Investigating the Union Pacific. The state board of railway commissioners continued their session yesterday, inquiring into the truth of the charges made against the Union Pacific. The railway officials who were present the evening before were in attendance, and a large number of business men and shippers were present more or less of the time, the parlors of the Ogden house being filled to an even uncomfortable fullness.

Trace of him was again lost, but it being learned that he had an uncle named Clark living in Florence, the officers decided to go there. Officers O'Brien and Wightman started out on horseback. It seemed that Stilen took a freight train and got off about half a mile from Florence to walk in, doubtless fearing that the trains would be watched. The officers were given hospitable treatment by Mrs. John Henry Clark, and after being served with a dinner, and being able to walk in, Stilen was arrested and his horses to be traced their way. They noticed a man coming down over the hill, a short distance from Florence, and as he approached he was recognized. The officers rode each side of him and called on him to "throw up his hands."

Expressing Thanks. COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA, May 22, 1886. We, pastors and members of the Danish and Norwegian Baptist churches, having had the privilege to be present at the dedication of the Scandinavian Baptist church of this city, and knowing the struggle and sacrifice made by the pastor, Rev. H. A. Reichenback and his dear church and congregation in erecting that noble structure; therefore Resolved, That we express our gratitude to the citizens of Council Bluffs for their great generosity by assisting so largely in the erection of the church.

W. P. AYLSWORTH, HOUSE MOVER AND RAISER. Brick building any kind raised or moved and satisfaction guaranteed. Frame house moved on little flat tracks - the best in the world.

Strawberry festival at the Baptist church Thursday evening, May 27. Literary exercises in charge of the Ladies' Societies for the church on Thursday evening from 6 o'clock until 10 o'clock, to which all are invited.

The examination of witnesses was rather uninteresting to the ordinary listener. There was little to be learned beyond what was explained and detailed in our paper. The railway officials were quite cautious in their answers, surrounding their replies with so many parenthetical, explanatory and conditional clauses that while one might understand clearly one thing, another would understand an entirely different thing, and quite as clearly. There was a great deal, and yet a very little, brought out.

Resolved, That we express our gratitude to the citizens of Council Bluffs for their great generosity by assisting so largely in the erection of the church. That we especially render our thanks to the editors of the city papers for having so freely made notice in their columns of the building of said church, and thereby greatly helped forward the work. That we especially render our thanks to the city pastors, Rev. Dr. Cooley, of the Baptist church, Rev. Dr. McCreary, of the E. church, Rev. Dr. Crofts, of the Congregational church, and Rev. A. K. Bates, of the Presbyterian church, for their co-operation and for their most valuable services on the day of dedication. An occasion which will long be remembered.

Orange Blossoms. Yesterday at 5 p. m. Miss Mary Marshall, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Raymond A. Wells, of Brainard. Miss Marshall is a beautiful and charming young lady. She was born here and has numerous friends, who from their hearts will extend to her the kindest wishes and warmest congratulations. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall. Mr. Wells is a young gentleman of fine culture and splendid address. He is well known in this city and has won, at present he is holding a very responsible position with Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express line at Brainard. The Rev. G. W. Crofts officiated. On a card, which he presented to the couple, he had inscribed the following sentiment, to which all will heartily respond: "May Heaven bless the ties that bind in one your hearts today. A beautiful and kind, Sweet blossoms on your way."

Ball and examine my New Lines of Hosiery, Scotch Suitings, English Broadcloth & the Cheapest Line of New Noelsies! Pants ever shown in this city. 226 Broadway, Council Bluffs.

Mr. Joe Driesbach, who has served as manager of the Home Minister company, denies emphatically the claims of the dusky quartette, who have been the chief merry-makers of the company. He says that he has paid them more than he agreed to, instead of less, and that they have no occasion to complain. He says the four colored members of the troupe will no longer be connected with it, but that the rest of the organization will remain as now, but will not go out on the road until fall.

Chief Matthews' wound favored him a great deal yesterday and he was confined to his room. It is not thought to be of a serious nature, however.

Order your fire-works of the Mueller Music company, 100 Main street. Wholesale and retail. Mail orders promptly attended to.

Assaulted His Landlord. William Hawkins, a colored fellow, occupies one of Mr. J. C. Edwards' houses on Capitol avenue. He is not a desirable tenant, and for some time the landlord has been trying to oust him. Monday afternoon Mr. Edwards called upon Hawkins and gave him notice to vacate. Hawkins responded by grabbing an old iron pipe, and striking Mr. Edwards from the premises. A warrant was issued for the "coon's" arrest, and he was corralled by the cops. The case was called yesterday afternoon and tried. N. J. Burdman appearing for the plaintiff. The defendant was fined $10 and costs.

SWAN BROS., Dealers in Milch Cows. At Our Stock Yards. No 502 and 506 E. Broadway, Council Bluffs.

W. H. Beck, who is probably better known as "Tex," lost a fine black and tan pup on Monday morning, which he claims had been stolen from his home on Myrtle street. While he was walking up Broadway yesterday morning to his place of business, the old Lacy stand, he discovered his lost dog, "Jim," in the arms of a woman who was trying to conceal the dog under a shawl. "Tex" gently tapped her on the shoulder and told her he would relieve her of her burden; that he was pleased that he did not find the dog in the custody of a man, the woman simply saying, "Is it your dog?"

A Novel Matinee. An especially attractive method of giving the public a practical illustration of the merits of an article that was adopted yesterday at the grocery store of Kintz & Kleebs by the agent for Coraline and Hofsford's baking powder. The purpose of these exhibitions are to call public attention to the virtues of a new cereal which is used in connection with Hofsford's phosphatic baking powder. The exhibition will be given again to-day at Kintz & Kleebs, No. 345 Broadway. Every lady should call and receive a sample.

CANDLES WERE IN THE BOND. Salvini Exacted the Dps, Notwithstanding He Had Gas. The charge by Charles A. Chizzola against the tragedian Salvini, that he tricked him out of $140 worth of candles during the tour of this company, and that he was in possession of the same, was tried yesterday. The facts are as follows: It is customary in Italy in engaging an actor to stipulate in the contract exactly what shall be done on both sides. The dressing-rooms of theatres in that country are rarely supplied with gas, and so a provision is commonly made in the bargain that a certain number of candles shall be provided by the manager. This item was in the contract drawn up between Salvini and Chizzola for the American season, and they were to be of the best of wax tapers, costing about 25 cents each. Four were to be used every night, and the actor, Salvini, says that he had small heed to the matter, because he knew that gas would be found in all the theatres into which he would put his star, and he had no idea that the candles would be exacted from him and not required for immediate use. The son of Salvini, Alexander Salvini, holds on the contrary that the candles were as much in the bond as the cash, and that they were properly exacted according to the letter of the bond. Salvini did get his four candles per night, and in packed them carefully away in his trunk. They have gone to Italy along with his other effects.
