 Save money by buying Refrigerators at Cooper & McGehee's.
 The ax-handle factory has stopped temporarily, having run out of material.
 The Omaha Medical and Surgical Institute is to open an office here, at No. 234 Broadway.

J. S. Stenberg and John Bell were booked yesterday as plain drunks.
 Don't fail to attend the grand May opening at Eiseeman's People's store this evening.
 Eiseeman's May opening will be the grandest affair of the season. Don't fail to call this evening.

Permission to enter wedlock was given yesterday to John J. Larson and Katie A. Roman, both of this city.
 Several couples were yesterday gathered in by the police. The fellows were hanging about depots and railway yards.
 D. W. Archer, of the Council Bluffs Canning factory, has leased the former residence of L. A. Miller, No. 905 Second avenue.

The new machinery of the paper mill is being put in place and the establishment so remodelled that it is practically a new mill. Being in the hands of experienced men, the enterprise cannot but prove a successful one.

Judging from the great preparations made by Eiseeman's People's store, their opening, which commences this evening and lasts for three nights, cannot help but be the grandest event of the season.

Fred. W. Newbould, of Buffalo, N. Y., son-in-law of Mrs. E. W. Bennett, of Loveland, died yesterday noon. He came here a week ago for his health, but very feeble. The funeral will be held in Missouri Valley today.

Grand May opening for three evenings, commencing at 7:30 this evening, at Eiseeman's People's store. No goods will be sold during the opening hours, from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. H. Eiseeman & Co.

In the district court the Phoenix Insurance company of Brooklyn, has commenced action against A. Gans and D. Maltby for $112. Gans was the agent of the company at this point, and the other defendant was on his bond. It is claimed that Gans failed to pay over the moneys collected as premiums, and the suit is brought to secure the balance due from this source.

The Bluffs City horse team is planning to go to the state tournament and to bring back some of the best prizes. The Rescue steamer, which is an almost sure winner, will also be taken to the tournament, which is to be held in June, and there is a good prospect for Council Bluffs to win honors in several of the contests on the programme. A great effort is to be made to secure the next tournament for Council Bluffs. It is about this city's turn to be again favored.

It is understood that some of the citizens are determined that Council Bluffs shall have stock yards for the accommodation of the business which naturally would come here, and which should have some chance here. Mr. J. J. Brown, the other day went to Omaha and offered $5,000 for the old stock yards, but was informed that they could not be bought. Some of these lively Council Bluffites will make a stir in making a location, without doubt, if the present stock yards are not kept running as they should. They have an unshaken belief that Council Bluffs has great advantages as a stock shipping point, and they want it maintained.

Personal Paragraphs.
 Architect Mann, of St. Joseph, is in the city looking after the new court house.
 B. Shouts, the ex-jailor, who has opened up in the agricultural machinery business in Correctionville, Iowa, is in the city on a brief visit to his family, who have not removed from here yet.

Lightning at Avoca.
 Henry Cranchalk's (a farmer living about two miles northeast of Avoca) barn was struck by lightning last night between 12 and 1 o'clock, burning it entirely, also two cows, one horse and a set of harness. The barn is said to be insured for $150. The live stock carried some insurance but it is not stated how much.

Dr. A. P. Hanchett has taken rooms in Mr. Hazard's residence, No. 706 First avenue, for the summer. Office still at No. 12 Pearl street. Hours 10 to 12 a. m., 2 to 4 and 7 to 8 p. m.

A Minden Blaze.
 Early yesterday morning Nicholas Piper, of Minden, Iowa, on leaving his house to care for his horses discovered his barn had during the night burned to the ground. In the barn were four horses and about 400 bushels of corn, all of which were destroyed. It is supposed that lightning about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, struck the barn and set fire to it. It was located some five or six rods from his house. The loss is between $800 and $1,000 being partly covered by insurance. The horses were insured for $500.

Selling County Bonds.

The county board met yesterday to open the bids for the county bonds, to be sold for the purpose of building the court house. The bids were more numerous, and were more favorable than was expected. The supervisors were made happy over their success in disposing of the bonds, and the practical tribute paid to the credit of Pottawattamie county. The successful bidders were Coffin & Stanton, of New York. The bonds amount to $120,000, divided into three series of $40,000 each, one series with eight years, the next nine years, the next ten years. Coffin & Stanton offered to pay a total premium of $2,230, if interest was fixed at 4 1/2 per cent; or $6,673 premium on the whole amount, with interest at 5 per cent. The former bid was considered the more favorable, and was accepted. The premium paid brings the interest down to 4 1/2 per cent. Mr. Stanton, one of the firm, was present in person, and arranged the details of the contract, taking $50,000 of the bonds at once, $40,000 next fall, and the balance one year from now, giving security to take the bonds at the time named and for the price offered. There were numerous other bidders. Among them was J. T. Stewart, of this city, who offered to take them at par, interest to be 4 1/2 per cent.

Lemp & Bros. & Co., of Cleveland, offered a premium of 4 1/2 per cent on the bonds, if they bore 5 per cent interest. James Oliver, of South Bend, Ind., offered a 2 per cent premium on the bonds, interest to be 5 per cent.

C. H. Venner & Co., of Boston, offered to pay $7.01 to 100 for 5 per cent bonds.

Cook & Co., of Des Moines, offered a 2 per cent premium on the first two series, the bonds to bear 4 1/2 per cent interest; the long time bonds to draw 5 per cent interest, on which they offered to pay a premium of $44.

Preston & Co., of Chicago, offered $2,508 premium, the bonds to bear 5 per cent interest.

N. W. Harris & Co., of Chicago, $338 premium, bonds to bear 4 1/2 per cent interest, semi-annual.

S. A. Keen & Co., Chicago, premium $3,180, bonds to bear 5 per cent interest.

Leonard & Jewett refrigerators at low prices at Cooper & McGehee's.

The New Canning Factory.

The new enterprise, known as the Council Bluffs Canning company, is rapidly getting its arrangements completed for having a stirring and successful season. The company has already contracted for all its material for canning tomatoes, corn, etc. The amount already contracted for amounts to 500 acres. Fourteen carloads of tin cans have been ordered. The machinery is arriving, and it is expected that steam will be on by the first of July, and that work will begin by the first of August. The farmers in this vicinity are taking hold of the enterprise with more enthusiasm than was even expected. The company has contracted with L. A. Caspar for nearly $1,000 worth of tomato plants. The canned goods from this factory will be sold over a wide extent of territory, reaching from Ohio to California. This canning factory will be the largest west of Baltimore. The capacity will be 120,000 cases, or 2,800,000 cans. In shipping 500 cases can be put in a car. From these figures some little idea may be gained of the extent of the enterprise. The buildings are in course of erection on the site selected, corner of Tenth avenue and Twelfth street. The basement of the main building is completed, and the work is now progressing on the superstructure. This building is to be 48x120 feet, three stories and basement. Another building, 40x60, is two stories and basement. A second story contains room for twelve car loads of cans. The main building is to be made fire-proof. The Northwestern railway has a sidetrack, and the B. & M. in Nebraska, also wants to run in a sidetrack for the accommodation of the western shipments. The officers of the company are S. Haas, president; George E. Keeling, treasurer; D. W. Archer, secretary and manager. L. Hammer, E. L. Shugart, J. P. Weaver and J. J. Brown are also largely interested. Mr. Archer has had a long and varied experience in this business, and is thoroughly familiar with all the details, so that the management will be a wise and successful one, beyond question. He is interested in a large canning factory in Chillicothe, Ill., and his brothers, and is also manager of the canning factory at Atlantic. The plant here is the most expensive and extensive of all, and the buildings will cost between $30,000 and $35,000. A few such enterprises will set this city into a boom.

A Jewelry Sneak.

A few days ago a sneak thief entered the residence of Mr. McVeagh, in Omaha, and took a gold watch and chain, and a gold neck chain. The loser placed in the hands of the police and second hand dealers here a description of the stolen jewelry, and the other night a young man sought to secure a loan at Mr. Goldstein's, on a chain which answered the description of one stolen. Mrs. Goldstein slipped out, and telephoned Marshal Guannella, who soon entered the store, and being in citizens' clothing, was not suspected by the fellow, who went right along with his negotiations. The chief of police and Officer Bewick soon arrived, and the fellow was nabbed. He insisted that the chain was given to him by his wife, and he gave his name as Boyd. He was held, and yesterday Mr. McVeagh came over here and fully identified the chain. He recognized the fellow, too, as one he had accidentally met in Omaha, and with whom he had a casual acquaintance. The fellow claimed that he was drunk when he took the jewelry, and that he had been drunk ever since. He said he could not tell what he had done with the watch and neck chain, and could not remember anything about selling them. It is learned that he sold the watch for eight dollars to a man living out of the city a short distance. The value of all the stuff taken amounts to about $100. Preparations are being made to take him back to Omaha to be tried there.

Water on Pearl Street.

There has been some trouble caused by water in basements on Pearl street, south of First avenue. Yesterday the steamers were employed pumping out the water from Casady's building, but the work was not very satisfactory. The water seemed to come in about as fast as it was pumped out. It seems that when the sewer was laid along Pearl street, the ground was not sufficiently tamped down, so that it amounted in fact to the digging of a ditch to be left open for the water to run down, and not finding any outlet it soaked through into the adjacent basements. The city has to keep filling in dirt from time to time, even now the recent rain has caused the surface to settle down, making bad holes. Those who have examined the condition of the street, express the opinion that the contractors should have been made to have tamped the dirt in more solidly, so as to prevent all this trouble. A great deal of the public work done here has been done under the inspection of men who seem to have let the contractors do as they pleased, as evidenced by the test of time. If the city only profits by these experiences, good will.

Breaking Up An Auction.

For about two months past there has been running on Broadway an auction store, stocked with cheap jewelry and notions. L. Colin and G. M. Levi seemed to be the men in charge. Yesterday they got into some wrangle about their accounts. Colin got out an attachment on the goods, and while he was trying to get them, Levi ran the goods out of the alley door and delivered them to A. Goldstein, claiming that he had sold them to Goldstein. Colin then had Levi arrested, and threats of Colin's arrest next followed. There was a hot season for about an hour, and goods, constables and auctioneers were badly mixed up.
