WHIRLED UNDER THE CARS.

A Young Man Killed at the Transfer While Switching.

FINDING SMALL OFFENDERS.

A Former Council Bluffs Dyer Skips Out of Atlantic—The Saints stand by Prohibition—Social and Personal Points.

Crushed by the Cars.

Another fatal accident was added Saturday evening to the long list of those which have occurred through coupling cars.

The victim was David Coon, a young man who was employed in the Union Pacific yards, at the transfer, under Mr. Highsmith.

He was discovered by the engineer, who found him lying between the tracks badly mangled, especially about the hips, but still alive.

He was in an insensible condition and was just breathing. It was thought that there might be a possibility of his living, so he was taken up tenderly for the purpose of being taken to the hospital in Omaha.

It was too late, however, and he died on the way. The unfortunate man was unmarried, and was about 28 years of age.

He had relatives living in Pennsylvania. He had been employed in the yards at the transfer for about six weeks only. Before that he was in the Rock Island yards for about nine years, and never received so much as a scratch by any accident before.

The cause of the accident is not fully known, but it is thought to have resulted from the new method of using a stick in coupling. A short time ago the switchmen were provided with belts, with a hook and chain, which to carry a peculiar stick, to be used in making couplings.

It is thought that this stick and scabbard in some way were caught by the end of the car, and the man was drawn down under the wheels. As nothing was known of the accident until the discovery of the man lying between the tracks, all this is surmise.

Dealing with the Ungodly. J. M. Neumeyer has had a young man stopping at his hotel, whom he viewed with suspicion, thinking he was planning to skip out without paying his bill.

The young fellow was arranging to go over the river, with a young lady on whom he seemed to be lavishing a good deal of attention, when the landlord put the officers onto him.

He was arrested, and looked on as H. Witte. As he settled his hotel bill, and seemed penitent, he was soon released.

James H. Page, a plain drunk, deposited enough to cover a fine, and was let off as soon as he was sober enough to walk off.

A fellow giving his name as Pat. Kane, was arrested for insulting little children on Main street. His outrageous actions attracted the attention of citizens, who were very indignant, but restrained their wrath sufficiently to call an officer to arrest him, and leave him in the hands of the law.

G. W. Brown was the name given by a spruce young fellow who was arrested for insulting ladies on the street. He excused himself by saying he was drunk, and did not realize what he was doing.

He claimed to be a traveling man, but it is not learned what house or city he represents or misrepresents. He deposited sufficient to pay a fine for drunkenness and was set free.

George Campbell, for stealing some beer from near the Northwestern depot, has been sent to jail for five days.

Yesterday afternoon a boy came running into Hughes & Fox's store, on Main street, with the information that he had seen a man just carrying away one of the overcoats displayed outside. The chase was given in the store, and he was caught only a short distance from the store with the coat in his possession.

On seeing that he could not escape, he said he took it just for a joke, but this was not the way to get away with it. He had removed the tags from the coat as he ran. The fellow gave his name as Clarke, but he is known here better by the name of "Vidner." He pleaded guilty to larceny and was sent to jail for fifteen days.

"Sandy Point" Adams, who was arrested in connection with the bank mystery, has been released on his own recognizance, and the case has been continued until Judge Aylsworth returns. The colored girl will probably be sent to the reform school.

Gents' boots and shoes at Beno's. Had on Hurlburt. E. R. Hurlburt, two years ago came to this city with a great flourish of trumpets, and was going to open extensive dye works. After floundering about here, he went back to Omaha.

Then he was heard of in Lincoln, and still more recently in Atlantic City. He fires the following parting shot at him: E. R. Hurlburt, the individual who came here to start the dye works, has jumped the town, leaving several creditors to pay the bill. The honorarium he gave several dollars losers. He acts a good deal like a professional dead beat.
