MINOR MENTION.

Relter, merchant tailor, for fine goods.

For furniture at extremely low figures go to Mandel's.

Great bargains in cooking stoves, tinware and crockery at Mandel's.

For rent—Choice of three nice houses, $3.50 a month. Williams, 18 N. Main.

Alfred N. Lund and Olive Mitchell, both of this city, were granted permit Saturday to wed.

Tom Griffin was found dead drunk on the streets Saturday night, and was given lodgment in the city cooler.

C. Freese and A. Davy had a little difference on lower Broadway which resulted in both being led into the station.

Thirteen were fed at the city jail yesterday. It is an unlucky number for a dinner party, and the bad luck will probably be manifest on their coming into court this morning.

Four vagrants, who refused to work on the streets, are being boarded on bread and water. It is a close question as to which will give out first, the city's bread and water or the quartette's grit.

The ordinance regulating the sprinkling of streets by the use of hose has been passed at last. It provides that such use of hose must be between the hours of 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the morning.

The entertainment of the Young Men's Christian association, postponed from last week on account of the storm, is to be given to-morrow evening. An unusually fine programme has been prepared, and the occasion will be one worthy of a full house and liberal patronage.

H. VanLeuven was mad at Captain Hathaway for a part the latter had taken in some law suit that he commenced to abuse the genial captain of police, who promptly collared him and had him booked to answer to the charge of disturbing the peace.

W. Wow was arrested Saturday night for raising a "wew, a wampus and a wiot," he having started in by getting his boots blacked and then refusing to pay, and then indulging in lots of fun at a shooting gallery and likewise refusing to settle the score, and threatening to whip anyone trying to collect from him.

Stephen A. Douglas, jr., arrived at the Ogden house yesterday, and will lecture in the opera house to-morrow evening, his subject being "Parlan and Cavalier." He has earned a reputation for himself as an orator, as well as having awakened special interest on account of the reputation of his father. There is no doubt the lecture will be one worthy of a large audience.

It is rather singular that those who are kicking against the cemetery have bought property near the offensive spot long after the cemetery was established there. If the cemetery is spreading so much death and disease among those who live on the bottom, it is a wonder that some of these are not among the kickers as well as the few who have property so near by that they would gain pecuniarily by having the cemetery removed.

J. Shields was arrested Saturday on the charge of stealing a revolver from Mary Kirschner. His brother, Andy, and Charles Allen, who had been "doing" the town with him, were also locked up on the charge of disturbing the peace. Later it appeared that another fellow, giving his name as Charles Fitch, was mixed up in the taking of the girl's revolver, and he was arrested, and booked for larceny.

The contracts were let Saturday for the repairing of the institution for the deaf and dumb, and the carpenter work being given to Herman & Brown, the cornices work to B. Grah, and the slate roof to R. L. Williams. A good many slate roofs are now being put on, the difference in cost not being so great as formerly. Mr. Williams has just put a slate roof on to Mr. Camp's new house, and is to put one on Mr. Miller's new house.

The poll tax collector has got his coat off and those who have not paid may expect to be gone for in dead earnest. He has served a large number of notices, and as some do not seem to think the notice needs any special attention, he proposes to punch up these delinquents with a sharp stick, the law being such that not even a man's shirt is exempt from seizure if judgment is obtained. Two dollars of prevention is worth nine dollars of cure.

The city council is now negotiating for the sale of the new patrol wagon to Omaha. Some of the aldermen of that city were here Saturday looking at it, and the price being named as $600, went home to consult and report later. This wagon is one of the best in the land and has never been run, this city at present having no more use for it than for a hand engine. It was built to satisfy one of the mayor's notions, and the quicker it is disposed of the better for the city.

After many hitches and drawbacks the city council has passed a new ordinance regulating common carriers. It fixes the license at $10 a year, instead of $15, but includes omnibuses and some other vehicles not before subject to license. The reduction of $5 on each license would make a total reduction of about $235 in the city's revenue from this source, as compared with last year, and the licenses to be had from those not paying license last year will hardly amount to one-quarter of the loss. This seems to be about the effect of the ordinance.

The Council Bluffs Herald nearly splits its sides laughing about the attempt of the Nonpareil to sit on the fence in the prohibition war. The old lady does present a ludicrous appearance, and has great difficulty in adjusting her skirts so that they will hang both sides on the rail, without exposing her person, but the evening paper has no occasion to smile, for it has about all it can do to arrange its canvas for the new tack given by the new man at the helm. He has veered out of the prohibition channel, and just now seems to be hesitating whether to go over into the other channel, or to steer for awhile between the two. The prohibitionists have doted on the Herald until the new man bought it, and now they are disgusted because it will not advocate their cause, while others are equally disgusted because it will not say what it does advocate. It isn't in very safe shape to laugh too loudly. In shaking its sides over the old grandmother, it may tumble off the fence itself.

Tremendous Success.

The man who makes the Hardman piano is a hard man to beat. The Mueller Music Co., 103 Main street, only sold seventeen since June 1st.

A Grand Excursion.

Arrangements have been made for a grand excursion to Colfax, on Thursday, July 30th, leaving Council Bluffs at 9:25, and arriving there in the afternoon, with leave for the excursionists to leave for home at any time they may choose. The fare for the round trip has been placed at $4.95. This gives the people of this vicinity an excellent opportunity to visit this popular and pleasant resort, and to have a merry time with very little expense. Those desiring further particulars can obtain them by calling at the ticket office, No. 507 Broadway, or by addressing S. S. Stevens, general agent Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Council Bluffs.

JUDGING BETWEEN JUDGES.

Aylesworth Fails to Get Onto the District Bench.

The judicial contest has at last reached a decision, Judge Loebbour being allowed to remain on the district bench, and his majority over Judge Aylesworth being fixed at fourteen. The judges in rendering the decision denounced the tampering with the ballot boxes, shown by the evidence, but still held that enough votes could be shown up by the evidence to make Judge Loebbour's majority as stated, which is about seven less than the official canvass. Judge Aylesworth proposes to appeal to the supreme court, but whether such an appeal will be entertained or not is a question. The matter of costs remains to be fixed also, and the court will meet next Friday in Des Moines to adjust this, it being supposed that Judge Aylesworth will be called on to pay this bill, which is said to reach to nearly $800, although others declare it cannot be half this amount. This decision spoils the chances of the mayor appointing Alderman Mynster to the superior court, as Judge Aylesworth will now continue to occupy that position. The disappointment to the mayor and his little circle of admirers will be greater than to Judge Aylesworth, as the position he now holds is in some respects better than the one he was struggling for. He is well situated, but the hungry months which were open for his soup in case he should get the district bowl, will have to look elsewhere for something to fill them.

Canvassers are in the city securing orders for Deodorine, prepared by Dr. J. F. Hertzmann and E. L. Eaton, of Omaha. This disinfectant is said to be one of the best in the market, and invaluable for use in the sick room, in water closets, drains, sewers, low marshy places, and wherever bad odors or gases are to be found. The Union Pacific has adopted it, and it has other very high recommendations. It is a powder, and can be secured in any quantity from a pound up to a barrel. The office of the Hertzmann & Eaton Disinfectant company is at 1210 Dodge street, Omaha.

BARRING THE BOARD.

The Cemetery Question Sharply Debated Before the Aldermen.

The Officials to be Taken to the Graveyard To-day.

The city board of health has got the cemetery question in hand now, it having been introduced to that body by George F. Wright, who appeared before the board Saturday, and asked that the following resolutions be adopted by the board:

Whereas, It has been brought to our attention that an effort is being made to procure from the circuit court of this county an injunction forbidding the further use of Fairview cemetery as a place for the interment of the dead upon the ground that it is a nuisance and dangerous to the health of the community; and

Whereas, It is the right and duty of the city council as a board of health to make such regulations respecting nuisances and causes of sickness as it shall judge necessary for the public health and safety; and

Whereas, We believe it necessary for the public health and safety that Fairview cemetery should be allowed to remain undisturbed. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the common council of the city, acting as a board of health of said city, condemn any attempt to interfere with the present use and management of said cemetery, that it is the sense of said board that said cemetery is admirably adapted both as to its location and as to the nature of its soil for burial purposes, and that the statements that said soil is so porous as to allow water to penetrate the graves there-in and percolate through to the wells and waterways of the city, and that noxious and poisonous gases escape from the cemetery and are diffused in the atmosphere causing sickness and death, are unfounded in fact and unworthy of consideration.

Alderman Mynster opposed the passage of the resolution on the ground that the matter was in the courts, and should be decided there without any interference on the part of the board. It is, however, in response to a question of Mr. Wright, that if the trustees of the cemetery would grant a right of way through the grounds for a road opening up some suburban property that the injunction suits would be dropped in five minutes. This declaration on the part of the alderman corroborated the theory that all there is in this fight against the cemetery is based on a real estate scheme and for money making purposes.

C. R. Scott, who has taken a lively interest in trying to have the cemetery suppressed, addressed the board at length, and corrected Alderman Mynster, and tried to remove the impression that the injunction suits would be dropped if the right of way should be given as desired. He used his most sarcastic vocabulary in treating the matter, and did his best to scold those who had any special respect for old settlers. He had not lived here for hundreds of years, and he did not believe that a man who had done so had any more right, or were any more benefited to the city than a born babe, which had never opened its mouth. He denounced the old settlers, and pictured the city as being given over to death and disease, and avowed that he should warn all new comers not to invest in Council Bluffs, so long as the present condition of affairs remained.

Mr. Halden showed that he had fully as sharp a tongue as Scott, and he crossed that gentleman up in a very amusing manner. He referred to the statement that he had not lived here for hundreds of years, and remarked that if Scott had lived here for many years he would probably be the only one left in the city. He admitted the truth of Scott's statement that a babe before it had opened its mouth had as much rights here as any of the old settlers, and remarked that some people were a great deal better for a community before they opened their mouths than afterwards.

Col. Sapp and Capt. Hight both urged the board to take no action, but to leave it to the courts.

City Auditor Burke spoke on the other side of the question. He had no doubt but that the board of health was the proper body to consider the matter, for the law creating the local board of health distinctly made that body the judge of what constituted a nuisance, and what did not. It was not only the privilege, but the duty of the board to look into the matter, and it had the authority to decide it.

There was a great deal of sharp talk, and after the board had got pretty well tired out, it was decided to visit the cemetery in a body at 10:30 this morning, and look over the ground, and then to meet this afternoon to hear such evidence as should be presented.

Sunday Morning Fire.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning the fire department was called out to suppress flames in an unoccupied brick dwelling house on Seventh avenue near Eleventh street. The cause of the blaze is not known. About 6 o'clock another alarm was sounded, caused by the rebreaking out of the fire, it not having apparently been well put out the first time. Between the two scorching the house was pretty well demolished. At the second alarm No. 4 was the only one to put on any water, No. 3 responding to box 15 instead of box 25, and No. 1 not getting there at all. It looks as if No. 4 was doing some work, even if the chief does not think it worth while to give those boys any of the cigars or other contributions made to the department.
