Stories of Western Miners Who Believe That Ghosts Go Prowling About.

Curious Gold Discoveries--Quaint stories about the Mines--The Tale Told by a Forty-Niner.

Salt Lake Tribune. "Well," said an old miner, "I have never met with either Cobalt, Tellurium or other such spirits in the Comstock mines...

"But I don't want to go the surface. I'm well fixed down here--plenty of all kinds of liquors."

"The miner now began to think some thief had found a way into the old upper works and made his den and storehouse in some forgotten chamber."

"Well, no matter. The evening that Wood & Co's store suddenly dropped one hundred and fifty feet into the bowels of the earth I was lying drunk in the back room where they kept their liquors."

"Why," said the miner, "when the store went down it took fire; the fire companies poured oceans of water into the ground--had you been there as you say you must have been either roasted or drowned."

"Well," said the red-shirted man, "I do recollect of burning and suppose I am dead, but that needs prevent you from taking a drink with me."

"The miner still thought some tramp or thief had by some means found his way into the mine and was getting off a joke about having gone down with the old store, therefore when the red-shirted man produced a bottle from the tall pocket he was about to accept it."

"Why did you come in that shape?" cried he of the red shirt, "didn't I tell you that I had company?"

THE TWO TRIALS.

Speedy Disposition for the Day of the Belt Line and Smith Cases in the United States Court.

Judge Dundy convened court in chambers at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

These affidavits are eight in number, and are made by the following gentlemen: A. J. Poppleton, attorney of Union Pacific.

"For a time my thoughts ran upon other parts of the same before me, but presently the old boot again caught my eye. It seemed to project from beneath the stones forming the hearth of the old chimney."

"Crossing the creek to the old chimney, I found that the foot of the old boot projected under a large limestone that was still in place. I lifted the stone and found that there was only one boot there, and no sign of a human skeleton, nor bones of any kind."

"In a moment I threw the dirt out of my pan and reversed the boot over it, when out tumbled two large iron bags filled with gold dust. So long had the treasure lain concealed under the hearth that the strings with which the bags were tied had rotted, and one gave way under the kicks that I had bestowed upon the old boot."

Mr. Guy West, 610 Shelby street, Louisville, Ky., says: "My wife suffered for nine months with inflammatory rheumatism in her sides and face."

Robinson Crusoe's Island. Its Present Appearance Not Unlike Defoe's Portrayal--Visited by Many People.

Opposite the harbor of Valparaiso stands the Island of Robinson Crusoe, sacred to the memory of Robinson Crusoe, and his man Friday, who kept their tiny and listened to the tales his master told."

THE FORTY-NINER'S STORY. Said an old-timer sitting near at hand: "I never saw a ghost under ground on the surface, but I once made a pretty good haul when I first thought I had found a dead man. I was prospecting down in Amador county, California, and before I found anything that would pay I was taken sick. I found shelter with some miners who were working some shallow but very rich surface mines, and through these men attended to all my wants."

A GREAT CAPTURE.

One of the Most Elaborate Plans Ever Known for the Making of Bogus Coin Discovered Near Germantown--A Wagon Load of Casts Made.

Philadelphia News. John Duffy, alias Dunfield, alias Snyder, one of the most expert counterfeiters in the country, who has already served two terms, was arrested last night, and a complete counterfeit mill, the largest ever found in Philadelphia, was discovered at his house in Summitville, Pa.

For the past ten months Duffy has been living in a small two-story house at the corner of Wisner and Godfrey streets. Four months after he went to live there the United States authorities received information that Duffy, and terror by the punishment already suffered, was carrying on his old tricks on a larger scale than ever before."

Nothing particular was found on the first floor, but on going up stairs and entering a second-story back room the mill was discovered. At first sight the room presented the appearance of a machine shop. There was a complete outfit for the manufacture of counterfeit coin, consisting of screw presses, foot lathes, milling machines, burr-lathes, steel dies for half dollars, and every other appliance necessary for coinage."

There were also found over 2,000 planchets of half-dollars, consisting of the plain coin out from the metal and milled, but yet unstamped. No plating was required, owing to the metal used being German silver, which is a very hard metal and is found in the bread drawers, and there was a large quantity of German silver in sheets. A large wagon was procured to convey the machinery to the Twenty-second District station house, where the prisoner was taken. Duffy made no statement. The evidence against him is conclusive."

After the arrest of Duffy the detectives proceeded to that where Samsan is extensively engaged in the tobacco business at 2204 Ridge avenue.

A watch was put on the premises. Samsan was seen to enter his place of business at 6 o'clock, and the detectives followed him and arrested him, first reading the warrant and explaining the charge. He was searched, but no counterfeit money was found on him."

There was a paper found in his possession, however, which the detectives believe will prove him to have been not only an accomplice of Duffy, but the financial backer of the enterprise. This paper is an agreement with Purvis, the machinist, Forty-second street and Elm avenue, for a large press costing nearly $300. The document was in the handwriting of Samsan, and he did not deny that he had drawn it up.

"For what purpose was that press intended?" he was asked for the purpose of striking off Grant medals," he replied. "Was it not used in counterfeiting?" "If it was used for such a purpose I have no knowledge of it."

He was then asked if he knew John Duffy, and replied in the negative, but said he knew John Snyder. He would not say to whom the machine was delivered from the machine shop, but the detectives knew that it did not work properly and was sent to another shop for alteration. It was not found among the machinery in Duffy's house, but the officers believe they will have no difficulty in locating it."

THE WEST POINT CREAMERY.

Mr. Clinton Powell, representing A. S. Potter, the receiver of the West Point Creamery association, made an application to Judge Dundy yesterday, for an order directing the transfer of certain monies placed in special funds to be used in running the creamery. It seems that some of the mortgaged property belonging to the association has been converted and placed into a special fund, which is now being litigated over. This money Judge Dundy ordered to the use of the association. He also authorized the receiver to borrow $2,000.

It is said that the creamery is now doing well, but that from present prospects it will remain some time yet in the hands of the receiver.

The Best Endorsers are Banks Themselves. An endorsement of the high repute which it deserves enjoys at home (where it follows the even tenor of its way), is shown by the fact being advertised by the world-famed Christiania State Lottery, that the New Orleans National Bank, Louisiana National Bank, State National Bank or Germania National Bank, all leading banks of New Orleans, La., will accept any registered letters or postal orders accompanying orders. The next drawing (the 18th), will occur on Tuesday, September 8, for any information of which address M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

Disbursed the Order. Mr. C. S. Higgins went through the daily operation of being arrested yesterday morning on account of having his windows obscured after midnight. He speedily gave bond and was released. Frank Kaspar and Sheldrick, two saloon men on South Thirteenth street, were arrested yesterday on a charge of selling liquor after 12 o'clock Monday night. They were released on bail.

Colored Thieves. The police say the town is just now being invaded by a gang of small colored thieves from Kansas City, St. Joe and Leavenworth, who are already getting in their wicked work. Bud Smith, a young bootblack who stole a suit of clothes from Metz, the second hand dealer on Douglas street, Monday night, was arrested yesterday. Will Kennedy, Sam Wilson, Will Wells, John Jackson, four other shon-bud romps, were jailed for making a purse containing $25, from an old lady near the depot yesterday morning.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Child, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE BELL LINE SUIT.

The injunction suit of the Union Pacific against the Bell railway was first taken to the court's consideration and the case put fairly under way. Mr. Poppleton, the legal representative of the plaintiff, blocked proceedings, however, by submitting several affidavits and the defendants unable, or unwilling to repress their curiosity to see the papers, asked and obtained a stay of proceedings until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

These affidavits are eight in number, and are made by the following gentlemen: A. J. Poppleton, attorney of Union Pacific. S. R. Callaway, general manager of Union Pacific. F. D. Brown, cashier of Union Pacific. Erastus Young, auditor of Union Pacific. Lewis Burnham, land commissioner of Union Pacific. P. J. Nichols, formerly superintendent Nebraska division Union Pacific. Guy C. Barton, president of the Omaha and Grand National and Ketchikan company. The affidavits filed are for the purpose of supporting the allegations of the bill of complaint to the effect that in the organization of the Bell Railway company, S. H. Clark and associates acted for the benefit of and in the interest of the Union Pacific, and that the subscription to the capital stock by Fred L. Ames, of Boston, was for the benefit of the Union Pacific company and was paid out of the Union Pacific treasury."

Judge Dundy then turned to the celebrated Smith case, as it is best known, and the interested spectators who filled the rear of the room edged forward as far as they might dare and stood on attentive tip-toe. Mr. Frank, the clerk, arose and read a letter from William Wallace of the Omaha National bank, endorsing A. H. Leonard as a responsible party and recommending the acceptance of Leonard's $77,000 cash bid. E. Tilton was announced as withdrawing his bid of $88,500. The court then announced that C. D. Woolworth, the receiver, had filed his inventory, appraising the stock at $117,000. Judge Dundy concluded this announcement by declaring to the various bidders the privilege of examining the details of the inventory and the withdrawal of all or submission of new bids by 10 a. m. to-day, as they chose. Furthermore, if the attorneys failed to agree by that time upon some of the necessary points, the court would order Marshal Bierbwar to dispose of the contested stock at public auction, under the hammer, with a red flag, a boy and a bell and an "O, yes" which will catch the ears of Council Bluffs.

Then court was adjourned for the day, albeit it was only 11 o'clock.

ROBBERIES. Hon. John L. Webster, as representative of the Hop Bitters company, of Rochester, N. Y., entered action yesterday against the H. T. Clarke Drug company, of this city, to restrain the firm from the further sale of a prepared medicine known as German Hop Bitters, and made and butted in imitation of the plaintiff's proprietary product. The latter nostrum is manufactured by one Colliotus D. Warner, of Detroit, and Mr. Webster in his present suit is supported by the decisions of Chief Justice Stanley Matthews, and Judges Green and Woods in similar actions brought at Detroit, Chicago and Indianapolis.

THE UNION PACIFIC PAY CAR WENT OUT yesterday, Assistant Superintendent De Haven in charge. Assistant Freight Agent McMillan, of the Union Pacific, delayed his health journey to Colorado until this morning. Mr. Pickrell is still visiting in Iowa and the work upon the Union Pacific accounts is prosecuted by Messrs. Walker and Mick. Superintendent Durrance, of the Union Pacific, leaves shortly for the west. The boys at the headquarters held that Lieutenant Woods, of the telegraphic department will not return alone from Canada.

The charter for a railroad styled "The Kansas, Nebraska & Dakota Railway Company" has been filed at Topeka, Kan. The estimated length of the road is 1,000 miles, running from Fort Scott, Kan., through Topeka, Kas., and Lincoln, Neb., to Bismarck, D. T., and the capital stock is $5,000,000. The special telegram upon the matter concludes: "The prospect of the road being built is no better than at any time in the past, connecting, as it would, the coal fields of southeastern Kansas and the grain fields of Northwestern Kansas and Nebraska, giving the latter a market south over the Memphis system and over the Missouri Pacific, and along its line would lie many of the best cities of Kansas. There are all favorable arguments, which have made the scheme a favorite one among capitalists, and it is believed that the present organization means business."

The Missouri Pacific offers special rates to all members of the fraternity in Nebraska who desire to attend the Beta Theta Pi convention to be held at St. Louis on the 26th inst. The Northwestern finds its latest advertiser's scheme in blanketing express-houses with decorated banners announcing the location on the road's local office at No. 1411 Farnam street.

Hawes on Higgins. The efforts of the police to enforce the mayor's latest order commanding the closing of saloons at midnight and the repeated arrest of C. S. Higgins have awakened public interest to the matter. Higgins, in his apparent attitude against the law, naturally gets the worst of it in public opinion and a statement from his side for what it is worth, is only fair. In conversation with a reporter for these columns, Judge Hawes, who is one of the attorneys for H. C. S. Higgins in the controversy with the marshal and police, said in a private conversation: "I find, if it is possible, a suspension of public opinion upon the merits of this case until such time as it shall be adjudicated by the proper tribunal, Mr. Higgins has contended not only with me but with other attorneys, and is informed that he has not violated either municipal or state law. He has no desire to appear in the attitude of an obstructionist or to defiantly array himself against any legal authority. Whenever the courts interpret the act under which these arrests have been made, he will not only willingly but most cheerfully comply with the decision. Mr. Higgins, when he was arrested yesterday morning demanded an immediate trial, but Mr. Connell, the city attorney, requested before he left that the case against Higgins should not be tried until his return. Judge Lake, who is acting city attorney, upon the application of Judge Hawes, to appear and prosecute these cases, declined to do so unless he was requested by the mayor or police judge. The courtesy existing between attorneys necessarily delays any trial until the return, which will be about the first of next month."

at the command of the better, and should he have gone ahead, pursuing the same policy and placed his money, in the sixth race, on Sater, against whom the odds were fifteen to one, $276,320 would have been the result. And now, if the bookmakers were not all broken, and their enemy content to quit, his aggregate gains on Gonfalon, at six to one, would have run up a grand total of $2,634,240. But it is well enough such an individual did not go to Monument Park Saturday, for his success would have broken the bookmakers, a calamity not at all desired by the "hordes" who are vainly striving to get even before the season closes. Yes, it is just as well that the same five-dollar bill intended for the race was lost on the Chicago Base B II Club.
