Miss Mary Michelson, teacher of the school at the orphan's Christian home, will give an entertainment by the children of the home school at the Scandinavian Baptist church next Thursday evening. The tickets are twenty-five cents, and the proceeds are for the support of the school.
Chief Matthews, of the police force, came very near being removed from office Saturday night. While asleep at home, coal gas escaping from a stove during the night, gave him and his wife a pretty strong dose of asphyxia, but the window of their room being open saved them. As it was they were quite seriously afflicted.

Miss Poppleton will close her course on Shakespeare on Thursday evening, April 15, at 8 o'clock, at the Baptist church, corner First avenue and Sixth street. The subject of the lecture will be "Julius Caesar," illustrated by readings from the play. Those who have attended the afternoon lectures will please notice the change. Tickets, 50 cents. For sale now at Bushnell's.

The body of the man found in Honey creek was buried there by directions of the coroner, but it seems that the party who undertook the duty only dug a hole about two feet in the ground, put the body in and placed two boards over it, and then covered it with dirt. The coroner on learning the facts at once went out there, took the body and brought it to this city, where it has been buried in Fairview cemetery. This ends all occasion for such criticism as was given in yesterday's Nonpareil.

Yesterday afternoon there was a joyous wedding at the Rock Island hotel in this city, the happy man being John H. Mitchell, and the bride Miss Mary A. Droge. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. J. Leitch officiating. A bountiful repast was spread, and the gathering of friends who were present were most hospitably cared for. The young folks who have thus joined their lives and fortunes have many friends here whose best wishes are theirs. They have both lived in this city for some time, but are now planning on soon removing to Nebraska, where Mr. Mitchell has a farm, upon which they will make their home.

The fair to be given for the benefit of the sisters of St. Francis academy will open April 28. The evening event will consist of an operetta running for about a hundred of the pupils, and will be given in the opera house. The next evening will be devoted to the attractions of the fair, which is to be held in music hall. On another evening about twenty young ladies will present a charade. On the next evening the ladies expect to entertain the guests by reading the state governing the Land League, a banquet and a quadrille party being arranged for. The following evening there will be a grand concert, the programme to be interspersed with recitations and readings. Thus the whole week will be pretty well filled, and it is expected that a handsome amount will be realized for the worthy cause, in whose interest the enterprisers has been planned.

The Injunction Cases.
The saloon injunction cases came up again Saturday before Judge Conner, at Denison. The question argued was whether the recent appeal from the decision of Judge Love to the supreme court of the United States prevented any further consideration of the cases in Judge Conner's court. The attorney for the saloon men, John N. Baldwin, claimed that the appeal stayed further proceedings, while Jacob Sims, as attorney for the prohibitionists, took an opposite position. The arguments were heard, and the question taken under advisement. It will be several days probably before a decision is rendered by Judge Conner.

Capital and Labor.

Last evening at the Baptist church Rev. Dr. Cooley delivered the second of his discourses on the above topic. He modestly disclaimed any belief that he could present a satisfactory solution to the problem, which had puzzled the wisest for years, but believed that by studying the question in the light of Him who was the light of the world, some truths might appear plainer.

He believed that one of the causes of the restlessness and agitation in regard to labor and its compensation was the intense life of the world. The Patagonian might be content so long as he secured the necessities of life, but in this world of ours, where the scale of civilization there was more discontent, and his wants were greater. He drew from history several illustrations of this fact, and claimed that this awakening and restlessness was due largely to christianity. Every system of oppression and wrong sooner or later was encountered and made to give way to the progress of religion and humanity. In heaven lands these agitations were not so common. Christianity would awaken these lands from their deadly sleep, and create demands for freedom from servitude and for political equality.

The speaker then traced along through history the various struggles from that between the plebeians and patricians of Rome down to the struggles for civil rights which have characterized the present century. He declared that if Gladstone was defeated now the question would not be down, and agitation would not cease until full justice was granted. The laborer might be kept up until a satisfactory solution was found. He said that even in Ireland, where the laborer had also come to stay, and would be kept up until a satisfactory solution was found. He said that even in Ireland, where the laborer had also come to stay, and would be kept up until a satisfactory solution was found.

Wars and revolutions, were injurious in themselves, and should be undertaken only when imperative reasons arose, and when there were also strong probabilities of victory. The object of labor could be much better secured by agitation and arbitration. Those countries which were being continually racked by revolutions were far from being the most prosperous and happy. If strikes should become prevalent in this country its prosperity would be greatly hindered, labor would be more poorly rewarded, and capital would hide itself.

If the Knights of Labor would only prove true to their professions they would be a great blessing, but if they were to allow a reckless, disappointed man to jeopardize all the industrial interests of the country to gratify a foolish pique, their days were numbered. The tyranny of capital was no worse than the tyranny of labor organizations. Rational means must be used to settle these questions, for one wrong never righted another.

Labor should organize. It was right for a man, if disinclined, to refuse to work for an employer, and if right for one, then it was right for any number of men to refuse to work, but when they went beyond this, to dictate to others what they should do, or not do, then laborers became tyrants. Neither capital or labor could reach final success until each accords to the other the fullest justice. Better be oppressed than oppress. That class would succeed in the end which strove to do unto others as they would that others should do unto them, and who loved their neighbors as themselves.

Municipal Matters.
The city council had its daily grind of business Saturday. As a board of equalization several commissioners were considered, and adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock this morning.

As a council a variety of municipal matters were attended to.

In the matter of the grade on Worth street, the city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance, the city engineer to furnish him the necessary data.

The city attorney reported favorably to the council on the proposed extension of Mitchell Vincent in regard to the extension of the new sewer ditch. After some discussion the matter was laid over.

Supervisor Graham informed the council that a contract had been let for the building of a fifty-foot bridge on Sixteenth street, and asked that the engineer give the necessary grades. Request granted.

The matter of the paving of Madison street was referred to the committee on streets.

Alderman Shugart stated that the Rock Island Railway company was willing to furnish all the material necessary for constructing a road from its depot on Sixteenth avenue to Tenth avenue, and construct the road without expense to the city. The city engineer was instructed to prepare a statement for the company showing the amount of material needed.

A number of crosswalks were ordered in different parts of the city. The street commissioner instructed to repair defective sidewalks.

The new ordinance referring to the powers of the city of Council Bluffs was given a second reading, and referred to the judiciary committee.

The bids for feeding city prisoners were opened as follows: Mr. Jordan 15 cents per meal; Mr. Bruns 15 cents per meal; Mr. Woolsey 20 cents per meal; Mr. Snodderly 20 cents per meal; Mr. G. Brooks 15 cents per meal. The bids were referred to the committee on police.

The council then adjourned until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Dressmaking, cutting and fitting by Miss Gleason, No. 34 Pearl street.

Threatened Railway War.
There was a little railway war here yesterday, a sort of skirmish rather than a pitched battle. Thomas White, an old citizen, who has a little property on Tenth avenue, has for some time complained because a sidetrack for the Chicago Lumber company had been run along the alley adjacent to his property, the sidetrack having been put in by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. Recently the track was taken up, while the alley was being filled. The other day White went before the city council to get that body to take one action to prevent the relaying of the track, or to force the railway company to make good the damage caused by its property. The matter was referred to a committee. Yesterday morning the railroad folks concluded to lay the matter to rest, and White was satisfied.

White's friends began gathering with a view of helping him stay the work, and it looked as if there might be a battle. Chief Matthews, of the police force, finally served as arbitrator, and got the parties to agree to come to some understanding as to what damages should be paid the old man, before they went on with the work, and that there should be no use on either side. A compromise was reached, and the track will probably go down to-day. The old gentleman has worked hard to accumulate a little property, and he claims that it is his right to have it, and causes it to be more difficult to rent it. He will doubtless be satisfied now with a financial gain for his injury.

"MURDER MOST FOUL"

To Allow Anyone to Die of Diphtheria!
DURING the last six years there has not been a death from diphtheria in any case where DR. THOMAS J. JEFFERIES' Pepsodyne and Cure was used. It has been the means of saving thousands of lives and might have cured hundreds of thousands more. Indispensable in every case of throat, diphtheria, croup, whooping cough, and all other diseases of the throat. It is a simple, safe, and reliable remedy. It is a simple, safe, and reliable remedy. It is a simple, safe, and reliable remedy.

From the Council Bluffs Daily Herald:
Mrs. E. M. Gerard, wife of Engineer Gerard, of the Union Pacific, this city, has been a great sufferer for years from diphtheria. It was supposed to be cancer of the throat. It was so bad that she was threatened with starvation. Her general health was completely broken down. She could not swallow liquid food, and even that her stomach could not digest or assimilate. Physicians of Council Bluffs and Omaha gave no relief. Dr. Jeffries, of this city, was called. In four weeks' time he cured her throat, and has completely restored her general health. Had Mrs. Gerard not obtained relief soon she would have died from blood poisoning, the same condition that destroyed the life of Gen. Grant. Dr. Jeffries' diphtheria medicine is infallible in all kinds of sore throat.

DR. JEFFERIES' REMEDIES
Can only be obtained at his office, No. 25 S. Eighth St., Council Bluffs, Iowa. Or sent by Express on Receipt of Price.
