More Sensations.

One of the most sensational affidavits which the celebrated Smith-Lowy suit has yet brought out was filed in the United States circuit court vesterday The document is a thoroughly interesting one and tends to make the case look a trifle dark for Haiman Lowy and his son-inlaw, Lewis Cole. It is a sworn statement by Loyal Smith, taken before a notary public in Chicago, setting forth addicircumstances concerning the efforts of Lowy to hush up (him) Smith.

The affidavit sets forth in substance as follows: The affiant, L. L. Smith, met. by appointment, Lewis Cole, Lowy's son-in-law, in the Royal hotel, Hamilton, Ontario, on the 19th day of May, 1886. Mr. Cole stated that his object was to prevent him (Smith) from giving any further testimony in the suit against Lowy. Cole said that the old man, meaning by that Haiman Lowy, had empowered him to see Smith, and do whatever he thought best in the way of preventing Smith from giving any further testimony in favor of the creditors. Mr. Smith goes on to state that af-ter Cole showed him a letter from Lowy authorizing him, as aforesaid, he offered that if he (Smith), would not testify, he would see that the $10,000 note, which Lowy had given on the sale, (and which was still unpaid), should be paid in full at once, together with $25,000 in cash besides. This offer Smith declined. Cole then offered if Smith would keep out of the way and not testify for the creditors. Lowy would give him the whole of the money in court in Omaha less the amount which had been paid out for expenses, which he said was $17,000. Cole said that he proposed to swear to anything to save the old man (Lowy), even if it landed him in the penitentiary. Smith, according to his affidavit, refused to accept this offer, and informed Cole that he would not take the money tying in the Omaha court and $100,000 besides Cole then admitted that Lowy had not used him (Smith) right, but they had gone so far now that they could not back out; that they had always told Woolworth and Thurston that the sale was genuine and the consideration fully paid, and that if they should now tell them the fictual facts they would un-doubtedly drop the case. Smith then told Cole that there were several witnesses who knew the facts connected with the case, and who would testify on the next trial, if granted, to those facts, and that the money which Lowy paid him (Smith) was immediately returned, and that ne did not get one nickel for the whole stock. The conversation then and and there ended. Smith then goes on to state in his af-fidavit that subsequently, on about the 10th day of June, he met Cole again in Chicago, when the latter renewed his offer, in order to prevent Smith from testifying further in the case. Smith again declined. A few days afterward, while at Montreal, Smith received an-other dispatch from Cole as follows;

"Want to meet you at Rossin house, Toron-Wire me here when you will go."

More Affidavits.

Thursday afternoon the attorneys for Haiman Lowy replied to the affidavits from Loyal S. Smith, filed some three or four weeks ago, with a series of ten counter-affidavits. 'I wo of these, from Lowy and his son-in-law, Cole, are very lengthy. The others are mainly from Chicago people, and bear directly upon the actions of Lowy.

T. J. Crank, clerk of the Mattison house in Chicago, under oath before a notary, declares that he knows Smith and Lowy; that in his capacity of clerk he is so situated that he can view all persons who enter the hostelry or depart therefrom; that during the February, 1885, when Smith stopped at the hotel, he (Smith) and Lowy never had any conversation, and that they were not acquainted during Smith's stay at the house. This is intended to refute an affidavit which asserts that the two men met at the Mattison in February previous to the flight of Smith. Mrs. Sophia Prenzlauer, who keeps a boarding-house on Calumet ave in Chicago, avers that Mr. Lowy and his family boarded in her house for some time; that during the month of February, 1885, Lowy's little son was very sick; and that during the illness of his boy Lowy was home all the time. Herman Prenzlauer, husband of Sophia Prenzlauer, substantiates the statesments of his wife. Dr. Emile Sincere, a practising physician of Chicago, testilies that he gave his professional services to a son of Lowy's who was ill with scarlet fever; that the boy was sick during the entire month of Febru-ary, 1885. Joseph Biefield and Nathan Greenwold testify to minor incidents bearing on the actions of sev-eral persons, all of "which counteracts certain incidents alleged in the opposing affidavits. Leo. Grossman, a merchant of Howard, Neb., affirms as to the action of one Black, who figures in the story formerly published, Mr. Grossman being in Chicago to purchase a stock of goods and therefore observing the said Black, and likewise being a witness in the first trial of the cuse at Lincoln. This is the gist of the affidavits filed, embracing all the important statements

Thursday afternoon Mr. Lowy succeed in getting bail in the person of Mr. Adolph Brown, a groceryman doing business on Cuming street. He is once more free man, able to go where'er he listeth.

THE GRAND LODGE.

Election of Officers-The Grand Mas-The sessions of the grand lodge of Nebraska Masons were continued yesterbraska Masons were continued yester-day. The only business of public import transacted, which may now be published, was the selection of the second Wednesday in June, 1887, as the time of the meeting of the grand lodge one year hence, and of Omaha as the place. The afficers of the grand lodge, so far as desided upon up to a late hour last night, are as tollows: G. M., Charles J. Coutant, Omaha; D. G. M., Milton J., Hull, Edgar; G. S. W., Geo. B. France, York; G. J. W., Jno, J. Mercer, Brownville; G. T., Christian Hartman, Omaha; G. S., Wm. R. Bowen, Omaha. The session will be continued to-day.

The report of the grand master was

The report of the grand master was read showing, among other things, that during the past year dispensations authorizing the holding of new lodges had been issued to Custer lodge, Broken Bow Tobias lodge, Cambridge lodge, Valpairaiso lodge, Ewing lodge, Liberty lodge Evergreen lodge at Pierce, Davenport, lodge, Hartington lodge, Valley lodge at Wilsonville, Silver Creek and the Chadron lodge.

The fees for the issuing of dispensa tions during the year amounted to $361.

The grand master was petitioned by a bare majority vote of Nebraska lodge No. 1 at Bellevue, for a dispensation to move to Omaha. But the petition was move to Omaha. But the petition was not granted, because the grand master felt it was only the grand lodge which could enable such a change to be made. Besides, the lodge was a landmark, and Omaha was growing so rapidly he felt it would not be long before it would be necessary to have a lodge at Bellevue.

The offer of the directors of Masonic hall of an office for the secretary of the grand lodge, free of charge, was accepted.

The report of the grand treasurer shows about $12,000 on hand. The grand master recommends that this sum be cut down to about $3,040 by returning the surplus of $3,000 to subordinate fodges upon a basis of a certain amount for each member of the fraternity.

upon a basis of a certain amount for each member of the fraternity. This would put the money where it is most needed and at the same time would not cause the grand lodge to suffer. He also recommends that a custodian or depository be selected for the orphan educational fund, which now amounts to $15,490.17. At present no bonds are given for the faithful accounting of this sum. He favors making the bond in the sum of at least $30,000, and that the fund be loaned at the highest legal rate of interest to be secured by first mortgage on improved farm lands, first mortgage on improved farm lands, and the amount loaned in no case to be more than one-third of the appraised valuation of the mortgaged property, and at no time exceed $1,000.

The present condition of the laws of masonry in this state renders them practically worthless in their present form. They should be simplified, so that the decisions and enactments on a given subject may be found.

The procedure in the formation of lodges under dispensation has been found annoying and a source of delay. It is accordingly suggested that all petitions seeking the establishment of lodges be sent to the grand secretary, and they be not forwarded to the grand master until the necessary demits, certificates, en-dorsements and recommendations are Compliments are paid to B. F. Rawalt, the grand custodian, and Grand Secretary Bowen of this city, the latter of whom has succeeded in getting his office into admirable order.

The report of C. Hartman of Omaha, the grand treasurer up to June 16, 1886 was read showing with $13,570.98 left over from last year, total receipts of $21,113.11. The dispursements were $8,805,87, leaving a balance of $12,307,24. The report made by the grand secretary asked for a further appropriation to continue the work of printing proceedings prior to 1874; showing that the freemasons of Omaha had provided a fire-proof vault for the library of the grand lodge, and the removal to the latter of a number of works on masonry which had previously occupied the secretary's office. The number of master masons who died during the year was forty-four.

The grand lodge was in session this morning but transacted nothing of public interest. They will adjourn to-night. Before adjourning, however, they will appoint the other officers omitted from he list published above.

DUNCAN C. ROSS.

Well Known Athlete Makes His Debut in Omaha.

Thursday evening Lincoln among Lits many passengers brought in as fine a specimen of physical manhood, for thirty years existence on this mundane sphere, as ever made his first appearance in this city. This was Dunean C. Ross, the champion all around athlete of the of the world. There was a heather others Smith offers to produce in substantiation of what he says.

Still another affidavit is by David N.
Miller, which simply confirms the statements which have been sworn to by Smith.

There was a heather freshness on his cheek, and a brightness in the eye that spoke of health well nursed; a breadth of shoulder and girt and an elasticity of step that showed physical culture in all its prime. Ross needs no introduction here although he never visited Omaha before. He comes from Denver direct, with the exception of a short stop at Lincoln to see some friends, where he worsted Sergeant Walsh of the United State's army, and is on his way to Baltimore, Md., to visit his children. It may be possible that a tournament will be arranged for this city as several prominent swordsmen from the west will arrive here the coming week. Mr. Ross has with hun his famous gray Norman stallion, which weighs 1,350 pounds and which has always been with its rider in victory. It will be remembered that the sword con-tests in which Mr. Ross is so valorous and successful takes place on horseback. The present visitor to Omaha carries with him 113 medals for proficiency on different athletic sports. Among them is a huge gold insignia presented by the late millionaire Peter Denoughue, of San Francisco. This was awarded when Ross defeated representatives of all nations at Tiberon, Cal., among whom were Captain Gastoin, of the Imperial National Guard of France; Jacob Voss, of the Uhlan cavalry of Germany; Signor Giovanni Cafferini, of the Papal guard, Italy; El Forbe, colonel of the Turkish army; Count Oroloski, of Russia; Captain Graique, of the Austrian army, and Sergeant Charles Crowley, second troop, Second cavalry, U. COUSIN BEN FOLSOM.

Mrs. Cleveland's Relative Arrives in Omaha.

Mr. Ben Folsom, of Buffalo, cousin of Cleveland, the president's wife, arrived in Omaha yesterday and will remain here several days to attend to some business matters in relation to the Folsomestate, of which he is the executor as well as one of the heirs. Mrs. Cleveland, it will be remembered is one of the legatees of her grandfather, Col. John B. Folsom, of Folsomdale, N. Y., who besides his own estate had an undivided half interest in the estate of Ben R. Folsom, father of "Cousin" Ben Folsom In this way Mrs. Cleveland secures an interest in the Omaha Folsom estate' which consists of valuable city property, estimated to be worth from $350,000 to $500,000. Grandfather Folsom's estate however alone amounted to more than this. The Folsom estate in Omaha will not be disturbed at present as some of the heirs are minors. Besides it is a profitable investment, as Omaha is growing and property is rabidly increasing in

Mr. Ben Folsom, who has acquired considerable pleasant notoriety in connection with the Cleveland-Folsom union, is a very pleasant young gentleman. He is a lawyer by profession, and his home is now in Builalo. He was formerly a resident of Omana, and is well known to many of our citizens. Of course Mr. Folsom enjoys the paragraphs that have been hurled at him through every news-paper in the land, and he thinks of hiring a private secretary to compile and keep a scrap-book for him. "Some of these paragraphs are very funny," said Mr. Folsom, "but the one that accuses me of wearing a scarf-pin as big as a half-dollar, with a red rooster with green feath ers, is a monstrous exaggeration, You can say 'officially' that I have too much taste to wear a searf-pin of that size. Here is the pin You will see that it is no larger than a ten-cent piece, and is sixual. Florantine mosaic.

simply a Florentine mosaic."
Mr. Folsom also exhibited to the repre entative of the BEER photograph of Mrs. Cleveland taken about a year ago. I shows her to be a beautiful and lovely looking woman, and does not have much resemblance to the alleged pictures which have been printed in the newspapers. Had the photographer been aware of his possessing a negative he no doubt would have made some money, but when the picture was taken he did not probably know who the young lady was. The picknow who the young lady was. The pic-ture was taken in a little New York town. Mr. Folsom was unable to say whether President Cleveland and wife would visit Omaha this summer, but he said he was going to suggest to them that they could not find a much pleasanter place in which to spend a few days.

A STAB AT THE DOCTORS. The Death of the Douglas County

Medical Society. OMAHA, June 18 .- To the Editor of the BEE.-Knowing you to be a lover of justice and always in favor of fair play, I take the liberty of making a few remarks in the columns of your valuable paper concerning the premature death of the sickly infant known as the Douglas County Medical society.

I think the diagnosis of its death published in your issue of yesterday is improper. (Perhaps cholera infantum was the cause of the infant's departure.)

It certainly is a wonder that in a city like Omaha with its 75,000 inhabitants and over 100 physicians, that it is a noto-rious fact that the majority of said physicians are men of inferior medical ability graduates of one-horse colleges, and who have the presumption to operate and prescribe for diseases of which they have no knowledge whatever.

I claim I know what I am talking about, and I will stake my reputation as efit to said city than the existence of said society), that two-thirds of these medical adventurers could not pass a proper med ical examination in a city like New York It is time that the legislature would make some move to endow a state medical college and compel every physician in this city to pass an examination in said college, and if he has not the ability to pass then prohibit it from practicing medicine.

We have a Law and Order league, whose object is very good, and to take the place of this defunct infant which has just passed away, I would advocate the formation of a new organization, known as the Omaha Life Preserving Guards, whose place of business will be in this city, and whose principal business will be confined to the purchasing of rails, tar and feathers, and whenever one of these medical blood-suckers comes to town, give him a free ride out of town on the rail and a new suit of the tar and

If the legislature fails to do anything for the lives of our citizens, then let the "Guards" do their duty, and we will not need so many cemeteries in Omaha, as the excess of deaths in the city is caused more from improper medical treatment than from disease. Now the death of this unfortunate intant can be simply diagnosed as this: Physicians of ability and education won't and don't propose to congregate or associate with men whose medical ability is far below the standard, and consequently the infant died not totally from lack of attendance, but it was choked to death by excessive ignorance, which respectable physicians refused to enlighten. THOS. BERMINGHAM.

street near the High school in opposite directions, the latter's horse became frightened at two bicycle riders. One of the 'cyclists a son of Mr. G. Hobbe, in turning out of the way took a header and fell in front of Mr. Gibb's horse. The animal shied and collided with Dr. Galbraith's vehicle, thowing out the occupant of each. Mr. Gibb was severely bruised and scratched, but was able to extricate himself. Dr. Galbraith was picked up insensible and was removed to his home, 120 South Twentyfourth street. It was supposed he was injured internally, but it has been found that he has suffered no serious injury. It is expected he will be about in a day or two. Mr. Gibb's vehicle was badly broken and Dr. Galbraith's horse ran away, wrecking the buggy. The horses were recovered later.

DEAD BY HIS SIDE. Mrs. Sam'l Gardner Dies Unknown

to Her Husband. Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock Sam Garrdner attempted to arouse his wife in thei apartments in Kuony's block, and was horrified to find her a corpse. The deceased lady had been suffering for some time with rheumatism and was almost a martyr to pain. At 3 o'clock Thursday Dr. Hyde called and it was thought his patient was better. About 7 o'clock she retired and almost immediately fell asleep. Occupants of the adjoining apartments who had been kindly ministering to the sick woman, and her hus-band were most careful not to disturb her for it was the first rest she had in many days. dead many hours before he discovered it yesterday morning.

The deceased was formerly Mamie Williams and she was the daughter of Humphrey Williams, of New Hartford, Oncida county, N. Y. Three years ago she was married to Mr. Gardner, of this city, and the union has been one of marked hapmness. She was a little over thirty years of age, and a woman of the kindest disposition. It is not known when the funeral will take place as advices from the east are awaited. Neither is it decided whether the burial will take place in this city or the remains taken to New York state.

Police Points.

Dug Magnire and George Thompson, wo of the worst young crooks in town were arraigned before Judge Stenberg yesterday charged with the larceny of a double harness from N. B. Falconer. Maguire has just come out of the penitentiary where he was sent upon conviction of robbing a dry goods store in Lincoln. He is a hardened criminal, though upon his release he professed to be anxious to reform. Thompson is a young rascal, who, though he comes of highly respectable parents, is an incorrigable thief, having committed numberless deeds which entitle him to a front seat n the "Rogue's congress."

"You are a pair of hardened criminals," said Judge Stenberg to the twain, as they entered a plea of guilty, "and I propose to give you a good dose. Maguire, I sentence you to thirty days in the county jail, the first ten and the last ten on bread and water. Thompson, you are fined $100 and costs."

As the last named was unable to pay his fine, he was sent to the county jail, where he will be confined for 100 days. John Morgan, a printer, had stolen a valise, and was given fifteen days in the county jail. Jesse James, a veteran colored thief, who has been twice ordered out of town, but who drifted in again with the circus, was ordered to execute a twenty days' sentence on bread and water. Out of eleven drunks three were fined $1 and costs and one $3 and costs, the rest being discharged. Two of the latter claimed to have been robbed of all he money they had when they came to

Rail Notes.

The track at Gilmore has not yet been repaired. Trains came in yesterday on time by means of a side track hastily constructed. [] By this morning, probably, the main track will be in ship shape.

J. L. DeBevoise, of the Rock Island moad, has returned from Chicago.

Messrs. Clowry and Dickey, of the Western Union, left yester as for a tour of inspection of the offices in the Missouri river cities.

A force of workmen was yesterday engaged in building a platform from Tenth street to the end of the old platform and extending north to the third track, for the accommodation mainly of the passengers of the Grand Island train. Heretofore they have been compelled to jump down on the ground, which has occasioned quite an amount of grum-bling, especially in cold weather. The business of the Union Pacific yards at Tenth street crossing was delayed yesterday for about two hours, by the arrival of the Sells' circus from Wahoo. The Central Pacific president's car went west last night with a large company of pleasure-seekers. The trains on the Rock Island and C. St. P. M. & O. roads were late yesterday.

SLEEPS ON THE HILLSIDE. Funeral and Burial Yesterday Morning, of Barney Shannon. The funeral of the late Barney Shannon took place yesterday at 9 o'clock, from the late residence of the deceased, corner of Tenth street and Capitol avenue. It was largely attended by friends of the deceased, among them being some of the most prominent men in social and political life in the city. The council, conststing of twelve members, was present. The pali-bearers were James Bolan, John Curry, James Shannon, George Muidoon, John Brady and Dennis Cunningham. The paid fire department was represented by James O'Brien, John Barnes, M. Carter, Ted Grebe, John Anderson and George Windheim under the direction of Assistant Chiefs Gallagher and Salter. The old Pioneer Hooks were represented by Ed Gorman, Ed Wittig and Charles Fisher, Number one engine company was represented by Joseph Rowies, number two, by Owen Slaven, M. A. Bird, Joe Teahon, Andy Moyniham, W. H. Gallagher, Ed Crowell, Chas. Rosters, H. Burt, and about fifteen others, while Steve Mealio and A. Tray nor appeared for number three.

The coffin was a beautiful resewood. The remains were borne to St. Philo-mena's cathedral where they were de-posited at the head of the south isle and covered with an ample pall of white and black. Upon the lid rested a beautiful bank of immortelles inscribed with the word "Faith" worked in sombre flowers.

There was also a large figure "2" in flowers of beautiful handiwork, expressive of the remembrance of engine company No. 2. Solemn requiem mass was chanted by Rev. F. McCarthy, assisted by Fathers Kelley and Carroll. The singing was rendered by the junior members of the cathedral choir in a very effective manner under the direction of Miss Fannie Arnold. At the close of the ser-vices the remains were conveyed to Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

A Jail For South Omaha.

The county commissioners are consid ering the request of Sheriff Coburn for an additional county jail, to be located in South Omaha, below the city limits. In making his request the sheriff alleges that the portion of the county in the vicinity of the proposed building is a great resort for tramps and hard characters, and that the deputy sheriff, Frank Walker, who has charge of that precinet, is absolutely unable to control the rough element of the population from a lack of a lodging place for his prisoners. All ar-rests made by Walker are tried before the South Omaha justice of the peace and he finds it impracticable to use the county jail for keeping his prisoners while await-ing trial. The sheriff states that he has a suitable building in view that can be fitted up at a very small expense to the county. The matter has been referred to Commissioner O'Keeffe with power to

A Dummy Line to South Omaha. A scheme is on foot for the organization of a company to build a dummy street car line to connect the city proper with South Omaha. It is proposed to run the system in connection with the street car lines, the cars being taken at some point in the southern part of the city and conveyed to South Omaha by a dummy motor. In this manner a rapid and convenient mode of transit will be provided between the two points. The movement is backed by parties who have large interests in South Omaha, and a company will be formed in a few days for the carrying out of the plan.
