

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS. TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10. OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET.

Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week.

Minor Mention. New York Plumbing Company. Summer clothing cheap at Reiter's.

Presentations have been awarded Nos. 1,333, 1,351, 1,306, 643, 719 and 796 by the Mueller Music company and are yet unclaimed.

The cannery factory has been supplied with a two inch water meter. The factory is expected to start up in a few days.

Always buy your meats at Star Market, No. 394 Broadway, and get the best. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The two shells destined for the race last night were drawn through the main streets yesterday and attracted much attention.

Producers entered the kitchen of the Essex house while the family were at the lake, and proceeded to cook a meal and help themselves.

A number of suspicious characters are noticed in the city, and the police are shadowing several of them with the intimation that a sensational raid will soon follow.

The district telegraph company is arranging to put in lines and boxes along the principal residence streets of the fourth ward. Many will gladly avail themselves of the conveniences offered by this service.

Mike Nolan, who was complained of for having his saloon open on Sunday, has had the case continued until Thursday.

The Twentieth avenue school house now has water supplied, and the New York plumbing company will tomorrow commence putting in the pipes for the Court street school. The company has also completed the water main on Perrin and Lincoln avenues.

Peter Hansen, a fifteen year old, runaway boy from Racine has been taken up by the police here. He claims to be trying to reach Nebraska. He left home with a half dollar, and when taken in here had $1.50, having earned something more than the price of the city warrants.

It does seem that with low wages and a first-class police force, the city could pay its police in cash. The claim has already been made that when the city got good men to go on the force the cash would take the place of the city warrants in paying them. There can be no complaint about the quality of the force now, and the keeping of such men in service can be best accomplished by treating them fairly. Pay in cash, and then demand that none but good men who earn their pay are kept on the force.

The new street cars, whose arrival was announced in Sunday's BEE, made their appearance on the streets yesterday. Only two or three were run during the day, the company not daring to shock the citizens too greatly by putting them all in sight at once. The change from the rickety and leaky old cars is a great one. Now when turn tables are put in so that the bob-tails can be run some other way than bob end behind, it will seem as if there were street cars in Council Bluffs. The new cars are very neat and convenient and the city can ask for no better.

Highest prices paid for county, town and school bonds. Call H. B. & Co., No. 103 Pearl street, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans. J. W. & E. L. Squires, No. 101 Pearl street, Council Bluffs.

Personal Paragraphs. Miss Emma Beebe leaves to-day for Spirit Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McKim returned last evening from their eastern trip.

B. M. Russell, U. S. A., was at the Ogden yesterday and started west last evening.

O. J. King left yesterday for Leavenworth, Kan., to look after the new government building there.

Mrs. Anna Judd, who has been visiting her parents in Missouri, returned home yesterday. Dr. Judd also met her here last evening, he having returned from a trip to Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys have gone to Fort Dodge on a two weeks' visit. When they return they will occupy the house of Dr. Macrae, on Fifth avenue, who will then live at the Ogden house.

F. N. Taylor, of Bradford, Pa., one of the large oil producers of that section, is in the city, making the rounds in company with his friend, George Rudie. Mr. Taylor has been here before, and is getting so enamored with the city that it is not improbable that he may decide to locate permanently here.

Smoke the Manawa cigar, made by Frank Levin, 312 Broadway.

See that your boots are made by Morehouse & Co., Room 1, Everett block.

The Body Found. The body of the boy who was drowned east of Tabor Friday was not recovered till Sunday morning.

When a jug of powder was exploded near where he was thought to be lodged, which brought the body to the surface. A large company from each side of the river had labored diligently and to finally succeed was a satisfaction everyone shared on account of the parents, whose hearts were lacerated by the dreadful accident that robbed them of their first born. The remains were taken to Weeping Water for interment.

First-class tin work, roofing, etc., a specialty at Cooper & McJee's.

TAUGHT FREE—In about an hour, beautiful photo painting, to introduce our colors. No knowledge of painting required. Received first premium at St. Louis fair. One hundred dollars earned monthly. Miss Christie, 14 Main street.

A Sweet Enterprise. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by which the Council Bluffs Candy Manufacturing company becomes an addition to the interests of this city. The company is organized in a modest sort of way, but promises to grow into an enterprise of considerable magnitude, as it is composed of young men of activity and push. H. J. Baird is the president, H. S. Bowman secretary and treasurer, and A. C. Dempsy, manager. It is the intention to manufacture for trade and to start in at once. The capital stock is fixed at $25,000. It is hoped that the enterprise may meet with success and growth and success which it merits.

BLUE, THE CHAMPION COLOR.

Omaha's Heavy Oarsmen Victorious Over the Light Weights.

SERMON OF A LATTER DAY SAINT

Common Council Proceedings—A Love Sick Maid Takes Poison—Something of the Road Agent Style—General Bluffs Items.

Blue Wins the Race.

The cloudy weather last evening prevented many persons who would have otherwise attended the race between the heavy weights and light weights of the Omaha Rowing association on Lake Manawa. As it was, several hundred were on Manhattan beach, 125 of them having come over from Omaha on the special train that left there at 5:15 o'clock.

It was quite a curiosity to many who attended, as a number of them had never seen a shell boat before.

The two crews in their four-oared barges took a spin over the course about 5 o'clock and seemed well pleased with the course. They then returned to Manhattan beach and put their boats up until the race took place.

The heavy weights' colors were blue, the average weight of each man being 153 pounds in their rowing costume, while the light weights average 123 pounds each. The light weights' colors were white.

At exactly 7:05 the heavy weights started out for their starting buoy with Connor, stroke; Touzalin, 3d; Wilcox, 2d; Brown, bow. The light weights came out shortly after, Tilson, stroke; Allen, 3d; Morris, 2d; Hudson, bow.

The judges N. N. Creary, A. C. Smith and W. F. Sapp, jr., and D. W. Van Cott, timekeeper, were then taken in the "Annie C. Braddock" to the starting point, there being some twelve ladies and gentlemen in the boat.

THE RACE. At the signal the blue caught water first and lead off with a forty stroke, while the white settled down to a thirty-eight stroke, continuing it until they reached the quarter mile buoy being the same length behind the blue. The white then increased to forty but the blues were too much for the light weights. At the half mile buoy the blue had taken it quite so far that increased their stroke to forty-two, then being two good lengths ahead. After rounding the three-quarter mile buoy the blue rested to thirty-eight while the white continued their forty stroke. The same position was held until the blue being a length ahead until the half mile buoy was reached. The blue increased their speed to forty strokes per minute. Both crews hung together in the same position until the quarter mile was reached, when the blue got down to work and ran up to forty-four, the white getting to forty-two. The blue winning the race on a half mile in 10:24, with the white a good length behind.

The water was quite choppy, with considerable breeze blowing, or the time would have no doubt been lowered somewhat.

After the race J. L. Webster, of Omaha, on behalf of Messrs. Odell Bros. & Co., the lessees of the beach, who presented the silver cup for the contest, made the presentation.

Mr. Webster made mention of the discovery of the lake, about a month ago, and described the improvements on the beach as the "budding of bright roses in the desert." He called attention to the fact that no other such beach was known for many miles, and that heretofore the residents of Omaha and Council Bluffs had to go hundreds of miles for a watering place when they were as one within an hour's reach of both places.

The cup was then presented to the Omaha rowing association, and in a few appropriate remarks the secretary, W. N. Creary, responded to the presentation of the property of the association, and can be contested for only by members of the association.

The "Only and Original" Church. Rev. Mr. McDowell, of the church of Latter Day Saints, gave a sermon Sunday night which would have aroused considerable talk among the various other churches here, had the representative men of these other churches been present to have heard it. It was a doctrinal sermon, and some of the positions taken by him were very startling. As usual he spoke his mind freely, and in this particular discourse he took occasion to make some strong claims for his church as compared with others. He took for his text: "If any man say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there; believe it not." He described the various denominations, each claiming to have Christ, and every one of them denying more or less of the truths declared in the new testament. They could not be right, for the true test of those who love Christ was if they kept all the commandments given by him. These churches taught different doctrines, and the preachers were guided by the commentators of their particular churches, instead of by the word of God. These churches which said, "Lo, here is Christ," should not be believed.

The church of the Latter Day Saints claimed to be the true church. It did claim that "here was Christ." The speaker then proceeded to give the reasons for making this claim. He insisted that the organization of the church was just like the original church organized by Jesus. There were many orders, priests, prophets, apostles, teachers, etc., and in other churches many of these orders were left out. Baptism by immersion was the original mode, and the other churches, at least most of them, had departed from this. The teachings of his church were like those of the primitive fathers, or rather like those of Christ. Every other church neglected some of these teachings and some of his commandments. He went into details to show that this position was sound. He urged his hearers to study the new testament, and see if the church of the Latter Day Saints did not stand the test.

The speaker did not believe that he had done all that he could do for the church of Christ, and he was glad to see that if he wanted to be a member of the church of Christ he would have to go around and join all of these several hundred sects and churches, and if he had no record of Christ organizing or reorganizing but one church. There could be but one true church, and the others were false. As there could be but one true church of Christ, everyone should take the new testament and see what was necessary to belong to such a church, and what were the characteristics by which the true church is to be known. When these tests were thus applied, the speaker was certain that the verdict must be, "Lo, Christ is here."

Not Quite Swift Enough. George T. Swift was brought before Judge Aylesworth yesterday afternoon on the charge of having robbed Jacob Staub of a watch and chain and a railway ticket. The evidence for the prosecution only was taken, and the case then continued until Wednesday for the defense to make a showing. It seems that Staub, who is a brewer at Avoca, has been in the city for several days, and on Sunday night was taking in the town with Swift, who also lives at Avoca. Swift was out of money, but as he used to work for Staub, and was well acquainted, Staub kept putting up for him. The two men wandered into the alley in the rear of Keating's store, and while there Staub lost his watch and ticket. He charged Swift with having taken them, but the latter denied it, and claimed that Staub must have dropped the watch somewhere. Swift wanted him to go back into the alley and hunt for it, and they did so. Then coming out onto Broadway again, Swift went one way while Staub went to police headquarters and reported the theft. Wall McFadden and Staub started out to hunt Swift up, and so he came down Bryant street on the east side, and McFadden arrested him. Swift quickly passed the watch to Staub, and evidently thought the matter would be dropped there, but in this he was mistaken. The police went on to the station and Swift showed up. Yesterday McFadden found the missing railway ticket, where it had evidently been dropped through the grating at the city building, and the theory is that Swift dropped it there as he was being taken to the station. It is understood that Swift will try to make the court believe that Staub dropped the watch in the alley, when they were in there together, and that Staub was gone after an officer, he, Swift, hunted around and found the watch, and was on his way to deliver it up to police headquarters when arrested. The finding of the railway ticket will be a little more difficult to account for but will probably claim that Staub himself dropped it there when he was on his way to the station after an officer.

A LOVE SICK MAID. She Seeks Relief From Her Sorrow by a Draught of Laudanum. An attempted suicide was reported last evening. The reticence of the police and of all in any way knowing the facts, rendered it a difficult task to get the details. It appears, however, that a young girl aged about eighteen, a daughter of Mrs. Thomas McDonald, of Avoca, attempted to end her life by taking laudanum. She was visiting at the home of Mr. Jones, the yardmaster of the Chicago & Northwestern, and the discovery of her suicidal purpose was made soon after she had taken the deadly dose. Dr. White was speedily summoned and he succeeded in saving her. The cause of the girl's act is reported to be unrequited love, she having become enamored of a young man in the city who is said to be a gambler. The young lady is from a most excellent family, and she bears no less excellent a reputation. The narrow escape may cure her of the girl's foolishness, although it is said she has been for some time determined on self-destruction, and reiterated the threat after being brought to last evening.

Slaying a Steed. Yesterday morning an accident occurred at the ferry train, by which a horse had a leg badly mashed. The horse was one of a team belonging to a mover, and as they were driving out of the cars, on the arrival of the train at the Broadway platform, the cars were given a sudden jolt and the animal's leg was caught between the cars. The company very promptly settled with the owner for the animal, which had to be shot to put it out of its misery. This is the first accident of this kind which has occurred.

Waking Warm. The Sidney republicans are enjoying a little internal turmoil. At the township caucus at Sidney, Anderson's horse, his opponents came in to rule out the mugwumps. The proceedings went something after this manner. Chairman Eaton called the caucus to order, when the first motion was by Robert Simons, of the Union, for Dr. Hanley to act as chairman. The mugwumps nominated Ward Webster. Taking a vote Webster had 34 and Hanley 13. Not content with this defeat Simons, Frazier & Co. offered a resolution of the following import: "Whereas, certain so-called republicans participated in the nomination and have since been active in the support of the demagogue nominee for congress, therefore be it resolved, That the republicans of Sidney township refuse to recognize them as representatives either in county or state conventions.

To this the vote stood: For it, 8; against it, 33. Following the introduction of this Webster, and the inspiration of the moment, delivered what was generally regarded as a very interesting speech, his manner and feelings at the time suggesting very strongly that he could, if necessary, punctuate with full stops. The Anderson faction carried the day, in about the ratio indicated by the vote, Simons & Frazier taking their departure, with the remark that "they wished no further identification with a democratic convention" and proceeded to place a set of delegates of their own of whose stalwart republicanism no one could question. A lively time is expected at the county convention next Saturday, the 14th, at which the gallant major will place his troops in battle array, and the outcome is not difficult to foretell.

Where Are Your Papers? There will be many difficulties attending the new registry law, but one of the most annoying will be in regard to naturalized citizens. Some old citizens, who have voted here for years, and some who have been elected themselves to office, will be barred from voting if they do not look out. The registry law requires the board to record the date, place and other details concerning the papers taken out by naturalized citizens, and many of those who took out their papers some time ago have lost them or mislaid them. In many cases it will involve considerable trouble to get the necessary data for becoming duly registered. Every naturalized citizen should take note in time and prepare himself to meet the requirements of the new law.

The City Council. At the meeting of the city council last night a full board was present.

The petition of property-owners for the grade of an alley between Eighth and Ninth streets, and Bluff and Fourth streets was referred to the city engineer, to report resolutions bringing all alleys to grade in said improvement district.

The city engineer reported an abandonment of the waterway between Pierce street and known as the old "Pompeian" street. The street commissioner was ordered to remove... and fill up the same, but only so far as it fronts on George Wheeler's property on Pierce street.

The commissioner reported damages to Mrs. Mary Baker's property $200, on account of the new ditch.

C. P. Brinton was allowed $230 for damages to his lot by the same ditch.

F. M. Nichols explained that a nuisance existed near his house, it being the pig pen belonging to Mr. Reegan's home on the Frontless, referred.

Petition of San... for improvement of creek bank near... property rejected.

Bids were opened for furnishing two carloads of lumber to the city. The Chicago Lumber company was lower on pine and A. Overton on oak. Referred to committee.

A number of contracts for work already awarded and carried over, as prepared by the city attorney.

The council then adjourned until Friday night.

The council will meet Wednesday night as a committee of the whole to confer with Mr. Reagan in regard to his claims against the city, on his old contracts.

A Test Case. The Dugos are indignant at the efforts of the authorities to enforce the ordinance prohibiting the running of buckster wagons on Farnam and Douglas streets. Two of them, M. Roekman and H. Basewitz were arrested yesterday for violating the ordinance. They plead not guilty and will test the validity of the ordinance. Their case will be heard to-day.
