LITERARY NOTES.

In the frontispiece of the March Century there is a reminder that Spain has been astonishingly quiet since the death of the young king. "Emilio Castelar, the Orator,"-whose striking personality is revealed in the portrait, and described in William Jackson Armstrong's paper with the above title, and in a crisp article of "Reminiscences" by Alvey A. Adee, of the state department, Washington,-has been a figure in every political agitation since the abdication of Isabella II., the mother of the late king. These articles define the brilliant talents which have made Castelar the pride of his people, and his limitations as a popular leader. In the opening paper, "Italy from a Tricycle," Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pennell begin a novel pen and pictorial account of a trip from Florence to Rome. Ex.Minister Benjamin writes of "Mountaineering in Persia." Like his other papers, this article is richly illustrated. Mrs. Schuyler Van Rennsselaer consistent of the control of the contr tributes a second paper on "City Dwellings." The fifth part of Mrs. Mary Hallock Foote's story of mining life is a dramatic approach to the trial scene which is begun, and with which "John Bodewick Testimony." Will only in the Bodewin's Testimony" will end, in the April number. Mr. Stockton's amusing novelette, "A Borrowed Month," con-cludes with a transfer of the scene from witzerland to Albany. Mrs. Margaretta Wetherell Kernan contributes the short story of the number, "John Toner's Experiment.' This month's war article is by General Don Carlos Buell, who, in "Shiloh Reviewed," assails General

Grant's paper of a year ago, and also takes issue with General Sherman. The March St. Nicholas opens with Mrs. Clement's "Art and Artists" paper on "French Painters." Mrs. Burnet's serial, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," follows with a most delicately humorous account of the young American nobleman's first interview with his aristocratic grandather. One of the principal features of the number is the first nine of the "St. Nicholas Dog Stories." Henry Eckford's "Wonders of the Alphabet" will be a revelation to many readers of the mag-azine, who have probably never imagined that so many interesting and curious things could be said about those very elementary a, b, c's. "George Washington," Horace E. Scudder's bio-graphical serial, is as entertaining as fiction. Frank R. Stockton "Personally Conducts" his stay-at-home travelers to Florence and Venice. Of the short stories the most notable are "Quaker Esther's Ride," an exciting horse story by E. Vinton Blake, and "The Great Snow-ball Fight," by Charles Barnard. "The Brownies' Circus" leads the poetry in popular interest, and Alfred Brennan exlibits some curiosities of drawing in his clever "Minute Sketches." "A Crimson Stain," by Annie Bradshaw (Cassell & Co.) is an exciting story of Spanish vengeance, hatred and malice. Most of the action takes place on English soil. The heroes are the two sons of the Spanish hangman. Their mother flies with them to England in order that they may escape the succession to the sangumary calling of executioner, which, in Spain, is hereditary. A beautiful young woman of good principles, but shady circum-stances, is the heroine, and through her decoy the hangman's sons into Spain. There are many exciting scenes in the book, which closes with an account of the plague at Venice and the death of the hangman's younger son, who has sacri-ficed his life to discover the nature of the dread disease and has thereby wiped out the "Crimson Stain." C. W. Dyer, No. 45 Fulton Market New York, a gentleman of seventy-two Pills for upward of thirty years. He says they have cured him of inflammatory rheumatism three times when physician's prescriptions were in vain. He took one or two pills every night for a

This result is accomplished by a special method of steaming the timber and subnitting it to end pressure, technically upsetting it." By this means the cells and tibres are compressed into one compact mass; and it is the opinion of those who have experimented with the process that wood can be compressed to the extent of 75 per cent, and that some of the timber now considered unfit for use in such work as carriage building, for instance, can be made valuable by this means as a substitute for ash, hickory. means as a substitute for ash, hickory,

SATURDAY'S MARKET FIGURES

CHICAGO, Feb. 27,-[Special Telegram.]-

The wheat market to-day was notable once more for its dullness only. The highest

A Half Cent Range Governs Wheat Trading

Throughout the Session. GRABBING AT EIGHTHS ALL DAY.

Corn Sympathizes With the Leading Cereal, and Shows No Life-Provisions Just About Active at a Small Range in Price.

and lowest sales were at figures not half a cent apart, and although puts and calls last night were freely sold within %c of the market the purchaser of either would to-day have been unable at any time to get back a cent of his money. Some reports of snow, followed by rain, were received from Missouri river points, but they seemed to attract little attention, certainly to excite no apprehensions on either side. There was no reported change in foreign markets, and the seaboard was steady, but there was no export, and this latter fact offset the others. Business was confined almost exclusively to room traders, and the scalpers were grabbing eighths all day with an avidity which showed their tears to wait for anything more would be impolitic. The outlook for next week is one dependent upon the weather and the movements of the exporters. Without a radical change in the former or some large purchases by the latter, it is probable that a lower range of values will follow, but with a good cold snap, without snow, which would give the crop killers a chance to get in their work, or with some such strong buying for export as marked the early part of the week, we might have a bulge of 3 or 4c without much trouble. Keep your eve on the "indications." Puts and calls sold 36c from the market, the closing price on

May being 841/284%c. - Estimated receipts for Monday, 50 cars. Conn-Corn was nearly stagnant, the range of prices being only 1/3c. May closed at 40%/@40%c. It seems disinctined to go below the 40c mark, though last week it hung just above 41c for a long time, and then broke sharply. It may be preparing to do the same thing now, though the trade profess it is cheap enough at these figures. Ten loads were bought for export to-day, and 78,000 bushels cleared from the seaboard. Estimated receipts for Monday, 420 cars. Provisions-Provisions were rather active, pork showing an unsettled tendency and moving easily up or down under moderate pressure. The Plankinton party are thought to be buying again, and this suspicion checks the inclination of the bears to renew their late raid upon the market. Ribs and lard closed raggedly at about unchanged figures. Pork was fractionally higher, but top prices were not maintained, May fluctuating from $10.771/4 to $10.95, and closing at $10.871/4. The receipts of hogs for the week exceeded the estimate about 30 per cent, but next week's arrivals, it is thought, will not be over 90,000. The quality is generally poor. Estimate for Monday, 20,000.

Total sales were less than any one preceding day in the past five months, and amounted to only 189,893 shares. The market was steady at the opening, and during the forenoen remained firm, reaching the highest quotations of the day generally a little before noon. During the afternoon there was a noon. During the afternoon there was a downward tendency, prices touching the low-est point of the day after 2 o'clock. In final dealings there was a small raily. With very few exceptions extreme fluctuations were within a range of 1 per cent, and frequently less than \(\frac{1}{2} \). Note—All sales of stock in this market are made per cwt, live weight unless otherwise stated. Dead hogs sell at 1c per lb, for all weights, "Skins," or hogs weighing less than 100 lbs, no value. Pregnant sows are docked 40 lbs and stags 80 lbs.

The past week has not been remarkable for ny special developments in trade. Business has been very satisfactory in most lines. The spring trade is opening up in good shape and jobbers are generally sanguine of good times to come. The produce markets are somewhat received in great abundance and the market has steadily declined. At present the demand is not equal to the supply and the surplus stock is being shipped to eastern markets. The butter market tinues dull, there being or no demand for dairy butter. Choice table butter has sold in a small way, but other goods can only be disposed of to the packers. Prices paid for butter are exceedingly low and hardly pay for the handling. The consumption of butterine is largely on the increase and is rapidly taking the place of the genuine butter. The poultry market has continued steady throughout the week, there being little or no change in prices. The amount of stock handled has been light. Game is not coming in to any extent, and Game is not coming in to any extent, and the demand is light. The movement of pota-toes has not begun as yet, and prices are not well established. Apples are moving more freely.

well established. Apples are moving more freely.

In the live stock market there is the most noticeable change. While the cattle market has continued comparatively steady, the hog market has gone all to pieces. Prices reached the maximum for the month on the 22d, when choice heavy hogs sold at $4.15. From that date the tendency was downward, $4.00 being the top on Thursday of the past week and $3.9234 at the close of the week. While the decline is heavy it is no more so than in other marat the close of the week. While the decline is heavy it is no more so than in other markets. The Chicago market has had the same experience, and the decline there has been fully as sharp as here. The market here is still higher in comparison than eastern markets, and will bear a still further decline lefore it will have reached its proper level. What the coming week will tring forth is difficult to predet in view of the present uncertain condition of the market. certain condition of the market,

The produce markets were slightly more active to-day by reason of the Saturday moraing demand. Eggs went off another cent and
