Immigration Tax. Feelish Lumber Workers.

CHICAGO, May 14 .- | Special Telegram.] The great strike out in the lumber region is nearing its end. This morning nearly every man in the crowds along Twenty-second street and in the vicinity of the yards in other sections carried with him his working apron as a sort of emblematic expression of his willingness to work. At the beginning of the next week it is confidently expected that all the yards and planing mills in that district will be running at their full capacity. The mills could start up to-day, as there is no difficulty in getting whatever lumber they need, but as the week is so far gone no special effort to resume before Monday will be made. The police guards have been having an easy time of it, and fears of any need of their protecting services are being rapidly dissipated. Mr. Van Schaick, the head of the lumber dealers committee, said this afternoon; "Most of the men will be taken back, but some of the leaders who got the men to strike, and are now trying to prevent their going back until some arrangement can be going back until some arrangement can be made whereby they themselves can get back too, are spotted, and will not be taken back under any circumstances."

Before noon the stampede by the men to return to work in the lumber yards was very pronounced, and it was evident that the war was over. Vessels that have been lying idle at the docks during the last fortnight were alive with men this morning, and the work of unloading was going ahead with the greatest activity.

Considering the cost of the strike, Mr. Van Schaick said: "The loss will all fall upon the laborers, who can least afford to bear it. In the two weeks of suspension of business, 100,000,000 feet of lumber less than should have been received here have been sent to Chicago. That means, so far as lumber men, planing mill men and other manufacturers are concerned, that in a diminished season the time lost and the delayed production must be made up in the six months that remain of are concerned, that in a diminished season the time lost and the delayed production must be made up in the six months that remain of the season. That can be easily done. The strike has not injured the marine interest, because we have so much lumber anyway, and that means vessels must carry as much in the shorter season as they would have carried if there had been no trouble, and the result is that they will be continuously employed and at better freight rates probably than they would have been if the men had not taken foreible vacation. The laborers, however, have lost the salary of 8,000 men at an average of $1.50 a day for twelve days, or in round numbers, $150,000, and they cannot make up when to that a total of the collateral interests which depend upon the prosperity of the men are considered, the total cost of this strike can be safely put at a quarter of a million dollars, the burden of which must be borne finally by the laborer."

"How long will it take to get business into good running order again?"

"About ten days. It takes that time to reorganize the forces at the beginning of every season, and as the strike came just when we organize the forces at the beginning of every season, and as the strike came just when we were open to begin that work, it must be done now. Seventy per cent of the forces employed in the lumber business need muscle. and time must always be taken to put that into the position where it can be used to the best advantage."

In the rush of events following the anarchical slaughter on Haymarket square, a very important subject for investigation has, up to Aside from the fact that policemen were moved down by the bomb, nothing has been submitted to explain the nature of that terrible instrument of destruction. The material is not at hand even yet to supply a perfectly correct description of the missile, but enough is known to demonstrate that it was con-structed with devilish ingenuity to fully accomplish the barbarous purposes of its manu

RESULTS OF THE BOMB.

All the victims of the bomb who were sent to the county hospital, from the time of their arrival have been under the care of attending surgeons, E. W. Lee and J. B. Murphy. While all the wounds produced by the infernal machine have the same general characteristic, each wound has special peculiarities, which, so to speak, individualize it. This is explained by the fact that in every case the which, so to speak, individualize it. This is explained by the fact that in every case the injuries were inflicted by metallic fragments of varying sizes and forms. This metal, while it resembles lead is more pliable, and it is thought to be a composite of solder and powdered glass. In every case where the missile, producing the wound in the body of the sufferer, from the bomb has been of the sufferer, from the bomb has been found, it has proved to be made of this metal, and though the size of the bomb is not definitely known, it is agreed that it was hollow and loaded with slugs of this deadly composition. The nature of the wounds show that it would be difficult to put in operation a more destructive agent than that employed by the anarchists. In all their experience the surgeons have not encountered anything to compare with it. to compare with it.

VIEWS OF THE SURGEONS.

"The wounds are very peculiar," said Dr.
Lee, "and so are the missiles that made them.
These have invariably been pieces of lead, all of them hollow, scooped out, and with ragged edges, suggesting to me more closely than anything else the appearance of a broken peanut shell. The wounds do not at all resemble bullet wounds, which are incisive and clean cut. The bomb slugs make jagged wounds, tearing their way through the wounds, tearing their way through the clothing into the body. On the surface the apertures seemed small, but on penetrating the skin cavities were found that would readily admit the finger, the muscles and tissues being so torn as to indicate that the lead had a revolving motion. Another neceliarity had a revolving motion. Another peculiarity in the action of these missiles is that in every case they carried into the wounds pieces of the clothing, and so greatly enhanced the danger of blood poisoning.

Guilty of Murder. CHICAGO, May 14 .- The inquest upon the bodies of Officers Michael Shehan and Fiavin, who died from injuries received in the Haymarket riot, began this afternoon. Evidence was given leading to implicate Fischer as the man who threw the bomb. On Fischer's person, when arrested, was a fulminating cap, used for explosion of dynamite. Detective Bonfield swore that Anton Hershberger, a printer in the Arbeiter Zeitung, set up the "revenge" circular, and when arrested had a builet hole in his coat. The same officer said that he could prove that both Fischer and Hershberger declared they were going to Haymarket square, and were going to attack the police if the inter came.

CHICAGO, May 14.—The verdict in the case of Officer Sheehan is similar to those returned in the preceding inquests upon the victims of the Hay Market riot, and holds Sheehan, Fielden and Schwab, and Parsons (if he can be arrested) to the grand jury upon the charge of being accessory to murder. vin, who died from injuries received in the

In the case of Officer Flavin, the verdict differs from these heretofore recorded. It finds that death was caused directly from ef-fects of a bomb instead of pistol shots and adds to the list of those previously held ac-cessories to marder the names of Adolph Fischer and Anton Hershberger.

The Lumber Strike Ends. Cutcago, May 14,-The strike in the lumber yands in the southwestern portion of the city was brought to a close to day. The employes returned on the old terms, 100 hours work and ten hours pay. Before moon the stampede of men to return to work in the himber yard was very pronounced. It was evident that the war was over. The principal impetus in this direction was the belief that the lumbermen would make no concessions beyond the offer of the executive committee. A number of men began to work yesterday. By this action they put to the test the threats of violence that had been made against those who started to work in advance of the order of the union. They went to their homes unmolested at the close of the day and returned to their employment. That the anarchists were idle seemed to be all that was necessary to encourage the large body, of men who were anxious to work to brave the anger of the union and at once they began to pour into the yards. Vessels that had been idle at the docks during the last fortnight were allive with men and the work of unloading is going ahead with the greatest activity.

Anarchists on Trial. CHICAGO, May 14.—Hyrnek Dejmek, an employe of the Arbeiter Zeitung, his brother, Voclav Dejmek, and Frank Novak, were before Justice White this afternoon charged with riot. Voclav Dejmek was also charged with assaulting Officer Casey. He was held in bonds of $3,000. Hynek and Novak were dismissed, but just as Hynek was leaving the dismissed, but just as Hynek was leaving the court room a posse of officers appeared and put him under arrest, charging him with assault upon Officer Casey. He will have a hearing to-morrow. Casey is the officer who was rescued at the foot of a lamp post upon which a crowd of infuriated Bohemians were about to hang him, believing that he had slain one of their countrymen during the assault on McCormick's factory.

the Wholesalers and Middlemen. CITICAGO, May 14.-A meeting of the bos tailors or middlemen held a meeting to-day at which some expressed willingness to grant an increase of 10 per cent in wages. Others present refused unless the wholesale dealers present refused unless the wholesale dealers conceded middlemen a corresponding advance. The manufacturers are, however, determined in their position, saying boss tallors can afford an increase to their employes and yet make money. Middlemen will hold another meeting, meanwhile a lockout of nearly 30,000 persons remployed in the manufacture of ready made clothing continues.

Most Rages Like a Madman. NEW YORK, May 14.-Herr Most raged like a madman yesterday in the tombs, and punctuated his denunciations of American law and the police by raking his hands through the shock of hair standing out from his head. He denounced as a lie the story that he was found under Lena Fischer's bed. Then he gave the police a tongue lashing full of emphatic adjectives.

Most's counsel appeared in court yesterday and demurred to the indictment. Nobody offers bail for Most, and he will probably have to remain in the tombs several months.

His capture was made on information furnished by one of the Arbeitor Zeitung employes. The police say there is no shadow of doubt of the man's guit, and the events of to-night throw some credibility on their statement. It is thought the arrest is one of the most important made yet, with the exception of the capture of the instigators of the horrible crime. Lings is said to have been in the employ of Spies and to have been since May 6. The missing man, at the police station, was put through a rigorous ex-amination, lasting three hours. At last Lingg made a statement, the extent of which the police refuse to disclose, and detectives in large numbers were hurriedly dispatched to Clybourn avenue for persons implicated by his confesion. It is understood that the police made no promises to Lingg, but gained their information by other means—just what, they

Story of the Broadway Boodle as Told Inspector Byrnes by Jachne. NEW YORK, May 14. - The taking of ev. dence in the trial of Alderman Henry W. Jachne, charged with having accepted bribe of $20,000 to vote in favor of granting the franchise to the Broadway Surface railroad company for the running of cars on Broadway from the Battery to Fourteenth street, was begun to-day. J. F. Toomey, clerk of the board of Aldermen, testified that Alderman Jachne voted to grant the franchise, Alderman Charles B. Walte, who presided at the memorable meeting, and who recently made a voluntary state ment concerning the granting of the franchise to the authorities, and has since been kept a prisoner in the house of the assistant district attorney, said he was interested in the Broadway franchise and did what he could to push it on account of his friendship for James A, Richmond, its president.

LIDDY'S LITTLE TRICK.

James M. Liddy, who on August 25 procured an injunction forbidding aldermen to proceed further in the Broadway railroad matter, testified that he brought suit against the Broadway surface road for his brother, John H. Liddy, on August 29. He gave a consent to the discontinuance of it. There was no money paid to him for the release, but there was paid $12,500 to his brother, John H. Liddy.

The police inspector, Thomas Byrnes, who played upon Jachne's confidence and got him to make damaging admissions which led to his arrest, was sworn, and told the story of how he worked himself into Jachne's confidence.

PUMPING AN INNOCENT.

In Washington, at the time of President Cleveland's inauguration, Jaehne told him that Billy Maloney, the reading elerk of the board, had made $100,000 to $150,000 because he had handled all the money and was not the man to do it for nothing. In 1885 the witness had several talks with Jaehne up to the time of his arrest. In the latter part of October, 1885, they talked about the Broadway railroad, and the witness told defendant that they (the aldermen), if they were not very careful, would all be sent to prison through Maloney, who was going around talking about the money that had been given them for their votes.

Witness had another conversation with defendant at the city hall a couple of days be-Witness had another conversation with defendant at the city hall a couple of days before the aldermen testified before the senate committee. Jachne said that things were in a dreadfully bad state. The witness replies that he had told him they (the aldermen) would get into trouble through his evidence, but any way he could serve him he would be glad to do so. Jachne asked him to find out what District Attorney Martine was doing, and whether there was going to be any indictments. The witness told him that Walte, Fulgraff and Miller had been then promised immunity if they told all they knew. Jachne visited him at his house by appointment that evening, and in further conversation said that the aldermen named knew he did different ways, some at the city hall, others different ways, some at the city hall, others in bar rooms and all around. The witness suggested that if Jachne could get some facts implicating Waite, Fullgraff and Miller, he implicating Waite, Fullgraff and Miller, he could go to the grand jury and have them indicted and thus head them off.

Jachne thought that a good idea, and said that he could do it if he could make connection with Maioney. When asked whether Maloney had left the money he was to distribute in his (Jachne's) safe for one night, the latter admitted it, saying that Maloney came to his store under the influence of liquor, and he took charge of the money for him.

The following Wednesday the witness made arrangements to have Jaehne come to his office. Jaehne came, and Byrne arranged matters so as to have the conversation carried on within the hearing of two detectives in an adjoining room. Jaehne began by denying the rumor that he intended to run away, but admitted that he had spoken of doing so to a man named Harney. He said he had been unable to make connection with Maloney. The witness then asked him if he was sure that each of those who voted for the Broadway franchise got $20,000, and he answered that they had. Jaehne in voted for the Broadway franchise got $20,000, and he answered that they had. Jachne in a short time looked at his watch and said he had an engagement up town. The next day the witness arrested him. The inspector was cross-examined at some length, the general purport of the questions being to throw discredit on him as an officer. Detective Cosgrove, one of the men who overheard Jaeline's admissions, corroborated the inspector's account of that interview. They Were Not Parricides. A Mysterious Death.

FALLS CITY, May 14.- [Special Telegram.] -A corpse discovery was made by a tramp about 20 years of age, named William Coghland, who at once notified Dave Lowe, the section foremam, of the fact. Coroner Ryan was at once notified and immediately proceeded to the spot and removed the body to the freightroom of the depot where a hasty examination was made. The body was that of a young man of about 20 years of age, smooth face, dark complexion and about five feet in height. A coilin was procured and the corpse at once placed there and removed to one of the jury rooms. In the court house Coroner Ryan empanelled a jury and Drs. A. B. Newkirk and C. W. Bryson were appointed to conduct the medical examination. Upon removing the clothing of the deceased a couple of account books were found, on one of which appeared the name of L. Loudy, Baldknob, Arkansas,

THOSE HE LOVED.

Two pictures were also found which bore the names of Arkansas City artists. One was of an elderly woman, probably about 45 years old, and, as the features resembled those of the young man, it is supposed to be his mother. The other is of a young woman about 20 years of age, holding in her arms a baby boy, possibly his wife or sister. The dead man was seen about the Missouri Paqlic depot yesterday evening about dusk, and had some conversation with Dave Lowe, in which he stated he was a railroad man, and that he had worked in Texas and had been hunting for work for a long time without success. This was the last seen of him until his dead body was found. When found he was in a pile of hay about in the center of the car, lying on his right side. His legs were drawn up in a cramped position. During the examination the physicians removed the lungs, heart and stomach, and found everything in a perfectly healthy condition, with the exception of the lungs, which were slightly congested, as though from a cold. The jury returned a verdict of death from causes unknown. It is thought that his death may have been caused by lightning. The coroner telegraphed the mayor of Bald Knob, but has received no answer. The remains will be held until something more is learned of his relatives.
