

THE FEUDAL HORDE DOOMED.

British Landlordism Writting in the Throes of Certain Dissolution.

TENANT RIGHTS IN SCOTLAND.

Opposition to Irish Home Rule Confined Principally to the Tory Press—O'Connor Power's Pension—Notes.

[Special Parliamentary Letter to the Bee.]

LONDON, March 26.—Outrunking landlordism seems to be the tendency of the legislation of these days in the British parliament. The old and doomed institution is very strong in the land, and it is doubtful if it will not hold its grip for generations to come.

A CHIEF'S HILL

for the Highlands and Islands of Scotland, which measure, besides granting to the mountain and island cottiers of Scotland the same privileges of tenure as were secured to the Irish tenants, goes further in the alternative direction of aiming at making them the proprietors of their own little holdings.

STAYED OUT

by the other nations of the world where industry has more advanced and industrial development. The falling off on British imports for the months of January and February of this year, as compared with the same months of 1885, amounts to £9,009,000.

AN ILL WIND BLOWING GOOD

to the Irish land, and to more than that. "I was down the other day with my constituents," said an English conservative M. P. to me, "trying to make them see some intelligent sentiment on this home rule question, and I candidly tell you they are utterly apathetic about it."

GLADSTONE'S SCHEME

of home rule for Ireland. It has been whispered to me as a great tip; but I only make use of it in this letter with the reserve with which all these things should be received. He is, I am told, preparing to leave the Irish party the establishment of a single chamber parliament in Dublin, elective of course, but with the restriction of provision for minority representation by some grouping of constituencies or otherwise, which will secure the loyal minority proportional representation in it.

Two Buried Banks.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 25.—The bank of North Minneapolis, closed this morning. It is a private institution. One of the members of the firm went into speculation and sank $24,000 last week, taking the money from the bank, without, it is said, the other partner's knowledge.

Weather For To-Day.

MISSOURI VALLEY.—Local rains or snows; slightly colder in southern portion; winds generally westerly.
