THE CIRCUS BOYS.

Some of the Ups and Downs of Life Around the Sawdust Circle. Circus life is a peculiar one, says Manager H. W. Cole, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, still on the whole it possesses great charms for the majority of men. In the first place, it is a life of continual travel, and one can winter precisely travel, and one can winter precisely where he pleases. Any first-class per-former, for instance, can walk into Parravicini & Corbyn's London agency and sign contract either to tour England with Hengler, Newsome or Pinder; Scotland Swallow; Ireland with Footit & Clark; France with Sanger; appear in Germany at the Walhalla, Berlin, or take Germany at the vialitation, at the a three-months' engagement at the Cirque Cinisella at St. Petersburg. If in this country, he can winter in Mexico this country, he can winter in Mexico with the Orrin Brothers, go to Venezuela with Dockrill, visit South America with Gardner, or make a tour of the West In-dies under Col. G. W. Hale, better known by his sobriquet of "Popcoin George."
Do circus actors get broke? Well, 1 should say so. Oftener I think than any other class of men. You see, they carn their money quickly. An ordinary season in this country only lasts seven months, and during that time the performer must earn sufficient money to keep himself twelve months. Unfortunately, however, when the season closes he is usually so tickled with being the proud possessor of, we'll say, $1,200 or $1,500, that he immediately assumes an air of great importance. The weather begins to get cold. ance. The weather begins to get cold.
Mr. Performer therefore "goes in" for a very long Newmarket overcoat, the collar and cuffs of which must be seatskin.
A sealskin cap and a gold-headed cane will complete his make-up. Just about this time, however, he becomes tired of his hotel and boarding house and removes to one a little better. He still has money enough left to "winter" on, but in the course of his daily wanderings he meets a great many of the "gang" who are not so well fixed as he, and a series of "touches" commences. He finds his of "touches" commences. He finds his money getting lower and lower until, as a rule, by Christmas time he is reduced to $300 or $400. At that festive season he, in company with a few kindred spirits, visits all the hostelries patronized by circus men; they meet with old friends, exchange reminiscences, drink freely, a friendly game of poker or favo is indulged in, and by New Year's day the class of performer I am speaking of is generally "dead broke."

CHARITABLE CANDY BUTCHERS. There is, however, one very great re-deeming feature about all circus performers, and indeed all circus attaches or em ploys, and that is their exceeding generosity to each other, which passes the be lief of those uninitiated. I have known one prosperous "candy butcher" of steady habits to positively keep from twelve to fifteen performers for a month at a time, and it is no unusual thing on the Bowery, New York, to see an artist who, in the summer, earns from $50 to $60 per week, borrowing 25 cents from a street-car driver who perhaps fills in the summer as a circus driver at $30 per

Then again, circus men invariably have their steady haunts. The finest saloon on the Bowery is Charlie Eisenman's. In the summer it is completely deserted, and strangers wonder how it is that the landlord can afford to keep such a place going with its six pool tables, four billiard tables and a large bowling alley, while up-stairs there are a couple of rooms for a friendly game of shorts. As soon as performers, butchers, drivers, canvasmen, or employes of any description reach New York the first call is made on Eisenman. The high-toned performer, or wealthy ticket seller, opens wine and sets 'em up to the crowd, and I have known one man to have blown in $200 in a single night. As the weeks roll on the majority of the men become hard up, but they are welcome just the same. There are seats around the stoye, and many a tale is told in times gone by. Occasionally a "flush" performer will come in and treat the crowd, and then again the various circus managers all ocognize the ace as being the headquarters of the "biz."

When they are organizing for the fol-towing season they know exactly who they can pick up there, and their en-trance is a signal for a general uprising; but undoubtedly the principal reason of Eisenman's popularity lies in the fact that at the tail of the season, when the purses of all these I am speaking of become hopelessly depleted, the little Dutchman comes to the front and not only "stakes" them with money to buy rubber coats, etc., frequently pays their railway fare to the place from where their show will start I have known no less than seventy-eight men treated in this way, and, to their of one, returned the money out of the first month's pay.

A party of Australian savages have been attracting the attention of several of the learned societies of Europe, and M. Topinard presented three of them—man, woman and child—to the Societe d'Anthropologie. It was found that they could count only to the number three; for four they said "many," and for five "a hand." But the man showed mental capacity, for he spoke in both English and German. M. Daily took advantage of this fact to make a delicate inquiry concerning canibalism, and was in-formed that he had often eaten human flesh and enjoyed it.

A storehouse belonging to the Mohave Indians, situated on the banks of the Col-orado river opposite Fort Mohave, A. T., fell in a few days ago, killing one Indian and severly wounding two others. The accident was caused by piling several tons of mesquite beans and corn on the roof. The Indian who was killed was immediately placed on a couple of cords of wood and burned to ashes, after which the Indians proceeded to burn everything belonging to him and to kill his horses and have a big feast.

At the New Year's reception of Arch-bishop Gibbons, in Baltimore, the callers were shown quite a curiosity. On a cen-ter-table were two large folio volumes, bound in vellum, of the works of Saint Thomas Aquinas, presented to Arch-bishop Gibbons by Pope Leo XIII. upon his last visit to Rome. The works will be comprised in tifteen volumes of the same size, and are from the press of the college of the Propaganda. The coat-of-arms of the Papal See and portraits of Leo XIII. and St. Thomas embellish the two volumes.

And Pluctuating Widely, May Wheat Sells as High as 88c.

NERVE PUT INTO THE MARKET.

Next to Nothing Doing In Minor Grains-No Cause for Complaint In Provision Trading-Live Stock and General.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 .- [Special Telegram] --WHEAT-Wheat opened soggy this morning. May sold down from 87c to 86%c, with rather light trading on the decline. The temper of the crowd was bearish and the scalpers went in with the determination to push prices toward a lower level. Softer weather and an absence of outside buying orders were material aids to the raiders. The market ong lifelessly about 86%@86%e for quite a while, but the advance in consols, feeble galvanization of the war talk corpse, energetic buying by Hutchinson, Hancock, and brokers supposed to be acting for the Ream party, and news that 80,000 bushels had been taken in New York for export, put nerve into the market, and an advance to 87c was the result. In a few minutes it broke Mc, but later prices elimbed to 875c, with good trading all the way up. The market continued to pick up fractions until 85c for May was reached. The bears loudly declared the professionals who have been working the long side of the deal from 8214c up were feeling for a hard spot to sell on, while the opposition pointed to stronger cables and seemingly steady improvement in export inquiry for both flour and wheat at the seaboard as the best possible proof that the advance was legitimate. Some of the more conservative bulls shook their heads, and said the advance was too rapid to be healthy. The last half hour witnessed a softening in the market, and concluding trades in May on the morning session were on a basis of 87%c.
Minor Grains-Next to nothing was done in corn and several times during the forenoon the pit was completely deserted. Fluctuations were within \(\)c limits. The closing was rather weak. Oats were quiet and unchanged.

Provisions-Provisions were moderately active in a speculative way. Transactions were less in volume than during the periods of the recent excitement, but on the whole neither brokers or packers are having special grounds for complaint. In pork, prices ranged within 1234e bounds; in lard 234e was the range. The close was 5c above the opening in pork and practically unchanged is to the other products.

AFTERNOON BOARD-The markets were rather easier on the late board and provi-sions were quiet and firm. Wheat sold down 4@He. Corn went off a trifle but recovered.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 .- [Special Telegram.]-CATTLE-The supply to-day did not include a car load of strictly prime beeves. The market was quiet, though salesmen asked higher prices and values were stronger, in many cases being 5@10c higher. Some grades were very hard to sell. Plain, half fat 1050 to 1250 Ib steers were neglected, and one or two salesmen declared that these were selling quite as poorly as at any time this year. Among the offerings were many cattle that were considered good by their owners, but they nearly all lacked fat or quality, or both. Shipping steers, 1350 to 1500 lbs., $5.00@5.75; 1200 to 1350 lbs., $4,00@4.90; 950 to 1200 lbs.,

$0.50@4.40. Hogs-Demand fair and prices a shade stronger on prime to choice heavy, the same selling at $4.15@4.20. Packing sorts sold at $3,90@$4.10. There was an active demand for light sorts, and they were well sold out. Packing and shipping, 250 to 450 lbs., $3.80@
