The Mayor Determined to Have the Body Snatchers.

(FROM THE BEE'S LANCOUS BUREAU.) Although the complaint against the parties implicated in the recent body snatching case was filed Wednesday afternoon, the county judge had failed to issue warrants thereon up to 3 o'clock vesterday afternoon. A BEE reporter called upon him and asked whether the complaint had been filed, and he an--wered that it had, but that he had not the time to issue the warrants. "They may be issued this afternoon," he said, "unless some compromise is effected in the matter." It is rather unusual for a judicial officer to clog the machinery of justice, to wait and see if a compromise is made.

The mayor was seen and he has not changed his mind a particle about the vigerous prosecution of the case. "As mayor of the city, I am and should be expected to protect it from any such norrible suspleton as will surround it in a case of this kind. It is therefore my intention to do everything in my powe to bring the offenders to justice , and I have instructed the marshal, police and all concerned to use every effort to ferret out the parties who got the body, how it was obtained and all the details posible." The mayor thought the conduct of the Journal in suppressing the mat-ter and coming to the assistance of the grave spoliators was outrageous. City Marshal Beach said he was using all means to hurry up the case. "The BEE has been of the most valuable assistance to us in this matter, and is the only paper which has had the courage to come out and give the facts as they exist, "said the marshal. "The Journal, as usual, dare not say anything, but hastened to cover up the tracks of the real offenders at the expense of the po-liee department which, in this matter at least, all good citizens will say has been right. I am getting tired of the way the fournal acts, and propose that it shall not influence me one whit in my duty which I believed from the first directed me to discover and put a stop to this nefarious traffic in human bodies

Assistant District Attorney Stearns who drew the complaint against the doc-tors, was called upon, and he was equally emphatic that the case would be vigor-ously prosecuted. "I have already offers of assistance from members of the bar, and shall doubtless accept in one in-stance," Mr. Stearns said. "The mayor has ordered that all the evidence be taken down in short hand, and it will be done as he directs. I am of the opinion that the Journal did wrong to sup-press the true facts in the case as it did, at it was nothing particularly startling that it should do so."

In a prior conversation both the marshal and Mr. Stearns thought that the Journal was a personal organ of Gov. Dawes', and therefore would not publish anything which in any way reflected on his appointments, even if news had to be suppressed. They believed the BEE was the only fearless paper in the city.

THE MORTON MANDAMUS. Wendesday afternoon the supreme court handed down a written decision in the case of the state ex rel J. Sterling Morton against Wallace Stevenson, county clerk of Otoe county. It will be remembered that this was a mandamus brought to compel the clerk to put on the election notices the office of a second judge in the second judicial district. Before the late election the court gave an oral opinion, or rather ordered the Otoe county elerk to include the judgeship in the list of officers to be voted for. This decision did not enter into the constitutionality of the act creating a second judge, but only bore on the functions of the clerk. The present opinion decides that the act of hast winter was constitu-tional, notwithstanding the act of 1881, which created four new judicial districts. In the full opinion of Justice Cobb, who rendered the decision of the court, he declares he would not have entered into the constitutionality of the act, but for the objection of a person who had no right to object. This dictum, to say the least, is rather a descent for a judicial officer who, until the present time has maintained a dignity equal to the position he holds. Although it was the duty of the attorney general to test the ques-tion he refused to do so, on the ground, as he said, of public policy. The sylla-here proving unavailing, he went to Chicago last July and had an operation performed. This was the means of his THE osing the power of speech, and it was uso discovered that the trouble was simlar to Gen. Grant's cancer of the throat Upon the assurance of the doctors that nothing could be done for him the general philosophically made up his mind to die, and came back to Lincoln, where he ingered until yesterday, when he prin-lessly breathed his last, surrounded by his family, which is one of the most prominent in Lincoln. The date of the funeral has not yet been determined.

The colored people of Lincoln held a ball in Harmonic hall Thanksgiving night and the attendance was made up of the best element of colored society. To the music of an excellent band the merry throng danced until midnight, when a lunch was served, after which the chief pleasure of the evening was resumed Quite a number of buildings about the city are draped in mourning out of re-spect for the memory of Vice President Handeits

Hendricks. The county judge is paying out money property owners whose homes on gith and Ninth streets were condemued for the Missouri Pacific right of way into the city.

Yesterday was again baimy and pleasnnt as one in September. Yesterday's Journal did a gross injus-tice to Officers Hollowell and Fowler. A loud, fresh and inebriated Burlington & Missouri railroad conductor was arrested for disturbance. A companion who had an idea that the world was too small to hold him interfered and struck Fowler, at the same time applying opprobious language. He, too, was at rested, as he should have been. The mayor released the last named, but, as he afterwards stated, under a misconception of the facts. The Journal stated that the officers were wrong, when those who had any knowledge of the affair say they did their duty.

A man named Richardson, who was arrested at Bennett for giving liquor to a minor, was yesterday released on a habeas corpus proceeding, on the ground that the justice of the peace at Bennett had no jurisdiction over the case. Rich-ardson is the man who give liquor to the 12-year-old boy who is supposed to have died from its effects. The Pleasant Hour club gave a largely attended party at Masonic Temple Thursday night.

There was a three-cornered fight yesterday afternoon at the corner of Elev-enth and N streets, between the proprietor of the Iowa house and two other men. They were all locked up.

Grading is being done on Seventeenth street for a half-mile extension of the Capital City railway line. As the mail train on the Atchison & Nebraska line was coming into this city his afternoon, a misplaced switch ran it into a car loaded with grain. The car and engine was damaged. The only cas-ualty was Andrew McMakin, mail agent, who was hurled headlong against the end of his car, suffering a severe concus sion. He may die. A meeting of citizens was held in the United States court room last night, to arrange for services in memory of the late Vice President Hendricks. Committees on resolutions and arrangements were appointed and other formalities concluded. WEEK IN SOCIETY.

A Rapid Succession of Balls, Parties and Weddings Thanksgiving Festivities.

THE ROLLINS-BARTON NUPTIALS

Other Matrimonial Events - The K. P. Anniversary Ball-The Hymenemeter-General

Notes.

The past week, in marked and pleasant contrast with the preceding ones of this fall season, has been characterized by extraordinary galety. Balls, private parties, socials and weddings all have combined to make Thanksgiving week of the year 1885 memorable in a social way. Events of note followed each other in rapid succession. Many of them were elegant in detail and attended by the best people of the city. In a matrimonial way especially there has been considerable to do and to talk about, as will be seen by the list presented below.

As for the social future, the outlook is brilliant. Many splendid events are under contemplation, in the way of charity balls, fancy dress balls, parties and receptions. The movement for a "swell charity ball" is well under way. In all probability Boyd's opera house will be secured, as last season. The affair, as now contemplated, however, will be on a grander scale than last year, and the details will be far more elaborate.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR. The event of the week in a social way was the marriage on Wednesday after noon of Miss Jessie Barton, daughter of Guy C. Barton, to Mr. Henry Rollins, of this city.

The ceremony took place at the resi-dence of Mr. Barton, 2103 California street, and was characterized in every detail by an extraordinary elegance. The entire house resembled a bower of rare exotics, the perfutue of which made the air almost heavy. Every available space was filled in with flowers. The chandeliers were adorned with smilax. the vases, the pier glasses and every sideboard and stand was made the rest ing place of large pillows of flowers. The table was ornamented with a magnificent centrepiece of three cornucoplas of scar-let carnations, surmounted by one of pure white.

The white cake and fruit cake were decorated respectively with immense bows of blue and pink satin ribbon, handpainted by Miss Shultz-an entirely new feature in weddings.

At 4.30 o'clock the ceremony was per-At 4.30 6 clock the ceretiony was per-formed by Dean Millspaugh, with the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church. Within the bay window, under the floral wedding bell, stood the bride and groom. The lace curtain was artically entwined with smilax, the whole forming an effective background, against which the fair bride made a charming picture. Her dress, the creation of a French modiste of New York, was the exact model of the latest Parisian fashion. It was of cream satin, of the heaviest texture. The trained skirt was laid in large plaits, with graceful drapery set off by pearl passamen-terie and Duchess lace. The corsage was pointed, cut square and tilled in with Duchess lace. No jewelry was worn, the orange blossoms being held in place by pearl pins. The shoes, instead of being the usual color, were a dainty in fawn color with correspondnoveln ing silk hosiery. The conventional veil was worn. Mrs. Barton, the mother, was richly at-

Messrs, Christol and Leon in Their

Wrestling Match, with Leon Victor An audience, exclusively male and numbering about one hundred souls, at $2.00 per capita, assembled last evening on the second floor of Stubbendorff & Nestor's building, Eleventh and Douglas streets, to witness the wrestling match advertised to take place between Professors Christol and Leon. A patch of carpet about twelve feet square and padded with straw, constituted the arena. The bills had fixed $30 for the beginning, but it was nine o'clock before Mr. Jack Moynahan stepped out and made the opening remarks with grace and composure.

Leon selected Louis Hibben as his second and Christol took ap Mr. Tony Marovitz. Meanwhile, Mr. Moynahan's oratory had been flowing, and here he concluded by introducing the champions, who stepped out and bowed acknowledgments to the applause. Both men were stripped to the waists, below which point they wore breech clouts, tights and socks. Both were well condition, and in physicial appearance worthy of their trade. Leon, however, had apparently the advantage, being younger, tailer and heavier. These points Chris-tol balanced by superior agility and skill. Prof. Andre Christol is a Frenchman. 42 years of age. First Bout (Graeco-Roman)—The men went down on the floor at once and stayed there till the finish. For sixteen and a half minutes they gripped, twisted, tugged and tussled, sometimes working with the energy of demons and at other intervals hanging to each other without a wriggle. Leon was on the offensive and three or four times had Christol nearly borne with both shoulders to the floor (which alone counts a fall), when the wiry Frenchman would somersault upon his stomach again. In one of these performances Bob Green thought he detected a fair fall and awarded the hout to Leon. Christol kicked some, but made the best of it and both men went to their corners.

to-morrow evening at 5 o'clock, at the corner of Sixteenth and Farnam streets. Second Bout (eatch-as-catch-can) -Every one who has property to lose by fire is invited to be present. To protect your property is fully as important as to After fifteen minutes spent in sponging the contestants and sewing up the car-pet, time was again called. On this occasion the little Frenchman took the aggressive and went at it hard. Time and again he had a fall as squarely on Leon as Bob Green had declared against him. For forty minutes the struggle continued, Christol working the neck clasp and hip-lock to the serious disadvaniage of Leon. At last by one mighty effort with the last named hold Christol bore the Greek's shoulders to the carpet and won the round. Third Bout (Graceo-Roman)-Both men came from their corners, where they had been rubbed down. The skin of each, which when leaving the ring at the conelusion of the struggle was rolling with perspiration, was now hard and dry, yet pliable as kid. The instantaneous grasp of the hand was followed by the pole clasp several times in rapid succession. Body holds followed, and these by a dropping on all fours by both principals, Christol being above, and Leon in much the same attitude as the sculptor has presented the familiar gem of the dying gladiator. Christol forced the work while Leon, when his opponent was ex-ercised, lay or sprawled upon the carpet, always beyond the power of Christol save when the latter succeeded in several acute arm twitchings, reinforced by thigh clasps. Despite his superior physique and might, the little Frenchman in this style would slowly and laboriously force Leon first upon his side, then upon one of his shoulders, and finally toward the second shoulder, both of which must be upon the stage to secure a fall. Just when it seemed that the bout was to end, with Christol almost powerless in the tortu-Simmons Liver Regulator ous and similars grasp of the Frenchman, the former by almost superhuman effort would wriggle from the hold, and, with spiral, perpendicular movements, shoot upward from the embrace and descend like a cat upon his feet, to seek a better hold of his doughty opponent. Of these momentary evidences of victory and defeat, each wrestier had his share, the more brilliant ones being ascribed to Christol, the more stolid and immovable ones to the other. Twice Leon caught Christol's head at the base of his stomach and with a firm grasp of both the latter's thighs put him in a powerless position, and with him rolled over head and heels after the manner of an acrobatic cart wheel. Another pretty play was Leon's grasp of the right shoulder of Christol which he intensified by pinioning the arms of the Frenchman behind him, and then forcing him up-ward and backward over the back of the ward and backward over the prostrate advasary. After this, the prin-cipals separated, and Leon rushed back ind contested the remainder of the bout with the courage of a lion. It was the first of this kind he had done during the evening. He had husbanded his powers and they now He came to his assistance. He twisted Christol's arm behind that man's back, and then, by a superhuman effort solving the back and ribs of the great wrestler, he literally forced him around until the Frenchman lay with both shoulders upon the carpet. The bout was declared in favor of Leon. Time, 17 minutes. Leon was fresh and reliable. He went to his corner and while there Jack Moyniaan announced that Christol's arm had been wrenched and that he could wrestle no more. Bob Green therefore decided that, inasmuch as Christol had declined to wrestle the match out, the watch should wrestle the natch out, the watch should be awarded to John Leon. Christol then challenged Leon to wrestle with him at the German theatre. The challenge was accepted, and the match will accordingly take place there for $250 a side, on next Monday night. Each man deposited $30 forteit with Dell Rudd, the state helder. This will be a Greene the stake-holder. This will be a Graco-Roman, best two out of three falls After this match is over Christol will wrestle a similar match at the same time and place with Adolph Rouske for

DEATH OF GENERAL FUNKE.

Gen. Otto Fanke died at an early hour yesterday morning at his residence in this city. The general was born in Ger-many, January 51, 1883, and emigrated to America with his parents when a lad of 17 years. He learned the printers' trade in New York city and afterwards joined the regular army and served three years at Fort Detroit. After his term of enlistment expired the general moved to enlistment expired the general moved to Peoria, Ills., where he engaged in bus-iness until the breaking out of the war in 1861, when he enlisted as a private. When this service had ended he returned home and raised company A of Col. Bob Ingersoll's regiment, the Eleventh Ill-inois cavally. His career during the war was unusually brave. From captain he rose to major and so on up until the time he was mustered out of the service in September, 1865, when his rank was in September, 1865, when his rank was brevet brigadier general of volunteers. He was twice severely wounded, and he carried one musket ball to his grave. The general moved to Lincoln with his in 1868, and engaged in business was called for last Friday night to obtain the sense of the people as to requesting the school board to open the school house for regular preaching services, as Rev. Mr. Preston, of Irvington, had been denied the privilege of holding a brief series of religious meetings. I know not as yet the result. If it is refused it will perhaps be about the only school house in the state where such services cannot be held, especially where there is no other suitable building. Florence has tried almost everything else, and it can scarcely be supposed that the experience of religion would be particularly injurious, especially to some. I understood that some were indignant at the few christians in the place for having preaching services one night on returning from where the late shooting oc curred. If this be a reason for repress ing religious services, then we live in a country where all public meetings must be abandoned and no railroads built, for ome or more will certainly be killed on every line constructed. Mr. Preston held ten night meetings at the school above Florence, called Pimea, at the close of which a Congregational church of sixteen members was organiz-ed. Rev. C. S. Harrison, of Franklin, happened to be present and gave a short, pithy sermon.

The display included an exquisite assortment of china.

Of the wedded couple it is nocessary to say but little, as both are well and favor-ably known in this city. Miss Jessie Barton is the youngest daughter of Guy C. Barton, a pioneer settler of Nebraska, and president of the Omaha and Grant smelting works. She has long been a prominent member of society here, and is a lady of many graces and rare worth of character. The groom is a junior member of the grain brokerage firm of MeWhorter & Rollins, in the Omaha National bank building.

On Tuesday afternoon occurred the marriage of Mr. Zera Snow, of Portland, Oregon, and Miss Woodle McCormick, of this city, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lacey, uncle and aunt of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dean Millspaugh, rector of Trinity, Rev. Dean Millspaugh, rector of Trinity, and the happy pair left in the evening for Portland, where they will make their future home. They carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends. The marriage of Mr. George Puhek to Miss Clara Brown was solemnized Wednesday at the bride's residence, 1224 Capitol avenue. Miss Brown is well known in Omaha society where she has known in Omaha society, where she has hosts of friends. Dr. Puhek is a rising young physician of Grand Island. He has a large circle of friends in Omaha, who wish him success and happiness. The Rev. Mr. McKaig officiated at the ceremony, which was largely attended by the intimate friends of both the contracting parties.

The marriage of William H. Eldridge to Miss Jennie Shields took place Wednesday night at 2715 Franklin street, the Rev. C. W. Savidge officiating. The wedding was an elegant affair, and a large number of guests were present. Mr. John Francis and Mrs Alice Cleland were married at 4 o'clock Thurs-day afternoon at Trinity cathedral. The wedding was a very quiet affair, and few of the friends of either contracting party were advised that it was even in contemplation. Mr. Francis is well known as the assistant general ticket and passenger agent of the B & M. The brade is an estimable lady and has a large number of friends in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Francis left at once for a month's tour of the Pacific coast. Congratulations follow them.

The nuptials of Mr. Jonas Holmgren and Miss Lundgren were solemnized Thursday evening at the Kountze Luth-gran church, Rev. J. S. Detoiler, officiating. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the residence of Mr. J. G. Haines, 202 South Twenty-fourth street. The Apollo Social club gave its Thanks-giving party at Light Guard hall Wednesday evening. About thirty couples were present. As usual the affair passed of pleasantly and was greatly enjoyed P pleasantly and was greatly enjoyed H T. Riepen, H. J. Fuller and L. K. belles of the "blue grass" state, so famed among other things, for its ladies. The date on the dial of the instrument is plainly illuminated, and is seen to be December ninth, A large number of in-vitations will be issued, of which the hymenometer has the guarantee of one. Again the positition of the hands is changed. This time they tell affection's tale on a prominent police official, who is said to be the handsomest man in blue, and a lady resident on Farnam street between Sixteenth and Seven eenth. The happy elimax is said to be drawing near, when orange blossoms and white illusion will be in demand The exact date, however, is not to be de-termined, as the face of the dial appears to be somewhat blurred.

STEPS DOWN AND OUT. An Old Official of the U. P. Shop Resigns his Position.

It was rumored late last evening that Mr. J. E. Congdon, superintendent of motive power of the Union Pacific, had resigned his position, the resignation to take place at once. A reporter called upon Mr. Congdon, but as that gentleman was in bed nothing as to the truth of the report could be learned from him. Subsequently, however, the rumor was verified. Superintendent Smith was approached on the subject, but declined to express himself about the change. Mr. Congdon has been a resident of Omaha for twenty years, and is well known and very popular here. He was born in Granville, Hampdon county, June 1, 1883. At the age of 14 he commenced his trade of in achinist in a gen-eral machine shop. In 1851-2 he was em-ployed in the shops of the Cleveland, Columbus & Cincinnati railroad. In 1853 columnus & Cincinnati railroad. In 1852 he was appointed general foreman of the shops of this road, and remained as such until 1860, when he was appointed mas-ter mechanic of the Great Western rail-road of Illinois. In 1866 he was ap-pointed to the position of superintendent of the motive power of the Union Pacific; Mr. John Hackney, formerly assistant

COULD KEEP A SECRET.

An Amusing Aneodote of Old Judge Gillis.

Mr. Charles Goodrich has in his possession a picture of old Judge Gillis, of Pennsylvania, who is well known in Omaha and Nebraska, having been the first Pawnee agent appointed by the gov-erament. In conversation with a re-porter this morning he told an interest-ing anecdote about the old gentleman who was noted for sharp repartee and a who was noted for sharp repartee and a certain dry humor peculiarly his own. Along back in the fifties when the ren-egade Mason, Morgan published a book divulging many of the secrets of the craft. Judge Gillis was an ardent Ma-son. When Morgan was nurdered, being thrown over the Ningara Falls, Gillis was suspected of having committed the crime. Ho was tried, but as there was no strong evidence against him he was
