Joseph Cole and his wife, Emma, made their usual appearance in court yesterday morning, bearing the marks of the household war. Not long ago Emma and him, and went to living with another man. Arrests and rows followed one another and back again, and the courts were kept busy with a multiplicity of suits. Cole finally got a divorce from Emma, and the reconciliation lasted over Sunday. Yesterday morning they opened war, and while he was breaking the furniture she was clawing him. They were both arrested, and the case is on.

Odell Bros. & Co. are to tender the citizens of Council Bluffs a complimentary open air concert in Baylis park to-morrow evening. The Bavarian band has been engaged for the evening, and will give a program of music and songs. Everybody is invited to attend and enjoy the music freely. This is a good advertisement for Odell Bros. & Co., and at the same time affords the citizens an excellent chance to enjoy an evening of music and fresh air. It is hoped that this will be but the first of a summer series of such out-door entertainments, and that other business houses will follow the example thus set. Last year the citizens had such an open air concert, and others spoke very favorably of doing likewise, but the matter was dropped and the BEE was the only one of the season. It is to be noted that this season may see more than one.

Judgment Against the City.

The case of Mrs. Vernon against the city was given to the jury Saturday night, with instructions to bring in a sealed verdict, which they did Sunday morning.

The verdict was opened yesterday and was found to be against the city, amounting to the plaintiff $500. The plaintiff claimed much heavier damages than this on account of the injuries received by her in driving along Vaughan avenue last December. It appeared that she stopped the horse to wait for a train to pass, and the horse becoming uneasy backed, the buggy being pushed over the unprotected side of a bridge, throwing the plaintiff into a ditch and causing serious injuries.

JUDGMENT AGAINST THE CITY.

Second Annual Meeting of the Women's Association—Carving a Coat—Drowned White Bathing.

Christian Charity.

The Woman's Christian association held its second annual meeting yesterday afternoon. The following were chosen as officers:

President—Mrs. C. R. Allen.

Vice Presidents—Mrs. W. C. Stacy, Mrs. R. P. Sealy, Mrs. Dr. Green, Mrs. Day.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Dr. Montgomery.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Don. A. Just.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. B. Atkins.

The reports of the several officers were read and approved. The following were read and approved. The following were read and approved. The following were read and approved.

Before our summer vacation began we decided to hire the parlors of the Baptist church for our meetings, which we did, paying 50 cents for each time used. If necessary to have the room warmed. Otherwise the Baptist society generously donated its use. This made us a pleasant home, so cozy and warm, with tables, song books and organ at our disposal. But notwithstanding the comfort of our surroundings, interest again ebbed. On the 2d of November it seemed to us never greater, and two or three of us went to the meeting with the expectation of its being the last. But one with us, Mrs. Merritt, now in Dakota, who seemed inspired with a power from above. So deep and earnest was her opening prayer that our hearts were thrilled with new hope and the clouds seemed to be swept from our sky. At that meeting the suggestion was made by our members which resulted in the Harvest Home festival at that and a subsequent meeting at the home of our secretary, the arrangements were completed and reports received from the societies of young people who so nobly and ably assisted. Besides the articles purchased with cash, sixteen sacks of flour with groceries and provisions to the value of $100, were donated to and distributed from the Harvest Home festival; making, with cash received, an aggregate of about two hundred and fifty dollars, including new and second-hand clothing.

To-day we reach the second milestone on our journey of life as an association. This anniversary finds us less in numbers, but fully as strong as we were a year ago for while some names have dropped from our roll others have been added which have given perhaps more strength. Our year's labors have not been great, yet they have enlarged our sphere of doing good, and extended our influence in those lines into which our work seems to have led.

During the oppressive heat of July and August last we adjourned for six weeks, and thought we renewed our work with greater zeal for the brief respite. Sometimes the clouds have been thick and dark over our heads, and twice during the year the discouragements have been so great that the question of disbanding ourselves, or at least of abandoning the field, has been raised. But each time we have entertained the thought new work has been suggested to us, and enthusiasm has been rekindled, verifying the words of the poet: "Behind the clouds the sun is still shining." The fire has never gone out on our hearts and in our hearts at this time.

In our dispensing of these charities we made quite stringent rules. We found it necessary to do so to avoid wholesale imposition.

After the charity ball committees began their donations we rested for days, as we soon discovered they were duplicating our gifts. This is why we still have money left in the treasury. Since then our charities have been confined to the sick and suffering. It has seemed as if the small sum we had to do with was like the widow's cruse of oil, blessed and multiplied.

For this same reason also, we resolved among ourselves not to publish a statement at that time of our receipts, but quietly to relieve all cases we could learn of and reach. In some cases we refused aid, when there was nothing but sickness or children in the family. It seemed in most instances that it was not charity worthily bestowed. There is no doubt we made some enemies, but we also made many friends among the poor people, and find some among them worthy and honest. We wish they were as ready to receive the bread of life from us as they are the loaves and fishes. That branch of our work which touches the K. C. C. A. had no leader till near the close of the year, when Mrs. Harry Curtis was elected chairman. Since then one sociable has been undertaken, but the evening was stormy and few ladies attended. We also have provided a woman to clean the rooms as often as is considered necessary. Our main strength has been devoted to the operation of an industrial school for girls. A large quantity of cloth was given from the fire in Cooke & Morgan's store, which we utilized in teaching girls to make into garments for themselves and for their needy friends on the roll. About February, Mr. E. L. Shugart gave us the use of his vacant house and would have given us the building had we a lot on which to move it. Our great need is for a permanent suit of rooms, which we use as circumstances require. Our efforts now are to be directed toward procuring a house of our own and to hope that another anniversary may find us with this goal accomplished. Nor material required in our sewing school are we greatly indebted to Mr. Simon Eisenman, of Henry Eisenman & Co., who has done liberally to our aid and other citizens, especially ladies, have given us material to carry on our work so that we have found it necessary to expend only a small amount in the sewing school. Our pressing need is for more teachers. The classes are so large that the few teachers we have cannot be thorough in their work. Our thanks are tendered the Nonpareil Bazaar and Herald for free advertising and kindly notices. May their circulation never grow less. Comparing our work with that of our first year we have done less spiritual work, held fewer meetings, but the amount of benevolent work has been in excess of that of last year. We trust this year may bear greater and more lasting deeds upon its wings, and when we meet in eternity we may see that its fruits are perennial.

Mrs. P. J. MONTGOMERY, Cor. Sec'y.

Municipal Matters.

The city council held its regular monthly meeting last night. Aldermen Bennett, Danforth and Hammer were present.

A large batch of bills was ground through.

Mr. A. C. Graham called attention to the fact that a move was on foot to cut down a portion of Graham avenue forty feet, reducing its width to sixty feet. He stated that Mr. Shugart, Mr. J. T. Hart and Mr. J. W. Rodefer were claiming that they had title to this part of the street. Referred to the city attorney.

Park Commissioner O'Leary called attention to the plan of opening up a street from Graham avenue to the lower part of Fairmount park. He understood that all the property owners would give right of way except Mr. Hawthorne, who would give 100 feet providing the city would pay $100 for the rest, $177. Referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

The matter of Cherry street, one-half of which was taken out of the city some time ago, was also referred to that committee.

The city engineer reported estimates on contract of C. R. Mitchell for $1,406.81, and on contract of J. P. Goulden for $2,207.79.

The city attorney called attention to the suit of Vernon vs. the City, in which judgment has been given against the city for $500. He considered the case a victory for the city. The plaintiff was anxious to get a new trial, believing the damages too small. He did not think the city would gain by having the verdict set aside. He reported evidence in the case.

The new canning company asked that Mr. Ernst be appointed special policeman, to serve without pay from the city. Granted, on his filing the proper bond.

George E. Smith and George E. Smith for opening alley from Madison to Shugart, near the new school building. Presented and referred.

John Sam Keo petitioned the council to take action to prevent his lot being washed away by the creek. Referred.

Petition of citizens asking for repeal of the ordinance forbidding use of street hose between 8 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m. Signed by 130. Referred to committee with instructions to draft a new ordinance.

Petition for establishing drinking fountain at Broadway and First street. Referred.

The Women's Christian association asked the city to donate a lot, promising to erect a building thereon for a charitable and industrial school for girls. Referred to finance committee.

Citizens complained that Tenth street from Fifth avenue to Tenth avenue, and Ninth street south of Fifth avenue, were not provided with water for sewers and drainage. Water was stagnant and a nuisance. Referred to committee on streets and alleys.

Complaint was made of waterway of alley in rear of Bevere house, by Sixth street. Referred.

Citizens protested against low grade on Tenth avenue, between the old creek and the new ditch, and asked for a partial fill. Referred.

A resolution was presented appropriating $100 to aid in defraying the expenses of the fire department in attending the state tournament at Dubuque. Some of the aldermen objected on the ground that it was illegal to make such an appropriation. The resolution was lost, Aldermen Bennett and Danforth voting for it. Aldermen Hammer and Keller voting no.

Property owners on a petition for opening of Fifth avenue to Bluff street. It was decided to have appraisers determine the cost.

Alderman Bennett presented a resolution for the construction of a large catch basin at the corner of Willow avenue and Fourth street, to be twenty-five feet long, and of ample dimensions. It was stated that the property owners in that vicinity threaten to enjoin the construction of such a catch basin, as the cleaning out of this basin would be a nuisance. Mr. Bennett thought that this should be done before Fourth street was paved. It was either that or else a new sewer would have to be built from Broadway to Willow avenue. If the move was enjoined then the paving should be stopped. Referred until this evening.

The clerk stated the time for receiving bids for grading Washington avenue had expired, and no bids received.

The city engineer was instructed to advertise for bids for paving with coal blocks: Pearl street, from Broadway to its intersection with Main street; First avenue from Main to Pearl street; Willow avenue from Main to Pearl street; Fifth avenue from Main to Pearl street; Fourth street from Broadway to Willow avenue; Broadway from First to Oak street.

Quizzing About the Queer.

Yesterday an examination was had before United States Commissioner Hunter as to the two men arrested at Weston for passing counterfeit money. They gave their names as Charles Collins and Timothy Ragan. Collins admitted that he had been known as Link Hill, and that he had been called by other nicknames, each new place of residence furnishing him with a new name. He had worked at Sioux City until lately. He came here and located on Tenth avenue near Eighth street, having for his housekeeper a dusky woman. Ragan also claims Sioux City as his home, and says that after working in the packing house there, he drew his pay, came to Omaha, spent his money and arrived in Council Bluffs dead broke. He concluded that he would go to Des Moines and see if he could not get work there. He fell in with Collins, and stopped at his house a few days. On Friday last the two started out on foot. Ragan had no money, and after walking a short distance Collins told him that he wished he would carry his money for him, as he had no pocket without holes, and he feared to lose it. Ragan took the money, ten silver dollars, not knowing it was counterfeit. Collins told him that he had had better eleven silver dollars in Omaha for $2, but even this statement, according to Ragan's story, did not arouse any suspicion that the money was counterfeit which he was carrying in his pocket. On reaching Sweigart's place, near Park's mill, Collins bought two cigars, passing one of the counterfeit dollars, and getting back the change in good money. They went on to Weston and were there overtaken by Mr. Sweigart and arrested. Ragan went to a spot near the depot and hid the money he had, and denied having had any. He was afterwards attempted to explain this action by saying that Collins told him to do so, and he thought that it must be that Collins was owing some bill there, and wanted to get out of paying it. The hidden money was found, and then the young man admitted that they knew it was counterfeit, but that they had bought it in Omaha. They are both now lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury. It is thought that they were the makers of the counterfeit coins, but that they were getting rid of what they could of it was evident. The colored woman with whom Collins had been stopping was also arrested, but there was little evidence against her. An examination of her trunk, which had been left at the Northwestern depot, revealed the presence of a bar of lead and a bar of some sort of composition, but beyond this nothing was discovered, and there was no evidence of her having passed any of the queer.

A Really Big Show.

Cole's big shows draw a greater crowd here yesterday than has been seen on circus day in a long time. The tents were filled to overflowing, despite their mammoth proportions, and the crowds were no less delighted than in Omaha. The words of praise given in the BEE yesterday were found to be fully warranted, and were heartily endorsed by the Council Bluffs people. The features of the show this year are in many respects novel, and in all respects excellent. Cole has made himself solid with the people of this vicinity, and whenever he sets a date for this place he may look for a jam.

A New County Attorney.

The county board of supervisors met yesterday afternoon for their regular June session. One of the most important items of business was the reception of the resignation of Colonel J. H. Keatley as county attorney. The reason for this resigning was that he is so occupied with the Brown impeachment and other business that he could not give proper attention to the duties of county attorney. The board accepted the resignation, and proceeded to elect a successor. W. H. Ware was thus elected, receiving four out of five votes. He entered at once upon the discharge of his duties.
