An attempt was made Saturday night to burglarize the store of J. L. Ratekin, No. 619 Main street. The fellows in forcing open a door aroused Mr. Ratekin. and he stood ready to give them a warm reception, but his wife make some noise which gave warning that the folks were not asleep, and the thieves skipped out in a hurry.

William Brix saw Mike Stoker fooling about the pockets of another man, and concluding that it was a clear case of attempted pocket-picking, had him arrested. The case is to be examined into today, and it is claimed that Stoker will make it clear that he is not a pickpocket, and that the supposed intended victim was an old friend of his, and that Brix was deceived.

A car used by the painters in their work along the line of the C. B. & Q., was burglarized Saturday morning. The men keep their supplies in one end and use the other end of the car for living purposes. The thieves got away with clothing, a watch, revolver, $30 in cash and various trinkets. Some of the stolen property was recovered by Capt. Hathaway, it having been sold at second-hand

Yesterday afternoon there was a rumpus at or near Kate Hulbert's place, on Eleventh avenue, near Main street. The police arrested W. H Dalronty, J. Ramsey and R. Peters, and they were booked for being drunk and disturbing the peace. It is said that Ed Ford was mixed up in skipper left Livingston, on the Yellowthe affair in some way, and that he hit stone river, July 4, bound for the jettles Ramsey in the head with a brick. Ford at the mouth of the father of waters, and was not arrested, and the police seem to has completed this much—almost one-half the trip—in his clinker-built, whitelink that be only took a justifiable part hull rowboat.

in the metter, and that he will appear himself this morning to explain it.

Harry Birkinbine, who has had an experlence of fifteen years as an engineer, and who is thoroughly posted in the sanitary questions involved in the discussion about the location of the cemetery, has made a careful survey of Fairview cemetery, and declares that he does not believe it in any way detrimental to the health of the city under the present management. He further says that in all the cities he has visited and lived in he cannot call one to mind that has not a burial ground in the thickly populated part of the city, and much nearer than Fairview to the populated center of Council Bluffs.

John T. Stewart, Erq., sends from New York a copy of the World of the 17th iast., containing an account of the burlal on the 15th of August of W. H. Thomas, commodore of the New York Yacht club, whose body was placed in Trinity churchyard, New York, which is located on Broadway at the head of Wall street. This shows that some of the learned men and physicians of Council Bluffs are in error in supposing that burying in the city of New York has been prohibited. The trouble there is that ground is too valuable to be used generally for burial purposes, not that

A SUNDAY SCORCH.

The Residence of James Ronning Burned to the Ground,

About I o'clock yesterday an alarm o fire was caused by the burning of the residence of James Ronning, No. 459 Glen avenue, near the great reservoir of the water works. The fire department could do little to put down the flames, however, as there was some unfortunate break or stoppage in the fire-pressure of the water supply, the first occurrence of this kind which has yet marked the history of the company. The building was burned to the ground. It was a twostory frame, and cost about $1,400. It was insured for $400 in Council Bluffs insurance company. The cause of the fire is unknown. The first known of it was by the awakening of a young man named Sorenson, who was elecping in the house, and who finding the room filled with smoke, roused Mr. Ronning, the rest of the family being in Cedar Rapids, visiting friends there. The two men got out of the house with difficulty. The residence of Mr. Mayne, one on Friday last. The funeral services about forty feet distant, had also a nar row escape from being destroyed, and had it not been for the rain that was falling, would have at least been badly scorched. The failure of the water supply seems not to be due to any neglect or defect of the water works, but to one of those unfortunate combination of circumstances for which no one is to be blamed, and which could hardly have been foreseen and prevented. One of the large valves at the river is out of order, and another was ordered by telegraph to be sent from the east by express, but had not arrived. The defective one was being made to answer the present purposes, but could not be worked so quickly as if it had been in good order. Captain Hathaway, tection at the city building, as usual in case of fire, and after waiting for the water works, and finding that the pressure did not come with usual that if this was not done, there would neither be fire pressure or reservoir pressure, and that by opening it the reservoir pressure would be given anyway. gines from getting on the fire pressure, all their pumping being simply to throw water into the reservoir. The reservoir pressure was of itself not sufficient at that location, the nearest hydrant being eight hundred feet or more away, and the friction overcoming the pressure. This is the first time when any such break has occurred since the establishment of the water works, but had it not happened, it is doubtful whether there would have been any difference in the result, as the building was wrapped in flames when the fire was discovered, one theory being that it was struck by lightning.

Next Sunday, August 23, the saloon keepers are to give a picule at the park on Graham avenue. Extensive preparations are being made, and good music and other needfuls for a good time will be provided. All are cordially invited.

A GIANT LIFT.

A Three-Story Brick Building, One Hundred Feet Square, Raised Six Feet from Its Foundations, and Not a Crack,

The largest brick building ever raised in this part of the west has been successfully lifted six feet in the air without a is none other than St. Francis scademy, and Fifth avenue, and the herculean task was performed by Mr. W. P. Aylsworth, of this city, who has already done some remarkably skillful work in that line, but who has now covered himself all over with glory. The building is a mammoth one to be thus raised, it being three stories high, and having frontage on Fifth avenue of 100 feet, while its frontage on Seventh street is only four feet less. The filling of the streets made it necessary that this great pile of brick should be raised six feet-by no means an easy task, and its progress has been watched eagerly and anxiously. One of the difficulties was the fact that the academy had been built in three sections, the brick walls not joining into each other, though closely united. It was raised as a whole, however, and so skillfully has the work been done that even where the different parts of the building came together, there is not a crack, while one looks in vain over the plastering, ceilings and walls for the slightest evidence that this great structure has been thus lifted six feet from its original foundation. To thus raise such a building, timbers without number, and 560 jacks were reunired, and under the tower especially here jacks were placed so closely as to hardly leave room for another one. It is needless to enlarge upon the skill required to bave all these timbers adjusted perfectly, and each of this army of screws urned with a nicety and uniformity which would result in the quiet, steady lifting of this mass of brick and mortar, so, that there should not be a jar, or the least crack of even the fragile plastering. That Mr. Aylaworth has accomplished this is sufficient proof of his being an artist in his line. There is an L to the building, 22x50 feet, closely joined to it, but still a separate building. This has been three feet above the main building, but now its floors are three feet below. The change has been made without hardly any ind! cations of it, the buildings being still close together. It is probable that this L will also be raised, later in the season and then St. Francis academy will be as model an establishment in the educaional line as can be found in any city.

SUNDAY WORK.

Track Laying Done Yesterday to Dodge the Injunctions Secured by Indignant Property Owners,

One injunction was secured on Friday and two on Saturday to prevent the lay ing of two switches from the Wabash main line to the warehouses of Keeline & Felt, Raymond & Campbell and Sackett & Preston on Thirteenth avenue, between Third and Fourth streets.

At 2 o'clock p. m. Sunday morning pacial train containing twenty laborers arrived at the Wabash freight depot on Eleventh avenue, and they proceeded at once to lay the switches. They con-tinued their work all day yesterday. Bartholomew Donohus who objected to the laying of the track, danced around and raised quite a howl, but the lajunc- ruos offices
