THE DAILY BEE.

Wednesday Morning, August 26.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Pat Haggerty, general trader at O'Neil failed, Monday. He was attached by Omaha jobbers who hold him heavily in credit.

—A crazy woman, now in the Bluff jail, insists upon it that she is the wife of Detective McDermott of Omaha. So far as known there is no such gentleman in this city.

—Nothing of importance was done in the police court yesterday morning. Three "drunks" and three "vags" were arraigned and discharged upon trial.

—The overland train on the U. P. came in yesterday morning a few minutes late, with a large number of passengers, regular and emigrant, and the usual quota of California fruit cars.

—E L. Patrick has sworn out a complaint, in Justice Andersons court, against Fred W. Kyle, charging him with cruelty and wantonly beating a horse on the 23d day of August.

—There will be a regimental reunion of the Fifth Iowa Volunteer infantry at Pipton, Cedar county, Iowa, the evening of the 17th of September, 1885. on the occasion of the Eastern Iowa Veteran association reunion.

—The man who betrayed Theo. Linde, the alleged deserter to the military authorities at Fort Omaha was not Mr. Hans Thielgaard, of the Atlantic hotel. That gentleman had no connection with the matter whatever.

—At six o'clock yesterday morning there was born to May Clark, Richard Wilde's handsome mare, a bay mare colt. Mr. Wilde, in his joy, held a small reception of friends, this morning, and christened the young trotter Lizzie D. The new hope of the local turf has everything on its side in the way of pedigree and was sired by Ed. Reed's Oriental.

—Mr. Henry Voss, the architect, has been voted the following compliment by the Omaha Fair and Exposition association:—"Resolved that the thanks of the association be tendered to Henry Voss for his kind and generous services in preparing plans and other work and that he be granted the full privileges and freedom of the grounds."

—Mrs. Dr. Dinsmore is collecting local statistics upon the tramp as he abounds in these parts. The results of her investigation will be submitted, with similar reports from every city in the United States, to the Society of Charities and Correction at Washington The purpose of the inquiry is to establish upon exact figures, the amount of vagabondism which is imported from European countries by the nation's open doors to miscellaneous immigration. Mrs. Dinsmore is assisted in her task by Judge Stenberg and Marshal Cummings, who are best situated for obtaining such information.

TO RAISE THE STANDARD.

The New Justice Law and the Ends Sought to be Accomplished by It.

The new justice law which was passed by the state legislature last winter is just now attracting considerable attention on account of the action recently taken by the county commissioners in districting the city in accordance with its provisions. As different opinions have been expressed as to the objects of the law and its probable effect, a BEE reporter called on Hon. A. C. Troup, who drafted the law and pushed it through the legislature, in order to learn the causes which led to its adoption.

On the reporter stating his errand, Mr. Troup stated the case as follows:

"Under the old law the city of Omaha has twelve justices of the peace, two for each ward. Out of the number only eight are acting in their official capacity, there not being enough business to keep them all busy. In fact there is not legitimate business for the eight, and people who had been watching the conduct of the justices' courts, came to me last winter to have a bill drafted to reduce the number. Among those in favor of the new law were some of the most prominent people of the city, including large numbers of attorneys. The reasons given for desiring the change were that there was not enough business for so many justices unless they could manufacture petty and disreputable cases. That such business was carried on in a good many instances there is no doubt. A justice would act as counsel for a client who had a claim for two or three dollars, and would induce said client to have the case tried before him, for the sake of receiving the costs. Other means were also adopted, to make the business a paying one, which were far from legitimate.

"This state of affairs was well-known to nearly all the lawyers in the city, and the object of the law was to so reduce the number of justices as to enable those acting in that capacity to make a fair salary in doing legitimate business. The salary of a justice is entirely derived from the fees received, and by thus putting the business of eight into the hands of three the position will be a more lucrative one. This will tend to raise the standard of justices of the peace, and men of ability and character will be secured to fill the places."

"Although complaint is made that three justices cannot do all the work, I think that when the plan is tried it will be found that they can. If they cannot, it will be an easy matter to amend the law and increase the number to four. I will take the responsibility of the matter on my own shoulders, and I think that the results attained will prove conclusively that the law is a just one. I do not intend to cast any reflection on any one of the present justices by what I have said. However, it cannot be denied that some of the work that has been done in their courts here is beneath the dignity of a court of justice."

Sporting Tips.

Manager Kay is endeavoring to secure the Leavenworth Reds to play a series of games with the Union Pacific's here Saturday and Sunday. Nothing definite has as yet been arranged, however. The Reds will shortly play a series of games with the Hastings team, it is said.

An eastern sporting man in Boston writes that Hitchcock is now in the Hub training vigorously for the Springfield tournament. He says that Hitchcock will be in shape, when the tournament opens to do some first-class work.

After a Counterfeiter.

E. M. Steadman, detective for the treasury department, with headquarters at Des Moines, arrived yesterday morning to take Martin, the counterfeiter arrested last week at the stock yards, and since held at the county jail. Mr. Steadman says that he has ample evidence to convict Martin.

FORCING THE FIGHT.

Mat. Patrick Files Complaint Against Superintendent Smith, of the Horse Railway Company,

Because that Corporation Fails to Comply With City Ordinances—An Interesting Case.

A reporter for the BEE, in the course of his rustling around yesterday, was given a quiet pointer that a warrant had been sworn out last evening for the arrest of W. A. Smith, superintendent of the Omaha Street Railway Company, for disobeying the terms of the ordinance recently passed, ordering the street cars to be run every ten minutes over the lines operating within the city limits. All the parties concerned, including the officials, were very reticent about the matter at first, but all the facts were gained after some trouble. Yesterday afternoon Officer Cormick took the warrant out and commenced looking for Mr. Smith, and ere this time that gentleman is doubtless in the "clutches of the law."

The complaint was sworn out by Mathewson T. Patrick. It may be remembered that last week this gentleman applied for a writ of mandamus from Judge Neville to compel the street car company to operate their cars in the addition to the city, known as Patrick's addition, as, it was alleged, they had contracted with him to do. Before Judge Neville had time to inquire into the matter very far the defendant corporation filed an answer that they did maintain and operate a street car line in Patrick's addition—thus entering a flat denial to the allegations of the plaintiff. Nothing new developed in the matter until Monday, when as mentioned in these columns, Mr. Patrick commenced a suit in the district court, claiming $16,000 damages from the street car company. It was alleged in his petition that last spring he donated to the street car company $6,000 worth of land in Patrick's addition, with the understanding that it was to operate street cars on Lake street, from Eighteenth to King, and north on King, as extended to city limits. This the company had failed to do, and it was alleged that the property in the addition had depreciated in value about $10,000, making the total loss to the defendant one of $16,000. This, in brief, is the general history of the case.

Mr. Patrick, wishing to force the case to issue, swore out the complaint in the police court, which charges that the railway company did "willfully and unlawfully fail and neglect to run street cars in each direction at intervals of at least ten minutes from six o'clock in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening of said day, on the line of street railway under the control of him, said William A. Smith, extending west on Lake street, from Eighteenth street to King street, and on King street as extended, north to intersection with Lake street, in the city of Omaha. Said failure and neglect to run said street cars on said streets was not caused by accident or unavoidable casualty."

Mr. Patrick was met on the street yesterday by a reporter, but gave no information additional to that contained in the petitions filed in the district court. He said that he had given the land to the company with the understanding that they were to operate their line in his addition. They had failed to do it within the given time, June 30, 1885, and the people in that part of the city were very much inconvenienced by this neglect to run the street cars. He proposed to bring the company to time if possible.

Mr. Smith, the superintendent, was also seen by a reporter yesterday and said that he did not care to express himself freely about the matter. It would be shown upon trial whether or not the company had failed to operate the cars as Mr. Patrick had charged. "I can say this much," he remarked, "we do operate the car line on Lake to Saunders and from Saunders on to King. There is a little stretch of road on King street on which we only run cars once in the morning and once at night."

Mr. Patrick and Mr. Smith met yesterday on the Wabash corner, and a perceptible smile flitted across the face of the former as he greeted the street car man. "See here," said Mr. Smith quizzically, "what kind of a job have you put up on me?"

"You'll find out before long," chuckled Mr. P. "I have gone to the police court and sworn out a warrant for your arrest for not running your cars every ten minutes."

"I guess I'll skip out, then," said Mr. S. meditatively.

Mr. Rheem's Successor.

There is a good deal of speculation as to who is to be Mr. Rheem's successor, as manager of the Western Union. It is understood that Chief Operator Mayfield will remain in his present position. The statement is made by knowing ones that a cashier will be appointed to attend to the down stairs business, and that the manager will have charge of the operating room only.

MONEY! MONEY!! MONEY!!! Money to Loan—On chattel security by W. R Croft, room 4, Withnell building, N. E. corner 15th and Harney. After years of experience and a careful study of the business of loaning money on personal property, I have at last perfected a system whereby the publicity usual in such cases is done away with, and I am now in a position to meet the demands of all who become temporarily embarrassed and desire to raise money without delay and in a quiet manner. Housekeepers, professional gentlemen, mechanics and others in this city can obtain advances from $10 to $1,000 on such security as household furniture, pianos, machinery, horses, wagons, warehouse receipts, secured notes of hand, etc., without removing same from owners residence or place of business. Also on fine Watches and Diamonds, One of the advantages I offer is that any part of any loan can be paid at any time which will reduce the interest pro rata and all loans renewed at the original rates of interest. I have no brokers in connection with my office, but personally superintend all my loans, I have private offices connected with my general office so that customers do not come in contact with each other, consequently making all transactions strictly private. W. R. Croft, room 4, Withnell building, N. E. cor. 15th and Harney. 646-tf
