Merry Crowds at the Exposition Building Last Night-Details of the Event. From 7 until 10 o'clock Wednesday night people might have been seen wending their way to ehe exposi tion building, carriages were moving in that direction in large numbers, and in fact the carnival and ball were the principal topic of conversation by all. At about 8 the concert orchestra, led by Harry J. Irvine, rendered an overture, "Rival" (Pettee), and a selection, "Beggar Student" (Milloceker). According to several estimates, there were between 3,000 and 4,000 people in the building. Probably two thirds of these were in costume, and many, beautiful, comical and well sustained characters there were. Dancing commenced after the above selections were given. Harry Jackson was master of ceremonies and conducted his part without a hitch. The reception committee was composed of ception committee was composed of Messrs. Julius Meyer, T. C. Dougias, H. Brewer, T. C. Pennell, A. R. Toozer, jr., G. Meter and A. E. Merris. The floor managers were Messrs. Phillip Boisen, W. O. Matthews, Chr. Benson, M. Robling and F. Depuy. The committee of arrangements were: Wm. F. Pilaeging, A. Blautuss, J. Thiele, H. F. Irvine, H. Jackson, W. Flessenton, J. Allis, T. Douglas, J. Burgold, B. Prockaska, and Julius Meyer. All understood their parts thoroughly, and it is principally their efficient work that made this such a grand success. At 11:30 the prize march grand success. At 11:30 the prize march took place, and the following are those descrying and receiving the prizes: Mrs. M. Bram, in white satin, linest lady's costume; Mrs. C. Burt, darkey with banjo, most comical lady's costume; Mr. J. M. Graynova old woman with baby most Gravaore, old woman with baby, most comical gentleman's costume an't char-neter, and Mr. A. W. Weld, Turk-ish, finest gentleman's costume. Besides these there were, of course, a large number of other fine and comical costumes. Mrs. Bram's was, however, declared by many present the most beautiful costume ever seen in a ball room. It was of white satin, and admirably made and fitted. Mr. Weld's was also a beautiful costume. But the verdict that particularly won the approbation of all, was the awarding a prize to Mr. J. M. Gaynore. He was dressed as an old lady, and had a figure in his arms that looked for all intents and purposes like a common, every-day nuisance of an inquisitive boy; but the mother was out for enjoyment, and bound to have her son enjoy himself also, and the way that he sustained the character was a credit to him and a source of continued amuse-ment to the spectators. Mrs. C. Burt represented a banjo-playing "culiud pus-son," and sustained the character through-out in a commendable manner. Among the other rich and beautiful costumes were noticed "Morning," a lady in a dark dress with silver stars covering it, and very tastefully gotten up; the "God-dess of Liberty," in an apprepriate dress; two young ladies representing jockeys— they had on combination dresses of car-dinal skirt, green waist and dainty closefitting jockey caps, and played their parts to perfection; two sailor girls created the impression that they were used to the watery deep by their pretty dresses and proper demeanor; a lady representing a circus rider, had on a close-litting habit of green and red, and looked beautiful; "Fidelity" was a well sustained character, as also was the "Twin Sisters"; a lady representing a queen was the oblady representing a queen was the ob-served of all observers, having on a most elegant dress and crown, and conducting herself in such a real queenly manner;

the Union Pacific, in conversation with a reporter for the BEE yesterday, said that the difficulties between the trainmen and the road were being adjusted pretty rapidly and would probably be satisfactorily settled before to-night. The new schedule of pay which is being tried experimentally is very distasteful to the men, who complain that while it may fix the wages at a point to suit the railroad company, it operates badly for the employes. One great detriment to the men under the new system is the loss of sleep which they often have to suffer in making long runs. In one case which was brought to the notice of the officials the other day, a serious accident came very near resulting because an engineer forgot his orders, being so drowsy from lack of sleep that he was not fit to hold the throttle. He had been working on a double run and had done enough labor for two average men. As a consequence a freight and passenger train came to-gether (between Valley and Fremont), not, however, with enough violence to cause a smash-up. The engineer and conductor of the freight both charge the conductor of the freight both charge the "bad break" to overwork, and if they are discharged, or they probably will be, the Brotherhood of Engineers and the Brotherhood of Conductors, it is thought, will take up their case. "The trainmen do not want to force the railroad com-pany into any trouble," said an engineer to a reporter yesterday," "but they do want to secure decent hours and fair pay. I certainly hope, in common with every certainly hope, in common with every other employe, that there wont be any trouble. I believe that arbitration will bring about the desired change."

The paymaster yesterday paid off the engineers, who presented their checks. The brakemen and conductors decline to put in their claims until the present difficulty, now under arbitration and which only affects them, is settled. The question to be decided, in brief, is whether the conductors and brakemen shall be paid under the old system, or under the new.

The Causes of Failure in Life. Pall Mall Gazette: A literary client of the great Romerke, who has originated a new industry in the paste and scissors line, has given that diligent newspaper clipper an order to collect information regarding causes of failure in life Romeike, therefore, with his usual zeal, has issued one of the cruelest of circulars "to all curates of more than 40 years of age, to all unknown barristers, and to certain members of parliament and pub-lic men." We wonder what the unfortunates think when they find themselves thus stmaped with the Romeike brand as patent failures, and a list of guesses at the names of the certain members of par-liament and the public men who have received circulars would be instructive and entertaining. In journalism, if a man passes 35 without achieving success in his avocation, Romeike dubs him a failure, and sends him "a form of inquiry." "form of inquiry" is too curious not to be printed in its entirety. It runs as fol-
