MINOR MENTION.

Reiter, the tailor, for fall goods. Congressman Jerry Murphy is booked for a political speech here on the 35th. The recent scare about Texas fever is about over here, and the disease seems to have disappeared. Everything is now in readiness to proceed with the piling for the soundation of the new court house.

M. Jones and S. R. D nny are booked it police headquarters as plain drunks to be disposed of this morning.

The Montezuma band will furnish music for the letter carriers' ball Tuesday evening. The ball promises to be success every way, and it is to be hoped that these men who so faithfully serve the public interests will be given a big

Foster Bros., of this city, have bough the drug store of J. B. Morton, at Min den, and will now conduct it as one of their retail branches. Minden has needed a larger and better drug store, and with this firm owning it, the town will have all that is needed in this line.

The work of preparation for the building of the new bridge is being rushed right along, and it is evident that business is meant. The track for running the supplies and dirt to the site of the new bridge is being laid rapidly, and fifteen or twenty ears of timber, etc.,

have already arrived. A man named Wildman, who has been employed at the institute for the deaf and dumb, was so disappointed at not meeting his wife, whom he expected to arrive from Lincoln, that he proceeded by the aid of booze to make himself a Wildman in fact, as well as in name. It cost him a struggle with the police and

The city c cuncil got no quorum Satur day afternoon, and so the election of a fire chief and street supervisor had to be put off. Another attempt will be made to have a meeting next Wednesday night. It seems as if the aldermen might as well face the question first as last as to who shall be chief of the fire department. It is too important a matter to be allowed to be neglected or quarrelled over.

It seems that Officer Kirk is the one who is complained of by some Main street man for accosting some respectable women on the street, and telling them to move homeward, the other night. The officer says in self-justification that the women were carrying on, laughing and cutting up for two or three blocks in such a way that if they had been men he would have arrested them, and after following them up, and not knowing who they were, he spoke to them about their netions. He says he can back up all his statements, and that no matter who the parties may be he will not allow any such actions on his beat, but will treat all

Lou Stroud, of Malvern, the well known conductor of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, has been nominated by the republicans for sheriff in Mills county. He has been on the road for twelve years, and has been known by the people of that county from boyhood up, and his popularity, and the confidence felt in him, makes him as strong a candidate as the republicans could nominate. Although the county has for twelve years. Although the county has for twelve years elected a democrat for sheriff, and al-though Dan Farrell has so excellent a reputation, and is so popular, outside as well as inside his county, still it is pre-dicted that Stroud will prove so strong that the race will be a close one, and the chances of Mills county having a repub lican sheriff, for a change, are excellent.

All concede that Stroud, if elected, will make an efficient and trusty officer, and he will get a good many votes from the democratic side of the house.

E. Ehrnstein has been criticising the manner in which the paving work has been done, and on Saturday he went with the committee on paving to point out to them the defects which he claimed to have discovered. The committee took pecasion to inquire of property owners on the street where the work was being done, and from the inquiries and what done, and from the inquiries and what they were able to see for themselves, they found no special cause of complaint. Just as they were about leaving, Ehrnstein made some remark criticizing the work being done by one of the expert pavers, called 'Billy," and the latter getting angry at it, struck Ernstein, the blow being a telling one. An information was at once filed before Justice Schurz, and the offender paid on a plea of guilty $10 and costs. While there may be no ground for criticism, yet it seems that a citizen has eriticism, yet it seems that a citizen has the right to kick if he wants to without having his head punched to a jelly.

"The mayor of my city" is hot at the BEE. The BEE has given the public the record showing that he has drawn about $3,000 from the city treasury in the past sighteen months, his salary being only $600, and the rest in extras. The Bee also exposed the fact that at the hour of midnight he managed to quietly slip a bill through the council allowing him $155 for "attendance on office, etc." The mayor knows that the BEE has plenty of other facts from his record, which will be duly given the public. Hence the little mayor struts about declaring that the Bee man has managed the business in Council Bluffs so poorly, that he is to be removed. The Bee, as all know, and as he knows, needs not to contradict a statement which bears the marks of falsehood on its face, and which comes from such a source. The only charge of mismanagement, which could be sustained against this office is the fact that the little mayor has been given credit for some small amounts, and as usual has failed to pay the bills, and it was certainly great mismanagement not to compel him to pay cash on

Presbyterian Preachers.

The synod of the Presbyterian churches ontinued and closed its session Satur-Much of the business was simply of denominational interest. Among the matters of general interest was the appointment of a committee consisting of Hon. John McKean, Rev. Dr. Ewing, Rev. Dr. Stewart, Rev. W. M. Bartholomew, and Rev. Dr. Cleland, to get the egislature to pass a law for the prevenion of the circulation of corrupt literature among the youth of the state, and to ix severe penalties for its violation.

The committee on colleges and academies reported that during the past year there had been established within the boundaries of the synod—three acadmics of high grade, the collegiate institute at Fort Dodge, the Vanyliet—collegiate—intitute at Dubuque and the Corning leademy at Corning.

Some of the missionary reports and oldresses were of special interest. Rev. W. H. Johnson, D. D., who had been in he work in India, gave an earnest ad-iress. Rev. J. H. Judson, of China, also presented some interesting facts.

He drew a comparison between the tame and foreign missionary work. He would not detract from the home work; but two facts are before us. First, the icld is the world, and the work is one. We of the foreign join hands with you in the home field. The second fact is, that the working force of the church should he working force of the church should be distributed according to the number of people to be reached. Carry this of people to be reached. Carry this rule to the foreign field. Compare China with the United States of America. The United States has only 55,000,000 of people, and China has 350,000,000. The United States has 17 persons to the square mile, and China 261. In the United States we have 1,435 home missionaries, and in China there are only porty two foreign missionaries. To be orty-two foreign missionaries. To be nore explicit, in China we have three disinet missions: Canton mission at south Ningpo mission in central, and Pekin mission in north China. The city of Can-ton has nearly 2,000,000 inhabitants, and set only eleven missionaries, whilst Iowa has her 112. At Ningpo we have five stahas her 112. At Ningpo we have five sta-tions. The first station has about 350,000 people, or about equal to the number in the territory of Dakota. We have there two missionaries and one single lady, while in Dakota we have seventy-three home missionaries. Shanghai has over 350,000 people, nearly as many as the state of Oregon, but in Shanghai we have only two missionaries, and in Oregon twenty-seven. Hang Chow, where I have resided, there are more than 600,000, as many as live in the state of Minnesota. many as live in the state of Minnesota, but in the former we have only two as against 61 in the latter. Suclow has 40,000—equal to the states of Colorado, Nevada, and territories of Idaho and Montana. In Suclow we have only two missionaries, whilst in the above states and territories we have fifty. Nankin has over 300,000, or nearly as many as there are in the state of Nebraska. The former nas but two missionaries, and in the latter we have eighty-four. While the home field needs all she has the foreign which we have been speaking in China 1,375 people have passed into eternity.

The Chinese demand the facilities for education. They want schools and acad-mies, where the moral sciences shall be taught. It will not be long until China will have public schools. It is important to send them the men who shall direct this work of instruction, or the Bible and moral science will be left out of their schools. The call to-day is for men who will give themselves to this work; men that will go with the Bible in their hands and the love of God and of souls in their

Yesterday the home churches improved the opportunity presented by the pres-nce of so many distinguished divines in he city and made a draft on their ora-ory, which was well honored. In the Presbyterian church the moderator, Rev. B. E. S. Ely, preached in the morning. In the afternoon the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered, Rev. Luther Dodd of Des Moines, and Rev. A. Marshal of Marion, officiating. In the evening there was a missionary meeting at which Rev. Dr. Johnson and Rev. J

A Sad Suicide. The suicide of Charles Madison Saturday afternoon came as a sad and sudden shock to his friends. He had been for a number of years a brakeman, and afterwards a conductor on the Sioux City railway, and lived in Missouri Valley for some time. A few months ago he began to fail in health, and it appeared that consumption had gained a deadly hold upon him. In March last he had to give up business and has since been an invalid. For the past few weeks he has been at the residence of D. H. Kilmore, No. 726 First avenue, his wife being related to Mrs. Kilmore. He has realized that the struggle must end in death, and has worried greatly over the prospect of a long illness, during which he felt he must not only suffer greatly, but that he must be a burden to his friends, and having little means to stand the necessary heavy expenses of such an illness, he has been at times such an illness, he has been at times rather given to despondency, but it was not thought that he would seek his own life in such a way. He has had in his room a revolver, and with the faintest trace of fear lest he might at some time be tempted to use it, his wife has on two or three occasions during the past month quietly removed it from the room, but he has had it brought back again and has always laughed at the suggestion that he might harm himself by it accidentally, as was suggested. Saturday afternoon he was suffering greatly, and felt that the end was drawing night and he requested his wife to bring their little child to him, that he might see it once more, and as she went down stairs, after it, the sound of a pistol shot was once more, and as she went down stairs, after it, the sound of a pistol shot was heard, and running back she found that he had shot himself, the ball entering just above the left eye, and causing instant death. The sad event has called forth the deepest sympathy for the ones thus called on to bear such a heavy, suddisease, which has already claimed him as its victim. Mr. Madison was aged about 28 years, and until his health failed had a bright prespect in business, and he had many friends who will be saddened to learn that he is no more.

A Teacher Becomes Insanc. The following particulars of the insanity of Miss Jennie Green are gleaned from the Hastings Chronicle: Miss Jennie Green, who has taught school several years in this county, arrived last Saturday, and appearing to act very strange she was watered by friends, and was finally examined by Dr. Bellwood, of this place, and Dr. Macrae, of Council Biutis, who happened to be in town, and was pronounced by them to be of unsound mind. She remained Saturday night at Rev. Case's mained Saturday night at Rev Case's, and during the night jumped out of the second story window, and after being out some time in the storm, finally came to the door and was admitted and cared for. A vial of poison was found on her person, a part of which had been used, she re-marking in answer to an inquiry from the physicians, that she had taken it, but it did not do what she intended it to do It is thought that Miss Green's condition is due to bad health and to her circum-stances, she being without means and failing this fall to obtain a school. She was taken to her home in Council Bluffs Sunday evening.

Do not wait until the last day before calling at W. W. Chapman's, 101 Main street, to purchase one of those large size oil paintings for $2.25.

Pulpit Oratory.

The attendants at the Congregational church yesterday morning were given a rare treat in the form of a sermon from Rev. Dr. Stewart of Des Moines. Dr. Stewart as he appears in the pulpit at the opening of the service, does not strike the average stranger as promising to give much of an oratorical treat. Smooth faced, long haired, and having the hearing of a typical elerical of the olden school, one is not prepared to hear such a sermon as he gives. From the start he presents the freshest thought, the quaintest sayings, the brightest bits of eloquence, and little touches of wit and humor, and throughout all runs a clear line of logic, closely connecting the thoughts in an unbroken chain.

Yesterday morning he spoke on "Providence and Progress." He did not believe in providence without progress, nor in progress without providence. He pictured the plan of God in the development of man morally as being on the evolution system, and among the laws which tended to the development of society was necessity, as the chief, and compensation, time, and the family as the great harmonizing elements. On each of these subdivisions of his discourse he presented some very interesting and thoughtful points, and he was listened to with the closest attention, an occasional smile go-ing the rounds as he indulged in some of is quaint, telling ways of putting a thought,
