Whitelaw Reid.

On Saturday's Union Pacific train from the west was a special car of the Central Pacific which was occupied by Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, his father-in-law, D. O. Mills, the California millionaire, and their wives. The party is returning to New York from a two months' sojourn on the Proific coast. During the short stop made at the depot a reporter for the BEE boarded the train and succeeded securing a few words with the metropolitan newspaper magnate. Mr. Ried said that his trip had been a most pleasant one and that his health had been greatly improved by it. When he left New York he was greatly worn by stress of recent labors, but he now returns with increased ability for hard work in the fall campaign. When spoken to in reference to the resolutions passed by the New York workingmen's assembly this declaring him an arch of labor, Mr. Reid was very reticent. He said he did not desire to express any opinion on the matter, as the grounds on which the resolutions were based were of long tanding and had been thoroughly discussed. The opinion was also expressed carried by the Republicans this fall by large majority. Mottoes and card board at Lehmann's. Gas-tly, Indeed.

Early Saturday morning, the occupants of the residence of A Cahn, on Farnam street, were awakened by screams proceeding from the upper story. Investigation developed that two servant girls had blown out the gas before retiring, and had been nearly suffocated. One of them, less suffocated by the gas than the other, had dragged her unconscious mate out into the hall, and being thoroughly frightened, gave way to paroxysms of screaming. Her cries soon brought the members of the family to the rescue Vigorous remedies were resorted to and the girl was soon restored to conscious

Hitchcock s Misfortune

Mr. O. H. Gordon received yesterday letter from John Hitchcock, in which that gentleman tells of an accident which he met with on Thursday before last. It seems that on that day he was practicing on the Boston track, when his bloycle "threw him," running against an obsta-cle. Before he could recover himself two wheelmen had run over him. One of his legs was terribly lacerated while the other was bruised quite badly. He will be laid up for some days, but will probably be able to stride his machine for the Hartford meeting.

THE GRAND OPENING.

Preparations Completed for the First Exhibition Day of the Omaha Fair.

Exhibits Arranged and the Grounds and Buildings in Apple-Pie Order-The Entries.

The work of preparation for the grand opening of the Omaha fair to-day was pushed Saturday at a gait which kept the various officers of the association breathless with work. Friday evening the first installments of live stock began to arrive, and all day Saturday and Sunday the arrivals were filling the shads and stables. The horse stables are all engaged, and every inch of space in the cattle, hog and sheep sheds will be occupied. The exhibits of industrial products thronged into the main building and the interior walls of the fine art building are completely covered with needle work, etc., number beyond mention.
The multitude of booths and stalls are all fitted by the venders who will occupy them and the grounds will present a gala fete scene upon it, at the roundhouse.

and the grounds will present a gala fete scene this morning.

The exhibition in fine art hall is particularly elegant. Great pains has been taken in the arrangement of the exhibits. Mrs. George I. Gilbert and Mrs. Allen, the ladies who have had the work in charge, have displayed excellent taste and good judgment in the matter, and are to be congratulated on the beautiful results which they have attained. Superintendent Couch has worked indefatigably to complete the arrangements, and has Superintendent Court has worked indefat-ligably to complete the arrangements, and has succeeded admirably.
