An Omaha Business Man Arrested for a Confidence Sharp.

KICKED BY A VICIOUS HORSE.

Slow Work on the Viaduct-A Mysterious Disappearance-An Afternoon Fire-Police Notes, Odds and Ends, Etc.

He Was No "Confidence Man." One of the maddest men in Omaha on Saturday was Mr. George W einert, the well known grocer on Caming street And the trouble all arose in this way. Mr. Weinert went over to Council Bluffs Friday to transact a little private business. In the afternoon after he had finished up his business, he went down to the depot. and awaited the starting of the one o'clock dummy for Omaha. While sitting in the depot, he got into conversation with a young man evidently from the country, who said that he was going Omaha. The young man was somewhat "green" and Mr. Weinert took partieular pains to enlighten him on several topics. The rustic had with him a friend, who was struggling against a strong ten-dency to sleep, and who would ever and anon close his eyes and break for the "land of Nod." Mr. Weinert pro-posed that the three go to a saloon and get a drink, which might have the effect of keeping the sleepy man awake. They were just leaving the depot platform, when a big policeman stepped up and placing his hand on Weinert's shoulder, said: "Come along with me."
"What for? What have I done?"

asked the Omaha man. Never mind," returned the copper tightening his grasp, "you just come along with me."

'But won't you let me say something? Can't I explain? "Explain nothing," was the police-man's reply, "you come to the station with me, and then you can talk as much

And the C. B. copper hustled his prisoner off to the station at a lively pace, refusing to allow him to stop on the way and establish his identity. When he arrived at the station he was turned over to the marshal, who listened to Mr. Weinert's explanation, and at once saw that a serious mistake had been made, The Omaha man was released with profuse apologies, and sent on his way, not exactly rejoicing, however. Mr. Weinert swears vengeance on that policeman, and if any way ever presents itself, he

THE CORONER'S HORSE. He Tries to Furnish a Job For His Master.

Saturday Nathan McGraw, a young man employed as foreman in Menter's livery stable on Capitol avenue, was kicked by a horse and sustained injuries which may prove fatal. There is some question as to how the accident happened. It seems that McGraw went into the animal's stall to throw the harness on him and in some way trightened the horse. A moment later he was found bleeding and unconscious a few feet away from the horse's feet. He was picked up and removed to Dr. Wood's where his wounds were willy dressed. Thence he temporarily dressed. Thence he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where he is now under the care of Dr. McKenna. It was found that his skull had been fractured, and that in several other places his head was injured. His leg also sustained severe contusions He is now delirious, and the physicians think that there are grave doubts as to his recovery. McGraw is a young man twenty-seven years of age, and was to have been married in $40.000 to $25,000, while Tootie, Maul & Co.'s assessment was changed from $50.000 to $35,000. Only one assessmen a few days.

The horse was owned by Coroner Drexel, and has always been considered a gentle, tractable animal.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE. A Man Leaves His Wife and Sends a Letter to His Brother. Sam Hall, a man residing in the northern part of the city, recently disappeared. His wife and child alone were aware of the circumstance, until a few days ago, when Hall's brother came into town, with a letter from the man who had gone The fact could not longer be concealed and the agony which the wife had suffered in silence, soon found ex-pression in cries and tears. The letter is as follows:

The letter is as follows:

OMAHA, June 28,—Brother John; Can you or will you do me a favor (the last perhaps I shall ever ask of you). If you can, come to Omaha and go to 2207 Izard street and ask for me, and I will make all right in the future if I can, and if I cannot, do for mine the same as I would for yours if positions were reversed.

Sam HALL.

The letter was directed to the brother

The letter was directed to the brother at Chelsea, Iowa. It reached him on the 29th, and he immediately took the cars and came to this city. The envelope bore the postmark of South Omana. Where Hall has gone, or what induced him to deliberately run away, leaving his family unprovided for, cannot be be told by anybody. The husband's brother offered to take Mrs. Hall and child to his home in Iowa, but she declined to go, preferring to work out a living in her own behalf.

JUDICIAL DOINGS.

The Business Transacted Before Judges Neville and Wakeley.

The jury in the case of Frank Boyd, charged with stealing jewelry from James McVeagh, remained out all Friday night and Lou Grebe, the bailiff, kept an eye on their room during their imprisonment. Saturday they reported a verdict of guilty, and Grebe set to work to get his rest by stealing intervals of sleep when he was not bothered by the reporters.

The case of the Rev. Mr. Woodbey against the management of the opera house was given to the jury Saturday at 9:30 o'clock. There will be no business transacted in

'The celebrated Mulhall-Shinrock case will be called before Judge Neville on Tuesday morning. ODDS AND ENDS.

Stray Leaves From a Reporter's Note Book.

"You think those flashing ornaments which that lady has around her pretty neck are diamonds, do you?" said an auditor in the Boyd on the first night of the "Mikado" by the Grau company. "Well, they're nothing of the kind. I'll venture the assertion they didn't cost her $10. Six years ago I had three shirt studs which all my friends admired, and dezens of them wanted me to sell. But I preferred to keep them. They were beauties, really, and I did not care to part company with them because of the attention they commanded. Well, I was a little more free with money then, and I had run up quite a bill at one of our liv-ory stables, amounting to something in the vicinity of one-hundred and tifty dol-lars. The proprietor of the stable, I guess, had become a little nervous and one day said to me that he allow me $200 for my studs and take out the differ-ance between that amount and and my account, in trade. Just the day before that I had refused $75 for one of the beauties, and after considering the proposition, I concluded not to accept it. If I had accepted, how much do you expect I would have made? Just $114. It's fact. I bought those 'diamonds' for just six dollars from a jeweler in this town. They passed for diamonds, but there isn't one man in a dozen who can't be most cruefly deceived when he goes purchasing diamonds."

"Talk about tax-shirking," said an old resident and manufacturer, a few days ago, "I don't believe in it. I have resided here for thirty years. When my taxes were low, I paid them. When they were high I paid them also. I never went before the board of equalization in my life, until last week and then, let me teli you how got I there. I was compelled to go in order to satisfy a man ment reduced or mine increased. To do either of these he had to lie by saying he had receipts from me showing that he was paying me rent for a piece of my ground which a tenant used. Now that man never paid a cent of rent, though the proporty in ques-tion 1 permitted him to use, until fately, when I payed it and refused permission to my friend's tenants to drive over with their wagons. Thus shut off, the tenants wanted their duced $20 otherwise they would move. Now this reduction in rent, my friend agreed, was evidence of the depreciation of his property and considered as a rental which, all along he theorized had been paying me! Did you ever hear of the like? There are a great many crimes done in the name of liberty, but not one-half of the shames have been written which have been in the name of taxshirking."

"I wish that something could be done to call the attention of the city officials to the disgraceful way in which the burglars are running things at present," said a citizen to-day. "Up in my part of town -the central portion-half a dozen bold robberies have taken place within the past three nights. What we want and must have, and ought to have, as taxpayers, is better police protection. Not that I belong to that class of grumblers who are always blaming Marshal Cummings for all this lawlessness. The blame rests directly with the council, and indirectly with the mayor. The fact is, that the po lice force of this growing city of Omaha is not large enough by half. There ought o be at least thirty more men on the force, brave and experienced men, who are capable of doing good work. There is no city of its population in America, so far as my memory serves me, that spreads over as much territory as Omaha, and for that reason it takes an unusually large force to cover it properly. idea of trying to protect the city at night with a force of fifteen policemen is ridiculous. A complete reorganization of the force, under a board of commissioners, with an increase in the number of men is what is needed, and without delay. Marshal Cummings has been trying for the last year to secure that very And I want to say in conclusion that as long as he has no voice whatever in the personnel or size of the force under him, it is ridiculous to blame him for the inadequacy of that force to cope with the crimi-nals which are flocking into the city."

Lowering the Assessments. The only result of the recent Read personal tax investigation is that the commissioners have decided to lower instead raise some of the valuations. The assessments of Paxton, Gallagher & Co., D. M. Steele & Co. and Tootle, Maul & Co. were lowered, and in other instances the same measure will probably be taken. Paxton, Gallagher & Co., who were assessed at $30,000 personal property, will now be quoted at $25,000. D. M. Steele property owner himself, W. J. Broatch, who requested that his personal property be assessed at $5,000 instead of

It May be Counterfeit.

Mention has been made in the BEE of the fact that S. Lehman, the lower Farnam street pawnbroker, had purchase a silver dollar of the series of 1804 for $100, the coin on account of its great rarity being costly. Now it develops that there is some doubt as to the genutneness of the coin. Col. Ludding of the army headquarters who is an expert neumismatist has carefully examined it and while he is not positive as to its being a counterfeit, he has grave doubts that it is genuine. Mr. Lehman has become alarmed and has sent it east for in-spection by an expert, who will make the necessary thorough tests. Quite a num-ber of these socalled rare coins are said to have been sold here and in Council Bluffs.

Building Notes.

The bids on the First National bank building, which have been opened, are now being assorted, and the contracts will be let on Monday.

Senator Paddock has given orders that another story shall be added to his new building which is now being erected on Douglas and Eleventh streets. This will make the structure five stories high, and one of the largest and tinest in the city.

Messrs, Barker Bros, have also given orders that another story shall be added to their hotel on Thirteenth and Jones street, making the structure five stories high, with ground dimensions of 66x88

For Church Purposes. J. H. Denis and wife, for $2,800, have deeded to the First German M. E. church the lot on the southwest corner of Eleventh and Center streets, with the understanding that it is to be used for church purposes and be under the control of the board of management of the Ger-

Why the Union Pacific Has Delayed

Sixteenth street was let some time ago to Raymond & Campbell, and although a great deal has been said about the work being begun immediately, the only thing thus far done has been the digging of a hole on the line of the proposed structure. Some time ago, by way of explanation for the tardy commencement of the undertaking, it was stated that a change had been made in the chords by the substitution of iron for wood, the cost of which was shared by the Union Pacific and B. & M. roads. It was thought that when that was effected the work would progress, but it has since been confronted with another difficulty. These detays are annoying to the residents on the street both north and south of the track, as well as injurious to the business of many of the merchants of the city. A Bre reporter looked for the cause of the delay Saturday and found that it originated with the Union Pacific. This road has four tracks crossing Sixteenth street, but they have come to the conclusion that those will not be sufficient to accommodate their busi-They intend to increase the number to twelve and on these do all the switching neressary to making up of trains for both east and west. In order to lay these tracks, the road will have to till up quite an amount of the yard to make it level In some places the fill will be as much as twelve feet. With such a fill the road would not have the clearance of twentytwo feet which it requires between the track and the bottom of the bridge. As a consequence to get this clearance, the plan of the viaduct will have to be changed, raising the road bed about ten feet. The plan with this change has already beed made. It will afford an easier road in which to travel, because, in the old plan, the viaduet sloping from each towards the tracks, at the rate of three feet in 100, gave a fall of fifteen feet. In a great measure this will be done away with in the new plan, and the roadway will be more on a The plans mentioned have been made by the Union Pacific, and are, it is understood, ready to be submitted to the city engineer. As soon as he ap proves of them work will be ommenced. The expense of this change, both in the material to be employed and other matters, will have to be borne by the Union Pacific, because the road had accepted the old plans and specifications and are entirely responsible for this

It is a common occurrence to hear men say, "I stopped in here a week or so ago just to hear the music and came around to-night to sign the pledge." They had thought the matter over and resolved to leave their cups. Last Sunday evening the meeting was led by Mr. Joplin, secretary of the Y. M. A. and the singing by Mr. Nichols. SYLVAN PHEASURES. Experienced by the Omaha Turn Verein and Friends.

The picnic of the Omaha Turn Verein ook place yesterday afternoon in Brandt's park. It was one of the most delightful pienies of the season. The park mentioned comprises the eastern part, with all the buildings, of what has heretofore been known as Hascall's park. It is a happy mixture of upland and vailey, with a beautiful intermixture of shady stretches which invite the picnicker to retreats both shady and picturesque. There were about a thousand people on the grounds during the after noon and the time was spent by them patronizing the various features of amusement which the manage-ment had provided, Delightful music was supplied for the dancers, while the cane-fakir and the refreshment stands appealed to those who did not care to tempt the heat upon the floor of the daners. There was also a delegation of the Turn-verein present, who afforded quite an amount of entertainment to the large attendance. The athletic achievements of these young men were warmly applauded, especially those of Mr. Kummerow, the director of the class which were most liberally appreciated. Besides these there was a race for a hundred yards, the first prize of which ($5) was won by Samuel Stevenson; the second ($3) by D. E. Eletcher. The prize for the running long jump, a gold watch charm, was won by E. B. Whalen, The distance covered was seventeen feet seven inches. The prize for the running high jump was won by C. Gromme. gentleman's jump was the highest ever made in Omaha, being five feet three inches in height, and won for him a silver watch. The picnic was enjoyed by the large number present until it was concluded at dusk.
