The silence of the president in regard to Nebraska appointments is so thick that it might be cut with a knife.

There seems to be a lull in the attacks on Attorney General Garland. The Bell telephone managers have pulled in their horns or else the funds for the relief of their subsidized organs have given out.

SENATOR JONES still lingers in Detroit and persists in offering his heart and hand to the two millionaires, Miss Palma, which leads the Boston Record to remark that Senator Jones has gone into committee of the whole on the state of the union.

GENERAL TERRY is booked for the Division of the Atlantic if reports are true, and those who claim to know insist that General Gibbon will step into John Pope's shoes on the 16th inst.

They have a woman at the Paris circus who jumps from one horse to another while the horses are going around the ring in opposite directions.

SENATOR RIDDERBERGER ought to be suppressed promptly. He has dared to jest at Senator Edmunds, and has ventured to charge that some of the senator's private secretaries are "lobbists and blackmailers."

MR. SOREN LISTOE writes to the St. Paul Pioneer Press from Copenhagen to correct a recently published story to the effect that Minister Anderson on his first presentation to the queen of Denmark was guilty of several blunders in the matter of etiquette.

SENATOR PLUMB has introduced an amendment to the Cullum railroad bill, providing that passes shall neither be issued nor accepted by persons in the service of the government under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

A DISPATCH from Washington announces that the fear of impending labor troubles is giving a black eye to building operations. The rumor that there will be a general strike on May 1st for eight hours as a day's work with a consequent advance of 30 per cent as a day's pay is forcing contractors to advance all bids on projected improvements.

Why Rainfall Increases.

The New York Times quotes the Bee's statement as to the retreat of the desert westward, and queries why rainfall is increasing in the section once given over to grazing and considered unfit for cultivation.

The plans of Secretary Whitney for the new navy are embodied in the bill now before the committee of naval affairs.

There has been a sharp advance in cotton prices. The rise is not supported by any material change in the statistical position nor in the condition of consumptive demand.

A stronger feeling has characterized the grain markets. The strength is due to the moderate improvement recently noted in the foreign demand.

At least a large part of the $70,000,000 acres of the public domain has been squandered by the sworn servants of the people.

People are not to be blamed if in this howling waste of mud they cry out "Poor old Kansas City," who, in a state of sleep, was warbling in a manner exactly resembling the sweet tones of a small violin.

A visit to Omaha last week convinces the writer that our metropolis is already a great city, and that it is destined to be the greatest west of Chicago.

Plattsmouth was Entitled to the Office.

M. E. Hayward, of Nebraska City, has been appointed by Governor Dawes, as judge of the second judicial district, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Mitchell.

In no city of the country have women found more difficulty in entering the medical profession than in Philadelphia, yet there are in that city eight women physicians who have an annual practice of about $30,000 each.

The recent sensational accounts of the discovery of gold in the mountains of Missouri bottoms at Omaha and in the bluffs near David City would seem to indicate, not that untold wealth is hidden beneath our soil, but that the fools are not all dead yet.

It is no doubt a profitable business to "sell" claims and create a boom to catch suckers in mining territory, but it won't work in this state.

GULLED BY A PIOUS DARBY.

Many Glasgow Ladies in Love With D. Victor Adolphus Nero.

Letters From 100 Girls Found in the Missouri Negro's Pettit Maison—Engaged to Marry Three At Once.

New York Sun: Early in February a cable dispatch to the Sun announced that the staid burgh of Glasgow, Scotland, had been engrossed for a week by the escapades of David Nero, an American negro preacher and adventurer.

Nero's full name is David Victor Adolphus Nero. The cards which he carried with him when he sailed for Glasgow bore the legend:

Rev. David Victor Adolphus Nero, of New York, N. Y., now of Missouri, Presbytery.

He was unusually neat in his dress, and had the bearing and manners of a gentleman, and for the first year he made great success as a teacher.

But Kansas City was too much of a temptation for him to resist, and he landed at Glasgow. He announced that he was a preacher, and the principal of Summer college, and a student of law.

The appearance of the man, his evident culture, and his earnestness opened the way for him at once, and enlisted the enlisted the sympathies of clergy and laity.

Finally the crash came. A West End minister became aroused to the necessity of looking up the antecedents of the man who was asking for church membership.

Dear Sir: Your letter of date Jan. 18, has just reached me. In reply, I have to say that I have no objection to your marrying Miss Adolphus Nero, as she is known, or has never been known, to the Presbytery of Missouri.

Nero's clerk had set. He would have hastened away to his dusky and faithful wife in Kansas City, but the unfeeling bobbies came down upon him and ran him in. A room of sweet-scented paper, hundreds of dainty misses that breathed the loyals of Glasgow maids and matrons, and three pairs of "summer hats" trowsers were about all that the bobbies captured.

first. During his sojourn in England Nero had traveled on a leave of absence from his colored school in Kansas City, but when he brought the pretty white mistress home with him at the time he made his flying visit last fall a scandal arose, and Nero quickly dusted.
