"God's free air," tree to breathe, but not free to pollute to the discomfort of others, nor to their shame. Certainly a tobacco soaked man of God is a parodox and an anomaly. There is, too, but a shade of difference between a whisky soaked Christian and a tobacco soaked Christian who is supposed to be a new creature, the temple or dwelling place of The Holy Spirit. We learn from you in the pulpit that this habitation we are under collication to preserve pure.

self from this your most noticeable frailty, you know without my suggesting it what is your duty.
 If I stand alone in uttering this expression I am content to so stand even if I stand condemned by conventionalities and censured by church discipline. I regret the fact if I offend you in the least or the hearts of those under your charge, who esteem you in your pastoral relations to them, or, in whose hearts the fund of charity is so great toward you as to bear with you in all things. It pains me to know that some will take offense at this, but the evil of tobacco in our churches of to-day needs a protest so strong indeed as to lead the entire church of Christ to totally excommunicate it from its membership. D
 Under any circumstances I can conceive of, I am liable to continue my Sabbath worship where I have been accustomed to, but can no longer be understood now, as giving my tacit consent to, or even a negative endorsement of, this to my mind, heinous inconsistency. I am nevertheless, fraternally yours, SEAMAN, Yesterday the following was issued for publication as a result of Mr. Seaman's letter:

Sometimes caused from one thing, some times from another; but it is invariably the case when he puts on his clothing, and finds after he has exerted himself and paid an exorbitant price in order to not feel embarassed when he puts them on, is one thing that will cause man to forget where he lives, for the benefit of such gentlemen who have so often been disappointed in having their full gratification. SEAMAN'S "MILD PROTEST."

The Circular Which He Addressed to Rev. J. W. Harris.

The publication in yesterday's BEE of the trouble in the First Baptist church on account of a circular letter issued by W. T. Seaman, and addressed to Rev. J. W. Harris, denouncing smoking, was received with feelings of surprise by the general public. Among the friends of Mr. Harris the feeling was deep, and many were the expressions yesterday of regret at Mr. Seaman's course. While some pronounced it ill-advised, others spoke of it as vindictive, and showing, by the manner in which the letter was distributed, that it was done with malice. The following is the full text of the letter:
