

THEIR MARRIAGE A MOCKERY

A Bad and Wicked Husband and a Cold, Deserving Wife.

SEEKING TO BE SEPARATED.

Creditors Pounce Down on Dr. Dogge in a Legal Way—Fighting for a License—State Capital News and Notes.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN REPORT.

Man's inhumanity to woman finds ample illustration in the records of Lancaster county divorce courts. At nearly every term the docket is burdened with applications for legal separations, and in the large majority of cases the injured parties are women. Cowardly, neglect to support, and unfaithfulness are the causes commonly set forth for the granting of divorces, and the offense has to be very flagrant and unbearable before the wife will step into court and make public the burdens she is bearing. An instance of this is shown in the petition filed by Jennie Gilbert...

Man's inhumanity to woman finds ample illustration in the records of Lancaster county divorce courts. At nearly every term the docket is burdened with applications for legal separations, and in the large majority of cases the injured parties are women. Cowardly, neglect to support, and unfaithfulness are the causes commonly set forth for the granting of divorces, and the offense has to be very flagrant and unbearable before the wife will step into court and make public the burdens she is bearing. An instance of this is shown in the petition filed by Jennie Gilbert...

ON DR. DOGGE'S TRAIL. The boldness of Dr. Dogge, in buying $5,000 worth of real estate in this city, after having been told by the city that he was a bankrupt and claiming to be unable to give $2,000 bail, has brought the creditors of Herold down on him in a way that has caused some fifty others have begun an action for the appointment of a receiver and the sale of Dogge's property to satisfy their claims. They allege that their judgments against Herold remain unsatisfied, and that as they believe Dogge obtained $15,000 in cash and valuable real estate in Plattsmouth from Herold without consideration, part of which he used in purchasing the property in this city, they demand that the courts give them an equitable relief. Dogge, it will be remembered, pleaded poverty when asked to give bail to stand trial on the charge of having stolen the Melick until the judge reduced the bond required to $1,500. Now he blossoms out as the owner of an $8,000 piece of property.

BRIEF MENTION. The fight over granting a license to George Brown to sell intoxicating liquors in the town of Bennett, has got down to the district court, and his application to the town board in good shape, and presented a petition signed by thirty-four freeholders asserting that he is a good citizen and a responsible man, and that he is supported by twenty-six men and twenty-four ladies, contending that Brown is not entitled to a license because he has frequently violated the laws of the town of bad reputation. And now the district court is asked to step in and decide between the two papers.

The papers of the Lincoln Base Ball association have been ordered by the secretary of state's office. H. B. Durfee is manager and E. B. Durfee treasurer. The capital stock amounts to $300. Governor Ames will on Friday day a proclamation appointing John McCall, Hamlin Whitman and Alfred S. Allen commissioners, and John C. Hayes clerk of Chase county, in compliance with a petition of the citizens of that county. The county seat is located on the northwest quarter of section 4, township 6, north of range 38, and southwest quarter of section 33, township 7, north of range 38, both west of the 9th principal meridian.

Editor Druse, of the Nebraska Farmer, received a letter from Congressman Laird yesterday, in which the congressman was filed with Commissioner Colman, of the department of agriculture, asking that an experimental station for the investigation of animals diseased be established in Nebraska. Mr. Laird says that the paper is signed by the entire house committee on agriculture, and the solid delegation, and he has every reason to believe that Commissioner Colman will take favorable action on it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ring celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Saturday night at their home, No. 812 F street, in the happy company of their children and the happy occasion. A little girl named Stober, wandered away from her home on Ninth and B streets Sunday afternoon, and was picked up by some employes of the Mercantile Institute, and turned over to the police. Several hours later her parents struck headquarters on a hunt for her. The cold storage house of the Beck Brothers Brewing company took a little tumble Sunday, and bottle beer and ice were mingled in an unwholesome mass. Foreman Charles Wundershler, who has charge of the job of building the state capitol under Contractor Stork, will put a force of twenty men at work to-day on the main part of the building. With good weather it is expected that the structure will be able to turn the entire structure over to the roofers by early fall, and perhaps get the portico up. Sophia Beckman has begun an suit against her husband for divorce, and damages for a sprained ankle received by falling through a defective sidewalk on F street near Eighth-st., in November last. Twenty dollars for necessary expenses were granted by the city council last night. The Odd Fellows have abandoned their

THE OLD MAN ELOQUENT.

Gladstone's Oratory—A Pen Picture of the Great Liberal Leader.

THE TREMENDOUS POWER OF PERSUASION THE KEY TO THE WHOLE MAN.

London Correspondence of the New York Times: But go some night when the premier is there—and note the difference! It is such a change as the fairy prince wrought on the enchanted palace. The benches are well filled, and the members—especially the new members—sit upright and with eyes wide open. Everybody there seems to be listening intently to the speaker. There are usually a lot of confidence men who can speak the language of these people, and they pretend to be their friends and tell them to come with them and they will get work, but they are soon robbed of everything they have and left almost helpless.

The next attraction was Coney Island and Brighton Beach. We went there principally to see the hotel, which is built in exactly the shape of an elephant, trunk, tail, and all. It is roofed with sheet iron and painted to resemble it. It represents. It takes its name from its shape. Coney Island is a famous resort for New York, Brooklyn and Jersey city people during the hottest days of summer. On this account a hotel of extraordinary size has been built there, the veranda facing the ocean being 13,000 feet more than two miles long. It has the appropriate name of the Hotel Mammoth. Our attention was next turned to Central park. We took one of the wagons which are provided to take visitors to the principal places in the park. We rode from one end of the place to the other, passing the famous Egyptian obelisk, the lake, the menagerie, and in fact all the places that a visitor would care to see. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, which is in the park, and Museum of Natural History which is just outside, are free to all. All the exhibits are well arranged and nicely kept, and are the favorite resorts of many of the fashionable ladies of the city.

I had long ago heard of Wall street and the stock exchange, and though I had seen the former, I never expected to see the latter. But, luckily for me, I happened to run across an eleventh floor office in the Madison square building, which was kind enough to take us through several large buildings, one of which was the stock exchange. Our visit to the bulls and bears happened to be on the memorable day of the 1st of April. We here saw this day commemorated as never before. One of the bulls or bears, I can't say which, had a placard on his back which read "I am a bear." This was an invitation which the greater part of the members could not resist, and here we were heartily accepting it. After leaving this place we went through the carriage and omnibus drivers' exchange company, the produce exchange and the Equitable Trust company. These rank among the foremost buildings in New York, one of them being of white marble.

Though there is nothing much to see, it is a pleasant trip to go across the bay to Staten Island, on the Hudson river. The Statue of Liberty is being erected, the pedestal of which is now built. On the east end of Staten Island is the old Fort Ward, which is a fine harbor, and the neighboring city. It is a pleasant walk out to the fort, the road all the way being along the water. Fort Hamilton on Long Island, which is opposite, and Fort Lafayette in the middle of the narrows, which is the other two. While speaking of islands, we will say that Governor Island, the place where the Indians died, is plainly seen from Castle Garden. Another place of interest which we visited was the Tombs. My friend happened to know an officer, through whom we obtained a permit, otherwise it would have been difficult to have gotten admittance. The place has an appropriate name, for the interior has not a very lively look. There is a narrow, winding passage, and the ceiling is so low that one must stoop to get in. The walls are twelve feet thick. There is a special corridor used for murderers. It is called "Murderer's Row." In the court before the judge, the prisoners are lined up, and cannot look out, there being no windows. Only the worst class are tried in this. The worst class are those from which the doomed prisoners meet their fate. Another thing which is of interest to visitors is the elevated railroad. In the upper part of the city one can see a view high above the ground; its height is equal to that of the top of the six-story buildings. Space forbids mentioning many other points of interest. I am anxious to get back to Creighton college.

GEORGE MENCKE. Augustoria Bitters were prepared by Dr. J. B. Siegert for private use. Their reputation is such to-day that they have become generally known as the best appetizing tonic. Known to our grocer or druggist for the genuine article manufactured by Dr. J. B. Siegert & Sons.

Here is a little romance of democracy from the city of New York. A man and a woman, both of them, were a cook. She was an excellent servant, but she gave warning a few days ago. Upon being asked for the reason she explained that now that her own father was an "Old Man Eloquent" she thought that she ought not to remain in service.

The only effect remedy for throat and lung troubles is Red Star Cough Cure. Germany has eight schools of forestry, where five years' training is required of the students. The government, although a course of study half as long may be taken by amateurs. A recent careful calculation shows that England owns nearly three times as large an extent of colonies as all the rest of Europe together. Her colonies are eighty-five times as big as the mother country.

TUTT'S PINK PILLS. 25 YEARS IN USE. The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age! SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER. Loss of appetite, bowels constive, Pain in back, head, and shoulders, etc. TUTT'S EXTRACT SASSAPARILLA. This medicine purifies the blood, and restores the system to its normal state.

CHANGING COLORS.

A Mountain Road Which Can Make Itself Either White or Black.

THE OLD MAN ELOQUENT.

New York Journal: A southern hunter that day, but with a great deal of nature. We had taken to the bed of the mountain stream that in tens of thousands of years had made the mighty canyon. It was filled with huge boulders, strewn and tumbled about in chaotic confusion as if a stream of rocks had done the work, and water was altogether a secondary consideration. The rocks had been polished by the rush and spray of years, and to bound from one to another without slipping or falling required no little skill. As I was about to take a leap, and had my gun well in hand as a help, I happened to see a man in an excited whisper told me to look.

"A rattlesnake!" I asked, hauling back and sitting down heavily. "No," was the reply, given in such a manner that I was convinced that he saw either a grizzly or a mountain lion. "Don't move," and reaching around he hauled out, not a weapon, but a pocket knife, and with a flourish he applied it to a small bump on a boulder before him. "Is that what you are breaking a man up for?" said I, as the bump became a frog.

"Is that all?" retorted my friend. "Way, man, that frog, or tree toad, I am convinced, is a new species. If I should describe it as Hyla Josphi, you might, in the course of time, find it in the mountains. Why, look at it! It's one of those remarkable examples of protective resemblance you ever saw." The close examination of the diminutive creature showed that it was, indeed, wonderfully protected, and I had almost stepped upon the animal that safe in its disguise had not moved. In a certain way the frog was a very good specimen of the mountain toad, for several members of the Omaha Gun club were engaged in practice rifle shooting. A new style trap, so operated as to throw a new trap into the ground in rapid succession, furnished opportunity for several of the crack shots to display their skill at off-hand shooting. Some good shots were made during the half-hour or so of practice, and the men returned from the field well pleased with their afternoon's sport.

A Meeting of Ministers. In accordance with the call issued by Bishop Worthington, a meeting of the ministers of the city was held at 10 o'clock yesterday in the Episcopal rooms in the Paxton building. The object of the gathering was to discuss ways and means to secure a more general observance of the Sabbath in this city. Among those present were Rev. Harsha of the First Presbyterian, Hall of the Southwest Presbyterian, Fowler of the South M. E., Savage of the Seward street M. E., McKelvey of the First M. E., Scott of the St. Mary's avenue Congregational, Campbell of the Union church, Sheriff of the First Congregational, Ingram of the Christian church, Petton of the Second Congregational, Bishop Worthington and Canon Taylor of the Episcopal parishes, and Messrs. Joplin, Gassman, Krueger and Landrick.

QUEER ADVICE. An Old Physician Says Drink Your Whiskey Straight. To THE EDITOR: In several of your recent issues, I have observed the articles of a whiskey concern in Baltimore, Md., which, in my opinion, contain some very sensible statements, especially their remarks about some of the "bitting" compounds, such as "Bitters," etc. Now, while I do not agree with them in some of their claims, still, as to the three or four "bitting" compounds, I am sure that I can have no objection. Every day in my practice I come across people whose maladies are traceable direct to these "bitting" compounds. I have seen many of the widely advertised "bitting" compounds in nine cases out of ten, they consist of 50 per cent of alcohol, and the remainder is made up of what is called "commercial alcohol," that is, an alcohol of the vilest and most impure quality. The remaining ingredients consist of various foreign substances as flavoring extracts. These "bitting" compounds are followed by the "bitting" compounds, the "bitting" compounds, and others of weak stomachs. Now, while alcohol, especially in the form of "bitting" compounds, is a stimulant, and is prescribed daily by the profession everywhere, and while whiskey and brandy are the best things for coughs, I can't conceive why people will insist upon taking this alcohol in the form of a "bitting" compound. It would be a better if they would take it "straight," as to that form, as the articles state, it passes through the system direct, without any regressive effort on the part of the "bitting" compound, and it is more nutritious than any other liquid substance. If the concern in Baltimore have discovered a means of distilling an article of the kind they claim, that is, whiskey, absolutely pure and free from any of the "bitting" compounds, they have solved one of the greatest scientific problems of the 19th century, some of which are the source of many of our most valuable scientific and chemical investigations among scientists and chemists during the last half century than any other one article.

Do Not Fret. Good housekeeping: "Every one of these doers creeps so horribly that it almost sets me wild," exclaimed a tired mother who was weary of her daily battle after the labors of a wearisome day. Now this was not the first, perhaps it was the twentieth time, she had made the judgment that the "doers" were the cause of the creaking of the doors, when with the aid of a bottle of oil and a feather she might have made them swing noiselessly and saved herself all the annoyance she had suffered. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret.

How to What? The Appetite. New York Times: "You seem to be hungry to-night, old man," said a gentleman to a friend who was sent in by a woman's maid before a dinner that nearly comprised the bill of fare. "I am ravenous." "I wish I could eat a dinner like that," went on the first speaker, eagerly. "I don't wish to eat a dinner like that," said the second speaker, "but I wish to eat a dinner like that." "No; better appetizer than cocktails." "Well, what is it?" "I've been out with my wife to a 5 o'clock dinner. Here, waiter, more bread, and be quick about it."

At Darien, Conn., the other day, one Martin McLaughlin, who was stealing a ride, was ordered to jump off by a lake-man. He did so, and striking against a rock bounced back under the moving wheels and was cut in two. The theory that the Indians are decreasing in number is not sustained by information from Sitting Bull's people. During the month of February, among those enrolled at Standing Rock, there were seventeen deaths and twenty-one births.

Marvelous and magical are the effects of St. Jacobs Oil on rheumatism and neuralgia.

THE FIRST OF THE SEASON.

The snaky party always comes early this year. Horace Dodd, of Millville, Va., killed a six-foot moccasin snake last week that had a wire collar around its neck, to which was attached a button with these words: "Don't tread on grass!" As this was the motto of the famous revolutionary "Culpeper Minute Men" and as the button was probably from one of these words, the question arises as to the probable age of this particular serpent.

OUT FOR AN AIRING.

Omaha Humanity Takes Advantage of a Pleasant Afternoon. Sunday was a bright, beautiful Nebraska spring day—neither too cold nor too warm. As a natural consequence, a large portion of Omaha humanity took occasion to air itself. Sixteenth street, the boulevard of Omaha, was thronged in the afternoon with all manner of vehicles from the two wheeler dog cart to the horse-drawn "family carriage."

The Athletic park on Sixteenth street was well patronized too. In the afternoon several of the members of the Union Pacific team were driven out there, and indulged in a little practice playing with local amateurs. There were hardly enough players present to afford two good games, and the boys were obliged to content themselves with "practice" games. Several "flies" were batted during the afternoon, notably by Bandle, who several times sent the sphere whirling within a few inches of the north fence. In the northwest corner of the park several members of the Omaha Gun club were engaged in practice rifle shooting. A new style trap, so operated as to throw a new trap into the ground in rapid succession, furnished opportunity for several of the crack shots to display their skill at off-hand shooting. Some good shots were made during the half-hour or so of practice, and the men returned from the field well pleased with their afternoon's sport.

A Meeting of Ministers. In accordance with the call issued by Bishop Worthington, a meeting of the ministers of the city was held at 10 o'clock yesterday in the Episcopal rooms in the Paxton building. The object of the gathering was to discuss ways and means to secure a more general observance of the Sabbath in this city. Among those present were Rev. Harsha of the First Presbyterian, Hall of the Southwest Presbyterian, Fowler of the South M. E., Savage of the Seward street M. E., McKelvey of the First M. E., Scott of the St. Mary's avenue Congregational, Campbell of the Union church, Sheriff of the First Congregational, Ingram of the Christian church, Petton of the Second Congregational, Bishop Worthington and Canon Taylor of the Episcopal parishes, and Messrs. Joplin, Gassman, Krueger and Landrick.

QUEER ADVICE. An Old Physician Says Drink Your Whiskey Straight. To THE EDITOR: In several of your recent issues, I have observed the articles of a whiskey concern in Baltimore, Md., which, in my opinion, contain some very sensible statements, especially their remarks about some of the "bitting" compounds, such as "Bitters," etc. Now, while I do not agree with them in some of their claims, still, as to the three or four "bitting" compounds, I am sure that I can have no objection. Every day in my practice I come across people whose maladies are traceable direct to these "bitting" compounds. I have seen many of the widely advertised "bitting" compounds in nine cases out of ten, they consist of 50 per cent of alcohol, and the remainder is made up of what is called "commercial alcohol," that is, an alcohol of the vilest and most impure quality. The remaining ingredients consist of various foreign substances as flavoring extracts. These "bitting" compounds are followed by the "bitting" compounds, the "bitting" compounds, and others of weak stomachs. Now, while alcohol, especially in the form of "bitting" compounds, is a stimulant, and is prescribed daily by the profession everywhere, and while whiskey and brandy are the best things for coughs, I can't conceive why people will insist upon taking this alcohol in the form of a "bitting" compound. It would be a better if they would take it "straight," as to that form, as the articles state, it passes through the system direct, without any regressive effort on the part of the "bitting" compound, and it is more nutritious than any other liquid substance. If the concern in Baltimore have discovered a means of distilling an article of the kind they claim, that is, whiskey, absolutely pure and free from any of the "bitting" compounds, they have solved one of the greatest scientific problems of the 19th century, some of which are the source of many of our most valuable scientific and chemical investigations among scientists and chemists during the last half century than any other one article.

Do Not Fret. Good housekeeping: "Every one of these doers creeps so horribly that it almost sets me wild," exclaimed a tired mother who was weary of her daily battle after the labors of a wearisome day. Now this was not the first, perhaps it was the twentieth time, she had made the judgment that the "doers" were the cause of the creaking of the doors, when with the aid of a bottle of oil and a feather she might have made them swing noiselessly and saved herself all the annoyance she had suffered. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret.

How to What? The Appetite. New York Times: "You seem to be hungry to-night, old man," said a gentleman to a friend who was sent in by a woman's maid before a dinner that nearly comprised the bill of fare. "I am ravenous." "I wish I could eat a dinner like that," went on the first speaker, eagerly. "I don't wish to eat a dinner like that," said the second speaker, "but I wish to eat a dinner like that." "No; better appetizer than cocktails." "Well, what is it?" "I've been out with my wife to a 5 o'clock dinner. Here, waiter, more bread, and be quick about it."

At Darien, Conn., the other day, one Martin McLaughlin, who was stealing a ride, was ordered to jump off by a lake-man. He did so, and striking against a rock bounced back under the moving wheels and was cut in two. The theory that the Indians are decreasing in number is not sustained by information from Sitting Bull's people. During the month of February, among those enrolled at Standing Rock, there were seventeen deaths and twenty-one births.

Marvelous and magical are the effects of St. Jacobs Oil on rheumatism and neuralgia.

Marvelous and magical are the effects of St. Jacobs Oil on rheumatism and neuralgia.

THE FIRST OF THE SEASON.

The snaky party always comes early this year. Horace Dodd, of Millville, Va., killed a six-foot moccasin snake last week that had a wire collar around its neck, to which was attached a button with these words: "Don't tread on grass!" As this was the motto of the famous revolutionary "Culpeper Minute Men" and as the button was probably from one of these words, the question arises as to the probable age of this particular serpent.

OUT FOR AN AIRING.

Omaha Humanity Takes Advantage of a Pleasant Afternoon. Sunday was a bright, beautiful Nebraska spring day—neither too cold nor too warm. As a natural consequence, a large portion of Omaha humanity took occasion to air itself. Sixteenth street, the boulevard of Omaha, was thronged in the afternoon with all manner of vehicles from the two wheeler dog cart to the horse-drawn "family carriage."

The Athletic park on Sixteenth street was well patronized too. In the afternoon several of the members of the Union Pacific team were driven out there, and indulged in a little practice playing with local amateurs. There were hardly enough players present to afford two good games, and the boys were obliged to content themselves with "practice" games. Several "flies" were batted during the afternoon, notably by Bandle, who several times sent the sphere whirling within a few inches of the north fence. In the northwest corner of the park several members of the Omaha Gun club were engaged in practice rifle shooting. A new style trap, so operated as to throw a new trap into the ground in rapid succession, furnished opportunity for several of the crack shots to display their skill at off-hand shooting. Some good shots were made during the half-hour or so of practice, and the men returned from the field well pleased with their afternoon's sport.

A Meeting of Ministers. In accordance with the call issued by Bishop Worthington, a meeting of the ministers of the city was held at 10 o'clock yesterday in the Episcopal rooms in the Paxton building. The object of the gathering was to discuss ways and means to secure a more general observance of the Sabbath in this city. Among those present were Rev. Harsha of the First Presbyterian, Hall of the Southwest Presbyterian, Fowler of the South M. E., Savage of the Seward street M. E., McKelvey of the First M. E., Scott of the St. Mary's avenue Congregational, Campbell of the Union church, Sheriff of the First Congregational, Ingram of the Christian church, Petton of the Second Congregational, Bishop Worthington and Canon Taylor of the Episcopal parishes, and Messrs. Joplin, Gassman, Krueger and Landrick.

QUEER ADVICE. An Old Physician Says Drink Your Whiskey Straight. To THE EDITOR: In several of your recent issues, I have observed the articles of a whiskey concern in Baltimore, Md., which, in my opinion, contain some very sensible statements, especially their remarks about some of the "bitting" compounds, such as "Bitters," etc. Now, while I do not agree with them in some of their claims, still, as to the three or four "bitting" compounds, I am sure that I can have no objection. Every day in my practice I come across people whose maladies are traceable direct to these "bitting" compounds. I have seen many of the widely advertised "bitting" compounds in nine cases out of ten, they consist of 50 per cent of alcohol, and the remainder is made up of what is called "commercial alcohol," that is, an alcohol of the vilest and most impure quality. The remaining ingredients consist of various foreign substances as flavoring extracts. These "bitting" compounds are followed by the "bitting" compounds, the "bitting" compounds, and others of weak stomachs. Now, while alcohol, especially in the form of "bitting" compounds, is a stimulant, and is prescribed daily by the profession everywhere, and while whiskey and brandy are the best things for coughs, I can't conceive why people will insist upon taking this alcohol in the form of a "bitting" compound. It would be a better if they would take it "straight," as to that form, as the articles state, it passes through the system direct, without any regressive effort on the part of the "bitting" compound, and it is more nutritious than any other liquid substance. If the concern in Baltimore have discovered a means of distilling an article of the kind they claim, that is, whiskey, absolutely pure and free from any of the "bitting" compounds, they have solved one of the greatest scientific problems of the 19th century, some of which are the source of many of our most valuable scientific and chemical investigations among scientists and chemists during the last half century than any other one article.

Do Not Fret. Good housekeeping: "Every one of these doers creeps so horribly that it almost sets me wild," exclaimed a tired mother who was weary of her daily battle after the labors of a wearisome day. Now this was not the first, perhaps it was the twentieth time, she had made the judgment that the "doers" were the cause of the creaking of the doors, when with the aid of a bottle of oil and a feather she might have made them swing noiselessly and saved herself all the annoyance she had suffered. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret. It is a great deal easier to make suggestions than to follow them, but it seems to me that the "golden rule" for housekeeping will be, in this connection, to be content with the suggestions, and not to fret.

How to What? The Appetite. New York Times: "You seem to be hungry to-night, old man," said a gentleman to a friend who was sent in by a woman's maid before a dinner that nearly comprised the bill of fare. "I am ravenous." "I wish I could eat a dinner like that," went on the first speaker, eagerly. "I don't wish to eat a dinner like that," said the second speaker, "but I wish to eat a dinner like that." "No; better appetizer than cocktails." "Well, what is it?" "I've been out with my wife to a 5 o'clock dinner. Here, waiter, more bread, and be quick about it."

At Darien, Conn., the other day, one Martin McLaughlin, who was stealing a ride, was ordered to jump off by a lake-man. He did so, and striking against a rock bounced back under the moving wheels and was cut in two. The theory that the Indians are decreasing in number is not sustained by information from Sitting Bull's people. During the month of February, among those enrolled at Standing Rock, there were seventeen deaths and twenty-one births.

Marvelous and magical are the effects of St. Jacobs Oil on rheumatism and neuralgia.

Marvelous and magical are the effects of St. Jacobs Oil on rheumatism and neuralgia.

S. L. R.

If you're in out of order, then your whole system is out of order. The blood impure, the breath offensive; you have headache, feel languid, despondent and nervous. To prevent a more serious condition, take at once, S. L. R.

THE SHORT LINE AND BEST ROUTE FROM OMAHA TO THE EAST.

Two trains daily between Omaha and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

THE IRON BANK.

Cor. 12th and Farnam Streets. General Banking Business Transacted.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE.

And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WAK, NERVOUS PEOPLE. And others suffering from nervous prostration, headache, dizziness, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.