Western Union opened at 65¢ and was moderately active till the afternoon, when it became very active and rose. At the close it was at 67¢, great softening. The gains were due to the movement were various, chief among the stories being the rumor that there had been a conference between the Western Union and the Baltimore and Ohio companies, and another large broker in the market, who had a short interest of 25,000 shares, another that the presence in Europe at the same time of Messrs. Depew, Field, Garrett, George Gould and Peabody, indicated something remarkable in the market. The market was said to have been heavy buyers. Erie and Paul gained 2½ per cent. The Exchange will not open until Tuesday.
