The House and the Senate Continue to Disagree on Important Measures.

MORE CONFERENCES ORDERED.

The River and Harbor Bill, the Surplus Resolution and the Fortifications Appropriation Don't Suit the House.

The House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The house resumed consideration of the conference report on river and harbor bill.

Mr. Hatch of Missouri, rising to a point of order, sent to the clerk's desk and had read the conference report on the river and harbor bill by the house relative to the Hepburn canal, Sturgeon bay, Portage lake and other channels of the river and harbor bill.

Mr. Willis of Kentucky, a member of the conference committee, said that he had declined to sign the report because he honestly believed that if it were ratified by the house, it would not only be the end of his bill, but also of every river and harbor bill in the future.

Mr. Blanchard asked that under the circumstances the house would excuse him from acting as conferee on the Henderson bill.

On motion of Mr. Morrison the senate amendment to the surplus joint resolution was non-concurred in.

Proceedings of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The senate took up the bill for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the expenditure of and plan for celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America.

Mr. Hawley spoke of the efforts of certain gentlemen, who, by pamphlets and otherwise, were inducing the people to contribute to a great international exposition on some of the public grounds in Washington.

Mr. Hoar declared that the purpose of the resolution was absolutely free from committing the government to anything.

IMPIETIES.

San Jose says: "I do hate a proselyter as I hate the devil."

"Trouble in the Choir" is the heading in a religious paper. Been trying some of that festival ice cream we suppose.

A Sunday school paper was giving a lesson on Ruth. She wanted to bring out the kindred souls of the world.

A minister was taking dinner at Brown's house, and Brown was telling him about a fine piece of property he had recently purchased.

A LUCKY ACCIDENT.

A Train Derailed Near Wisner Without Serious Results.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 31.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The west-bound passenger train on the Elkhorn line, due here at 2 p. m., was derailed near Wisner, all but the engine and the first car.

A Young Man Suicides.

FREMONT, Neb., July 31.—[Special to the Bee.]—John Peavy, a young man nineteen years old, committed suicide here today.

PALESTINE, Neb., July 31.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The first of the corn crop is good, and farmers are happy.

PEPPERMINT DROPS.

A scientist says that ducks are large eaters. This fellow must keep an ice-cream saloon.

"Say, are you a fortune teller?" "Yes, madam," said the fortune teller. "Can you tell the future, can you?" "I can tell the past."

Fits are not a contagious thing, but the married man whose mother-in-law lives with him often catches 'em.

Prohibition is not proving very successful in Rhode Island. A man can sit on his back porch with a rye straw and suck a mint julep right out of the state of Massachusetts.

Every one must feel almost sorry for a married man who is frequently taken for a ride by his own wife.

A shrewd boarding house keeper always likes her young men to be in love. They live so nicely.

Somebody says that the odor of fresh paint makes a man feel like a man.

Bank presidents, as a rule, are opposed to silver dollars. They don't want them in the bank. There is a reason for this.

The saddest and in many respects the most distressing result of prohibition is low, many the form of a report that a distillery there has been converted into a piano manufactory.

A New Yorker was asking after a Wisconsin lottery treasurer who had been in the city for four years, and was answered, "Oh, the people have concluded to drop the case."

Sam Jones seems mystified over the fact that while a minister may get but $500 a year for his services, a base ball player, who frequently has a town charge, and for whom the town has buried at least one wife, is a millionaire.

Philadelphia Record: It is somewhat remarkable that in the face of the fact that hundreds of thousands of the women of our land are self-supporting.

But there are still other men, and there are a great many of them, who, while admiring a woman of mind and genius, will acknowledge that the fibre of a man is stronger.

It must be remembered that the need for women to think for themselves is as great as that of men.

When it comes to the superintending of family matters, the woman's instincts are more aptly demonstrated.

The Illinois session laws, which are accepted as authorities by the juries of that state, are arranged, edited and published by a woman.

John Stuart Mill says that the standard of education of women in any country will be the measure of the education of the men of that country.

"Children" spoke the Sunday school superintendent, after he had finished reading the scriptures.

There was an exciting scene in a Sunday school at Lewiston, Me., recently. A mother came from a crack in the floor and climbed up to the superintendent's desk.
