To-morrow evening the Ancient Order of Hibernians give their grand ball in Masonic hall. With good music, and other arrangements for a good time, the ball promises to be a great success.

A BEE man yesterday asked a gentle-mad interested in the new hotel scheme if there was any news in regard to the same. The reply came "We expect some in a few days. We are awaiting a reply by mail."

Yesterday the most sensational item of news was the fact that there was no jail break from the city calaboose. This is the first time in a week when prisoners have not managed to dig out. The mystery is explained by the fact that there were no prisoners to dig out.

Yesterday the arguments were being made in the superior court in the case of Contractor Vincent against the city, the plaintiff attempting to force the city to lay out the route of the new sewer ditch, he claimed to have the contract for doing

The local branch of the Knights of Labor held a prolonged meeting on Saturday evening in their hall on Pearl street, and rumor has it that it was called to inquire into the alleged defalcation of one of their officers. Another meeting is to be held to morrow evening. It is now stated the shortage is not as large as was at first thought.

The funeral of Mr. Scott, one of the most prominent citizens of Missouri Valley, was held there Sunday, and was very largely attended. He was ill but a short time and died quite suddenly, heart disease being the cause. He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters. He owned a large farm in Taylor township and considerable property in Missouri Valley.

Henry Toller called at the BEE office yesterday to correct the statement made in this paper a week ago in regard to the fight between the Eagan brothers and Tom Brown. He says the fight was not in the store nor were the Egan brothers there at all, the fight being between Jim Collins and Tom Brown on Tenth avenue, as he is informed by his clerk who was in charge, Mr. Toller at the time being in another part of the city.

Those who desire to attend the musical institute to open in this city Thursday evening, should procure their tickets at once. They are on sale at Harkness Bros., W. S. Homer's and J. W. and E. L. Squire's. Prof. Towne is expected to armorrow, and the opportunity presented by his presence should be im-proved by all who desire to learn how to read music, as well as those who desire further voice culture. He has such a wide reputation in musical circles that his name alone should cause the institute to be very largely attended.

Geise is still confined to his home by illness, and his recovery seems very slow. F. L. Davis, of Missouri Valley, was in the city yesterday en route for Des Momes

An Artistic Advertisement. Yesterday an artist of the brush was decorating the front of H. P. Niles' store, No. 110 Main street, in a manner so pleasing and artistic as to attract the attention of all passers-by, and serve as an attractive advertisement for a long time to come. In the center is a large and beautiful landscape, a scene in the Rocky nountains, while on each side of this is fancy lettering announcing the fact that Mr. Niles is handling the Kaw Valley paints. These mixed paints are becoming very much in demand throughout the country, and maintain their popularity by merit, they being guaranteed equal to the best, and in many respects superior. Mr. J. S. Standeford, of this city, is on the road nearly all the time in the interests of the Kaw Valley Paint and Oil company, whose headquarters are in Oil company, whose headquarters are in Kansas City, and the name and merits of these paints are becoming everywhere familiar.

Money to loan by Forrest Smith.

Turning Over the Cash. Yesterday afternoon the retiring city reasurer, Mr. Clausen, turned over to his successor, F. W. Spetman, the balance in the treasury, amounting to $21,-079.40. Mr. Clausen has served as city treasurer for four years, and his books and accounts have been accurately and honestly kept, the balances showing up to a cent. The city's money now comes into equal careful and nonest hands, and the duties of the office will doubtless be performed in an equally satisfactory manner. The ordinance under which Ar. Spetman qualities only calls for $20,000 bonds, but he has filed $10,000 bonds, and an ordinance will be soon put into effect making this amount the rebonds required is a safe precedent, al-though in the case of Mr. Spetman, as in that of his predecessors, the people's money would be safe if no such bonds were required. The city is to be congratulated on securing such men to handle

Railroad Notes. The railroad war, so far as the cutting of passenger rates from Council Bluffs to Chicago are concerned, came to an end for the present, yesterday. While it lasted it was both very "short and sweet." The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific road having reduced the rates from St. Paul to Chicago, (Albert Lea route) the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul concluded to cut from this city to Chicago, and accordingly the fight began on Saturday last. The Chicago & Northwestern followed the Milwaukee & St. Paul road and release the Milwaukee & St. Paul road and also cut, leaving the Rock Island and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy the only routes that stuck to the old rates from this city direct to Chicago. On Saturday direct to Chicago. On Saturday evening the Rock Island passenger train east carried out passengers who had bought Milwaukee and Northwestern tickets at cut rates, the Rock Island being the only road in the late pool that left that evening. that left that evening. Few tickets were sold Sunday, but the rates of Saturday continued. Yesterday, after having learned of the restoration of rates between St. Paul and Chicago, the Milwaukee and Northwestern both ordered the old rates restored. Before their order was received, however, the Rock Island, who leases the Union ticket office in this city, notified both the Northwestern and Milwaukee roads to remove out of their

Lake, he did not put in an appearance here yesterday.

The ticket office, No. 507 Broadway was yesterday being "checked up" by Mr. McMillan, who represented the Union Pacific road, Mr. Button, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Mr. Marshall, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads, previous to turning over the tickets to Mr. A. T. Elwell, the new ticket agent. The Chicago & North-western representative will check up to-

Rev. Mr. Fisk of this city recently had a decision found in his favor, which gives him about $10,000 for services as district attorney in New Orleans. He is an attorney as well as a preacher, and about twenty years ago was the district attorney for New Orleans, but not being able to get the fees which he claimed, he commenced a suit which has been in the courts since. He got a judgment in his favor, but the question ever which the prolonged fight has been is whether the authorities shall be compelled to levy a tax to meet the judgment. The lower state court decided that such an order should be issued, but an appeal was taken to the supreme court of Louisiana, and that court reversed this decision. M. Fisk then appealed to the supreme court of the United States, and after a dreary waiting and prolonged contest that court has decided in his favor, and sent back the case to the supreme court of Louisiana with instructions to issue an order in accordance with this ruling. an order in accordance with this ruling. The old gentleman has not seen a dollar of the money yet, although the decision was reached ten months ago. It is said that the Lo_isiana court is hesitating as to whether the ruling of the United States court should be considered authoritative or not. There the matter rests under advisement, but there seems little doubt that ere long the cash it self must be forthcoming.

Robert Percival's Will. The last will and testament of the late Robert Percival was placed on file yesterday. It provides for the immediate payment of all debts, and for settlement with those for whom he has acted as guardian. His property, which is quite extensive, is divided among his relatives. To his sister, Elizabeth Percival, widow of his late brother, Joseph Percival, of Chatham, New Brunswick, Canada, $500 is to be paid. To his niece, Josephine Burchill, of Nelson, New Brunswick, is given all of his lands in the county of Northumberland and province of New Branswick, and especially that tract in the parish of Chatham now in the pos-session of Mrs. Elizabeth Percival, to whom he has given a life lease, which lease shall remain intact. The rest of his property, real and personal, is to be divided equally between his brother. John Percival of Webster's Grove, St. Louis county, Mo. his niece, Mrs. Alice Sterling of Mangerville. New Brunswick; his niece, Josephine Burchill of Nelson, New Brunswick, and his niece, Alice L. Percival of Tabor, Iowa. J. P. Casady and A. W. Street are named as administrators, and without bonds. As a personal remembrance of these two friends he wills to Mr. Street the furnishings of his private room and his gold watch, while to Mr. Casady he leaves his office desk and chair and his gold headed cane.

A KENTUCKY CHARACTER.

Anecdotes of an Old Brigadier Congressman. Correspondence of the Minneapolis Tribune: One of the characters in the house is Gen. Wolford, of Kentucky, While he is at home he wears an old flannel shirt and pants strapped about his waist. When he came here he found that he had to change his costume and put on a "biled" shirt and black clothes. At first he was averse to this, but some friends bought him a black suit. He has worn it ever since and this is his second worn it ever since, and this is his second term. But he would not dare go home dressed as he is now, for his constituents would think he had become effeminate. Several good stories are told of his first campaign, when he took the stump against Gen. Fry. His speech on the Fitz John Porter case last week revives Fitz John Porter case last week revives them. When he was first nominated by the democrats for congress, Gen. Fry asked him to unite with him and make several speeches together. Wolford accepted the invitation. The first meeting was enough for Gen. Fry. Gen. Wolford commanded the First Kentucky cavalry in the Union army, and the regiment was know as the "critterbacks." He had several of his men on the platform with him when he made his speech. He opened most brilliantly, but suddenly startled Gen. Fry by asking the assemblage if they knew what the union had done with Gen. Lee after he surrendered at Appomattox? "Why, gentlemen, will you believe it, when he was out walking under an apple tree, near the very house where he surrendered, the very house where he surrendered, they grabbed him. Yes, the men who had granted him a parole, seized him, and, sir, they not only did that, but they hung Gen. Lee to the very apple tree under which he was walking! Hung him dead!" Gen. Fry at first was so surprised he could not speak, but jumping to his feet, he said: "Gen. Wolford, you know that is not so Gen. Lee was know that is not so. Gen. Lee was never hung."

"But sir," exclaimed Gen. Wolford,
"I was there and I know it is so. Wasn't it, John!" and he turned to one of his "critterbacks." The man nodded his head, as did the others who sat near him. Gen. Fry sank back in his chair over-

"This is not all," said Gen. Wolford, turning to the crowd in front of him. "The Union men locked Jeff Davis up in Fortress Monroe and one beautiful moon-light night when the tide was low, they took him out and tied him to a stake on the beach. The sea came in and grad-ually the waves swept over him and he was drowned, and they stood and heard his cries."

This was too much for Gen. Again he protested and said that Jeff Davis was alive still, but the "critterbacks" indorsed Gen. Wolford, and seeing that his opponent intended to keep the thing up, Gen. Fry withdaw and Gen. Wolford was elected by a rousing majority.

Another story is told of Gen. Wolford when he was trying a case in his native town in Adair county, Kentucky. His client had been charged with poisoning some one. The chemist for the state had testified to finding arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, and then Gen. Wolford took the witness in hand "The you find any flies" wings in the "Do you find any flies' wings in the stomach?" asked the general. "No, sir, for I did not look for any. I found arsenic," answered the chemist.

"Could you swear that there were no flies' wing in the stomach?" he asked.
"No, sir, because I did not look for "How did you know they were not

"I don't say they were not." "That's funny: you say you found arsenic but no fly wings. Yet you are not certain as to their not being there," said Gen. Wolford. The witness in vain tried to explain, the lawyer had twisted the witness up, and so he addressed the jury. "Gentlemen, I demand the ac-quittal of my client. This chemist says he found arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, but no fly wings. Yet every-body knows that when any one swallows one or two flies they turn to arsenic in the stomach, yet no fly wings were found: therefore I doubt if there was any arsenic there either." The man was

A Prize in the Lottery of life which is usually unappreciated until it is lost, perhaps never to return, is health. What a priceless boon it is, and how we ought to cherish it, that life may not be a worthless blank to us. The proportion of blond is is largest in the north, especially in Oldenburg, rarest in Bavaria and Alsace, Of German Jews one in ten is a true blands.
