Veterans of '46 Marching Again Through Chaparml and Cactus.

TWO GALLANT RELICS OF 1812.

Unbecoming Quarrels of Authorities About the Haddock Case-City vs. County Officials-Newspapers at War-lowa News.

Soldiers Who Never Lost a Battle. DES MOINES, Ia., August 20.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—The National association of Mexican veterans reconvened today with increased attendance and enthusiasm. Over two hundred names are enrolled, the west and the south being freely represented. At 10 o'clock a. m. the members fell into line and marched to the rink, where ex-Governor M. D. Manson, of Indiana, called the meeting to order, and introduced the president of the National association, General J. W. Denver, of Ohio, who was welcomed by a round of hearty applause. After the roll of officers had been called, the entire assemblage proceeded to do honor to Father French, of Iowa, a survivor of the war of 1812. As he approached the rostrum, General Given introduced him, and gave a scrap of his war record; also Uncle David Norris, another survivor of that war, and both received an ovation. Owing to indisposition, Governor Larrabee was unable to appear, but his address of welcome, together with his letter of regret, were read by Colonel Scott. The governor reviewed the heroic deeds of the veterans of the Mexican war, recapitulating historic facts and holding them up to eternal glory as soldiers who fought to extend American possessions and to further the progress of enlightenment on the American continent. Mayor Phillips, in giving them the freedom of the city, also laid great stress upon the brave deeds of the men who were before him. He said that no army ever had so many men of character, and worthy of positions of honor and trustmen who had no object other than the public

The president, General J. W. Denver, responded feelingly and thanked the governor and mayor for the kindly welcome. After calling attention to the National association and its character, he said, that when it met it represented the entire country, when it met it represented the entire country, not a party, not a section, but a nation, it represented an army that had never lost a battle and when they had extended the pat-rimony of their revolutionary sires, they laid aside their arms and returned to their civic pursuits, and when grim-visaged war came again, they were as willing, with few excep-tions, to fight to sustain the stars and stripes tions, to fight to sustain the stars and stripes within the United States, as they were to sustain it on foreign ground. He was sorry there was a disposition gaining ground to belittle the deeds of the Mexican soldiers. He had heard derogatory remarks here and there, and it pained him. The speaker drew an apt illustration from the scriptural story of the "Race which arose that knew not Joseph." The Herod generation of to-day can see California, New Mexico and other territory acquired during that war, and their great wealth and yet they refuse to acknowledge the bravery of the men who shed their blood to secure it. Some thought the war was a "pienic," but he had never seen a hotter fight than that at Cherubusco, and that was a pretty fair sample of busco, and that was a pretty fair sample of the war throughout.

Captain Wilkinson in behalf of Des Moines, presented the veterans of the state association with a beautiful flag, to which response was made by the president, Colonel W. T. Shaw, of Anamosa. General McFaddin, of Indiana, then spoke, showing a hat he captured from Santa Anna at Buena Vista, and a sword presented to him by General Taylor for gallantry in that Secretary Kennedy, of Washington, D. C., read the annual report, showing a member-ship of about eight thousand and five hundred. The only vacancies in the list of state deaths of General Hancock, of New York, Captain Peters, of Virginia.

The officers of the preceding year were re-elected as follows: President, General J. W. Denver, of Ohio; vice president, ex-Governor Manson, of Indiana; secretary, A. M. Ken-ady, of Washington, D. C.; treasurer, L. B. Niles, of Washington, D. C.; marshall, Major McFaddin, of Indiana.

McFaddin, of Indiana.

The parade at 4 p. m. was large and imposing, and witnessed by several thousand people along the line of march. In the evening short speeches were made by different veterans, and the reunion closed with a banque to the members of the association.

Fighting Over the Haddock Case. SIOUX CITY, Ia., August 20.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—While the public is waiting anxiously for the murderer of Rev. Haddock and his conspirators to be discovered and brought to justice, two very unfortunate strifes have been engendered in this city. One of these is in the nature of a newspaper quarrel, in which the Journal and the Tribune are principals. The other is between the city officers and the sheriff and his deputies. As these dispatches have already indicated, the testimony of the witnesses at the inquest was taken in secret session, suggested by the mayor for the benefit of the police, the sheriff and the district attorney. For some reason the city officers seem to have been taken into confidence by the coroner's jury more than the sheriff. At all events the sheriff publicly states now that he is done with the matter, and says the police may hunt the murderers and have the glory. The portion of the evidence published several days ago is now known to have come from the sheriff's officer, the stenographer being able to recognize it. How it was obtained, whether intentionally given or stolen by some reporter, is not known The majority is inclined to believe the former and the evidence strongly point that way. It is to be regretted that a mur der investigation so important to all the best interests of the city and state. If not the entire country, should degenerate into petty quarrels and jealousies.

King and Waltering, the men now under arrest for conspiracy and complicity in the plot, are confined in jail but the sheriff, in an interview to day cives it as his carriors.

plot, are confined in jail but the sheriff, in an interview to-day, gives it as his opinion, that they know nothing about the plans against Rev. Haddock but many are inclined to believe that he said this because the prisoners were arrested by city officers, it is to be hoped that jealousies and bickerings will give place to sober consideration of the awful crime committed and the hearty joining of hands and purposes all around to leave no stone unturned until all the guilty parties shall be apprehended and brought to judgment. Nothing whotever has been developed to-day in the investigation. To-morrow the remainder of the injunction cases will be heard and it is believed early next week heard and it is believed early next weel every saloon in Sioux City will be closed.

He Was Frightfully Mangled. DUBUQUE, Ia., August 20.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—Peter Dyesburg, of Concord township, was caught in a threshing machine to-day, receiving injuries which will probably prove tatal. His legs were fright-fully mangled and one was amputated.

They Carried Off the Box. BOONVILLE, Ia., August 20.- Special Tele gram to the Ber. ]-Late last night the resi dence of Jacob Gustill, near here, was en tered by burglars, who carried off a box con-taining notes and mortgages to the amount of $13,000. No clue to the thieves.

Poison Ends Two Lives CROAR RAPIDS, In., August 20 .- The dead bodies of Henry Wolfe and his housekeeper were found this morning on the bed in Wolfe's cabin, six miles south of the city. Wolfe was about fifty years old. He came to Cedar Rapids three years since, bought a little tract of ground, erected a cabin and followed market gardening. Shortly after his arrival he was joined by "Auntle" Starchman, a woman sixty years of age, who passed as his wife. They quarreled a good deal, and the neighbors think Wolfe forced the weman to drink poison and then take his own life. A bottle and cup supposed to con-

Hanged From a Crossbeam. DAYENPORT, Ia., August 20 .- | Special Telgram to the BER |-Gustav Paulson, aged orty-nine, committed suicide to-day by hang ing. He attached a rope to a crossbeam, less than five feet from the barn floor, and literally strangled to death.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE CONVENTION. The Nebraska Association Meets, and Elects Officers.

Madison, Neb., August 20 .- [Corre condence of the BEE. |-Pursuant to call of the president a mass convention of the Nebraska Woman Suffrage association was held in Madison August 18 and 19. The postponed annual business was taken up, reports received and officers efected. Mrs. Colly, of Beatrice, and Mrs. Bond, of Lincoln, were re-elected president and secretary; Mrs. A. E. Chandler, of Beatrice, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. J. Eidredge, of Lincoln, treasurer, and Mrs. O. C. Dinsmoor, of Omaha, superintendent of the social science department. The judicial vice presidents and superintendents of the ther various departments of work will be appointed by the executive committee as early as possible. In reviving the work of the association it is intended, as was evidenced by the discussions, to carry on the work in an educational manner, forming as rapidly as possible women's clubs or associations which shall not only strive to procure for women "equality before the law," but shall provide for the members as the constitution states, "Opportunity for study and interchange of ideas upon all that relates to the improvement of home, society and the state." The addresses and discussions of the convention were of unusual interest and their tenor may be judged from the following reso lutions which were adopted by the con-

Resolved, That while we recognize the right of woman to the full ballot we will make municipal suffrage our present demand from the legislature of Nebraska. Resolved, That the association will hold itself strictly non-partisan, but will endeavor by all legitimate means to secure the election to office of men favorable to the objects of the association.

Resolved, That as the law of Nebraska refuses to women the control of property until eighteen years of age, yet allows a girl to consent to her own degradation at ten years of he association, age, thus showing greater regard for property than for the honor and virtue of maidenhood therefore we will work to secure the passage of a bill by the legislature raising the age of "consent" to eighteen years.

Resolved, That a bill should be passed by the legislature of Nebraska prohibiting the sale and exposure of impure literature and pictures, and providing for the punishment of the same by the and imprisonment. of the same by line and imprisonment, Resolved, That this association is in full sympathy with the plan of work of the Wo-man's Board of associate charities, and will lend its aid in securing the passage of any bill in the legislature, looking to its intersts.
Resolved, That we rejoice in the sympathy of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in our lines of work and request our execu-tive committee to confer with their state officers so as to secure the most effectual co-operation in such measures as are of equal interests to both organizations.

The presence of Mrs. E. L. Saxon, of

New Orleans, was a great inspiration to the meeting. On both evenings she gave a rousing address, and in the day sessions took a lively part in the discussions. During the evening session a telegram was received announcing that the state prohibition party had adopted a strong plank favoring woman suffrage. This was received with enthusiasm, and the hope was expressed that the other political parties might take the same action. The officers of the convention were much indepted to Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. and other good citizens beautiful and thriving town of Madison and were much pleased with their suc cessful meeting.

Overcome by the Heat. A man named Williams, residing on the bottoms near Coots' plaining mill, was overcome by the heat last evening. He was working in a sewer in front of the mill at the time. Dr. Darrow was summoned and gave the necessary medi-cal attention. No fatal effects are an-

Fire on Wheels,

A very ludicrous scene attracted the attention of those who were in the vicinity of Fifteenth and Farnam streets last evening. The curtain rose with a dozen small boys singing "Ah, there, mister, your buggy's on fire!" "Look out there, cully, you'll burn," "see how she blazes," etc. This turned the eyes of the curious to a buggy of the regulation real estate size, in which were two gentlemen, being rapidly driven up Farnam street. Under the seat was a fire in full blast, and the occupants were entirely unaware of their proximity to a broiling state. The calis of the small boys, however, soon attracted attention, and one of the men, seizing the flaming lap robe, which was the ment. Evidently a lighted cigar stump, as the parties had been smoking, had fallen on the robe, hence the fire.

The First Return.

The first pilgrim from the shrine of Irish patriotism in Chicago who reached Omaha is Alderman Michael Lee. He camei n accompanied by his wife last evening, and is enthusiastic in his account of the great gathering. Of course he, the Nebraska delegates and the whole state feel proud of Honest John Fitzgerald's selection as president of the eague. The Chicago visitors were also nighly flattered by the way in which their fellow citizen Patrick Egan was received.
Mr. Lee says the $3,000 silver set sent the late president of the league by his friends in Ireland is one of the most elegant ever worked in silver by deft hands to show the kind feelings existing between a most worthy donee and appropriate donors. The pieces are encased in an elaborate box of Irish boxwood, and will very likely be exhibited in Omaha one of these days if Mr. Egan can be prevailed upon to exhibit it.

Fixing for the Fair. The near approach of the date for the opening of the second annual fair of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association makes an immense amount of work for the managers of the association. Secretary Wheeler and his assistants are busily engaged sending out premium lists, receiving entries and answering communications in relation to the fair in general. But it is not in the office alone that work is being done. The fair grounds these fine days present an animated scene. A BEE reporter visited the grounds yesterday in company with Mr. Sam Couch, the superintendent of the grounds, and was astonished and pleased, as all are, at the improvements that have been made in the grounds since last year. The amphitheatre, with its seating capacity of 6,000 people, has been thoroughly repaired since it was damaged by the storm last spring. The seats have been raised by means of blocks and are much more comfortable than before. The stand has been provided with an iron roof. making the protection from storms complete. Sidewalks have been built all around the ampitheater and leading to the gates of the grounds so that in case of a rain the visitors need not go in the mud. A new judge's stand and a separate stand for the time-keepers have been erected. The building that was destroyed by fire two weeks ago has been replaced by a substantial barn 60x140 feet in di-mensions, with handsome stall accoming dations for thoroughbreds. The three hundred box stalls for horses have been provided with porches, furnishing the much needed protection from the hent and rain. There are now in excellent trim three hundred box stalls and over four hundred other stalls for horses and about the same number for cattle with ample pen room for sheep and hogs all high and dry and under cover. The fences, sheds and stalls have all been repainted and furnish an attractive sight. The ground have been graded and made perfectly smooth all over the park. The facilities for reaching the park have been greatly increased over last year. Sixteenth street will be paved as far as the ball park in time for the opening of the fair, making the drive an enjoyable one. The Belt railway will have a station at the northeast corner of the grounds from which point sidewalks have been built to the main entrance leading to the ampi theatre. There are a large number of horses on the ground in training for the coming races. Secretary Wheeler is daily in receipt of letters from some of the leading horsemen of the country asking for accommodations for their stables. All of the space in the fine art hall has been taken and applications for exhibit room are rapidly filling up the space in the other building. The individual exhibits of Omaha merchanis, in buildings owned by them, will be on a more magnificent scale than ever before attempted. THE SPEED PROGRAMME.

FAIR NOTES.

The theatres and places of amusement will present attractive programmes during the week of the great fair at Omaha, September 6 to 11. There will be a promenade concert every evening at the expo-sition building in the city, where various art treasures, paintings, etc., will be on view. The German theatre announces a line of plays sure to please our friends of that nationality. The People's re-opens with fun right in sight, and Boyd's Opera house will present some brilliant attrac-tions, viz.: September 3 and 4, Sol Smith Russell; 6th, 7th and 8th, "Zozo" tacular extravaganza; and on 9th, 10th and 11th, the charming Patti Rosa. There will be no lack of entertainment, and the visitors to the fair need not ask twice,

'Where shall we go to-night?" It is not generally known that in Omaha is located the largest smelting works in the world. Until within a year they were second, being excelled only by the colossal works at Swansea, Waies. At an immense outlay the Omaha smelting works have increased their facilities to such an extent that they now stand first on the list. When you visit the Omaha fair, September 6th to 11th, you cannot spend a more pleasant and instructive hour in the whole week than by being shown through these wonderful works. Permits are granted by the courteous officials.

Mention has been made elsewhere of looking over Omaha when you visit the great fair and exposition on September 6th to 11th. Among other items of in-terest are the Union Pacific shops, where 1,500 men are employed; the nail works and the shot tower. Very few people know how white lead is made. Here know how white lead is made. Here you can see the process at the works of the White Lead company; there are the iron cornice works, where designs of great beauty are turned out; the Burglar and Fire Proof Safe company, the Garneau crackor factory, the Pressed Beef Canning company, and many other establishments. Bring your boys and let them see for themselves how many necessities and hypries of life are producted. sities and luxuries of life are made-to see each artizan at his work is better for a lad than the dry reading of a dozen books on the loom or forge.

DONE UP BY AN AGENT. A Commercial Directory Firm Looking for Mn Embezzier.

For some weeks past A. F. Levi has been working Omaha in the interests of a commercial directory published by a Cincinnati firm. Ris reports to his house, it appears, show that he has been doing a rushing ousiness, but entirely upon paper as far as his house was concerned, as he has failed to make them any remittances. Yesterday Mr. G. W. Benson, representing the firm by which Levi was employed, arrived in Omaha for the purpose of investigating Levi's work. He found him at the Windsor hotel, and going to his room, asked for an account ng of his business. Levi complied by turning over a number of contracts he had made in the city. When asked to surrender the money he had collected he refused, without any apparent reason, to make any statement. Benson thought to compel him to make a showing and arose to close the door of the room, but was stopped by Levi, who seized him by the throat and, forcing him back into his chair, told him to leave the door and the money business alone. After some further conversation Benson left the hotel and went before Justice Anderson, where he swore out a warrant charging Levi with embezzlement, and placing the amount at $150. The warrant was placed in an officer's hands, but Levi had evi dently taken warning and left the city as he could not be found by the officer who was sent to arrest him. Levi has been employed by the firm for some time, and has heretofore transacted his business in a prompt and satisfactory manner.

A THREATENED LYNCHING.

Alexander's Friends After His Assailant, Travis. Abner Travis, the assailant of Alexander, was released from jail yesterday afternoon, having furnished bonds in the sum of $500 to appear for trial early next week. Yesterday evening his wife made complaint at the police station that a crowd of colored fellows, friends of Alexander, had collected around Travis house and were threatening to lynch him. Captain Cormick at once went to Travis' house on Fifteenth street, where he found a crowd of tifty or more colored fellows who were holding a consultation among themselves, although they had made no demonstration of any kind against Travis or his people. The captain ordered the crowd to disperse and stationed an officer near the premises to keep watch during the night. There is a strong feeling among the colored friends of Alexander, and, in case of his death, they will make a big effort to revenge his death. He is now lying at the hospital in a precarious con-dition. He appears to have been injured internally and is in a more cangerous condition than was at first pronounced would result. Three of his ribs are broken, and his head fearfully bruised and battered. The worst effects, however, will result from the injury he received from a kick in the stomach. Alexander, by the way, is looked upon as a hard man among the colored people, and it is altogether probable that Travis only saved himself from a pounding by getting

Start for Kansas City. Only a few of the horny-handed and kid glove citizens of Omaha were at the depot last evening to throw the "old slipper" after the city fathers as they whirled away southward on the 9:10 Missouri Pacific train. To the uninitiated this might seem a lack of appreciation for its law makers on the part of Omaha, but it was not so-rather a very considerate move, for had the city turned out en masse, as it intended, some folks would be so mean as to say that Omaha was glad to get rid or its aldermen. So the small attendance was very appropriate. It saved the traveler's hands, too, for the paucity of shaking here will make the party better prepared for the wholesale welcoming the aldermen will get in the cities they visit. Then again Captain Wood was there, and if he can't make the world think there is a crowd around and assume more importance on smaller capital than any one in these parts the court is in ignorance of its existence. All the members were promptly on hand and suitably equipped for the journey. A large, mysterious looking locker on the rear platform of the car seemed to have some delicate connection with the spiritual desires of the party, but whether it contained dress suits for Sunday wear or prayer books, could not be ascertained. Alderman Lee was the only one who could not go, and of cours his absence will be noticeable in this social session as it is in the business meetings of the twelve solons. He had just returned from Chicago and having portant business to-day claiming his at tention he had to postpone the initial pleasure of the trip, although he will join his colaborers in the ordinance vineyard at Kansas City to-morrow morning in time for first mass. Clerk Southard went along, and as Mayor Boyd is absent from the City, Alderman Lea is now Omaha's mayor, and when he leaves Captain Wood will be the chief executive. The Pullman car Silesia was appropriately arranged for the stourists and to say they will have a jolly ten days' outing would be putting it very mild. It will be a cyclone of fun, for the city fathers in visiting Kansas City. Denver, Leaven-worth, Cheyenne and other western cities, are going among gentlemen occu-pying similar positions in those cities who will exhibit the elephant in fine style. Marshal Cumings was on hand to see that the party got off safety, and when Alderman Ford struck up the operetta of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" it was not definitely known whether it referred to the chief of police or Alderman Lee. It was an imposing departure in every respect, and the old turtle-backed depot never before re-echoed to more pathetic sounds than whey Alderman Goodrich stood on the rear platform and said: The end has come, the farewell must b From our dear and favorite city we must part,

But never, never shall the spell be broken, Its memory we take and leave our heart.

THE PAL WHO PEACHED. Ashman, the Convict, Writes a Letter for Meyers' Benefit,

Samuel Ashman, the escaped convict, who was taken to the Michigan reformatory on Thursday, seems determined to get even with Myers, who gave the information which led to his arrest. Before leaving the county jail Thursday evening he wrote a letter, claiming to give away the details of his capture and the history of his pal, who peached on him. The following is from his letter:

I came here from Leadville, Colo., August 6, and on the 9th instant I met the notorious John, alias "Moxey" Meyers, or Detroit. Mich. He did not have a cont to his name. I gave him sufficient money to supply his gave him sufficient money to supply his wants, and in return this is the way he served me. He wired the prison officials at Iowa, asking what reward they would give for me, and in reply was told $100. He then came and informed Sheriff Coburn of the facts and had me arrested. Had I been given away by an honest man I would not have said a word, but this being a pal of mine and a thief all his life. I cannot retrain from feeling sore. He served five years in the same penitentiary from whence I escaped and came here with the intention of working your city, bringing with him a complete safe blower's outsit which are now in the possession of your police authorities. Instead of the hundred dollars reward he gets thirty days on bread and wa-ter and $30 fine. He will have time for re-flection on his dirty trick, and I hope that he will learn to be a man when he gets out either as a thief or an honest man. He re-ceived a very warm reception from my fellow inmates here when he arrived last evening. I remain very respectfully, SAMUEL ASHMAN.

THE FIRST DAY'S PRACTICE. The Preliminary Work at the Bellevue Ritle Range. The first day's preliminary practice at Bellevue opened yesterday with a clear sky and fresh breeze from the south, becoming cloudy in the afternoon. The following are the twelve highest, with their totals, for one day's practice.

The first three days is preliminary practice; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for competition. The twelve highest form the department team, and go to Fort Leavenworth for the division contest. The first two days is firing a fixed distances, the next two in the morning and afternoon skirmishing. Visitors can go down on 8 or 9 a. m. train and re turn at 6 p. m. The shooting and beau tiful range are well worth visiting. Colo-nel Henry and his officers will be pleased to have our citizens witness the firing. Ask the conductor to let you off at the Moulders for the Coast. Twenty-one iron moulders from Philadelphia, in charge of Richard C. Duvall, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on their way to San Francisco, where they will be employed by the Union Iron company. Some difficulty arose here, as the boys were without funds, having only through tickets, upon which they could not eat and drink during their journey. Mr. Duvall said he had advanced considerable money already, and did not pro pose to run himself short. The men say their transportation and subsistence were to be paid by the company. On the other hand Duvail says only the fare was to be furnished, the men having to buy their own grub. A telegram was sent to Phil-adelphia and the manager of the company sent word to go ahead, take the men through to the coast and obtain food 'on tick" for them at the restaurants, for which the company would be responsible and would pay the bills when pre-sented. How this will meet the hotel men's views along the line remains to be At any rate the moulders left on the 8:20 train, starve or no starve.

Rare Chance for Pleasure. Next Sunday will be a red letter day for those who wish to enjoy a real good time in the best of company and in one of the pleasantest resorts in Nebraska. At 8:30 the excursion train carrying the Bohemian Gymnastic association and their friends to North Bend for picnic purposes will leave the Union Pacific depot, and no one who can possibly attend should fail to do so. The Second infantry band has been specially engaged for the occasion and this is alone suffi cient to show that the music will be first class in every particular. In the morning the members of the association will meet at their hall on Thirteenth street, and headed by the band, proceed through the principal streets to the place of starting.

At North Bend a large party from Schuy ler will join the excursionists, and it is safe to say the day will long be romem bered for its attractive amusements. A beautiful island in the Platte river has been selected for the picnic, a large platform has been erected for dancing pur poses, swings, etc., have been con-structed, and everything done that could be done to make the day enjoyable to all The round trip tickets are only $1 00 which is a small investment for a thou-

Maynard, of the Couneil Bluffs Globe, came over vesterday and were driven out to the fair grounds by Deputy Secretary Gibbs, for the purpose of telling the Iowa people how they look by way of preparation for the next Omaha fair.

Vird C. Wakeley, stenographer of one of the branches of the district court, came home last evening from the enjoy ment of several weeks of ranch life in the west. He has so many sensational ad-ventures to tell of mountain and plain that he can only talk to stenographers.
Ordinary individuals, unacquainted with the art stenographic, would not see the concluding chapters of Bird's border life until Christmas-tide.

Mr. Ransom, the Chicago manager, who has taken charge of the People's theater, will open the season on September 1 with the Vincents for one week. The theater has been thoroughly refitted and presents an attractive appearance.

He Robbed His Old Father. Edward Lynch, an elderly Irish genleman who lives near the driving park, complained at the police station yesterday that he had been robbed by his own boy, Patrick Lynch, a young lad but sixteen years of age. The old gentleman had saved up $60 with which to pay for the digging of a well and the making of other improvements around his place He gave this to his daughter to keep and she sewed it up in the lining of one of her dress skirts. Yesterday morning the dress was found to have been robbed of its secreted wealth. The young Lynch us been in jail for drunkenness two or three times of late and is training with a tough crowd. His father's heart is almost broken over his waywardness. No Game With the Denvers.

There will be no game between the Donvers and the Union Pacifics on Sunday. Certain members of the home team raised the kick against their manager, George Kay, and Mr. Gordon, realizing that they could not be expected to play any kind of a game under the circumstances, cancelled the date with the Denvers, Mr Kay being absent at the time. The indications now are that the Union Pacifics will play no more ball this season, al though they are advertising their games with the Hastings on September 28 and 29. The present difficulty may be adjusted, however, and the club placed in lighting trim for the few games that they will be able to play this fall yet. The Athletics go to Council Bluffs to-day to play the Mueller Music nine, and will endeavor to arrange a return game to be played at Athletic park on Sunday

WORKING PEOPLE.

Arc often in that most wretched state of being, really too sick to work, but so situated that they cannot afford to less the time it requires to take medicine and got well. Loss of time means loss of money. Medicine is needed to invigorate, regulate and tone the system. But many medicines make half-sick people wholly sick, and time and money are less in getting well after taking them.

The Lave is the cause of nearly all bodily allments, such as

Dyspepsia, Constiption, Headache So: r Stomach, Billousness, Colic, Low Spirits, Kidney Affecti's

And a medicine like Slamous biver Resulator, that will remove and cure these disorders without causing loss of time, and strengthen and build up the worn out body even while the person lest work is certainly a boon to working people. Rev. R. G. WILDER, Princeton, N. J., says: "I find nothing heles so much to keep me in working condi-tion as Simmons Liver Regulator."
