is well known to the Indians and it is said to have considerable influence over them. In a trouble with the Cheyennes some years ago they surrendered to him voluntarily. Prior to that it was their custom to refuse to surrender.

The Indian commissioner had not received a telegram from the scene of the disturbance up to the close of office hours today. In answer to an inquiry as to whether it was the intention of the government to disarm the Cheyennes he firmly declined to give any information. He declared that great harm might be done by a premature publication of the intention of the government in such cases as it enabled the Indians to prepare themselves for resistance. Nevertheless it can be stated that the interior department is strongly in favor of disarming the Cheyennes and that Inspector Armstrong has recommended the adoption of this precaution.

Gen. Grant and several other residents of Arizona have had interviews with the secretary of the interior with reference to the proposed transfer of the Apaches on the San Carlos reservation to the Indian territory. The secretary examined the proposed plan.

The president this afternoon addressed the following letter to Gen. Sheridan: "LIEUT. GEN. P. H. SHERIDAN, Sir:—In view of the possible disturbances that may occur among the Indians now in the Indian territory and the contemplated concentration of troops in that locality I deem it desirable that you proceed at once to the location where trouble is to be apprehended and advise with and direct them in command as to the steps to be taken to prevent disorders and depredations by the Indians. Your acquaintance with history and habits and customs of the Indians will enable you to request you to invite statements of their past as to any real or fancied injuries or injustice to them or any other cases that may have had to do with their condition. You are authorized in securing them that any case of complaint will be fully examined by the authorities here and such redress made as may be justly due. I think it hardly need add that they be fully assured of the determination on the part of the government to enforce their peaceful conduct and by all the power it has at hand to prevent any further acts of lawlessness and any outrages upon our settlers. Yours truly, GROVER CLEVELAND."

Gen. Sheridan started to-night for the west to carry out the president's instructions.

WICHITA, Kan., July 10.—Dispatches of yesterday's date from the territory leave little doubt that the situation here is more menacing than has been admitted by the department and the prompt action by the department is necessary to prevent an outbreak. Agent Dyer under instructions from the commissioner of Indian Affairs to make a census of the Cheyennes but was stopped by their soldiers who threatened with death any man who should report for enrollment at the agency. He was ordered to return to the agency and called for the agent. They were told he had come over to Fort Reno, and after a short conference with the agent, he was ordered to return to the agency and call for the agent. They were told he had come over to Fort Reno, and after a short conference with the agent, he was ordered to return to the agency and call for the agent.

They openly declare that Dyer must go or he restricts their liberty. Dyer has simply been trying to keep them at work. On Wednesday the Cheyennes were ordered to go to the agency and call for the agent. They were told he had come over to Fort Reno, and after a short conference with the agent, he was ordered to return to the agency and call for the agent.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The World's London special says: The origin of the Pall Mall Gazette's article was in the arrest of a woman known as "Ma'am Jeffries" for the abduction of a young girl from Holland. She occupied one of the handsomest residences in Piccadilly, but it is understood to have owned and used for her purposes some twenty other houses in various parts of London.

In her residence the police arrested a number of large and handsomely bound volumes in which she kept a regular debit and credit account of her business. The entries embraced hundreds of names from the most exclusive circles of London and among them were several well-known New Yorkers, who visit this city nearly every year. It was ascertained that the entries were made under the direct patronage of the Prince of Wales, and the allusion in the Gazette's editorial for this reason, does not wish to shake the very foundation of social order.

The editor, Mr. Stead, "thinks twice before compelling us to go to the length of publishing the names of the public men with the victims of their lawless vice."

The woman exercised the utmost care to secure the custom of only men of the highest rank or social position. No one could enter except as introduced by a person well known to her. It is said she would send through her agents in various parts of Great Britain and the continent, and she apparently had as many agents as Pickerton, of the United States, young girls of 13 or 14, of common parentage, bring them to London and put them in charge of the best masters, not only in literature but also in deportment. The entries in her books go to show that she kept a regular credit account with some of her male patrons, the amounts charged in some instances reaching thousands of pounds. Some of the entries show she would temporarily rent one of her houses to such patron with furniture, servants and a skilled cook, an elegant and complete outfit, for a few days, and she would receive any patron directly. She would render her account to him at regular intervals and he would send the amount due by messenger.

SHERBORN FOR SMYTH.

LONDON, July 10.—The excitement over the Pall Mall Gazette's revelations continues without abatement. The windows of the Gazette's publication office are barricaded, and the police are in control of the surrounding roads. The Gazette says it receives every day a number of cables from the United States, asking about the progress of the exposure. Cardinal Manning has accepted the proposition to publish the contents of the Pall Mall Gazette to submit complete proof of all its revelations, including every name and detail, to a party of responsible men, to include the cardinal and the Hon. Sam Macroy. The examiners are to have the privilege of reporting to the public upon the affair as they may deem best.

SPECULATORS. THEIR DAY IN WHEAT.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 10.—Very little life was exhibited in speculation on 'change today until toward the close of the afternoon, when some strength and buying activity were displayed in wheat. The tenor of the news affecting crops was not essentially different from that of the preceding two or three days. The crowd appeared to be waiting for the July estimate of the government statisticians as to the probable wheat yield, in expectation that the figures might have some effect in the course of prices. There was the usual number of prognostications concerning the report, but they were generally discredited. It was generally believed that they would disclose a decrease as compared with the June report, and to this cause is ascribed the strength shown toward the close of the afternoon session. The market opened at a shade weaker, rallied 1/8c on reported damage to crops by recent storms, later fell 1/8c on renewal of the statements of yellow fever in New Orleans; rallied 1/8c, fluctuated and closed on the regular board about the same as yesterday. There was an advance of 1/8c on the afternoon board. The receipts here were fair, and larger arrivals were announced for to-morrow.

THE NATIONAL REPORT SHOWS A GENERAL IMPROVEMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The month has been favorable to the development of winter wheat. A slight improvement is indicated which advances the general average to nearly sixty-five. A very slight decline is reported in Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and in some of the southern states. In Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, there has been an improvement as well as in California and Oregon. The winter wheat region, which does not include the territories, now promise about 215,000,000 bushels. The average for the entire crop is estimated higher than the average has been reduced slightly, the average being nearly 93. The indications now point to a crop of about 145,000,000 bushels for Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Dakota and all other territories and northern New England. This makes an aggregate of 363,000,000 bushels.

The winter crop of corn in the United States has been increased about 6 per cent, or at least 4,000,000 acres, making an aggregate of 74,000,000 bushels. The largest increase is in the corn belt, where the yield is higher than in any year since 1853, except the late years. It averages 94 against 93 in 1884. It is high in the north and highest on the Atlantic coast than in the west. The Kansas average is 83, that of Michigan and Missouri, 87; Wisconsin, 83; Illinois, 90; Iowa, 92; Minnesota, 93; Ohio and Nebraska, 97.

The average of winter rye has increased from 78 to 87 since June 1st. The general average for oats is 97 in place of 93 for last month.

Oats have advanced with all the cereals in the improvement of the month. The only states below 90 are New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, and California.

The condition of barley averages 92, and of tobacco 96.

General Grant's Condition.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Soon after ten last night Gen. Grant fell asleep and slept through a terrific thunder storm until four this morning when Dr. Douglas awakened him to give him food and treatment. When the general was thoroughly awake Dr. Douglas said to him that it had been raining very hard. The patient seemed surprised and wrote to the doctor, "You must have been mistaken. I have heard no rain and I have been here all the time. From four o'clock until seven the sick man slept and the morning had been passed by him in his room. The physician says the pulse is fair volume at eighty, but not so free as it has been in the last few days ago. The statements made in the Chicago papers that Mrs. Grant was sharing with Mark Twain in the proceeds of a bust of the general are richly contradicted.
