MINOR MENTION.

Relter, merchant tailor, for fine goods. Bed springs and mattresses at unheard-of prices at Mandel's. Great bargains in cooking stoves, tinware and crockery at Mandel's. Tickets are now on sale at Foster's drug store for the Puritan and Cavalier. Tickets on sale at Foster's drug store for the lecture of Stephen A. Douglas. Reserved seats 50 cents. Some of the prisoners are now being kept at work on the streets cleaning off the mud. Concordia lodge Knights of Pythias to indulge in a picnic to-morrow if the weather smiles on the enterprise. A memorial service for General Grant will be held at the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Permit to wed was yesterday given to Moses Doty, of Garner township, and Miss Katharine Beck, of this city. D. B. Clark has appealed from the award of the jury in the condemning of land for the new Kansas City road bed near this city. Ed. Bennett, the cashier of the American express company, who was overcome by the heat yesterday, is recovering from the effects rapidly. Now let some one get out an injunction against anybody trying to get out another injunction. That would be a fitting climax to the injunction rage. Mr. McBride and Frank Cook yesterday presented to Abe Lincoln post, Grand Army of the Republic, through Wall McFadden, a large picture of Grant.

An unoccupied house at the corner of Ninth avenue and Sixth street, owned by A. B. Walker, was struck by lightning Thursday night, the chimney knocked off and the roof somewhat injured. Arrangements have been made for a lecture here by Steven A. Douglas, jr., on Wednesday evening of next week. While here Mr. Douglas will be the guest of Mr. George Keelton on Park avenue. On account of the illness of Mrs. Falk, the organ concert has been indefinitely postponed. This is a disappointment to the music lovers, but the assurance is given that they will yet have the treat at some future date. Married--By the Rev. J. Flek, at his residence on Benton street, Luther Holcomb and Mary A. Coy, both of Council Bluffs. They started for Valentine, Nebraska, carrying with them the good wishes of kind friends. Peter Lastrap, who is dealing in real estate in Kansas and Minnesota, and who is getting up weekly excursions of land purchasers, is making his headquarters with William Lantrop, at No. 306 Broadway. Despite the threatening weather there were a goodly number who attended the lawn party and supper given by the Congregational ladies at the residence of J. E. Harkness, on First avenue, yesterday afternoon and evening. One of the large plate windows in the Council Bluffs carpet company's store, on Broadway, was broken yesterday in a rather mysterious way, there being several theories of the cause, with no very satisfactory to prove any of them. The stroke of lightning which injured the chimney of the Empire hardware company's block Thursday night caused such a shock to Miss Wyckoff's boarding house, on Fourth street, that the plastering nearly all fell from the walls of one room.

Arrangements have been made for a grand excursion to Colfax, on Thursday, July 30th, leaving Council Bluffs at 9:25, and arriving there in the afternoon, with leave for the excursionists to leave for home at any time they may choose. The fare for the round trip has been placed at $4.95. This gives the people of this city an excellent opportunity to visit this popular and pleasant resort and to have a merry time with very little expense. Those desiring further particulars can obtain them by calling at the ticket office, No. 507 Broadway, or by addressing S. S. Stevens, general agent, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Council Bluffs.

financing, and by no means meets the needs of the institution.

The house located on the corner of Seventh avenue and Ninth street, lately owned by M. A. Upton, and sold by him to Mr. Ament, was struck by lightning in Thursday night's storm, and the chimney knocked off and the roof somewhat damaged. The house was not occupied. Frank Hunter, deputy clerk of the United States court returned yesterday, having been called from his official duties by the illness and death of his father, who died at Browning, Mo., a few days ago, and who was taken to Summit, Iowa, and laid to rest beside his wife, who died some twelve years before.

Dave Twombly, who has served acceptably as foreman of the car department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, has resigned this position to accept a better one on the Kansas City, in the south. G. C. Case has been appointed to fill the vacancy thus caused, and there is no doubt but that he will fill it well.

At the Congregational church to-morrow morning the pastor, Rev. G. W. Crofts, will preach a memorial sermon on the life and character of Gen. Grant. There will be no evening service, it having been decided to suspend the evening services for six weeks on account of the heat.

Officer O'Brien was busy yesterday hunting over the city for some fellows who were wanted elsewhere on a charge of larceny, and of whom he had a description. Several persons were picked up on suspicion, three being found in the notorious colored house on Pierce street, kept by the Johnsons, but they proved to be railway boys and not the ones wanted.

The statements made by the other papers of the city that Deputy United States Marshal McCreary had been succeeded by West proves to be premature, for no such change has been made, and may not be. McCreary has the assurance that he is to hold on for the present, and perhaps permanently, and that there will at least be no change until Marshal Campbell comes here and looks over the situation. Judge Conner has issued the desired injunction restraining City Welshmaster Galvin from running a saloon at Weston. Galvin seems to be in hard luck all around, his city office not proving as profitable as he expected, and now his new venture has gone wrong. He will have to join in with the other members of the political trio, and beg the Washington authorities to give him an Indian to feed, or some other lucrative position.

"Doc" Scott, who is one of the well-known characters in the city, has been complained of before Justice Schurz, by Fred Bokemper, who declares that Scott has been committing perjury. The trouble arose from the fact that Scott, who kept bar for Bokemper, sued him for wages, and in the trial of the case, some time ago, before Justice Frayne, Scott swore that he did not work for Bokemper just for his board, which Bokemper now declares he can prove was deliberate perjury. Scott has not been arrested yet, and hence no time set for a hearing.

Prof. C. B. Liefert has arrived in the city, with the intention of permanently locating here and opening an academy of music, giving instruction in all branches of the art, and securing for this purpose needed assistants. He comes here with the reputation of being a thorough musician and an excellent teacher. He is especially skillful in the handling of the organ and piano. Mr. Mueller, whose name is so widely and favorably known in musical matters, speaks very highly of him, and is giving him all the encouragement and help in starting that is possible, and as there is an excellent opening here for such an institution, he will doubtless succeed.

The Bee yesterday morning chronicled the fact that several boxes of cigars had been given to the fire department as a slight token of appreciation felt of the valiant way in which they put out the blaze the other night. Yesterday some of the boys were inquiring where the cigars had gone to. It is claimed that as usual, No. 4 got not a single snuff, and that No. 1 got fifteen. Now the boys wonder what became of the rest of the several hundreds. It seems that there is hardly as even a division of cigars as there is of labor. The boys are satisfied that the donor meant all right, and that he is not to be blamed, but that the cigars fell into unfortunate hands.

A fellow whose name is Good, if his reputation is not, was arrested some time ago for being too intimate with a dusky maiden whom he had the effrontery to insist he was going to marry. He was given a few hours to remove himself from the city, but yesterday the police eyes spied him and he was brought up to the station to give an account of himself. It seemed that he had picked up a green German who had some money and who was bound for Chicago. Good said that he was going that way himself, and in view of his previous record the suspicion was aroused that he proposed to trade off his experience for some of the German's money. There was not evidence enough against him, however, to warrant his being held, but the German was put on his guard and Good was advised to travel in some other direction.

A Grand Excursion. Arrangements have been made for a grand excursion to Colfax, on Thursday, July 30th, leaving Council Bluffs at 9:25, and arriving there in the afternoon, with leave for the excursionists to leave for home at any time they may choose. MOURNING THE HERO.

GEN. HOWARD THE ORATOR.

Headquarters Department of the Platte, Omaha, Neb., July 24, 1885. J. H. Marshall, W. H. M. Pusey, H. H. Field, committee of citizens of Council Bluffs. Messrs.--Your kind and pressing invitation to be present with you in Council Bluffs and participate in memorial services on the day of Gen. Grant's funeral ceremonies, is received, and I write you the same answer I have given you personally, that it will afford me a sad pleasure to accept your invitation, and further, as you desire it, to give you a brief address touching the life and services of him whose loss we now so deeply feel.

With much esteem remain gentlemen, Yours respectfully, O. HOWARD, Brig. Gen'l U. S. Army.

TIES THAT BIND.

An Important Gathering of Big Railway Officials. There was a large gathering of distinguished railroad men yesterday at the Transfer Union Pacific hotel. In this city. Their object was to arrange the proportionate expenses to be paid by the different roads running into this city to maintain the transfer.

The meeting was attended by J. T. Clark, general superintendent; A. J. Farling, assistant general superintendent; G. A. Nash, local general agent of the Chicago & St. Paul railroad. E. P. Ripley, general freight agent; J. D. Besler, general superintendent; W. F. Merrill, superintendent and Charles Kei-h, local general agent, of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. K. H. Wade, superintendent of transportation; R. G. Butler, division superintendent; M. Knight, local general agent and F. M. Gault, local general agent of the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific railroad. J. M. Johnson, first assistant general freight agent; H. F. Rogers, superintendent Iowa line; J. T. Given, general superintendent and S. S. Stevens, local general agent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads. W. S. Melton, local general superintendent; H. G. Burd, general superintendent Iowa division; H. R. McCulloch, general freight agent, and T. N. Babcock, local general agent of the Chicago and North-western railroad.

William H. Burn local freight agent; S. T. Smith, general superintendent, and O. H. Dorrence, superintendent Nebraska division of the Union Pacific. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road were admitted into the pool, they to pay their share of the expenses. It has been stated that the meeting was to get the "Q" back to the "div," but this has been denied by the railroad men.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the same place two weeks from yesterday, August 17.

The above were all the particulars that could be learned of any of the persons attending, and in response to the query as to what is object of another meeting was, if all business was simply to check up and divide the transfer expenses, the reason was, "just to talk over matters a little further." This "talking over matters a little further," indicates that all not arranged yet permanently and satisfactorily, and another meeting is deemed necessary.
