The manual says that the general demoralization which has prevailed in railroad circle is due more to the construction of the Nickle Plate and West Shore roads, and to the ill feeling which attended them, than to any other cause. Their effect has been to step altogether the payment of dividends which had been paid for a long time by the Lake Shore and Michigan Central companies. The opinion is advanced that the non-companies, lines work await the steed and certain peting lines must await the steady and certain zette increase of general business of the country. An ugly feature is the fact that the public have been accustomed to lower rates both for freight and passengers. I met the Erie road and asked for his opinion on the subject, He said the trouble is that the railroad situation is getting bigger and bigger all the time, while the men don't get any bigger. It is significant that such men as F. H. Thurber are not pow in favor of government interference of any sort. They are of the opinion that the unchecked cupidity of railway exploites is fast provid-ing an adequate remedy for railway extortion. The recent developments in the northwest, the further extension of rival lines, go to confirm the position recently taken by such ag tators as Mr. Thurber. Five years ago he and his class were demanding legislation fixing maximum rates. Mr. Fink and his crowd are now demanding that minimum rates be

THE CORGROUSNESS OF GAMBLING ROOMS-POLICE RAID. Special Telegram to The BEE.

New York, August 2,-A police raid on s gambling house at Long Branch is the first indication of what is likely to become a noteworthy fight between the gamblers of that resort and the other summer residents. The place invaded was an insignificant keno concern thronged by negro waiters and rough stablemen, and the move is construed as a wesk effort on the part of the police to show mock disposition to repress evil. At the same time the policeman, detailed as usual for the duty, was stationed in the hallway of Phil Daiy's famously gorgeous Pennsylvania club to maintain order and direct strangers to the tables, Gambling Gambling as this season grown to enormous propertions. Travelers say that neither Monaco nor San Carlo equal in amount or lavishness the present exhibition at Long Branch. Nine houses, including two of the handsomest villas along the shore and nearly all on conspicuous sites among the abode of wealth and fashion, are openly devoted to gaming. Flags fluint by day the names of these places, and electric lights advertise them by night. There is no ceremoniousness about the admission. The doors are wide open and the sounds of the sames go out through the windows. The play ranges from faro and roulet at $1 per cheapes chip, to keno and dice rames wherein a dime can be risked, but the bulk of the play is in such a style that an investor of less than 810 is regarded with open disdain, and a man can get rid of 8100 in a j ff v.

The reduction for the month just closed does not affect the principal of the bonded debt, and as a matter of fact there has been no reduction whatever in the sense that the general reader would suppose in reading the official announcement of the result of the government fiscal operations for July. The reported reduction was obtained by payment of interest on the debt, that is to sy, during the mouth of July interest du and payable and that accrued amounted to certain aum, which was of course added to th tressury obligations, and on that amountabout $3,000,000 was paid, leaving the princi

This apparent increase is really a loss, because the balance for August 1 includes $6,000,000 received from the New includes $6,000,000 received from the New York clearing honse association in exchange for a like amount of fractional silver coin. The gold fund feets up $249,367,595, an increase of about $2,349,000 during the month. The outstanding gold certificates amount to $123,289 000, a decrease of nearly $2,500,000. The net gold is $126,008,595, an increase of nearly $6,000,000 since June 30. As already explained, this increase came from the exchange of gold for fractional silver coins.

Taking these facts calculy into consideration, the juniors and seniors, in a pleasant manner, and with all due deference to the president, asked to that the sentence be com-muted. But the president persisted in ex-pelling the two members. Under the above conditions the juniors and seniors at once withdrew from the institution. presence of a minister was secured, and the young lover ran from school to the marriage hall. A watchful brother of the girl noticed their departure and pursued. As the services were about to begin he arrived at the gate, forbade the ceremony, and demanded his sister. The young lovers escaped by a back door, fied and were pursued. The groom defended his sweetheart with a knife, and barely missed cutting the throat of his betrothed's brother. A friend of the groom came to his assistance, and, with his uplifted knife, held Stallings to subjection till the lovers escaped. Before the groom could find another minister the groom was arrested for abduction, and while in the clutches of the law his lady love was sent he knows not where. He gave bonds to answer the charge of abduction, but a subsequent warrant for assistant and battery with intent to kill caused him to hide. The next day Tom Whitaker, a brother of Henry, came up from Trough Shoals to thrash Stallings for the affront of fered his brother in refusing his alliance. THE TERRIBLE PLAGUE.

PRIGHTFUL BAVAGES OF THE CHOLERA IN

Special Telegram to the Bur.

NEW YORK, August 2 .- A cablegram to the Times from London says: Does any one in America fully realize what frightful ravages the cholera has already made in Spain, including those of Thursday? There have been fully 5,500 deaths in Spain. The official figures are 3,597, but it is obvious that these are far below the mark. Two examples may be cited to prove this. It is known from private letters that in the single town of Monteaguado, in Soris, there were one day last week ninety seven corpses lying unburied, and that the villages in the vicinity were in nearly as bad condition, yet the returns from Soria to date give a total of 123 deaths in the province. Refugees from Barcelona declare that the plagve is spreading daily through Oatslan provinces, with the daily through Catalan provinces, with the high death rate, but no cases have been re-ported officially. Local lazarettes are de-scribed as veritable hells, full of yermin and filth, where wretched food and impure water which would give a man the cholera if he were previously well, are served. The pest has ap-peared in Basque provinces. The death rate in Spain since the rains has been daily over 1,2.0. There seems to be a decrease in the 1.2.0. There seems to be a decrease in the ratio of mortality to the total of cases, but the widespread growth of the pest more than makes up. The disease seems at last to have got a foothold in Madrid and next week is likely to see a great increase there. At first it was thought her injuries were not very serious, and that she would soon recover, but yesterday her father, Mr. Joseph Smith, who lives at 1109 Pacific street, received a telegram informing him that she had grown worse, was sinking rapidly and would probably die before morning. He started to Lincoln last evening. It seems that the acident was purely the result of carelessness. Mrs. Richardson had set a cup containing coal oil on the pipe shelf of the stove and the pipe become unjointed. While trying to fix that the cup turned over, spilled the oil on the hot stove and from the blaze it made har dress skiris caught fire.
