Tired of Jail.

Yesterday Sheriff Garrison arrived here from Logan with the notorious George Washington Makepeace, the Duniap attorney. Makepeace has been lying in jail at Logan on the charge of embezzlement, and other charges, until he is tired of it, and not being able to give bonds, has sought the habeas corpus mode of exit. His petition was filed in the superior court, and yesterday he was given a hearing by Judge Aylesworth. The case occupied the whole day, there being considerable testimony to go through, the claim being that the testimony did not warrant the justice in binding him over to the grand jury. A decision will probably be reached to-day.

Stray Stock Man. There has been somewhat of a sensation caused in Logan and vicinity by the mysterious disappearance of William Dakan, a well known stock man who has considerable property, and whose home is about five miles from Logan. About three weeks ago he started for Chicago with a large amount of stock, and has whet to return or report. His anxious iverors have waited until it seemed was not going to show up again, and then the rush began for attachments to secure their claims. It is understood that the claims will amount to $15,000 to $18,000.

TOO SHARP AND SURPRISING

So Thinks Superindendent Hammond Concerning the Report in His Case.

CRUMBS FROM THE COUNCIL

Doings of the County Board-A Missing Stock Dealer and Anxious Creditors-Make Peace In Town.

The Superintendent Supprised. The telegraphic news published in yes terday's BEE, announcing the decision of the committee of investigation of the institution for the deaf and dumb, caused no little surprise here. It was generally thought that the report would probably criticise the management of the institution in some respects, enough to prevent any possible charge of "whitewash," but few thought that the committee would tind any serious fault with the superintendent or trustees. That Superintendent Hammond and his wife would be so severely dealt with was a surprise. The details of the testimony before the committee are not known, but the general drift of it is pretty well understood. The testimony is voluminous, and was taken in short-hand, and afterwards there was considerable delay before it was transcribed and at the service of the committee. The testimony was kept secret, and the first opportunity presented for its examination by the public has been by the filing the testimony together with the re-port. Prof. Hammond and wife have many friends here, and the feeling in this community is largely with them. Prof. Hammond was superintendent of a similar institution in Arkansas, and was most highly esteemed there. It was only under protest that that institution consented to his accepting the position here, and his whole record up to this time has been most excellent. The report therefore, is a terrible blow to him and his friends. At an early hour yesterday morning the BEE man sought out Prof. Hammond, and asked him concerning the report of the committee. He had not heard what the report was, not having received his morning paper. On being informed, he

"Well, I hardly know what to say about it, or whether I ought to say anything about it just yet. It is a great surprise, for while I did not expect that the committee would report altogether favorable to me, still I did not expect such a severe report."
"What will be your action in the mat-

"I am not prepared now to say much about it, and would prefer you would wait a while. I will let you know when I decide. If I conclude to make any statement to the public, I will give the BEE as early an opportunity to publish it as any of the papers. I feel that a great injustice has been done me, and you might simply say that, but I am hardly prepared to make any formal state ments."

"Do you know just what testimony was produced before the committee?"
"I know the general drift of it. The investigation was largely ex parte, however. I had no opportunity to cross-examine many of the witnesses, or put in any rebuttal testimony. I was not represented by council. But about all that I don't care to say anything now.

Perhaps the time will come when I will think best to do so."

The school year ends in June, but the year for which the superintendent is engaged ends in September. Just what such improvements as to be willing to pay for them by special assessments, it seems that the city at large should willsay nothing about that.
