

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS

Monday Morning, August 31, Office No. 12 Pearl St. Delivered by carrier to any part of the city or twenty cents a week.

MINOR MENTION.

Reiter, merchant tailor, for fine goods Justice Shurz has made another Omaha couple happy--J. S. Hein and Mary S. Cover.

The Spirit Lake season is about at an end, and the running of a through sleeper will be discontinued after to-day.

Rev. J. F. McDowell, has returned from his eastern trip, and yesterday occupied the pulpit of Saints' chapel as usual.

A necktie social is being arranged by the young folk of Broadway Methodist church, to take place next Thursday evening.

Jerry McGarry is under arrest on the charge of breaking into a room in the Tremont house. He is to have a hearing to-morrow afternoon.

A settlement has been made on the loss on the Coy house, the Commercial Union paying Mr. Kneemeyer for loss on furniture and fixtures $902.

The arrangements are progressing well for the union picnic of the Sunday schools of this city, to be held in Palmer's grove Wednesday.

Some of the veterinary surgeons who have been examining the cattle which have been sick and dying in this county declare it is not Texas fever, but a form of bloody murrain.

On Saturday night there was a happy gathering of friends at the home of B. A. Bonham in celebration of his birthday. There was dancing, refreshments, and all needful arrangements carried out with true hospitality.

L. B. Gorham, who has been connected with the stock yards here for a long time, and who is thoroughly posted in that business, has been appointed stock agent for the Rock Island road. A better choice could not be made.

D. A. Benedict, whose skill and taste as a sign writer have made his name a familiar one, goes to Lincoln to-day to remain there until after the fair, and will be kept busy writing signs for Moore, the principal house in Lincoln.

Four charged with being drunk will have a hearing this morning, J. Teater, Herogods, John Campbell, and R. P. Dowd. One woman, Mrs. Weber, known as "Langtry," or "Swamp Angel," is also in the battle, but insists that she was not drunk, although admitting that she had a terrible headache yesterday.

Miss Nellie Hatcher, who has shown such elocutionary skill in previous entertainments, has consented to give an entertainment for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian association to-morrow evening. The many friends of this talented young artist will gladly improve this opportunity to hear her again, and an enjoyable evening is assured.

An pleasant entertainment is promised at the Y. M. C. A. hall to-morrow evening, the prominent feature of the programme being the readings by Miss Nellie Hatcher. The male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Ferris, Westcott, Fitch and Spooner, will furnish music, and some readings are promised by Mrs. H. M. Sears. The general admission will be twenty-five cents, and children fifteen cents.

"Spot!" Miller had a great deal of trouble with his boys, one aged thirteen, and the other about ten. He has renewed his request to have them sent to the reform school, and Judge Aylesworth will give the matter a hearing to-day. It seems that the boys have lost all respect for their father, largely in all probability, on account of his drinking habits, and they not only refuse to obey him, but they abuse and mistreat the old man.

A number of young men from Ferrargut were in the city yesterday inquiring into the workings of the Y. M. C. A., and learning what they could of the methods and workings. They could hardly have chosen a better field of inquiry, as the association here has demonstrated by its success, that under the management of the secretary, Harry Curtis, excellent methods and a sound policy have been followed.

Judge Loofbourow is engaged at Audubon in hearing the Ryan murder case. The state has just concluded its examination in chief, and the defense opens to-day. Audubon county is pretty well stirred up over murder cases, and for two nights of last week a rope was hung in the hand stand in the park, and found dangling there the next morning, with a significant noise in one end. The rope was taken away only to be replaced with another the next night.

Both local factions of the democratic camp are claiming that the official record of the other needs to be investigated, that the public may know how big stealing has been going on. It is to be hoped that the wishes of these gentlemen, officials and ex-officials, may be fully satisfied, so that no guilty man may escape. Either both persons are doing some evil Perkins romances, or there is some hidden corruption which needs to be run off by the aid of the lance.

The contest over the fire chiefship still hangs, and the decision on the injunction case will probably not be given until the whole matter is heard in the quo warranto proceedings, which also comes up one week from to-day. Judge Aylesworth seems to be in no hurry to decide the matter. The matter ought to be settled as speedily as possible, for the fire department is too important as a protection of public interests to be allowed to go along in such a demoralizing uncertainty as has attended it for months.

The hearing of the cemetery case continues to occupy the time of the circuit court, and seems to be no nearer the end than when it first began. The public has lost interest in the details of the contest, and only waits to hear the final decision. The question is one on which there is an endless variety of opinion among the witnesses summoned, and so much of the testimony is based on conjectures and theory that there is little practical truth to be gleaned out of the accumulation of evidence.

A deputy of the state veterinarian, together with doctors of this city and Omaha, have been examining some of the sick and dead cattle, and were busy with their investigations yesterday, but had not fully decided what to call the disease. From what they learned Saturday, they thought that it was Texas fever, it was a different type from any they had seen. Dr. Seamons was inclined to the belief that it was bloody murrain, but more thorough examination may show that it is something else. Whatever it is, it is causing much loss of stock, and great alarm is felt among the farmers and owners of cattle.

Dr. Wilson, Eye, Ear and Throat specialist, Room 6, Everett block.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The Arrangements Announced For Grand Union Picnic.

At a recent meeting of the representatives of the four largest Sunday schools in the city an executive committee was appointed to perfect arrangements for a union basket picnic of all the Protestant Sunday schools in the city, the committee consisting of Don. A. Judd, C. E. Loucks, Frank Cook, C. H. Judson and Mr. McIntyre.

The committee met Friday evening and decided to carry out the intention of the projectors of the scheme, and to make the following announcements in all the schools on Sunday, the 30th: "That all Sunday schools in the city be cordially invited to join and participate in the day's picnic. That all meet at Bayliss' park at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 2d, and from there proceed to the grounds selected by the committee, Palmer's grove. That in order that all things be done decently and in order, the following named committees be appointed:

MUSIC--E. S. Barnes, Z. T. Lindsay, Transportation--Frank Cook, L. Dale, Tables--J. Love, W. E. Merritt, G. M. Washburn, C. Bosen, C. H. W. Brown, Swings and Hammocks--J. M. Flagler, George Rice, Harry Curtis, W. S. Homer, Emer Stacy, W. H. Stacy, Incense and Water--L. W. Tulleys, H. DeLong, C. W. Munzer, Hugh E. Smith, Lemonades--A. B. Walker and Horace Evans.

To receive and take charge of all baskets and provisions at Bayliss' park and take them to the picnic grounds--C. A. Loucks, W. S. Caldwell, C. H. Judson. To take charge of the same at grounds and see that they are spread on the tables--Mrs. L. W. Tulleys, Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Orent, Mrs. J. N. Brown, Mrs. M. E. Gilbert, Miss Louisa Tompkins, Miss E. Stacey, Miss L. Peterson, Miss Lulu Fitch, Miss Ida Wallace, Miss Minnie Crofts, Mrs. Gaylord, Mrs. Odis, Mrs. D. R. Wittier, Miss Autenreith, Miss M. Palmer, Miss Carrie Burgess, Mrs. E. Irons, Mrs. J. M. Matthews, Mrs. A. Boone, Mrs. F. Cooley, Mrs. M. Sears, Miss A. Maxwell, Miss E. Berger, Miss M. Cole, Miss Julia Officer, Miss Damon, Miss Craig, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Charles Officer, Mrs. Elam Clark and Mrs. Dr. Montgomery.

The executive committee express a desire that all Sunday schools and all Sunday school workers may take part in this union picnic to the end that they may become better acquainted with each other and that a more thorough organized system of Sunday school work may be carried on in the city. The committee have another meeting Monday night at Lindsey's store, at which they will make a final report of the probable number their schools will send, that proper accommodation may be provided. It is expected that all who can will bring a basket of such supplies as best they can, which will be placed on tables by the committee. A grand good time is anticipated. Let all lay aside their cares for the day and make the children happy.

MORE MYSTERY.

Two Fires Supposed to be the Work of Incendiaries.

Two more places were added Saturday night to the list of apparently incendiary fires which seem to be occurring here with alarming frequency of late. About 9 o'clock fire was discovered in the large frame stable on North First street, which until lately has been occupied by Billy Smith, with his express and baggage wagon, etc. The building was owned by Charles Baughan, and while not burned to the ground, yet it was so badly wrecked that the few charred timbers still standing are almost worthless. The barn was a hot one, and it scorched badly a little house next the stable, and owned also by Mr. Baughan, being one of a row, all of which were for a time threatened with the flames. This little house which was thus damaged was occupied by George Carter, who lost something on furniture, and had no insurance. Mr. Baughan's property was likewise uninsured. The loss will reach $500.

ANOTHER SCOTCH. About midnight the alarm of fire was again sounded, it being caused this time by the discovery of smoke pouring from a frame building on upper Broadway, opposite the Western house, which has been known as the old vinegar works, and more recently occupied as a broom factory by Grovener & Gunn. The building was vacant at the time of the blaze, and the fire was put out before any great damage was done, the interior being badly smoked up, and in a few spots charred. The cause of this fire, as the other, is unknown, and the generally accepted theory is that it was the result of some incendiary's work. The building was owned by William Siedentopf.

A HIGH LICENSE TICKET.

Republicans Claim They Can Consistently Frame One For this County.

"Well how do you like the platform?" asked a Republican of one of the most prominent of the returned delegates from the state convention.

"At first I didn't like it, for I thought it was too strong on the prohibition question, but the more I think it over the more it pleases me. It is all right. It pleases the prohibitionists, for it gives them all they can reasonably ask for. They have said right along that all they wanted was a fair trial of prohibition. So when the public opinion convention says that it is in favor of giving the law a fair trial, that must satisfy them. Then there are many who believe that the law is a failure, and that a license or local option law should be passed. The convention says that when this law is given a fair trial, and proves not to meet the requirements, it is in favor of trying some other method. It does not say how long the law shall be tried, and does not make prohibition a party test. It says, in fact, that a republican can be true to the party, and can stand upon this platform, and hold any notions he pleases on this question, and work for the repeal of the passage of any law he chooses in regard to it."

"Do you think that this county under the state platform could run a high license man, on a high license plank, if it wanted to?" "That is just what I think. That is just the way to do it. I hold that the license men have no more business to force a license law on counties where there is a strong majority in favor of prohibition, than the prohibitionists have to force a prohibitory law on communities where the sentiment is largely in favor of license. Now suppose in this county there is a strong sentiment in favor of license, or local option, the convention of this district can with all consistency, adopt, if it chooses, resolutions setting forth that sentiment, and nominate its candidate, and pledge them to that sentiment. In another county or district, where there is a strong sentiment for prohibition, they can run a prohibitionist for the legislature if they want to. The state platform gives the greatest latitude on this question, and so permits a fair and open expression of the sentiments of republicans all over the state. When these legislators come together, each republican can honorably and fearlessly represent the sentiments of the section he represents, and they can in all consistency modify or change the law to meet the wishes of the people."

"Do you think that this interpretation of the plank will be generally accepted?" "I think it will. Of course it is all paper, but I think it is a fair interpretation of what is a prohibitory platform it will be very hard to convince the people any differently. But if you newspaper men present the matter fairly and squarely it will soon be seen that while the prohibitionists get all they can ask the license and option man has no right to nominate and support men to their liking and call it true republicanism."

"How about this county? Do you think that the convention will nominate local option men?" "I think so. There is no reason why the convention cannot say, if it wants to, that the prohibition law is a failure, and that it favors some other law. It can nominate men of that way of thinking, and who will work for the repeal of the present law. I believe the convention will do that very thing, and that in other places, where the republicans find the law a success, they can express their belief, and I think it will result finally in this, that where communities want prohibition they shall have it, and where they want license they shall have that."

Other republicans are of the same opinion, and this may open up a local contest as to whether the republicans of this county shall nominate a prohibitionist ticket or a high license one. In other counties there will be a like struggle, if this interpretation is to be generally accepted. Another of the delegates expressed great satisfaction over the increased showing of strength of the local option advocates. The vote on the state platform for this eleventh plank, showed 250 local option or license delegates in the convention, a great increase over the year before, and the prediction is made by those men that by another year the prohibitory law will have been so clearly shown to be a failure that the state convention will have a majority in favor of local option.

The following is that plank, under which it is claimed that so much liberty is given the county conventions: 11--The republican party, in Iowa, while steady upholders of the right and duty of the state to regulate the traffic in liquor, by such methods as will suppress most of its evils, have never made the support of prohibition a test of party fealty. It pledged its honor to enact and afterwards did enact a law which the people of Iowa had ordered by an unquestioned majority, and that came alike from the votes of republicans and democrats. We declare now for a fair and thorough trial of that law, that it may have time to demonstrate its efficiency or inefficiency, before it is repealed to give way to some other honest and earnest method in the line of finding a true and successful system of dealing with the liquor traffic. We arraign and condemn the democratic party in Iowa for its action in declaring for a $250 license, compulsory in every community regardless of local option; for legislating license in Iowa the sale of whisky and all other alcoholic liquors, or for renewing all restrictions from alcohol, thus giving a freedom in the liquor traffic that has not existed in Iowa for thirty years.

Workers with metals generating electricity escaped the cholera of '49. Then we our electric bells. Judge & Smith, Council Bluffs. Agents wanted.

A Stolen Steed. W. P. Aylesworth went to the fire on Saturday night on horseback, but had to walk home. The reason of this was that on arriving at the fire he hitched his mare at the corner of First and Broadway, and on getting ready to start for home, the mare had mysteriously disappeared. The hitching strap had been cut clean, close to the bridle, indicating that the mare was stolen. The mare is a dark bay, with rather heavy, black mane and tail, stands about fifteen hands high, weighs 1,050, and has no marks. The saddle is nearly new. A liberal reward will be paid for her recovery.

PLAYING WITH MATCHES. It Causes the Burning of a Barn and Death of Two Horses. Yesterday afternoon a little boy, a son of George W. Carter, in Streetville, was playing with matches in his father's barn, and accidentally set the hay on fire. The blaze spread so quickly that the building and contents were soon in ashes. There were in the barn two horses, belonging to Mr. Carter, valued at $450, and both were burned to death, the flames being so hot and spreading so rapidly as to render it impossible to get the team out. The little fellow who caused this ruin had a narrow escape himself, he barely getting from the barn in time to save his life, his eyebrows and hair being scorched in his flight. There was no insurance, and the loss is a heavy one for Mr. Carter to bear.
