

THE DAILY BEE, COUNCIL BLUFFS, SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 24. OFFICE: No. 12 Pearl Street.

Published by George W. Tilton, at the city of Council Bluffs, Iowa, every day except Sunday and holidays.

Manager: H. W. Tilton.

MISOR MENTION.

Go to Bliss to-day. Reiter, the tailor, for fall goods. To-day's attractions will be at Bliss. A fine display of pattern hats and bonnets to-day at Bliss.

The city council is to meet to-night to elect a fire chief, or make another attempt at it.

The ladies of the Harmony mission gave an enjoyable dime social at the residence of J. M. Palmer last evening.

P. W. Derksen, who suddenly went out of business here, is now said to be running a barber shop in San Diego, California.

The captain and ten of the Omaha patrolmen attended the policemen's ball here, and expressed themselves as enjoying it greatly.

There seems to be a scarcity of coal in the city, and dealers are delivering with caution, as their stock should run short before it can be replenished.

Rev. J. Fisk will preach at the Union chapel on Harmony street to-morrow at 3:30 p. m., and at the A. M. E. church on Williams street at 7:30 p. m.

The Young Folks' Social union of the Presbyterian church will entertain last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Moorehouse, at the head of Frank street.

C. M. Witt, who was complained of for selling oil in Minden, which had not been properly inspected and marked, has given bonds for his appearance before Justice Frainey next Monday.

It is said that instead of reaping a good benefit from their annual ball the policemen will only a little more than pay expenses. Many of the leading businessmen and citizens are said to have declined to purchase tickets.

Services in the Congregational church to-morrow morning and evening. Morning subject: "Individual responsibility." Evening: "A most important question."

At the close of the evening sermon fifteen minutes will be spent in prayer and conference. A general invitation is extended.

Mr. C. J. Beckman yesterday received his letters patent on his new invention for fastening cornice poles, posts in railings, etc. The invention is very ingenious and simple, and can be used in a variety of ways, and it is thought that it will prove a valuable one.

Mr. Boyman has been appointed disbursing agent for the government at this point, in addition to his position as postmaster. This is as it was with Armour, he having been the disbursing agent, and having the custody of the funds needed here for the new government building.

The saloon injunction cases are to come up in the United States circuit court at Des Moines next Tuesday morning. Mr. J. E. Baldwin will represent the saloon men, and Mr. Jacob Sims the prohibitionists. The result of the contest at each step is watched with interest here.

The policemen have had orders not to give any items to reporters, and that the mayor must be the only confidant. This, with the help of having each member of the force except two stockholders in the mayor's smut-mill, does not prevent the newspapers of the city from getting the news and some news which is not agreeable to his honor to have made public.

To-morrow is the time set for the change of postmasters here, Tom Bowman going in, and Paul Armour going out. Mr. Bowman says he will not make any changes in the force at present, unless compelled by the resignation of the employees themselves, but that whatever changes are made will be made gradually and carefully, so as not to lessen the efficiency of the service.

In the superior court the case of the Western Cottage Organ company against J. Mueller promises to take up a week or more yet. The accounts cover quite a portion of time, and Mueller claims to have lost nearly a quarter of a million dollars, on which a balance is claimed of about $2,000. There are so many items and such a volume of entries to examine that it is slow work, and will take a long time to develop into a true balancing of accounts.

The young son of Jonathan Kerns, of Lyons township, met with a very painful and dangerous accident Friday. He was alone in the house at the time, and it is supposed was playing with a gun cartridge which by some means was exploded, the metallic part entering his bowels, making a frightful wound from which the intestines protruded. After the accident the lad walked some distance to a neighbor's where he was cared for and medical aid at once summoned. The lad has since died of his injuries.—Malvern Leader.

In Justice Schurz's court the time of the judge, a jury, several lawyers and a number of witnesses has been taken up for two days in the reaching of some decision in the case of two boys, little fellows, who had some trouble arising from one boy throwing clods of dirt at the other. To spend so much time and cause so much expense over such a trivial matter seems nonsensical. A return to the old method of spanking the boy who was at fault and a settlement of the difficulty at the home fireside, would be a relief to the tax payers and to the courts.

Work on the Indian creek sewer ditch, or whatever it may be called, seems to have got into a badly muddled condition as regards finances, and the contractor, Mr. Vincent, was informed by telegraph that unless he should resume the work yesterday with a full force, the contract would be annulled. He appeared yesterday with a few men, and after talking over the matter with the officials it was decided that if he would do what he could right away, the city would allow him until the first of November to get a full force at work.

The attention of the sewer committee was yesterday called to the fact that in constructing the Bryant street sewer the man holes and drops were so being arranged as to have a tendency to collect drops at the same level as the bottom of the sewer, instead of being lower, so as to catch deposits. It is evident that the sewerage system cannot be watched so closely, for when the work is once done it is hidden from sight and any defects cannot be discovered until something happens like the choking up of the Bryant street sewer, and then it is overhastily too late, the only remedy to be secured involving great additional expense.

Cottage ranges, Garland stoves, Radcliff Homes and Hot heaters of the very latest patterns at best rock prices at Cooper & McGee's, No. 41 Main street.

For hardware and house furnishings, get prices of Cooper & McGee, No. 41 Main street.

Exhibition for the Ladies. Ladies, go to Bliss and see the display of French pattern hats.

Correct Style. The correct and stylish styles in hats will be displayed to-day at Bliss.

THE WORK OF SAVING SINNERS

Big Crowds, Much Enthusiasm, and Many Converts at the Harrison Meetings.

THE COLLISION OF TWO TRAINS.

Small-Sized Burglaries—The Very Sad Ending of a Flash Young Man—A Damage Suit.

Revival Scenes.

The Methodist church is now crowded every night with attendants upon the revival services there in progress under the charge of Rev. Thomas Harrison, known as "the boy preacher." He is far from being a boy, but he preserves his youthful appearance, and with a smoothly shaven face and close cut hair, pompadour fashion, he looks at a distance very much like a boy, his figure being slight and his complexion fair. A closer approach reveals some of the marks of mature age, and the earnest and toils of life have left their impress. He has a happy smile on his face most of the time and he is as restless as a newly caged bird. In his exhortations he has a peculiar manner of drawing out some of his words, and perhaps the very next utterance will be snapped off as though bit by lightning. He has also a habit of repeating a question over and over again, with various comments between these repetitions. He starts out, for instance, with the query, uttered with much force and vigor, "Are you converted?" and then making a remark or two as to what he means by conversion, repeats the query, "Are you converted?" and then tells some anecdote, and then comes the question again, and so on over and over, until the question is fastened on to the attention and thought of every one.

Following his exhortation comes the request for all who have been converted to rise, and remain standing. Then, while there is singing, those who want to be prayed for, or who feel the need of being converted are urged to simply rise to their feet and stand with the others. While this is going on, and all the congregation are singing, Mr. Harrison indulges in another of his pet habits, clapping his hands sharply and clearly, the noise being heard all over the church, while he indicates into the short, quick, nervous step up and down the aisle, jumping up onto the rostrum, and for a minute waving his hands, keeping time with the music, and acting as the musical director of the large chorus, then jumping down and onto the aisles and pews again, smiling at this one, beckoning to another, stopping to whisper a word to another, and thus through the same actions and back again. The all who have arisen are urged to take the further step, and present themselves to the altar, while the congregation becomes seated. Kneeling around the altar rail are a number of ministers and earnest laborers, who work with and for the penitent ones. Prayers are interspersed with singing, ejaculatory remarks, an occasional shout, and a frequent chorus of "Amen's." Suddenly the evangelist springs onto the platform and shouts, "Here are three blessed souls converted, right here and happy in the Lord." Then he leads all in singing, "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow." This is repeated as each conversion is reported, the enthusiastic revivalist spitting his hands, and keeping up a run of ejaculations. Thus the praying and the singing is kept up, various workers going through the audience, interviewing those whom they thought were about ready to ask for prayers. Mr. Harrison in the course of the service the other evening said, "I feel you will have a glorious meeting. Why this is a regular cyclone of glory, but yet this is only as the gathering of the clouds to what is to come. This is going to be such a storm of fire and lightning as will sweep over the city by Sunday to be able to have a jubilee for one hundred souls converted, and this house will not be able to hold half the number. Why don't you know that in the morning there has been such a religious upheaval that 4,000 were out to a meeting held before breakfast in the morning? You have heard of the big revival in Bellefontaine, Ohio, which was being converted, and the town turned upside down. Let us pray to God, and I know that while He is doing all these wonderful things at other places He will give us just a little good thing here. The contest is on, and such a leader and his confidence seem to be a great element of success, and as the meetings are nightly growing in numbers and the interest is evidently increasing, it seems that before the end of another week the revival will have attracted the attention of everybody. There are many who go out of simple curiosity to see what will do not fully endorse such methods and theories, but still they go and the crowds are all the time growing larger.

Small Burglaries.

Two burglaries were yesterday reported to the police as having occurred the previous night. One of these was at the residence of Mr. Patrick Feeley, on lower Bancroft street. The thieves got away with some clothing, but nothing else of special value. The entrance was gained by the door being left open by Mr. Feeley and his wife when they retired, so that James might enter when he returned, without awakening them. When he did come in he found that his room had been visited, and the most of his wardrobe taken.

From the Penitentiary to Jail.

Harry Prentice is now lying in the Atlantic jail, to await his trial on the charge of burglary and forgery. He has just served a term of one year in Joliet, Ill., for the robbery of a widow at Carthage, Ill., and was released Tuesday morning, and the next morning, twenty-four hours from the time of his release from the state prison, he was back at the Atlantic. While living in Atlantic he was a gay Lothario, and succeeded in capturing the affections of several of the fair sex here. The fall of this pet of the ladies caused no little scandal at the time when his real character became known, and his return to Atlantic under such circumstances revives the sensation.

A Big Damage Suit.

Mary Poole as administratrix of the estate of J. W. Devore, has commenced a suit against the Union Pacific Railway company, in the district court, claiming $30,000 damages. The petition sets forth the fact that Devore was a brakeman, and while in the act of coupling cars at the transfer here, was caught and crushed so that he died. The plaintiff is his sister.

Personal Paragraphs.

Mrs. J. W. Butler, of Neola, was in the city yesterday.

W. B. Oaks, of Silver City, was at the Pacific yesterday.

S. L. Winter, of Woodbine, was among yesterday's guests at the Pacific.

H. B. Williams, of Glenwood, was among yesterday's visitors to the Bluffs.

Miss Ida Myers and Miss Birdie Mayne are visiting Omaha friends for a few days.

W. D. Wynkoop, one of the "peanuts" of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley, is in town.

G. A. Armstrong and A. A. Clark, insurance men from Des Moines, were in the city yesterday.

Harry Hunter, of the Nonpareil, has gone to Cedar Rapids for a few days visit to old friends.

Tom McFarland, of Plattsmouth, baggage man on the B. & M., is paying his respects to Council Bluffs friends.

A. H. McClurg returned yesterday from Chicago, where he has been attending the convention of the cracker manufacturers.

E. R. Fonda, of this city, has been elected grand royal chaplain at the meeting of the grand chapter in Marshalltown.

Mrs. W. H. Smith is reported as falling rather than gaining, and her friends are disappointed at the result, but still they go almost impossible to stay the ravages of the disease.

A. W. Grubb, the newly appointed postmaster at Imogene, Iowa, was in the city yesterday, on his return from Dubuque. He enters upon his new duties next Monday.

Cal Maynard, the business manager of the Globe, was yesterday going about with a big box of cigars under his arm, which was soon emptied by his friends. The little maiden who has arrived at his home is a plump little lady, weighing ten pounds, and giving promise of making the home happy for years.

John Deere, of Moline, Ill., the founder of the implement house which bears his name, who has been in this city several days, the guest of Mr. Lucius Wells, Deere, Wells & Co., of this city, has gone west to the Pacific slope. Mr. Deere is 82 years of age. In 1837 he made the first steel plow from a saw blade. This is his first visit to Council Bluffs, although he is the senior member of one of the largest implement houses of the many here.

Yesterday a brakeman named Mascher, while coupling cars on the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad at Hooper, had his hand badly pinched. He nothing to prevent it, as the signals were as they should be, and the train depended on the signals, and, although he had a lantern lighted, yet he never used it for signals.

Shields, the engineer on the ill-fated train, said to a Bee man yesterday morning while he was at work on the wrecked engine, "When I whistled 'off breaks' the signal was white, for me to come on. On hearing the Q I saw the train, the flat cars on the Q, were hard to see. I reversed, gave her steam and steam, and then reversed her again to get all the power I could and then Albert Batton, the fireman, and I jumped. The first thing I did after jumping was to look overhead at the signals and then for the first time I saw they were for the Q, to cross and me to wait. Had I had another car length to stop in I could have stopped my train and prevented the collision."

When he did come in he found that his room had been visited, and the most of his wardrobe taken.

Another attempt is reported as having been made at the boarding house of Mr. Kelley, near the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy depot. A fellow was discovered prowling about the house, having gained entrance through a window. He hurried out, and the police afterwards, from the description given them, arrested a young man giving his name as John McKinnon, whom they found on Main street, and who was identified as having been the one who was in the house. It appears that he did not get anything, and it is said that he wandered into the house while drunk and that he simply thought he could get a chance to sleep there. Another theory of his defense is that he was trying to get some clothing out of the house in order to help the owner of the clothing who was boarding there, but got out without settling his bill. He will have an examination to-day.
