The New York legislature has under consideration a bill to establish an "Arbor day" on March 23. The Nebraska idea keeps marching on.

SENATOR MITCHELL, of Oregon, has introduced a resolution which would prohibit absolutely their immigration into this country.

It appears that the French treaty with China, concluded last June, and ratified in November, contains the clause: "When China shall have decided to construct railways it is understood that she will apply to France industry."

It is decidedly cool and refreshing to hear Paddy Ryan talk about his ultimatum. He will never know what an ultimatum is until the cultured Boston professor comes to the Chicago concert out of town.

SOME steps ought to be taken by the common to surround the pawnbroking business with stricter regulations.

A large number of the pawnbroker shops in Omaha are notoriously the fences for thieves, burglars and highwaymen.

The St. Louis Republican republishes a resume of the charges made against General Howard in the minor report of Fernando Wood's committee.

Among the colonels who are suggested for one of the coming vacancies in the ranks of the brigadiers is Col. Carlin of the Fourth infantry, stationed at Fort Omaha.

Inspector general for writing a second uniform on dress parade, but aside from this flagrant offense, which civilians will not be inclined to judge too harshly, his record is unsullied.

The bills creating two additional land districts in Nebraska are well on their way towards passage.

The refusal of the grand jury to play into the hands of a faction of the democratic party in this city by indicting Marshal Cummings will meet with general approbation in Omaha.

Failing to overcome the obstruction by parliamentary battle and legal restriction, Bismarck has now determined to wipe out Prussian Poland from the map of Europe.

The proposition to relet the bids for county grading because a "non resident" secured the contract for removing 100,000 yards of dirt over an ex-county commissioner, looks a little suspicious on its face.

Garland intimates that he doesn't know what to do with his $1,000,000 Pan Electric stock.

Wooden Pavements.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of many of our property owners in the new districts to select wood block for the material for paving the streets on which their lots abut.

The question of the selection of material is left entirely to the judgment of property owners. The mistake, if made, is largely their own.

The experience of every city in this country and on the continent where the ordinary wood block pavement has been given a continuous trial is against its use.

To Omaha to Investigate Conditions of Proposals for Grading on which they bid, and then to throw out the lowest bid on the ground that it is made by a non-resident is decidedly thin.

The constant shout of the Herald that Gardner must go, may lead some people into the belief that the Herald takes Gardner to be a Chinaman.

As a scamp-taker the untamed savage of the Herald is not a success.

P. S.—Dr. Miller should have burned those letters.

The English define a mugwump as a man who neglects his political duties.

The Boston Herald thinks the next republican national convention will be guided by a desire to please the mugwumps.

It is suggested that the silence of the republican senators on the silver question is for the purpose of getting the democrats to fighting each other.

A Philadelphia mugwump editor exclaims, "what is the use of talking about the people wanting honesty and ability in office?"

STATE AND TERRITORY.

Nebraska Jottings. Wakefield's charity ball netted $24. Mumps are in full bloom at Juniata. Fremont has the cannery factory fever bad.

Elkhorn had a slight touch of hydrophobia last week. Papillion has a mild dose of the cannery factory craze.

The new M. E. church at York cost $18,000 and is free from debt. Blair and Humboldt are wrestling with cannery factory propositions.

Central City indulged in a Dishner snooze for ninety hours last week. Davenport county is now including in its first experience with the trial.

The bridge over the river at Republican City went out with the ice last week. The right of way for the Ashland cut-off of the B. & M. has been secured through Sarpy county.

A tidal wave of temperance threatens to sweep Nebraska City. Nearly 2,000 tipplers have signed the pledge.

The contract for building a $90,000 court house at York will be let and work commenced as soon as the weather will permit.

Harry W. Clair, of the North Bend market, was arrested at York last week, and is now in the hands of the law.

The Emmet society of O'Neill has just received two beautiful flags, an American and an Irish one, the latter costing $150, and is the finest in Nebraska.

Miss Cora Anderson of York, who was thought to be dead, is now well and is expected to return to her home in York.

Hon. A. V. Harris, county commissioner of Davenport county, was accidentally shot Tuesday evening.

Competition is so great in Rising City that the price of marriages has been reduced to twenty-five cents, with erasles thrown in. Now is the time to hook on.

C. J. Meacham, of the Cambridge Democrat, had the mournful duty last week to write the obituary notice of his son, a promising young man of nearly 24 years.

James N. Grimes, the firebrand of his uncle, charged with firing the B. & M. bridge at Republican City, was bound over to the district court in the sum of $1,000.

Cedar Rapids is confident that a creamery would be a public blessing to the surrounding community, and holds out a cash bonus as an inducement to capitalists to invest.

Aaron Smith, of Spring Bank, Dixon county, was compelled to kill two hogs and a cow recently which had been bitten by a mad dog. The creatures became foaming mad.

The Beattie city treasury will have $80,000 laid out in improvements the coming fiscal year, and square men are wanted to run for the council and see that the money is put to good use.

Mal Goldsberry, a prominent tiger buck of Hastings, having dropped his last chip in the hole, suddenly shook the town and a raft of money lenders. His borrowed trifles netted him $300 and over, his mother being the chief victim.

A man named Wilhelm Reimers, from Berlin, was arrested at Columbus for mortgaging his wife's property without her consent. He was released, however, on a writ of habeas corpus. It is reported he was to meet a fair damsel from Blywood and join her in an eloping episode.

Dee Saling, the Papillion tough who attempted to do up the Ireland family early last week, has skipped the country for a cooler climate. A reward of $50 is offered for his capture. The school which his sister has taught is idle, all due to chewing gum.

A Red Cloud diving wore his son's watch and chain to a ministerial association. He could not understand the extra amount of attention lavished upon him by a crowd of tobacco chewing, red-headed and queer watch charm who scrope the floors and add the gleennings to the cauldron's contents? Probably not, but they have spoiled the product of this charming business upon the occasion of retaining the public health. "Did you see it made, gentlemen? Did you ever see the fat and grease, entrails and all internal refuse of the slaughtered cow and pig, and the cauldron as big as an ordinary bed chamber, and the cauldron see the grimy fiends standing in jack boots on a floor slippery with blood and horrible oil, stirring the unsightly scum of the cauldron? As a sequel, a young man named Frank Nolan will become a resident of Dakota and the young lady will not reach school next summer.

ODDS AND ENDS. Stray Leaves Gathered from the Editors' Note-Books.

The Knights of Labor are about to boycott butter, so they say. Butter, otherwise oleomargarine, is the dairy product of the slaughter house, and an ornament of the great American dining table. Did the Knights of Labor ever consider the enormity of assailing so great an institution? Did they ever contemplatively regard the sacrifice of raising hand against a feature so typically national? Did they ever consider the anguish of heart, the bitter remonstrances and the sore privations which would attend a suppression from the markets of this great staple? Butter is the most nutritious and sustaining the public health. "Did you see it made, gentlemen?
