He stated that the chairman of the committee had not met with the committee for five weeks, and the papers referred to the committee never came into the hands of the other members. He stated that he did not propose to pay more bills and that he was positive everything was all right. He had intended, if the chairman had been present at the meeting of the council, to offer to withdraw from the committee. He would not continue the responsibility under a negligent chairman. The bills were accordingly referred to the committee on finance and claims.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Special Committee on Viaducts—Reporting that they had interviewed General Manager Callaway, of the Union Pacific, in regard to the construction of a viaduct on Sixteenth street, and obtained from him a proposal that the railroad companies will pay their proportion of the cost of such viaduct as provided by an act of the legislature, the same not to exceed $20,000, and will also construct a roadway in the city of Omaha at the expense of the city or any of the property owners on said street, under the condition that the city will allow Fifteenth street to remain closed, and that Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, which never have been opened, will not be extended, and that Fourteenth street shall remain as it is until the completion of said viaduct, when, if it becomes necessary to do so, the railroad companies will open the same to the width of thirty feet. It is also understood that Seventeenth street shall remain open. It is further understood that the closing of Fifteenth street shall not be made until the city or any of the property owners on said street have constructed a viaduct along the same over the tracks of said companies. The committee considered the proposition fair and reasonable and recommended that it be accepted, and that the mayor be instructed to make the necessary contracts with said companies as will carry out said recommendations. Mr. Furay objected to the adoption of the report on the ground that the agreement to open Fourteenth street to a width of only thirty feet was not enough. The street is now opened to a width of fifty feet in width. He therefore moved that the report be recommitted for one week, and that the committee be instructed to again visit Mr. Callaway and see if he would not make further concessions.

Mr. Vincent Burkley, who had canvassed the property owners of Fourteenth street, addressed the council, and said that the property owners would be much dissatisfied with only an opening of thirty feet.

After much discussion, Mr. Furay's motion prevailed.

A number of members of the committee, said he believed that the railroad companies would not make any more concessions, and he did not propose to visit Mr. Callaway again.

Mr. Bailey introduced a resolution that the committee on finance and claims, with the city attorney, be directed to confer with the library board and see that the department be reduced to the expenses of said board, the salaries particularly. The resolution passed.

Establishing the grade of U. S. Grant street, from Paul Sheridan street to Park avenue. Referred.

Establishing the grade of Leavenworth street, from Park avenue to Isaac. Passed.

OUR SHIRINES DEFENDED.

A Victory for Omaha and the West on the Car Lot Question.

A dispatch was received in Omaha last evening from Chicago stating that the meeting of the commission at that place yesterday had decided that no change would be made in car load rates. This is a victory for jobbers in this city and other west of Chicago and St. Louis, and is one of the most important in the commercial history of the west.

The peculiar feature of the contest was the amazing inconsistency of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis men. On nearly every one of the articles they wished the car load rate abolished. Such rates are existing between New York, Boston and the east and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis. These give the three cities a tremendous advantage over the east.

It is interesting to note that the same men who are fighting for the abolition of the car load rate in the west, are in the east, fighting for the maintenance of the same rate.

considering, I think in all probability we shall hold a meeting next Monday and decide the matter."

In answer to further questioning, Secretary Conroy said that he thought that without doubt the free school book plan would prove a success. "But," he said, "there is one obstacle which will prevent its immediate adoption—we are out of funds. The little money which we have at present will just about pay expenses until January 1, when the money from the 1885 levy will be obtainable. We have had to stop our building improvements for the present on account of this poverty of the exchequer. It will cost about $10,000 to put this thing into effect, judging from the estimates that I have received. Proposals from about twenty eastern publishers and it is evident from there being so much competition that we shall be able to secure low prices. As I said before, it seems to me that this new plan ought to be given a fair trial. The people seem to want it and the members of the board appear to be pretty well agreed that the scheme is a good one. Next June we can ask the city council to include in the levy an amount of two mills for the special purpose, which will create a fund of about $16,000. With this we can put the plan into execution and have money to spare at the end of the year. But I do not see how the free school book system can be introduced until the opening of the next school year. In addition to the lack of funds, the school books for the present year have been determined upon and most of them purchased, so that to change them would involve considerable extra trouble and expense."

viaduct at all. Goodman knows that the street railway will pass his residence on Tenth street anyway. Has he a city council member in mind? The city council on Eleventh street they will have property on Tenth and on Eleventh street will be like Ninth street to-day and don't you forget the proposition property holders on Tenth who want damages. Eighth and Ninth streets have been closed and now the council is going to lay waste all the property east of Eleventh street. Will this be to the interests of the tax-payers of the city? THE THREE TRIBUNALS.

How the Defeated Justices are Roaring and Kicking.

The defeated candidates for justices of the peace, are bellowing with dissatisfaction and at the same time endeavoring to spring schemes on an unsuspecting public to extend their term of office.

In the first district the kick seems to be the worst. A reporter called on old Judge Brandes yesterday to obtain an expression, but his honor was in such a stew of anger and indignation that there was no opportunity of bringing him out. Judge Selden is the cool and collected gentleman, however, who declares himself satisfied with the result.

He is going to keep his office if he can. He has already challenged the constitutionality of the three justice law and if his appeal is granted he is likely to stand a little while longer. The judge is clever and good to the reporters and when he kicked this morning about the Bee's editorial onslaught upon the cost of the trial, he was obliged to put down the paper. The judge says that he has always had a good reputation and if he was eventually compelled to surrender his wool sack he would hang onto his dignity to the very end.

The new school house at the corner of Twenty-eighth and Farnam streets will be completed about November 15. Miss Annie Truand will officiate as principal. Scholars will be put into the building from Pleasant and Central schools, and it is expected that, including these and the number of other children who will be taken from outside sources, the complement of scholars will be a large one.

The Castellar street school will be completed about December. No principal has yet been decided upon.

The board of education will hold a meeting next Saturday morning to canvass the votes on two school propositions which were voted on by the people at the recent election—namely, to expend $28,000 in buildings and to expend $25,000 in the city hall project.

WHO IS HE?

A Man Said to be From Omaha Killed in Michigan.

A dispatch from Lansing, Mich., says that a man named Henry Johnson, a machinist of Omaha, was found lying outside the Chicago & Grand Trunk track, near the depot at that city Tuesday night, with his skull crushed in three places, evidently by some dull instrument like a coupling pin. The man was removed to a hotel and remained unconscious until he died at 11:30 Wednesday. Shortly before his death Officer McKale identified him as one of four men who applied at the city jail for clothing Monday night. He gave his name as Henry Johnson, and that he was a machinist from Omaha. The dead man wore two suits of clothes, the under suit being of fine blue flannel. An overcoat lay beside him when found, and on his person were a five-cent piece and a pocket flask. He was about 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and wore a large sandy mustache and glasses. He was seen counting a small sum of money the day before his death, and was seen at the depot thirty minutes before he was found, together with one of his companions, who were a black straw hat and a cane. After the other man walked up town with two boys, and informed them that he had had trouble and was going to police headquarters, accompanying the remark with a threat that they would be made to taste cold lead if they mentioned having seen him. Police officers are looking for the man.

A reporter was unable last night to find any one who could throw any light on Johnson's life in this city.

That Political Cutting Scrape.

Yesterday Jack Galligan, assistant chief of the fire department, was marched into police court in the custody of an officer, to answer to a charge of assault and battery on Elasser, the barber, as printed yesterday.

He was examined, and was bound over to the district court, the sum of $400, Thomas Casey going on his bond.

What Galligan says.

Mr. Galligan was not yesterday by a reporter and talked freely.

"I much regret this affair and blame chiefly my hasty temper. The trouble was incited by no political ill-feeling on my part. I have been slaving with Elasser seven or eight years. In this campaign I was for Ford while Elasser was a republican. A week ago the barber and I got into an argument and he became so excited that I told him I would not even talk politics with him again. Meanwhile, as his conveniences were not what I desired, I made up my mind to withdraw my patronage from him. Last night when I saw that Elasser had made some insulting remarks, which I resented and during the interchange of blows which followed I foolishly struck him with the cup which he held in my hand."

A Pleasant Party.

The opening party of the season of the Apollo Club was given last evening at Light Guards' hall.

There were twenty-five couples in attendance, and a very pleasant time was had by all. A full orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion, and an elegant supper was served. The affair was a grand success, and will be followed by others on Wednesday evenings, November 25, December 16, January 6 and 27, and February 21. The executive committee for the season consists of C. H. T. Egan, W. J. Ward, J. A. Booth, Geo. J. Sternberger, F. J. Jones, A. J. Eaton, B. E. Fry, F. H. Kuesters, W. Skelton, H. E. Pfeiler, L. K. Mooney, G. O. P. Burnett.

A Foundling Infant.

The foundling which was left on the door steps of J. G. Fountain, 1214 Webster street, on Monday night, by the mysterious lady in the dark dress and black veil, is to be taken charge of by the county commissioners, probably at the poor farm. It is about two weeks old.

Mr. Fountain was away hunting all day Monday, but failed to bag any game. He has given notice that he would resign as a sort of solace. One before on the past six months has Mr. Fountain been similarly victimized.

An Irish Lord.

Patrick Murphy, well known about town as the Irish lord, on account of his having watered horses in the county, was again arrested before Judge Stenberg on the bid charge of having been intoxicated.

He is a good fellow socially, well educated, and, as before intimated, with the best of connections in the old country, but he has one fault which is driving him to the gutter pretty rapidly—he is passionately fond of whisky. "I have spent all my money," he said to the judge, "and now I suppose I'll have to look sober for a time."

"If I let you off this time," rejoined Judge Stenberg, "I'll release you, but if you're brought before me again, it will go hard with you."

A MARVELOUS MONSTROSITY.

A Local Doctor's Wonderful Specimen of Deformity.

A physician, whose name is withheld as he does not care to be subjected to the inquisition of the multitudes which such an exhibition would draw upon him, has in his possession the most wonderful monstrosity which nature in all her freakishness has ever produced.

It was born of a Polish woman in the South end a week ago, and, although the mother has survived, she was thrown into spasms from which she will never recover with her reason. The doctor into whose possession the wonder fell has since been preparing it through processes of preservation for ultimate exhibition in the great anatomical museum of the east.

There are scores of records of marvelous deformities to which the embryo is subjected, but it is safe to say that nothing in the annals of medicine is found to compare with this specimen. This crowning vagary of all natural phenomena can best be described in detail.

The general form of its head is much like that of a good sized baby, but the skull is so thick that when open obscures the entire cranium and through which the walls of the stomach can be seen. The body is of natural construction except that the arms are very short and curved inward, while the legs are a trifle elongated and doubled under the thighs with the toes of unusual length and connected with a web like skin.

The spinal column is continuous for a short space beyond the body, forming thus a pronounced caudal appendage. The entire structure of the freak is more reptilian than human and is a marvel to behold.

The doctor is at a loss to account for this deformity except upon the theory that the mother had sustained some powerful emotion in the subject of which a frog or toad was conceived.

Police Court Docket.

The session of Judge Stenberg's court yesterday was quiet and uneventful. The following cases were disposed of:

Fred Frost, Chas. Frost, J. A. Frost, J. H. Frost, disorderly conduct, held for further examination.

Peter Murphy, drunk and disorderly, discharged.

John Kelly, intoxicated, discharged.

Scott Walker, drunk and disorderly, $5 and costs.

George Yates, drunk and disorderly, $3 and costs, committed.

An Unfortunate Mishap.

Little Edna, the daughter of Gen. Cowin, while descending to dinner yesterday, was thrown down by a jerk of the elevator as she was about to step out on the dining room floor. Her ankle was caught under the platform of the elevator and severely pinched. No bones were broken, but the limb was considerably bruised and swollen and the little lady, although much better this morning, spent a night in pain.

Family Feuds.

Frank Roebuck, the notorious, is again in jail for beating his wife. He was arrested last evening by Officers Cornick and Whalen on complaint of his better half, who could stand his abuse no longer. The prisoner is an old offender and has answered to similar complaints numerous times in police court.

Rabbi Benson lectures to-night at the Jewish synagogue upon the subject of "Is the Existence of Evil Derogatory to the Belief in the Benevolence of the Deity." Divine services at the synagogue will commence at 7 o'clock.

MALARIA prevented and thoroughly eradicated by DEWEY'S PURE MALT WHISKY, $1.25 per bottle sold by all Druggists and Grocers.

Bound for California.

A party of fifteen from Iowa, bound for Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in Omaha yesterday in charge of J. B. Holmes, of Des Moines, traveling agent for the Union Pacific. They again started on their travels last evening.
