RED CLOUD AND HIS AGENT.

Affairs at Pine Ridge Agency—A Dramatic Situation—The Two Parties.

Results of Dr. McGillicuddy's Work—The School System—Indian Police—The White-Indian Problem.

Elaine Goodale, writing to the New York Evening Post, from Pine Ridge Agency says: "I have a dramatic situation at Pine Ridge. A fully developed 'situation'." The first represents the blind chaotic struggle between barbarism and civilization.

There are then at this great agency two fully organized parties—on the one side this remarkable man, all coolness, nerve and executive force.

Dr. McGillicuddy, with his superior force, organization, and discipline, and with the overwhelming weight of law and order on his side, naturally commands the situation.

The school system is probably more generally efficient here than any other agency in Dakota, and the policy of complete separation of the two races.

The government boarding school at the agency is the largest and most thoroughly equipped on the reservation.

There are now 150 children in school, and it is expected that the number will be increased to 200 more.

The general appearance of the agency is the best that I have seen. It is exquisitely neat. Everything is methodical and ingenious.

SCIENTIFIC TRUTH!

Regarding the Functions of an Important Organ.

Of Which the Public Knows but Little, Worthy Careful Consideration.

To the Editor of the Scientific American: Will you permit us to make known to the public the facts we have learned during the past 8 years, concerning disorders of the human kidneys and the organs which depend on them?

You are conducting a Scientific paper, and are unprejudiced except in favor of TRUTH. It is needless to say, no medical journal of wide standing would admit these facts, for every obvious reason.

That we may emphasize and clearly explain the relation the kidneys sustain to the general health, and how much is dependent upon them, we propose, metaphorically speaking, to take one from the human body, place in the wash-bowl before us, and examine it for the public benefit.

You will imagine that we have before us a body shaped like a bean, smooth and glistening, about four inches in length, and weighing in the adult male, ordinarily weighs in the adult male, about five ounces, but is somewhat lighter in the female.

We find it to be of a reddish-brown color, soft and easily torn; filled with hundreds of little tubes, short and thread-like, starting from the arteries, ending in a delicate web of fine vessels, which are opening into a cavity of considerable size, which is called the pelvis, or roughly speaking, a sac, which is for the purpose of holding the urine.

Doing the rest amount of work which they are obliged to do, from the slightest irregularity in our habits, from cold, from the use of stimulants, from a thousand and one other causes which occur every day, they become somewhat weakened in their nerve force.

What is the result? Congestion or stoppage of the blood in the small blood vessels surrounding them, which become blocked; these delicate membranes are irritated; inflammation is set up, then pus is formed, which collects in the pelvis, and is discharged, either partially, and soon are totally, unable to do their work.

Now, what is the result? Why, that the blood takes up and deposits this poison, as it sweeps along, into every organ, into every fiber of muscle, tissue, flesh and bone, until it reaches your feet.

Why? Because the blood, which is the natural stimulus wanting, in its endeavor to get rid of the impurities, through this obstruction, causing pain, palpitation, or an out-of-breath feeling.

But the medical profession, learned and dignified, call these diseases by high-sounding names, treat them with elaborate prescriptions, and charge for their services, and death from apparent "heart disease" is the result!

But this is not all the kidneys have to do for you, and that is, to filter out of the blood every twenty-four hours to supply the waste of the body which is constantly going on, a waste equal to the quantity of food you eat.

But you say, "my kidneys are all right." Have no pain in the back? Mistaken! An analysis of the urine, which you had a character that the organs are rotten, and yet they have never there had a pain nor an ache!

When you, consider your great work, the delicate duty which you are entrusted with which they are deranged, can you wonder at this? The health of our men and women? Health and long life cannot be expected when a vital organ is impaired.

There are a vast number of houses, both old and new, in London and its vicinity ready to tumble down at any moment upon very slight provocation, and whose collapse is attended with the most serious results.

COURTSHIP OF A GALLANT POET—AN AMUSING TRIAL.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: For about a month back every meeting of the police board has been enlivened by an investigation of some club swinging Romeo or Lothario.

Chicago Herald: "Take it away," said the tall, solemn passenger to the train-boy. "Take that book away. I want none of your profits or raw material. That book is an abomination. It is a sacrilege. Its very presence in this car is enough to call upon this train and all of these passengers the vengeance of the Almighty. Take it away, I say."

"What's the matter with you?" inquired the train-boy, with a scowl. "I'd have you know," retorted the passenger, "that I have a right to speak as I do. I am a D. D."

"Oh, is that all?" was the response; "I thought you were a D. F."

"Where is your mother, bub?" "She's in the back kitchen shingling sister Annie's hair."

"Where is your father?" "Where is your father?" "Where is your father?" "Where is your father?"
