Misused the Power of Attorney. WHISKY'S WORK ON THE BRAIN.

The Board of Trade Building-A Wood Yard for Those Who Need Work-He Thought He Was Rich-Police Miscellany.

A Peculiar Case.

Max Abrahams began a suit in the district court yesterday which presents some rather peculiar features. The facts upon which he bases his claim are substantially as follows: Nearly six years ago he conceived the idea of going to Germany to live. It was his purpose to take his family with him and make that country his permanent home. Before entering upon such an important undertaking, however, he thought it well to visit the fatherland and see what advantages it afforded. He was at the time the owner of considerable real es-tate in Douglas county which had to be managed during his absence. He there-fore gave his wife, Esther Abrahams, a written power of attorney to transact all-business in his name. He had every con-fidence in her ability and judgment and departed from Omaha in the full belief that his pecuniary interests would not be that his pecuniary interests would not be injured by his absence. He was gone several months, but could not see the way clear to settling down in Germany, and consequently gave up the idea of leaving America. When he came back to Nebraska he had forgotten all about the paper which he had signed, giving his wife the power of attorney. Even if it did occur to his mind his confidence in her was so great that the thought of revoking it never occurred to hought of revoking it never occurred to him. Three days ago, however, this confidence was rudely broken. At that time, he claims in his petition, he ascertained that his wife had cruelly taken advantage of the power vested in her by the docu-ment which he had signed six years pre-vious and forgotten, and had disposed of all his property to her son, Henry J. Abrahams, for the consideration of $4,000. He, moreover, alleges that this was not a bona fide sale as no money passed be-tween the parties to it. He has asked her to restore the property to him, but avers that she steadily refuses to do so. There is no adequate remedy for him by the usual process of law, but he asks the court to grant a temporary injunction restraining his son from making any fur-ther disposition of the property until the matter can be thoroughly investigated. He claims that his wife and son have conspired to deprive him of his property and demands justice at the hands of the BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING. Excavation Commenced Yesterday-Details of the Structure.

Excavation was commenced yesterday for the foundations of the new board of trade building on Sixteenth and Farnam streets. The contract of excavating will it is thought, be finished by the latter part of April, so as to permit work on the foundations to be commenced by May 1.

The building will be 66 feet on Farnam street and 132 on Sixteenth. It is to be five stories high, the first story being of stone, the superstructure the finest quality of pressed brick and terra cotta. The of pressed brick and terra cotta. The main entrances on Farnam and Sixteenth to the offices and the board of trade are to be granite arches, flanked by the finest granite columns. Above each is a pediment embellished with an artistic wrought bronze grill. The facades are broken up by projecting features above the main entrances, terminating above the cornice in a pediment of unique design, below which are panels filled with terra cotta garlands.

The interior will be quite roomy At the corner of the streets a third entrance will lead into a large banking room, elegantly finished. The basement and main story are to be occupied wholly with roomy offices, to be used principally by brokers and real estate men. Both fronts of the building—second, t ird and fourth stories—are to be filled with offices, the board of trade itself being in the southful apartment, 40 by 70 feet, lit from the south by immense windows of stained glass, and by sky-lights in the ceiling. The room is on a level with the second floor and runs up two stories and a half, with a gallery on the north side. The interior woodwork of this hall is designed to give the name of the stories and rooms appearance. it an airy and roomy appearance. A large passenger elevator is reached from both entrances, being a few steps from door. A stairway Farnam street winds around it, and there is a second staircase at the other entrance. The building is to be heated by steam, the apparatus being outside.

Architect Mendelssohn said yesterday that he he thought one year would be required for the creetion of the structure.

THE CHARITY UNION. It Will Furnish Work to All Who Apply.

It has long been the intention of the young men composing the Charity Union to establish a wood yard, but not until the charity ball fund was raised and the ladies in charge gave them some of the proceeds were they able to carry out this plan. It is now their intention to be ready to supply men who are in search of food and lodging with work at sawing wood, having obtained the vacant lot and sheds Sixteenth street alley in the bounded by Chicago and Cass. Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. This yard is just north and west of the Estabrook block, and will be stocked with fire and kindling wood, which is to be sold to all iouseholders about town who wish to help the society, at regular prices,

By this means the Charity Union hope to encourage labor. Sawing or chopping a certain amount of wood will entitle a poor fellow to a good meal or a night's lodging or both, at the rooms of the Charity Union, 7191 North Sixteenth street, which, with the wood yard, are under the management of Charles Me-Murray. During the thirteen months of the existence of the Charity Union it has furnished 2066 persons with 2360 beds and 2013 meals, and has found employment for forty-six persons. is a splendid showing, and the regular subscribers to the Charity Union fund will feel disposed to continue their lib-eral contributions. Every cent is needed, pecially to inaugurate the wood yard, officers of the charity union are: Fred Nye, president; Clement Chase, vice-president; James Ross, secretary; Alfred Millard, treasurer; F. HE THOUGHT HE WAS RICH. The Peculiar Ideas That Whisky Places in a Man's Brain.

"Nine years ago I walked out of Omaha without a cent in my pocket," ejaculated a man as he leaved confidentially across the Areade bar last night. "You," continued he, grasping the bartender by the hand and giving it several convulsive shakes, "you used to be good to me and would give me a drink once in a while when I was broke. I want you to come around and have a champague supper

"I've just deposited $60,000 in the bank and am going to blow part of it in. You see I didn't have a cent to my name when I left here, but I've got 12,000 acres of land now, and you bet I'm going to have some fun."

some fun."

"You must have been playing in pretty good luck," remarked a bystander.

"It wasn't luck at all. It was brains. Brains and good looks are what did it. Married a rich widow, see? Just as easy as anything can be if you once get the hang of it. Let's have another drink."

"No more drinks to-night, Tom," said the bartender emphatically. "You've spend enough money already and I don't believe you've paid your wash bill." As believe you've paid your wash bill." As the young man walked sadly away from the young man walked sadly away from the counter the bartender carefully adjusted his diamond pin and continued: "You see lots of queer people in this business. It's funny what ideas whisky puts into a man's head. Now that fellow is a clerk in a dry goods store and gets a salary of $20 a week. Every time he gets drunk he loses his personal identity gets drunk he loses his personal identity completely. To-night he thought he was a cattle king and was trying to spend money in the same reckless manner in which they are supposed to. The other night he imagined he was Victor Hugo, and tried to give a lecture on French literature. Somea lecture on French literature. Some-times he even goes so far as to imagine he's a train of cars or a steamboat. He gets dangerous at such times and tries to smas h things. When he's himself, how-ever, he is one of the most quiet fellows in the town. Nothing but lemonade, eh?" concluded he as his customer refused to take up the bottle of whisky placed be-fore him. "Well, it's probably the best plan." Want a Change of Grade.

A well attended meeting of South Eleventh street property holders was held last night in the engine house on Eleventh and Doreas, about one hundred and fifty being present. The purpose of the meeting was to take under consideration the ing was to take under consideration the question of changing the grade and grading South Eleventh street during the coming season. Profiles of the street and the established grade, with proposed changes were laid before those present, and after viewing them and an extended formal discussion, the meeting was called to order. Mr. Stuht was chosen chairman, and J. Rosicky secretary. Mess.H.Kountz, Nave, Heitzke and others, argued the merits and demerits of the proposed grade. All present were in faargued the merits and demerits of the proposed grade. All present were in favor of grading the street and changing partly the established grade, and finally a resolution was adopted almost unanimously, that the present grade from Briggs street south and the proposed grade from Briggs street north should be adopted. The proposed change calls for a cut of about twenty feet on Pierce, eighteen feet on Pacific and ten feet on eighteen feet on Pacific and ten feet on Mason street. Several of those present desired to have also the hill at Briggs street (between Pierce and Williams, cut down to almost a level and fill up south between Williams and Centre, so as to make a uniform and almost level grade from Pierce to Center; but it was shown them that as much as such a grade was desirable, it would be impossible to get the consent of adjacent property-holders without heavy damages. A committee was appointed to obtain a waiver of damages from property holders waver of damages from property-holders along the proposed change, consisting of Messrs. Stuht, Bartlett, Birkett, Zimmer-mann and Heitzke. The meeting ad-journed subject to the call of chairman.

Omaha Medical Institute.

Mr. W. Mathews, of Rock Springs, Wyoming, is at the Medical and Surgical Institute, corner of Thirteenth and Capitol avenue, under treatment for a malady which has long afflicted him, and is rapidly recovering. Numerous other patients from Wyoming, and in fact all the western states and territories are at the institute enjoying the treatment which skillful physicians and perfect equipment alone can afford. The brace making branch of the establishment is also doing a rushing business. Being the only institution of the kind west of the Mississippi river, it very naturally draws trade from every section of the west and northwest. The work it turns out is of the very finest description, none but skilled artisans being employed. The institution is enjoying the prosperity

The city then proceeds to take the broad ground that since 1808 the company has not maintained gas works or furnished gas in compliance with the ordinance. The city alleges that the Omaha Gas company and the companies succeeding it have violated and failed to comply with the provisions of the ordinance under which they seek an injunction, and thereby have forfeited all rights and privileges that may have been granted. The answer also states that the city is about to pass an ordinance repealing the about to pass an ordinance repealing the original ordinance. RAIL NOTES.

The Switchmen's Strike and the Local Situation-Personal and General. General Manager Callaway and General Superintendent Smith of the Union Pacific have returned; from Kansas City and were at their posts of duty yesterday.

"The switchmen's strike in Kansas City has been satisfactorily settled," said Mr. Smith, speaking to a reporter for the BEE, "and I don't believe there will be any further trouble for the present, at least." "Do you anticipate any trouble among the Omaha switchmen?" was asked of him.

"I haven't heard any rumors of such a thing. Have you?" returned Mr. Smith.

The reporter admitted that he had heard vague rumors of impending trouble, but nothing defluite
"I don't think that we shall have a strike among our switchmen," continued Mr. Smith, "the fact is they have nothing to strike for. It is my impression that to strike for. It is my impression that they are getting as good wages as the men in Chicago. I am looking the matter up and I shall be able to tell for certain in a short time. So that I fail to see what good a strike would do them. As for the rate of pay for trainmen over the entire system, I know that our employes are paid better than those on any other. are paid better than those on any other road in the country."

The delegates of the Knights of Labor from the different branches of the Union Pacific have not yet called upon Messrs. Smith and Callaway to present their re-quests, but will probably be ready to do so to-day.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

The passenger business of the Union Pacific has never been so heavy, for many years at least, as at present. About ten cars of emigrants are being sent west on an average every day, most of them for different points in California. The entire passenger business amounts to sev-enteen or eighteen cars every day. No Missouri Pacific freight trains went out yesterday, and locally speaking there is no change in the situation.

FORCED SALE.

The town site of Grover, Marshall county, Kansas, including 360 acres of land and $5,000 worth of cattle, horses, hogs, corn, wheat, oats, and other per-sonal property, will on Thursday. April 1, 1886, be sold to the highest bidder for cash. The farm consists of 200 neres of first-class bottom land, watered by the Big Blue river, and 160 acres of good upland well improved with farm house barn, and other buildings, together with an orchard of 700 growing trees, 300 acres of said land is under fence. Don't forget this is a forced sale and the date is April 1, 1886. WILLIAM McDonald, Receiver of property of Wesbitt & Ashby

THE COUNTY INSANE. Commissioners Investigating the Advisability of a Local Asylum. County Commissioners O'Keeffe and Timme have returned from Chicago, where they have been for several days. Their visit to the Garden city was for the purpose of investigating the methods adopted by Cook county in caring for the insane, and to ascertain the cost which it entailed. They found over 600 patients in the county asylums, which were main-tained at a cost of ninety-one cents each per day, including buildings, etc., and also ascertained many interesting facts. "The real object of our visit," said Mr. Timme to a BEE reporter yesterday, "was to post ourselves in regard to the cost of keeping the insane, with the end in view of making some arrangements for Douglas county to care for her own lunatics

The last state assessment for the insane which the supreme court has decided must be paid, has placed upon Douglas county an unjust and unfair tax, and we believe that it would be cheaper to build our own asylum and care for the county insane at home. According to the spe-cial assessment which is yet to be paid into the state insane fund, Douglas county will pay over $3 a week for its insane patients. I believe that is more than it should cost, and in case the legislature can be made to change the law, I am in favor of building a Douglas county in-sane asylum. Besides the lunatics now in the state asylum, there are sixteen con-fined at the poor farm which are also supported by the people of the county. If an asylum should be built, it should be located some five or six miles from the city and the poor farm placed in the same lo-cality. Then the county would be paying for its own unfortunates and not
