

GREAT GATHERING AT THE CLOTHING STORE OF THE TWO ORPHANS

To analyze clothing under the direction of the citizens of Omaha, embracing all the best people, it was found that after analyzing the stock of 15 clothing stores the official report shows that the large number of clothing houses charge too great a percentage of profit, and the close prices and the good goods sold by the Two Orphans is worthy of consideration of every buyer of clothing, and the committee request every person in search of clothing to select from the stock kept by the

A Widow's Wail. I show by my mournful tones And by my doleful features How much I miss the loved one...

HONEY FOR THE LADIES. Dress skirts are more full than formerly. Bonnets are small, and the trimmings are increasing in height...

draperies and bodies are of the narrow ones, with collar and cuffs of the broad. In two shades these dresses are quite effective. Plain jackets corresponding in color to the dress and edged with wooden bands of a fine braided pattern are worn by young girls...

Miss Kate Steneman, a sister of General Steneman of California, and a graduate of the State Normal school at Albany, has successfully passed an examination for admission to the bar, and if she is permitted to practice she will be the first female lawyer in New York.

Rest. My feet are wearied and my hands are tired, My soul oppressed— And I desire, what I have long desired— For rest—for rest.

PEPPERMINT DROPS. Ground rents—Earthquakes. Signs of Spring—New spring goods just received.

My way has wound across the desert years, My path, and through the flowing of hot tears I pine for rest.

Life's sun is setting, and I see the shore Where I shall rest.

A dead shark was washed ashore in Charleston the other day. Two lawyers, after weeping over it, buried it with all the honors due to a member of the bar.

Editor (anxiously)—"Well, doctor, what is the matter with me? Nothing serious, I hope." Doctor—"It is, well, you are in a bad way. Your circulation is very low."

Editor (excitedly)—"Why, sir, I have at least $9,000 a day. You have been reading a rival sheet, sir."

Editor (excitedly)—"Why, sir, I have at least $9,000 a day. You have been reading a rival sheet, sir."

their congressman on the floor. "I can't distinguish him," said one after a hopeless observation. "Of course you can't," was the honest reply.

Detroit Tribune: "A man from the country went into a second-hand store on Jefferson avenue yesterday, and asked the proprietor to show him a spring overcoat. Certainly, he was just putting down the braces on shoring up." Suddenly there was a terrific hammering and a general rumpus in the rear room.

Why turn away so coldly? This coyness, dear, is new. I used to take quite boldly For rest—for rest.

What ails my promised bride? You vowed to love me dearly Whatever might betide. Why do you act so queerly? What ails my promised bride?

"The" I've never negation, And think, love, from your clutch, You proffered osculation. You would please me very much, You have not guessed the reason Your darling turns away— The onion now 's in season; I ate sixteen today."

Alexander Salvini proposes to star in his father's roles next season. Philadelphia has raised $50,000 for an auxiliary to the American Opera company.

Almeida proposes to undertake comic opera in English during the summer season. The Mikado was sung with the chorus of 50 voices at Amherst college last week.

Sydney Rosenfeld's comedy, "The British Trap," is to be given a new trial next week at the New York Bijou theater. The receipts of Mary Anderson's American season are given by the management as $540,000 up to the present time, an average of about $11,400 a week.

"Donnez" is the unique title chosen for a truly American comic opera by one Mr. Lombard, composer, and Messrs. Magnus and Bunner, librettists. Italian opera will be resuscitated and exhibited for a season of six or eight weeks in London. Patti, Albani, Faure and Gayerre are announced as constellations.

Rudolph Aronson has closed arrangements with H. C. Bunner and Wm. J. Henderson for the translation of Andran's "Sermont D'Amour" into English. The city of Guatemala contains sixty thousand inhabitants. Last winter, a French opera troupe played a two months' engagement to crowded houses every night. Guatemala has electric lights, telephone, street cars and good hotels.

Col. McCaul's "Don Cesar" goes very well at Wallack's New York theatre. Miss Rice's singing being extravagantly praised. The Kenole declares that the performance in all respects save that of size surpasses those given by the American Opera company.

pany, is the youngest and most promising son of the late E. A. Southern. He played 200 nights in the "Private Secretary" in London, and when the play was brought on in that city was selected to create the role of "Clay Farrington," but "The Private Secretary" management would not release him.

Helen Dauvray is not to produce Bronson Howard's new play until next December, three months later than she expected. It will first be brought out at some theater in New York city. Her next season will begin on September 21 at the Park theatre in Boston, where she will play in "One of Our Girls" for two weeks. She will then visit Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Cincinnati, and Chicago.

Operative stars have always received large salaries. As long ago as 1877 Pasta received $18,750 for a three months' season in London, besides a full benefit. Malibran received $25,000 for a similar engagement in 1838, and Alboni a like sum several years later, while Sontag earned $20,000 the summer of the spring and summer season of 1849, also in London. Rubini died worth about $4,000,000, city and country, at the age of 60 in Calcutta, however, made more money by singing than any other vocalist of past or present times. His net fortune was $1,000,000. A few years before his death his jewelry and plate, for the most part presented to him by his admirers, was valued at $2,300,000.

RELIGIOUS. There are 65 places for religious worship in the city. The first revision of the Malagasy bible has been completed after nine years labor. In London, with a population of 4,070,000, the number of Roman Catholics is only 130,000. The late Rev. James H. Brown of Baltimore was one Methodist minister who had no money. His estate, however, was $2,000,000. The Rev. Henry C. McCook's Tabernacle Presbyterian church in Philadelphia was dedicated last Sunday. It cost more than $200,000.

San Jones is imitating Moody now. He has engaged a singer who is to travel with him and do the Sankey portion of Mr. Jones' entertainment. Deacon J. W. Dunick, of Hartford, Conn., was recently given a reception in commemoration of his seventy years' membership of the First Baptist church in that city.

There are said to be sixteen million boys and girls in the United States, and only six million of them are in the Sunday schools. There is a mission held that children can work. A Colorado pastor offended his congregation by some remarks about the Chinese, whereupon a do cent was declared and the officers resigned, thus leaving no one to collect money.

Rev. Joseph H. Churchhill has authority for the statement that the Protestant religion has existed in Ireland for six centuries, antedating the reformation by almost three hundred years. Father Haycinthe Loyson met with such a degree of sympathy and support from the people and members of the Catholic clergy, during a course of Lenten lectures, that he has given up his idea of leaving his church at Paris.

The whole congregation of a free church in Scotland, who were thinking of calling a certain minister to their pulpit, hired a special train and went down en masse to Dundee to hear him preach. Such an incident could hardly occur outside of Scotland. It is all but fifty years since was held the first general assembly of Victoria, Australia. Arrangements, in consequence, "The Minute" for the worthy celebration of the jubilee. Sixty thousand pounds are to be raised for home sustentation and church extension schemes.

The Methodist Protestant year book for 1885 gives the following statistics: Two thousand and seventy-seven ministers, 229 local preachers, 123,453 members, 4,071 probationers. There are 1,715 church edifices and 205 parsonages, with 208 churches estimated to be $3,148,911. There are 2,355 Sunday schools, with an aggregate of 85,459 scholars.

In Ecuador there is a church, it is said, for every 150 inhabitants, and 10 per cent of the population are priests, monks or nuns. "The people control the church in all its branches, and 272 days of the year are observed as feasts or fast days. One-fourth of the property belongs to the church, and twenty-five per cent of the people can neither read nor write.

Notwithstanding recent deaths, there are more in England, no less than eight hundred peers in holy orders—the earl of Mulgrave, the marquis of Normandy, rector of Worsley, the duke of Devonshire, and earl of Hereford; Lord Seaford, rector of Kildeston; Earl de la Warr, rector of Wiltshire; earl of Carlisle, rector of Londesborough; earl of Stamford, rector of Doncaster; Viscount Moleworth, Lord Hawke, Lord Plunket and Lord Forester.

Yamhill, Ore., has nine robust young bachelors who are fervently praying that some gentle cyclone will wait a few marriageable damsels inside the corporation limits. It is asserted by several German newspapers that the queen is desirous of bringing about a marriage between the Grand Duke of Hesse and the Duchess of Albany, widow of Prince Leopold.

Charles Elizabeth Caddock (Miss Murray) is now credited with capturing a tall Tennesseean while she was collecting stories and incidents of Tennessee mountain life. The Buffalo lawyers propose to make President Cleveland a wedding present, and have selected a son-in-law for the bridegroom, which is being engraved, as about the right thing. The cost will be between $1,000 and $2,000.

Frankie Polson's first lover is now the Rev. Charles Townsend, a popular clergyman of Lansingburgh, N. Y., who is married to an estimable lady and is doing a good work in the field in which he finally chose to spend his life.

G. M. Dupree, of Warwick, Ga., is sixty years of age, and has been married eighteen times a grandfather. Three months ago he sent his friend James Hobby out in search of a wife for him. He told him not to pick a young one, for she might be elderly, but to find, if possible, a nice, chunky woman "mid into thirty years old." Hobby was successful, and Mr. Dupree and Miss Sallie Jones were recently married.

The most richly apparelled bride of last week in New York was Mrs. William Appleton, whose veil was a marvel of the lace-maker's skill, and must have sent more than one young woman to a hospital for the blind before it was finished. It is said to have been thought of for the Princess Beatrice, but was rejected by the queen on account of the flared bottom.

A couple from Bangor, Me., were married near Boston some weeks ago and started homeward by rail, leaving their gifts to follow in the baggage car. The bride's trunk went to pieces on the coast of Maine. They have recently learned that the box of presents had drifted ashore, and that the silver tableware was in use among the fishermen all along the coast, while the less serviceable pictures and ornaments decorated their cabins. The owners have in quest.

IMPIETY. Noah made the ark light and could not have been in utter darkness during the flood. A sermon is always short to the woman who has a new bonnet to church for the first time. Rev. Mr. Wight, a young pastor at Bedford, Ohio, is being tried by a church committee of married women for hugging and kissing young girls.

A pastor in Boston, a Sunday or two ago, addressed the Congregationalists, and at the beginning of his sermon, and, looking up at the rear gallery, remarked that as soon as the choir got through with its talk he would begin his. Two factions in a colored church in Columbia, S. C., had a light last Sunday in which pistols took the place of maces. Several worshippers in a church in Missouri were badly wounded, and the meeting was finally broken up by the police.

An "antagonism" has been patented, presumably for the benefit of the citizen who, through many weary years of moving, may, with both hands full of the hammer and carpet and his mouth full of carpet tacks, has still striven to do justice to his feelings. "Do you think the world will ever come to an end, mamma?" "The Bible says so, my child," was the pious reply. "Yes, but mamma, do you believe it will come to an end before the kid, I certainly will, child." "Which end, mamma?" The youngster was sent off to bed with the conundrum unanswered. There was a large attendance at Friday night's prayer meeting at the Blue Light tabernacle. After the exercises were over and the benediction had been pronounced, Jim Webster got up and addressed the pulpit as follows: "Fatsou, does yer know dat dar is gwinner be a eulogized scurion to Houston next Lord's day?" "I has heard so, Brodder Webster." "Well, parson, a two-third majority of dis congregation an desirous ob desecrating de nex' Lord's day by gwinner Houston on de scurion, and as de spokesman I has to submit a proposition for your consideration." "What an dat proposition?" "De proposition an ter de effect dat if you will sense de congregation from attendin de services in de mornin', de congregation will scuse you from 'tendin' de services in de eves."

EDUCATIONAL. Cambridge university declines to race with Harvard. Yale is to have a post graduate school in political science. Nevada pays her male school teachers an average salary of $140 per month; her teachers, $35. Preparations are being made to make the Wesleyan commencement at Cornell university the most brilliant in her history.

The class of 1883, Bowdoin college, will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary by a reunion at the college building in June. Of the twenty-six graduates nine are living. Harvard college celebrates its 250th anniversary on the 7th of next November, with a large amount of school places. Russell Lowell and the governor and state officers will be invited to take part.

After many delays the new college gymnasium at Williams has been opened for use. It is a beautiful building of gray stone, standing in the center of the college buildings, and will be a large amount—rumor places it at $150,000—and also make the institute her residential center, in which the building will be considerably increased—to about $500,000.

The Troy Times is authority for the following: "Before the recent death in New York of Mrs. McCroskey, a sister of the late Mr. McCroskey of this city, she had stated to a friend residing in Troy that it was her purpose to bequeath a large amount of money to the Williams college. Her will has not yet been offered for probate, but it is stated that it contains a provision by which the college will receive a large amount—rumor places it at $150,000—and also make the institute her residential center, in which the building will be considerably increased—to about $500,000."

THE ROMANCE OF A MODEL. A Wayward Husband Finds His Wife by Means of a Fine Painting. New York Journal: "One of the most remarkable incidents happened to an artist friend of mine who has since moved to Boston," said a prominent painter. "He had just opened a studio on Fourteenth street and not knowing the ropes very well advertised for a model. They came in shoals from all quarters of the city—old, young and indifferent—but none of them seemed suited for the figure he had in view.

"One day when he was getting about tired out hunting around for a subject a young woman dressed entirely in black applied to him for work. She said she had never posed before, but was very destitute and would gladly work for me anything to support herself and her little girl.

"There was something about her face that pleased him, so he engaged her on the spot, though not half believing the story she told him. But he grew interested in her case way, and decided on making use of her. The subject of the picture was 'night' and represented a female figure with black draperies half reclining on the moon with stars on either hand. The picture was completed in an order for a Broadway dealer's store for several weeks and then sold for $1,500 to an Englishman. The purchaser came around to see the artist a few days later to give him an order for a companion picture to represent 'morning.' He remarked casually that the first work interested him strangely, inasmuch as the face reminded him strongly of a woman he had known some years ago. He asked the artist if the face was taken from life, and being assured that it was, and getting the address of the model, set out to find her.

"Well, the upshot of the matter was the purchaser of the picture turned out to be none other than her husband, who had deserted her in South America some years ago, and who, repenting of his desertion had been hunting high and low for her several years. I think this story is good enough for a novel," said the artist, as he lit a fresh cigarette. "Some facts in the lives of our best artists would make excellent pictures."
