Some sensational claims. The high wedding to-day—talk of Rev. Dr. McCreary for a college president—unexpected business changes.

The punishment meted out to the children for little offenses is said to be by far too severe. The manager himself calls the offending child into his room and there chastises it.

Another cause of complaint is that the children are not being properly educated and trained. Three hours of the forenoon are said to be devoted to teaching the children. They are mainly taught gospel hymns and taught to repeat the first and twenty-third psalm.

It is claimed that little time is spent on teaching the children anything of the accomplishments as will serve to make them suitable for presenting a pleasing public exhibition. Cases are cited of children in the home, 6 and 7 years old, who do not know their names.

The matron is said to be a very worthy woman, but she has the assistance simply of a colored woman who has two children in the home. She gets a little help from the two colored women.
