Geo. B. Tschuck, secretary of the Bee Publishing company, does solemnly swear that the actual circulation of the Daily Bee for the week ending July 3d, 1886, was as follows:

Chicago's new directory is out with a claim of 750,000 copies. This is too big a bluff for St. Louis.

The dry weather is not confined to Nebraska. It extends all over the country, and is seriously affecting the crops.

Hor weather and dirt are the best allies of disease. Cleanliness in the yard and alleys is a necessity, especially during the heated spell.

Another street railway franchise has been granted in Chicago, and the telegraph says that "the action of the council is considered very favorable to the company."

The Mobile Register warns the people of Alabama that the most important business to come before the next legislature will be the regulation of assessments and collection of revenue.

An exchange remarks that political economy isn't the sort of thing that makes a candidate for office attractive to his constituents.

The Gettysburg celebration was a great success. Thousands visited the historic spot and traced the lines of battle by the monuments which mark the stations of the various corps engaged in that eventful struggle.

We are in receipt of the first number of the Colored Advocate, a paper which has been founded to represent the colored people of Omaha.

Secretary Manning has returned to New York somewhat improved in health, but it is thought he is doubtful whether he will resign his duties in Washington.

In view of the fact that Albany, N. Y., is soon to celebrate the second centennial of its settlement, and that Portland, Me., is happy in the fact that it has completed a hundred years of municipal existence.

D. Miller's Jumping Jack. If the arrogant boasts in public and private of the editor of the Herald are to be believed, Mr. Samuel J. Randall is the sheet anchor of the leader of the pecking house democracy of Nebraska.

When the assaults on Surveyor General Gardner began, the public was told that the senate would never confirm the nomination. The event proved otherwise and prompt to the date Mr. Randall was dragged into the controversy.

The more pension vetoes. The president on Tuesday extended his list of vetoes by twenty-one, so that he has now to his credit nearly a round hundred, with probably more to follow.

Needlessly Alarmed. Several of our extreme contemporaries seem to be worried about the condition of the Bee's circulation.

Home Rule's Reverse. The Bee's special cable tells the story of the results of the British elections in a few words.

Temperance Laws in Two States. The first day of the current month was an eventful one in the states of Georgia and Rhode Island.

The Right Ring. Reports of the various Fourth of July speeches delivered throughout the state, show a gratifying change in style from the cut and dried orations with which our people have been regaled so often.

Too Much Money in Sight. Whether the senate clings to its secret executive sessions is not half so important as whether its members cling to the attorney's fees they receive from railroads dependent upon government aid.

Sluggard Sullivan's Offer. Col. John L. Sullivan's offer to "knock out the three best men in the world" will probably be regarded by the New York Sun as a threat of personal violence against Samuel J. Tilden.
