OFICAGO Sept. 13 — The following is from the Times of this morning: Divesting reports from the Trans-Continental meeting at St. Paul of all niceties of language and subtleties of expression, it may be stated that the association is a moribund institution and will soon become a reminiscence, unless future steps be taken to revive it. Several of the general managers returned yesterday, and their united verdict is to that effect. The case, putting it briefly, stands as follows: The Southern Pacific repudiates the award of arbitrators and absolutely refuses to pay its debts incurred under that division. Prior to announcing that it would take that action, a resolution had been adopted that a settlement of the business of the months of July, August and September should be made on a basis of earnings of the previous three months, but the action of Mr. Stubbs procured an adjournment tion of Mr. Stubbs procured an adjournment without further consideration of the matter. without further consideration of the matter. The roads and parties thereto will adhere to the division unless the sgent of the Southern Pacific charges his mind before he reaches the Pacific coast, which heretofore has been the usual course pursued by him. No provision is made for a division of business after September 30, and as Mr Stubbs will not be bound by the arbitant that the state of t as Mr Stubbs will not be bound by the arbitrator's award, the association will drift along without a reasonable excuse for its existence.
Such a state of aff sirs would involve a double Colorado pool and Pacific coast association, as their affairs are more or less involved with those of the Trans-Continental. Any predictions as to the future would be extra hazardous, as the course of the Southern Pacific caunot be mapped out on any reasonable basis.
It may be saigly said, however, that if it cause the mapped out on any reasonable basis. It may be sately said, however, that if it does not recede from its present position it will be forced to carry through its business at figures that will leave a balance on the wrong side of the ledger.

In view of the disputes and troubles disturbing the association, and the internal dissensions that threaten to rend it asunder, as well as the strong probability that each line will soon be competing for the through tuniness on its own responsibility, a recapitulation ness on its own responsibility, a recapitulation of the relative positions of the roads will be interesting. They are as follows:

Sunset route—Steamers to New Orleans and 2,500 miles by rail over the Southern Padicate.

and 2,500 miles by rail over the Southern Lacific to San Francisco.

Atchison & Topeka, and Atlantic & Pacific route—New York to Kansas City via Chicago, 1,440 miles; Kansas City to Mojave via Atchison & Topeka and Atlantic & Pacific, 1,733 miles; and from Mojave to San Francisco via Southern Pacific, 582 miles; total, 3,555 miles.

Union Pacific route—New York to Omaha

the distance from Portland to San Francisco by water.
Northern Pacific route-New York to St.

Paul, 1,247 miles; St. Paul to Portland. 1 911 miles; tot l, 3 158 miles, and in addition a steamship route from Portland to San Fransystem can be figured out by taking the Bur-lington system to Denver and the Rio Grande to Ogden, and the Central Pacific to San Francisco. The fact that the section between Denver and Ogden is a narrow guage works against it, although it is a very good club to hold over the Union Pacific, Probably in two years time two more roads will reach Ogden—the Northwestern, which is extending rapidly with that point in view, and the Ruclington. with that point in view, and the Burlington which will build from Grand Junction to a and change the guage of the latter to standard The Burlington people deny that they have any intention to make this latter extension, but their denial is not credited, from the fact that every move they make in Colorado points to

One would be led to believe that all this railroad building and reaching out was to cap-ture a rich prize, or at least to force a division I traffic worth striving for. A railroad statis tician, who has been figuring on the business both east and westbound for the last three years, is authority for the statement that the total through westbound business does not amount to two loaded trains of twenty cars amount to two loaded trains of twenty cars each per day, while the eastbound is just about half that figure. When two of the transcontinental roads are willing to haul wheat a distance of over 1,000 miles for less than half a cent per mile, there cannot be any great quantity of paying freight in sight All of which goes to show that there is a great deal of fuss about a small matter. The Central Pacific has been giving the Denver and Rio Grands a portion of its over-land tea business, having furnished some thirty cars to that road at Ogden. It was necessary to break bulk at both Ogden and Denver, transferring to the narrow gauge at the former and the Burlington and Misso broad gauge at Denver. The transaction is looked upon as a notification to the Union Pacific that in the evert of a war, the Denver and Rio Grande and the Burlington and Missouri would make it practically independent Attention has been directly centered on the subject of coal by the late slump in the quotations for coal road securities. It becomes a matter of renewed doubt if anthracite has yet seen its lowest figures. Great stress is laid on Luckawanna shares as 8 per cent dividen payers, yet the stock hangs heavily below par. Some one evidently doubts very much if it has been earning 8 per cent. Even Lehigh Valley, the most prosperous coal road, and lately a strong 8 per cent dividend payer, has reduced its rate to 6, and since to 4 per cent per annum. The cilque since to 4 per cent per annum. The clique attempt to explain this by rehearing the fact that its share capital was increased over $5,000,000 last year, now amoun ing to about $33,000,000. An increase of one sixth in so small a capital will not answer in explanation of a 50 per cent reduction in the dividend. Lehigh Valley could probably pay 8 per cent to-day as well as Lackawana can, but it is unto-day as well as Lackawana can, but it is unquestionably a much more prudently managed property. Yet the course of quotations for coal properties within ten days is significant. Reading and Jersey Central went off 4 to 5 per cent in that respect. Lackawana dropped from $1.03 to 98c, and Lehigh Valley from about $1.14 to $1.10. Here we find a 4 per cent stock selling 10 to 12 higher than an 8 per cent paying security. The two companies at present dominate the eastern anthracite coal trade. The existing condition of the market is the result. The so called anthracite combination is to-day a combination in name only. to-day a combination in name only.

A GLIMPSE OF ENGLISH POLITICS. pecial Telegram to the BEE. LONDON, Sept. 13.—The electoral campaign in the United Kingdom may be said to have opened with this week's speeches. Lord opsned with this week's species. Three Hartington's temperate utterances have been followed by addresses of a more partiaan type, and in the case of Mr. Chamberlain a distinct programme has been enunciated for the fighting wing of the party. Lord Randolph Churchill's endeavor to convert Lord Hart-ington and to win him over to the conservaington and to win him over to the conserva-tives was characteristic in its daring, but has been overwhelmed by the interest felt in Chamberlain's later utterances. Churchill's silence as to Parnell's separation programme not only disappointed conservative politicians but encouraged Irishmen to believe that their hour for independence was not far off. Chamhour for independence was not far oil. Cham-berlain thereupon seized his opportunity, not-withstanding all his previous sympathy for many of Mr. Parnell's demands, made it plain that the radicals will resist by every possible means the last demand which Davitt has instigated Parnell to put forward. The tremendous enthusiaem with which Chamber-lain's dealers than have been received with tremendous enthusiasm with which Chamber-lain's declarations have been received will most likely induce the tory party to compel Churchill or some other leader to declare definitely for the union. The temper of the country, Englishmen say, will no more per-mit a separate parliament in Dublin than the northern states would allow secession.

THE CAROLINES QUESTION. Bismarck's dispatch of August 31 is pitched in such moderate tone that there seems a cer-tainty of a pacific solution of the Caroline question. It will be difficult for such hot-headed publicans as the Spaniards to force a quarrel with Germany, whose calmness and fairness in this dispute has aroused much sym-pathy in England. The high-handed way in which Bismarck dealt with New Guinea and Zanzibar might have been expected to provoke British ill-will over this seizure, of the Caro-lines, but not a newspaper of importance fails to recognize Germany's good faith. "GOD BLESS HIGGINS,"-THE POSTMASTER GEN-

Special Telegram to the BEE. WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.-Turkish postal WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Turkish postal cards have been very scarce in this country. The majority of Americans who go abroad and get as far as the Bosphorus do not care to scribble their experiences in the harems of the east upon a piece of paper for the edification of postmasters and others. They prefer printed note paper and well gummed envelopes but our new American register at Conprinted note paper and well gummed envelopes, but our new American minister at Constantinople, the versatile and brilliant Sunset Cox, has laid in a supply of postal cards, and upon one of them, addressed to Mr. W. J. Hirshtield, he has written "God bless Mr. Higgins." The Mr. Higgins alluded to is at present appointment clerk of the treasury department, and a Baltimorean. He has had bestowed upon him a generous amount of abuse by the American press, but to-day he is the happiest American press, but to lay he is the happiest of men. He does not now care for any amount of vindictive double-leaded type. The message from the country of mosques and bazars has soothed his spirits and made him strong, and he will soon forget that he ever was made unhappy by the jokslinging of envious newspaper men. Mr. Hirshfield has presented the postal card to Higgins, and the latter will have it handsomely framed and hung up in a conspicuous place in his office. Postmaster General Vilas arrived this evening from the West. In a conversation with a reporter the postmaster general expressed great interest in the Onio campaign and auxiously inquired for the latest news from the seat of war. Vilas said that he would be at his office bright and early Monday morning, ready for business. The postmaster general said that since March 1 over 800 democrate have been appointed to positions in the railway mail service, displacing that many re-publicans. At the present time fourth claspostmasters are being appointed about as fast as democratic congressmen can send in their recommendations.

This amount of the appropriation for leasing postoffice buildings, however, was only $450,000, or just about enough money to defray the expense of leasing buildings for offices of the first and according to the consequently the postmaster-general has been unable to carry out the provisions of the act authorizing the leasing of third-class offices. These are 1.728 third-class offices and ffices. There are 1 728 third-class offices and it is estimated than $350,000 will be required annually to defray the expenses of leasing snitable quarters for them. It is probable that when congress meets a recommendation will be made by the postmaster-general that an adequate appropriation be made for these leases or that the act be repealed.

the war, he sought to renew the battle fever that he might reap the reward in emoluments and salary. The speaker reminded the sen-ator that his party had been in power twenty-four years, and if there were wrongs at the south, why had not the party righted them? More than ten years had elapsed since a major ity of the southern states threw the shackles off which the republican party tried to put upon them and became democratic. R. B. Haye contrived a scheme of sending a commission to Louisiana to settle the disputed question of who was elected governor of that state. The result of this was submission to Governor result of this was submission to Governor Nichols, who received fewer votes than Tilden and Hendricks, while his antagonists, Pack-ard, had more votes than Hendricks. Nine years have elapsed since the last southern years have elapsed since the last southern state became free from the tyranny of Moscs, of Warmouth, of Packard, of Bullock, of Brownslow, of Pease of Texas, of Powell Cayton. You had the senate and you had the house, and if there was any injustice to be remedied, why was it not done? The answer is easy. These is no such wrong. There are no such facts.

The speaker devoted a long portion of his address to showing that in Tennessee the republicans of the legislature successfully fill-bustered through two sessions of the legislaprevent frauds at the polls. He referred to the statement that he had sought the release from prison of Police Lieutenant Mullen, of Cincinnati, convicted of arresting colored voters before an election. He confessed that he had done so, and that he had personally asked President Cleveland for Mullen's pardon. He claimed that Mullen raided a negro gambling house and did confine in jai eight or ten voters, among them a lot of Ken-tucky repeaters, and pleaded guilty. He served eight months and the speaker thought he had been punished sufficiently. He de-clared that David M. Key was a Tilden democrat down to the time of his appoint-ment in the cabinet of President Hayes. The latter portion of the speech was confined to

[Hon. Emery A. Storrs was one of the most eminent lawyers of the country and ranked next to Robert G. Ingersoll as an elequent orator. In criminal law he had few if any orator. In criminal law he had few if any equals and was counsel in many celebrated cases, including the famous whisky ring and latterly the ballot box stuffers of Chicago. Within the last few weeks he was retained as princips! counsel for the Mormon church in the polygamy cases which have been appealed to the United States supreme court. As a politician Mr. Storrs was a stalwart of stalwarts, and seconded the nomination of General Grant in Chicago in 1880, following the brilliant address of Hon. Roscoe Conkling. He was one of the famous '336" who voted "first, last and all the time" for Grant in that convention. He was befor Grant in that convention. He was be-tween 48 and 50 years old at the time of his

Lucius is talkative, but Jo-seph is reticent. The former is confident of counterfeiting scheme, which was planned to defraud the Brazilian government out of $231 000, but is aware that it will be difficult to establish hi innocence, as he is entirely dependent upon the testimony of the man whom he is to appear against as a witness to acquit him of criminal knowledge. He seems to have no desire to conceal anything connected with the counterfeiting scheme, and his testimony tomorrow will probably be very full and min-

The American survivors of this battle have annually for many years attended a bacquetin commemoration of it. Their number has been gradually reduced until to-day but one many sat down to an elaborate course dinner at Rennet's. The last man of the Old Defenders who is able to leave his home is James Morford, aged 9). Five of the veterans are still alive. Morford is one of the seven who participated one year ago. The remnant of the home guard, a military organization before the late war, celebrated the day at the Goranstown armory. The survivors are those who wore the blue and gray in that conflict but long since they were reunited and only treminiscences anterior to 1861 are spoken of in their annual reunions. The day being a municipal holiday all the city offices were closed.

Hotherefore produced a penknife from his pockes, rushed upon the senator, caught him by the beard, and holding the knife dangerously near his face, defied him to utter another word or make any motion with his whip. They confronted each other for a moment only. Had Senator Mahone moved he would probably have been stabbed, but before the affair was allowed to culminate, Capt. Rogers stepped between the two men and averted what promised to be a sanguinary encounter. Mahone was at once led off and High Constable Minetree prevented Donnau from prosecuting the matter further.

Youthful Wealthy Nabobs Betting on the Turn.

Special Telegram to the BER. New York, Sept. 13.—The immediate cause of Berry Wall's bankruptcy has been discovered in the loss of several thousand dollars in the Ocean club at Long Branch. This "king of the dudes" had for years been a habitual player, though by no means an infatuated or reckless gambler. Indeed he seldom went further than to risk a hundred dollars, and it was thought that he indulged in the sport bacause it was a fashionable pastime an cause it was a fashionable pastime among his sat. But on getting down toward the bottom of his fortune, he played out the remnant in a serious attempt to multiply it. Those who have been trying to close the seashore gamb-ling hells sought to use this case for the purpose of prosecution. Wall indignantly re-plied that he played no baby game.

A loss of $14,000 in the Pennsylvania club by one of the younger Seligmans of the mil-lionare banking families has less been talked of as a case for the courts, but the youth scoff at the idea of being used so, and declares that having cleared $200,000 in Wall Street speculation within a year, he can afford to buy fare diversion at the price it has c.st him.
